PRICE 10 CENTS

One for Joe, two for John, members will decide May 1

Wabush (Staff) — Nelson Sherrin of Wabush and Tom Price of Labrador City, candidates for the presidency of the Labrador West Liberal Association, say they would back John Crosbie for the leadership of the provincial party at a leadership convention. A third candidate, Tom Gillespie of Wabush said he would stand behind Premier Smallwood if he decided to contest the post. Failing this, Mr. Gillespie said he would also support Mr. Crosbie.

These are the only candidates who have so far come out publicly and stated they would run for the presidency at the formation meeting to be held here at the Recreation Centre on the evening of May first.

The meeting is open to all Liberal supporters in the area and nominations will be accepted from the floor on the night of the election.

The three contestants were contacted and asked to state their platforms and explain why they feel qualified to seek the post.

Tom Gillespie

Tom Gillespie explained in one of the phrases of the Premier that he believed in being a Liberal from "the grass roots up."

"I encourage all constitutional and democratic rights and also consider what the needs of a sound and well organized association mean to the Liberal supporter."

He said that such an organization should also give support to a possible Young Liberal association.

"A president should not become a picture on the wall, but instead a good hard, profound and earnest organizer."

On the subject of provincial Liberal leadership he said "to find someone to fill the Premier's shoes would be difficult."

Supports JRS

"If Premier Smallwood decides to run I will support him. I think he is difficult to replace at the moment," said Mr. Gillespie. If left no alternative he said he would place his support behind John Crosbie.

Mr. Gillespie felt that much of the criticism directed at Mr. Smallwood was not valid. He said residents have lost appreciation of the Premier because the lack of connection with the island.

This organization of the liberal supporters here, he said, should provide the necessary link that has been missing.

His bilingualism, Mr. Gillespie feels would be an asset in the post he is seeking. He is a native Montrealer. This he said could be used to bring a better understanding between the English and French populations of Labrador West.

His views on the provincial budget brought down by Finance Minister Val Earle was a rather mild one. "It produced rather mild criticism as compared to all the other provinces."

He said Federal provincial fiscal arrangements have obliged all Finance Ministers to seek more money from their own respective provinces, making it all the more difficult to bring down a balanced budget.

Important task

"Our Finance Minister has accomplished a rather important task," said Mr. Gillespie.

Mr. Gillespie was born in Montreal in October, 1912, studied at the Ste Agathe High School and in French at le College Sacre-Coeur. After a short period of hotel work he undertook the art of cooking. He is currently employed in a supervisory capacity at the cafeteria for Wabush Mines. In 1943 he joined the active army and served in the RCASC following which he became a hotel and restaurant proprietor. Later he came to Labrador and was employed with the Iron Ore Company of Canada. In 1960 he was elected the first president of the Smokey Mountain Ski Lodge and the following year formed the Labrador Flying Club or as it is known now, the Wabush Flying Club. He was the campaign manager for the one time MP for the area, Charles R. Granger.

Mr. Gillespie is the father of five children and is married to the former Cecile Prevost of St. Jovite, Quebec.

Nelson Sherrin

Nelson Sherrin explained that it was apparent that our previous representatives both federal and provincial have not applied the proper priorities and necessary pressure to see that the projects promised the area were carried out.

"In my experience as a resident of Labrador, the projects I refer to are the provincial building, provincial park, TV, communications in general, roads and vocational education."

He said the present population being what it is, the employment situation for the people from Labrador should be a lot better than it is.

"It is my opinion," he said, "we lack almost entirely communication between the government and the taxpayers of Labrador."

He feels the Department of Labrador Affairs has in some way tried to establish communications, but in broad terms it has not been successful.

Mr. Sherrin recommends that a Labrador advisory committee be set up, made up of people who are not employed by the government, but of people working and living in the various areas of Labrador who are more familiar with its problems.

Can't get fish

"One of the things that has never ceased to amaze me is the problem of not being able to get fish products in Western Labrador. I feel that some facility should be ade to transport fish products from the coast to the markets of Wabush and Labrador City," stated Mr. Sherrin.

On the subject of industrial development, he said, it appears to him that Labrador could very well be the eastern terminal of an industrial belt for all of Canada.

"The federal government and development consultants to private enterprise, have stated that the trend in Canada is to move to the north and that in future we shall see an industrial belt stretching from coast to coast.

"I feel that the responsibility for the development of northern roads and services should be born by the federal government and this can only be brought about by applying constant pressure on the people concerned."

Apply pressure

He believed that with himself at the head, a strong local Liberal association will be one means to apply this pressure, coupled with the appointment of an advisory committee should serve to improve our lot.

On the provincial party leadership, Mr. Sherrin said that no one denies the accomplishments of Premier Smallwood for the province, but feels there is a time when every leader must step down and in the Premier's case now is that time.

He said the budget was a shock and a surprise to most people. However, the financial position of the province should certainly be no surprise to anyone.

"The tax increase coupled with the reduction of services, I feel is very unfair to the people of Labrador. It must be remembered that we have not yet attained the level of government service available on the island of Newfoundland, which leaves one to wonder just how much worse government service we can get in Labrador.

Hamper development

"There is no doubt that it will seriously hamper further industrial and commercial development."

Mr. Sherrin has been a resident of Labrador West for the past five years. He is a native of Corner Brook and educated at the Corner Brook public school and Mount Alison University. He spent two years on the board of directors for the Wabush Recreation Centre, another five years as member of the Wabush voluntary fire department, three years as assistant chief and another two years as fire chief. Currently he is serving his second term on the Wabush Amalgamated School Board and is an active member of the Masonic Northern Lights lodge. Mr. Sherrin is married to the former Loretta Keeping of Ramea. They have four children.

Tom Price

The theme of Tom Price's campaign for the post is "involvement" of the rank and file Liberal in the local association. This, he feels, he can accomplish if he is elected to the presidency. "I think I can organize through a democratic Liberal organization here to give true representation to the government."

"I guarantee that every Liberal holding a membership card will be actively involved in the affairs of the organization.

"Because of this they will be responsible for Liberal policy in Labrador West," explained Mr. Price.

In other organizations, he said, the executive does the work and makes the decisions. "I maintain the issues should be decided by the membership."

"I want a membership organization, not an executive organization," he said.

Commenting on the much talked about leadership convention, "I want the membership to elect the delegates to this convention on a majority vote to let it be known who they support."

Backs Crosbie

He is backing John Crosbie because he is the best man, said Mr. Price. "This will have no bearing on the outcome of the vote. I will back whomever the majority favours."

By T-Dor

We have been thinking about the budget ever since black Wednesday.

Things like that worry us to distraction, you understand. Just imagine, five percent more income tax, tax on our drycleaning, tax on car repairs; tax on this; tax on that. All this worrying about taxes was keeping old T-Dor awake nights.

When we got to the point of figuring out how the government overspent last years anticipated surplus in the current account by eighteen times, we just couldn't sleep at all. Last night we finally got out of bed and re-read our two latest editions of the Daily News hoping to find some consolation buried away on a back page which we had missed in previous reading. Sure enough we found it, in plain view, page 2, lower right hand corner of Thursday's news. Some thoughtful reporter must have sensed that we would be dismayed over finance minister Earle's pronouncements and he listed seven excerpts from the budget speech.

We read the seven over, and for people like T-Dor who worry themselves awake every night about taxes, here they are in our condensed version.

(1) Fellas, we are at a peak in our expenses, its tough, but we hit this peak at the same darn time as the other provinces did. What with tight money, talk of inflation and all, we can't even get any dough out of Big Daddy in Ottawa.

(2) We've kicked this problem around among ourselves and decided that we'll have to knock off some of the heavy spending. As a matter of fact we even laid down the law to the hired help and told them to ease off a bit too.

(3) We sure are sorry about this little set-back right now, especially when we had so much going for us during the last 20 years.

(4) I have a list here of what we can spend for the coming year. It isn't enough and we feel lousy about it, but get the old chins up, better times ahead. After all, we only have to mark time for a year, cutting down on wasn't nearly good enough for us anyway, and its a crying cuttin down on wasn't nearly good enough for us anyway, and its a crying shame that we must ease off when we could be making things easier for our fellow Newfs. We are already taxed beyond our means, and we're truly sorry we have to do with less for a year. Anyway, you know how it is, stick with it, only a year, just temporary. Can't emphasize that enough you know.

(6) Getting back to cold, hard facts, we simply have to ace us to make the dough agree with the tape in the cash register. If we make this years income agree with what we will be paying out, we'll be able to this years income agree with what we will be apying out, we'll be able to do hell and all for the next 20 years.

(7) Oh yes boys, one thing more. It may be necessary to cut back on some of the services we lay on for the public. Just temporary, you understand.

Well sir, we were some relieved to find that after all, these extra taxes and cut-backs in services were just temporary. We should hate to find that they were to be permanent. With the facts now straight in our mind, we went back to bed and slept like the proverbial baby.

This morning we called our friend, James O'Casquet to make plans for a trip to Sin Yawns. O'Casquet answered the phone and stated that he couldn't go after all.

We asked "Why not?"

He replied, "Sorry T-Dor, cant make it because of finances. As you know the government had discontinued rebates on EPA fares to

"But you aren't a businessman, you work in the iron factory like

"But you aren't a business, you work in the iron factory like all the rest of us." "I guess you may as well now the horrible truth old bud. I am a businessman. On the side I run an undertaking business and according to oey I shall have to sign an affidavit declaring my business. Being honest therefore, puts me out of the running for the EPA rebate."

We sympathize with O'Casquet of course, but privately we couldn't fail to note how efficient the government is becoming these days. Just between us Labwabians we all now what undertakers are like. If Joey didn't get fellows like O'Casquet to sign affidavits, the first thing you know they would go right over there to Sin Yawns and order up a bunch of morgue supplies and stuff and pay the same air fare to EPA as all of us poor working men, all the while retending they aren't businessmen. In fact, even Herman the Barber would pull the same shady deal if it weren't for our efficient government getting right down to business soon after the budget reading.

We read that 117,600 is being put aside to publish the Newfoundland Bulletin. We can hardly wait until we get our next edition because in the Bulletin you can read the news right off, plumb and plain, without having to get up in the middle of the night and figure out all the big words that the businessmen bring.

Right?

The lure of the trail

By C.A. Cake

Camping and back-packing combined with fishing and hunting are the most pleasant and rewarding ways to spend a brief vacation. At one time or another all of us in our metallic thickets find ourselves hurrying to get nowhere.

Back of beyond, a man can live - breath fresh air, do as he wishes and give it his best. We all should answer the call of the wilderness. The aroused memories of overcoming the worst the elements have to offer renews the urge to get away from the noise and complications of civilization.

At this time of the year these urges are answered in different ways - a few hours fly tying or lubricating fishing reels, a day of ice fishing, building a boat or patching that wader you ripped late last September going up stream after the "Big One".

We are fortunate here in Labrador to have the two things essential for camping: fresh water and country where you can pitch tent without trespassing. There is an abundance of virgin water a very short distance from the Twin Towns which has never been fished by man.

The Ashuanipi River is one of the best trout rivers found in eastern Canada. A couple of years ago while on a fishing trip with my camping buddy Ray Layden he caught a seven pound ten ounce speckled trout there. This was close to the worlds record originally taken at the Ashuanipi.

The upper river and mouth of the Ashuanipi Lake in the fall of the year gives forth some of the best duck, geese and caribou hunting found in North America. For camping this area is unsurpassed.

From the signs and sightings of caribou so far this year I would suggest you reserve your caribou licence early. They cost $15.00 for the first year and $10.00 if the applicant presents a certificate issued by the Wildlife Division verifying that he has submitted the return form to the Department of Mines, Agriculture and Resources, Confederation Building, St. John's, Nfld. They will return a receipt.

A majority of the people will say that carrying all the necessary gear is too heavy and not worth the trouble of going into the bush. Gone are the days of clumsy knapsacks and bulky sleeping bags. Modern equipment and improved methods have transformed outlife into a pleasure. There is no need to "rough it." A skill of making camp enjoyable can be acquired with very little know how.

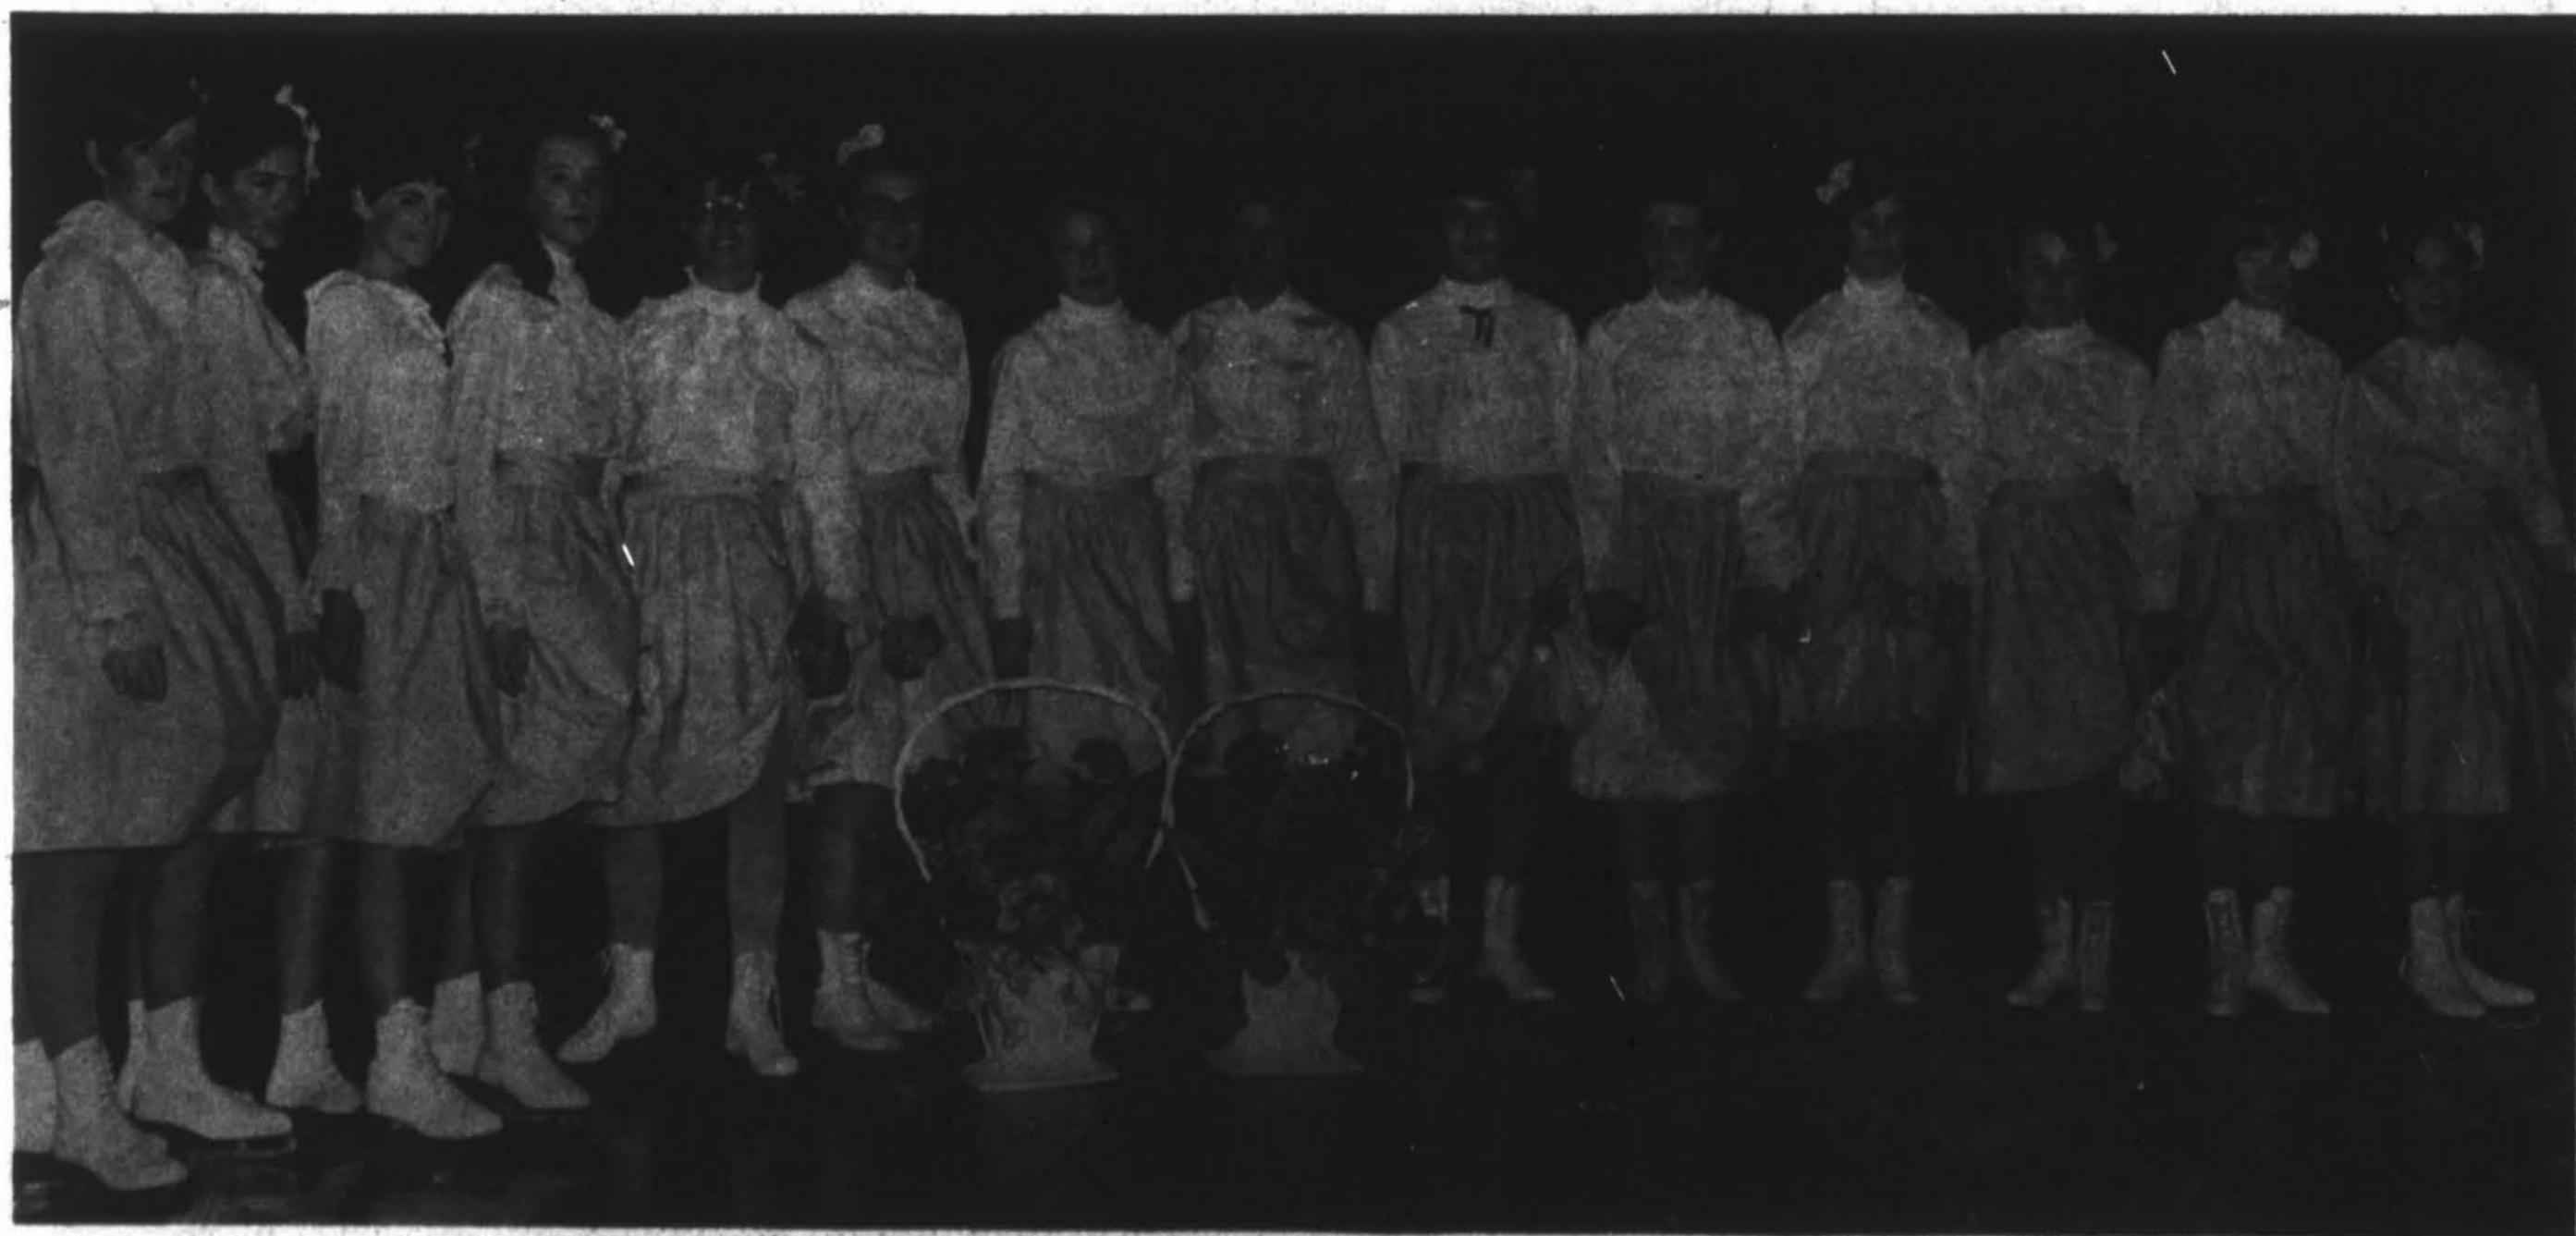

Now that the snow is getting too soft for hunting ptarmigan and spruce grouse a person should get his fishing and camping gear ready for the summer. Don't wait until the last minute. For those interested, the season for ptarmigan closes on Wednesday April 30. This has been the best season for them in the past four years.

The production of modern gadgets to take into the bush has gone all out of proportion. Much of it is just "junk with sales appeal" for the "drugstore camper". When you start accumulating gear, purchase the best and the lightest available. It will prove better in the long run. This year make your motto "Go light but right."

PAST

AN ASTRONOMER'S SUPERSTITION

Astronomers long taught that astrology was disproved when Copernicus discovered the sun as center of the solar system. Actually, Copernicus was a German astrologer who did not discover the sun-as-center. He merely pleaded a return to the ancient system of Aristarchus who lived in the third century B.C., while Copernicus was born in the 15th Century A.D. Pythagoras had employed the heliocentric (sun-as-center) system in 500 B.C., and he may have acquired it from the Babylonians or from Thales who could have acquired it from the Babylonians. The ancient Hindus, the Aztecs and the Mayans taught the sun as the center of the solar system.

THE LEO MAN

The Leo man has strength and is on the extroverted side. He would like to love everybody. Polished by education, etc., he is full of charm, but in an undeveloped type he can be the show-off. In the higher types he is an asset to any community because he will be the one to initiate action and organize the people. Select him if you want an entertainment chairman. Showmanship is his natural dish. His nature is outflowing. He would rather give than receive because it makes him happy. He likes a life that is gay and alive. Often, his charm gets him about everything he wants.

FUTURE

TOBEY'S PREDICTION:

This week can carry some depressive tendencies. People can be overly serious. It is impossible to see the whole, and it can be somewhat dangerous to judge the facts when you know only some of them. Live in the now, and face one thing at a time. There can be some limitations on creativity. Everything changes, and this will change. Keep up your courage and don't let it bother you too much.

ASTROLOGER CALLED BY HOUSE OF COMMONS

Investigating the great fire of London in the 17th Century, the House of Commons called before it an astrologer, William Lilly, who, 15 years previously, had predicted the fire and the plague. Lilly claimed both, not as causal phenomena, but as part of a design. He called it an act of God, the Great Designer. According to Manley P. Hall, Nostradamus had also predicted that London would be razed by fire at that time.

Week in review

Recreation program
Recreation Director Rollic Belliveau of Labrador City last week unveiled their program for the coming summer. The program includes a great variety of activities and is oriented primarily toward the 5-14 year age group. A new 28,000 gallon portable swimming pool is to be installed and an instructor. Gail Journeaux from UNB, has been hired to take charge of the swimming program. A Red Cross swimming course will also be run during the summer. Some of the other activities in the program are tennis, track and field, badminton, arts and crafts, gymnastics, hikes, roller skating, junior golf, softball, a soap box derby and of course dances.

World Kin conference
Jim Farrell, first vice-president of the Wabush branch of the Kinsmans Club, was selected to represent the local Kinsmen at a world conference to be held in Eastbourne, England in September.

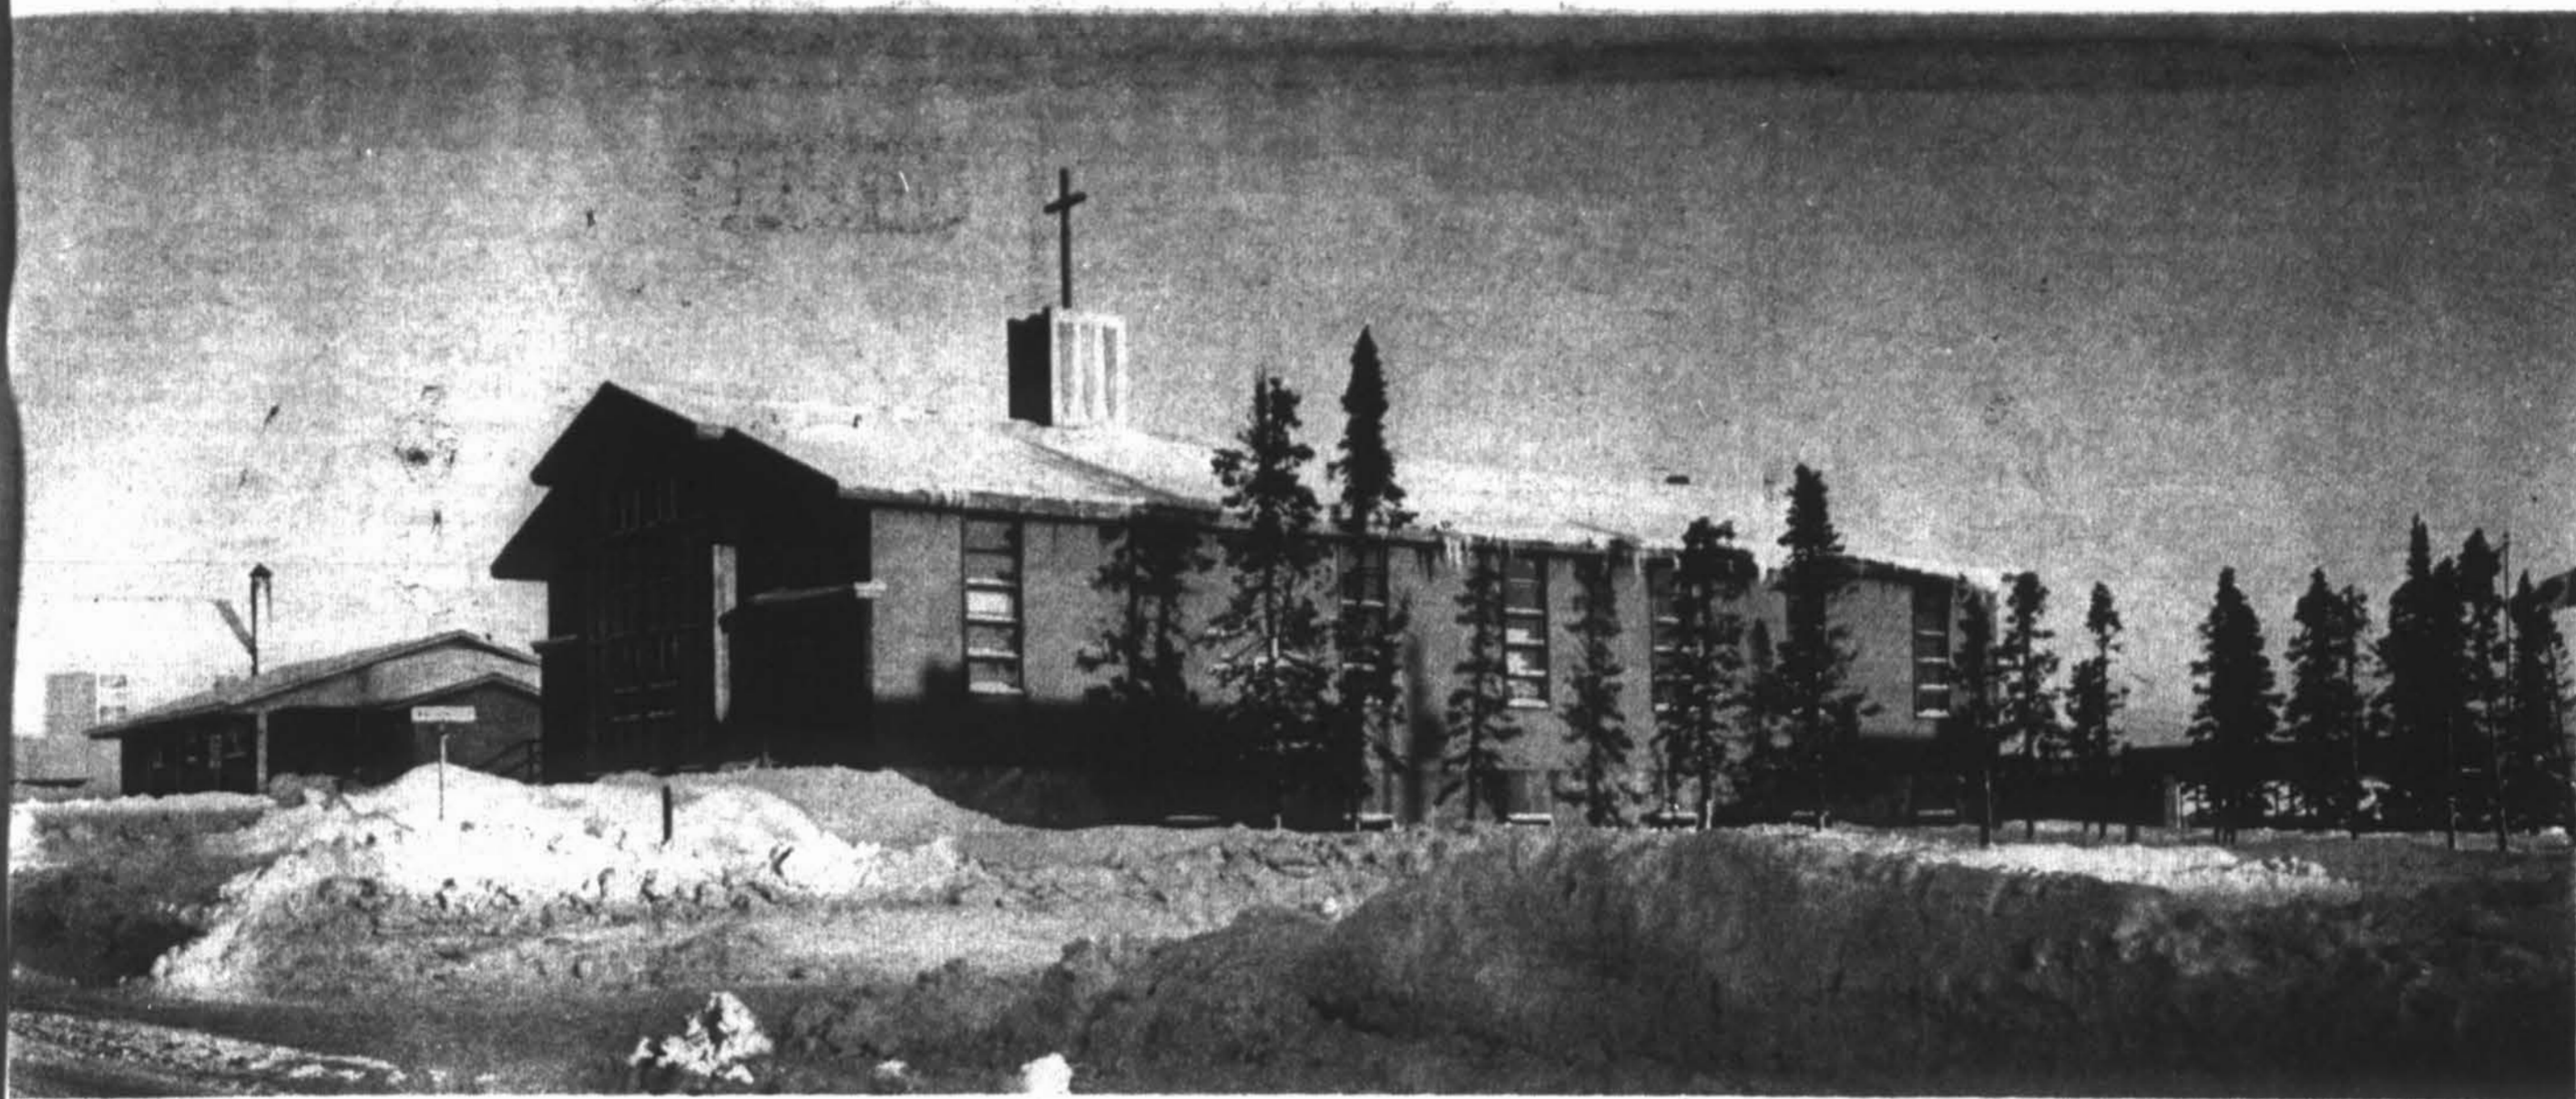

No unfair treatment
A select Committee of the House of Assembly last week reported back to the House after their fact finding trip to Churchill Falls. They reported no evidence of alleged unfair treatment of Newfoundland workmen on the Churchill Falls project.

The committee comprised of Captain Earl Winsor, (L-Labrador North), Captain Uriah Strickland, (L-Trinity South) and Thomas Hickey (PC-St. John's East Extern), unanimously agreed that "It would be difficult, if not impossible, for any employer to take greater pains to ensure the comfort and well being of workmen".

Strike possible
The USAW negotiating team and the representatives from the Iron Ore Company of Canada and Wabush Mines failed again last week to reach a mutually satisfactory settlement on a new working agreement. The intervention of a conciliation officer appointed by the provincial Department of Labour made no appreciable headway in the proceedings and a letter has been sent to Labour minister Keough requesting that a conciliation board be set up.

Playing the market - By C.S. Devine

This will be a weekly column devoted to Stock Market Activities. Stocks covered, will in the main, be listed on the three principal Canadian Exchanges - Toronto, Montreal, and Vancouver. However it is hoped to check Calgary and Winnipeg also the Canadian "over the counter" and the U.S. Exchanges.

May I state at the outset, comments in this column will be strictly that. They will not be recommendations to purchase stocks mentioned here. If you feel they have potential appreciation, investigate further. Because of the time lapse for printing all prices quoted will be approximate.

First a few suggestions.

Always purchase through your Bank or a registered Broker. NEVER, NEVER, from a telephone salesman promoting "hot tips".

For those wishing to purchase on their own account I would suggest subscribing to one or all of the three leading Canadian Financial papers: The Financial Post, the Financial Times, and the Northern Miner. The Post also issues a very informative, yearly, Survey of Industrials and Survey of Oils. The Miner a detailed, yearly, Canadian Mines Handbook. For the person who has some knowledge of the market and has the time available this method has merit.

If you haven't the time or inclination to do your own fact finding have it done for you by a registered Broker. Most investment dealers supply up-to-date information on investments without charge beyond the normal commission on transactions. The greatest care should be exercised in choosing the firm with whom you do business. There are many competent and ethical investment houses in Canada who are happy to handle your business.

Here are two basic rules you should remember about investing.

Rule No. 1. Know what you are doing. Investing is putting your money to work under acceptable conditions.

Rule No. 2. Investigate before you invest-and after. Don't buy securities and just put them away and forget them. Stocks are always changing in value, some up - some down. Investment success depends on accurate current information plus experience, your own or your broker.

There are three basic Canadian Markets (a) Industrial (b) Mines (c) Oils. In that we reside in a mining area let us first look at this section.

Economists predict a very good year for the Canadian Mining Industry and the individual investor should be able to profit from it. At present it looks like a boom year in the West especially in British Columbia. Mining shares trading on the Vancouver Exchange broke all records in February and while action has cooled of late, further heavy activity is anticipated in the near future. While rather dormant over the past few months both Toronto and Montreal trading of late seems to be becoming more active. So if you decide to invest in Belleterra Mining (Toronto .21 cents per share) or Falconbridge Nickel (All Canadian Exchanges of $116.00 per share) 1969 could be a profitable year.

Each week this column will publish three investment Definitions.

1. "Blue Chips". Active, leading, well seasoned equity issues usually with long time dividend records and strong investment qualities.
2. "Over-the-counter". A market for securities made up of securities dealers who may not be members of a recognized exchange. Also called "unlisted market".
3. "Penny Stocks". Low priced issues often speculative, selling at less than $1.00 a share.

Best wishes for your investment success.

Casts chosen

Approximately 30 people attended the casting on Tuesday evening, April 15, for the production of three one-act plays.

These will be "The Brute", a high comedy by Anton Chekhov and to be directed by Larry Moss. "Splint for a Broken Heart" is a modern comedy by John Kirkpatrick and will be directed by Hunter Stentaforde. Finally "The Invisible Line", a social drama by Vivienne Charlton Chadwick, will be directed by Margaret Ghory. The producer for all of these plays will be Tony Duarte.

Beverly Cunliffe, Albert Chatwood and Tom Farrall will appear in "The Brute". Jean Farr, Isabel Taylor, Rosemary Dawson, Glenys Jillett, Bob Brawley and Bill Hounsell will take part in "Splint for a Broken Heart" and Cynthia Moss, Peggy Bosche, Sue Hobbs, Jerry Doyle and John Rowe will play in "The Invisible Line".

Rehearsal will start next week and the plays will be produced during May. More news about them will be announced shortly.

Electrodes Sweep Silverware

The Wabush Industrial Hockey League's season came to a close last week with the conclusions of the finals. Electrodes took all the silverware as they took the league championship and the playoffs. In addition two of the Electrode players took the individual awards. Joe Power won the top scorer award and Cyril Sheppard was the top goaltender. Electrodes went through the playoffs undefeated as they eliminated the Flyers in two straight games and went on to defeat Combines in a similar manner by taking three straight.

The league had a very successful season and a great deal of credit should go to Gord Martin, league president. The financial situation is in "A" one condition, said Mr. Martin and a banquet and presentation of awards will take place in the near future. Congratulations to the executive referees and players on a fine season.

The Problems

1. How fast must a police cruiser travel in order to overtake in 40 minutes a speeding motorist who is traveling at 75 miles an hour, if the motorist has a 15-minute start?
2. If twice a certain number exceeds 1/2 that number as much as 6 times the number exceeds 85, what is that certain number?
3. If John spent $3 more than 2/3 of the cash he had in his pocket, and this left him with $12.50 less than 1/2 of his original cash, how much cash did John have originally?
4. A horse is tied at one end of a 42-foot rope, the other end of which is tied to one outside corner of a field that is in the shape of an equilateral triangle, each side of which measures 25 yards. Over how many square yards can this horse wander?
5. Tom can complete a certain job alone in 3 hours. However, with Jerry helping him, they both can complete the same job in 1-2/3 hour. At this rate, how long would it take Jerry alone to do the entire job?
6. If 24 pounds of salt water contains 12 per cent salt, how many pounds of pure water must be added in order to have a solution that will contain 4 per cent salt?

SOLVE-A-CRIME

The evening newspapers carried banner headlines relating the death of one of Sydney's most notorious underworld characters, Henri Caesar. He had been involved in a car accident in one of the darker streets of King's Cross. The police were able to establish that Caesar had been walking alone when a car mounted the pavement and pinned him against the wall. Many witnesses told police officers they had not actually seen the incident, but had heard the screech of tyres and Caesar's screams.

Police officers examined the only two cars parked in the vicinity within a few minutes of the "mishap." Both were stationary and belonged to men who were known to be enemies of Caesar. After Caesar's body had been taken away, the police made a more thorough examination of the two cars. Neither revealed any recent damage. One car, which proved to belong to a man known as "Eddie," had a mudguard dented, but this clearly was the result of a previous incident.

Eddie and the owner of the other car both disappeared on the night of Caesar's death, but were subsequently questioned by the police. They identified their cars and both swore the cars had been stationary for some time before the "accident." But the police, having examined the cars immediately after the "accident," knew that Eddie was lying. They charged him with the murder of Henri Caesar. How could the police be so sure that Eddie was the man responsible for the death of his former enemy? Where had Eddie slipped up in his movements on that evening?

THE SOLUTION

The police were able to examine the cars within a few moments of the discovery of Caesar's body. They found the bonnet of one car was still warm. The other was quite cold. It was Eddie's car which was warm and it was later established that he had told friends that night he was out to "finish off" Caesar.

The Answers

1. $89\frac{3}{8}$ m.p.h. The motorist will have been traveling 55 minutes when the cruiser overtakes him, or $55/60$ hour. Divide the product of 75 and $55/60$ by $40/60$.
2. $18\frac{8}{9}$. Letting X equal the number, form equation: $2X$ minus $X/2$ equals $6X$ minus 85. Solve for X.
3. $57. Letting X equal his original cash, form equation: $2X/3$ plus 3 plus $X/2$ minus 12.5 equals X. Solve for X.
4. $513\frac{1}{3}$ square yards. The horse can roam over $5/6$ of a circle (an equilateral triangle has 60-degree angles); square 14 (number of yards in 42 feet); multiply result by $22/7$ (pi) by $5/6$.
5. $3\frac{3}{4}$ hours. Tom can do $1/3$ of the job alone in 1 hour, while both can do $3/5$ of the job in 1 hour. Subtract $1/3$ from $3/5$, and divide result into 1.
6. 48 pounds. Multiply 24 by 0.12 by 100; from this result subtract the product of 24 and 4; divide by 4.
