Bill Parsons, staff representative of the United Steel Workers of America, announced recently that the membership of Local 5795 in Wabush Mines unanimously adopted the recommendations of its negotiating committee to reject the monetary offer of the Iron Ore Company of Canada.

The announcement was made in connection with current contract negotiations between Wabush Mines and the Iron Ore Company of Canada.

Negotiations are not dead-locked but are only moving at a snail's pace. Both parties have agreed on meetings this week.

Mr. Parsons said that as a result of the legal strike at the company's pellet plant and loading dock at Point Noire, Quebec, the company at Wabush has laid off about 45 employees. Further cutbacks are anticipated if the strike continues.

Eskimo language said dying out

Rev. F.W. Peacock, superintendent of the Moravian Mission in Labrador, recently addressed a luncheon meeting of the St. John's Rotary Club.

In his address, Rev. Peacock said that the Eskimo language is dying and called for government assistance to preserve it.

He described the Eskimo as a tough, resourceful, ingenious people with a deep sense of humour, but said that their culture was slowly dying.

Teachers protest Reductions in grants

The Labrador North branch of the Newfoundland Teacher's Association has protested the reductions in Minister, Dr. Rowe, Labrador Affairs Minister Earl Winsor, and Minister Without Portfolio, Gerald Hill.

In the telegrams, the association suggested that one way to provide funds for the remedying the situation would be to make student allowances payable directly to the school boards.

The revenue from this source would be equivalent to the reduction in grants in lieu of school fees.

Labrador City Collegiate principal tells students "We must not live on our past laurels"

LABRADOR CITY (Staff)—Eldon Swyers, principal of the Labrador City Collegiate, old students and parents attending the annual presentation of certificates and awards, May 6, that although results of last year's academic year were pleasing "We must not live on our past laurels."

He said education is fast changing and the accepted methods and courses of the past are rapidly becoming part of the past.

"We must continue to improve and expand our system if we are to remain in tune with recent educational development."

Mr. Swyers highlighted the past year's activities. He stated that although enrollment figures change each month, 183 pupils were enrolled in grades 9, 10, and 11 in the French and English sections. From September to June a total of 24 new students were admitted, while for the same period 13 students were transferred out and 11 discontinued studies altogether.

Mr. Swyers said one change in class organization was made during the school year. After Christmas, a new grade 9 class was created to take care of the overflow of grade 9 students. Consequently, he said, the teaching load increased with some teachers doing up to 34-40 periods per week. However, no class exceeded 30 students.

He explained that the curriculum of the English section differed to some extent from that of the department of Education of Newfoundland and Labrador. Differences occurred specifically in the course content of English language, English literature and Mathematics for matriculation orientated students.

He said the General Science, Geography and History courses in grade 9 were somewhat different from those prescribed by the Education Department. These courses were aimed at providing a greater challenge to students than offered by the regular courses of the department.

Also offered was a one-year business education program for students completing grade 11 and a similar two-year program for students completing grade 10.

A grade 11 pre-trades program was offered to students intending to enter vocational school.

The curriculum of the French section was that authorized for use in the province of Quebec. Religion to Roman Catholic and Protestant students was offered twice weekly. The program was conducted in conjunction with the churches of Labrador City. An excellent recreation program was also offered.

A student council elected by the student-body co-ordinated all student activities during the year. These activities included the production of a year book, a bi-weekly newspaper, school canteen, school dances and the graduation banquet.

Mr. Swyers said close contact was also kept with parents. Reporting to parents in a formal manner occurred after the January and June examination. In addition to this there were four parent-teachers conferences held during the year.

In the French section, 17 pupils wrote final school examinations and 13 received certificates with a 76.5 pass percentage. Four other students were given conditional passes.

Meanwhile, in the English section 120 pupils wrote final examinations in grades 9, 10 and 11 (pre-trades) and business education. The number of pupils receiving certificates was 85 or 70.8 percent. The percentage of pupils promoted and partially promoted was 87.5. There were 15 repeaters. 26 students wrote junior matriculation in grade 11 certificate examinations. Four received honors, nine matriculated and seven received pass diplomas. 20 of the 26 were successful.

Mr. Swyers said the percentage of passes was 76.9 compared with 63.2 percent in the province as a whole. In the grade 11 Quebec provincial examinations, six of seven students were successful with an 85.7 percentage compared to the Quebec provincial percentage of 68.

A program of adult education was also offered by the Labrador City Collegiate board for the third consecutive year. The program, said the school official, enabled students to qualify for grade 11 certificates or for a junior matriculation diploma. The business program of the department of Education was also given. Approximately 51 students registered for these evening classes.

Dean tells students to take a look at some things they have to do

LABRADOR CITY (Staff) — Dr. John Meagher, dean of the faculty of Physical Education for the University of New Brunswick, told graduates at the annual presentation of certificates and awards of Labrador City collegiate, that they better take a quick look at some of the things they have to do, and soon, if we are to have a society that seems to be necessary in this jet-fast, xeroxed computerized world.

He said they and others like them have to make up their minds whether or not Canada is worth saving.

If the answer is yes, he said, then you have to understand the divisive forces at work and counteract them.

"If you accept the concept of bilingualism, then it will be up to you, not those of us who are perhaps too old to learn new tricks, to put this concept to work."

He stated that if they believe Canadians must begin to think nationally and to toss away their preoccupation with parochialism, then it's up to them to say so in a responsible, orderly and mature way.

"Most of us believe that Canada is worth saving — its a marvellous concept, marvellously endowed and equally marvellously challenging for the brave and bold."

Dr. Meagher said that as a physical educator, he felt strongly that our national image internationally projected must be an important part of our foreign policy and influence.

"You must also make up your minds what you want. Our colleges and universities to be—hot-beds of radicalism or storehouses of knowledge and culture and technology?"

He asked if they are to be run into the ground by placard carrying activists, or are they to grow and prosper under the protection of a dedicated faculty and student body that accepts responsibility with right?

Said Dr. Meagher, "are they to be destroyed in support of a raft of non-issues or are they to be built up on the basis of national and provincial need?" These are gut issues that you, and only you can solve.

He urged the graduates to take a long hard look at the whole business of self-discipline, a quality, commented Dr. Meagher, that is fast being driven out of you by a society that provides much and demands little.

"If any of you have at any time in your lives adopted the philosophy that this crazy old world owes you a living or that you can function without guidance and direction from above and support and loyalty from below, then look out, because you're living a Walter Mitty-type life that will crumble just as surely as did that first sand castle you built as a child when the evening tide came rushing in."

Dr. Meagher continued that someone once said that there are only two kinds of people in this world—those who are part of the problem and those who are part of the solution.

"The destroyers, the quitters, the negatives, the anti-everything and the everybody group, the uncreative, the unproductive, these are the people who add little to a school, college, a job, a community, but like the slot machine, they try to get out of life everything they can without putting too much in."

He said the bold, the daring, the egg-heads, the experimenters, the ones who will stand up and be counted—the Kennedys and Kings—the serious minded, the responsible, the ones who really care about Labrador City about Newfoundland and Canada, and the kids in Biafra; the Oppressed in Viet Nam and the Indian and Eskimo, the ones who accept the fact that the older generation has won its spurs through experience and therefore should be respected. Those who dream new dreams that are as exciting as moon landings, gold medals, world peace, the return to law and order because its right—these are the ones who are part of the solution to the problems that face us all.

In closing, he told the graduates they must pledge today and every day of their lives to help to make the years that lie ahead better years than the one that has whipped by since you sat for exams a year ago.

by T-Dor

You know, in this day and age one must have a sense of humor to survive. Lately we have seen a few little instances which strike our funny bone.

For examples

For years we have been the butt of Newfie jokes gibes, and even slander for being somewhat behind the times. Many of these whimsical observations, if you wish to use that expression emanate from Toronto, a big town to the south of us. The other day the iron factory sent T-Dor to that place and it was our first visit to the big city for some years. We journeyed by jet to Montreal, and from there via CN's Rapido and were entranced by the modern world, by bustling society, by the suave slick mannerisms exhibited by everyone we met. Until we got to Toronto that is One look around that town, and brother were we ever brought up short. We discovered that the modern world has gone completely to pot. We have never seen in all our born days so many characters. There were characters tall, thin, short and fat. Characters big, little hairless and otherwise, characters oily, smooth, sly, doubtful and indifferent. And they all had three basic common denominators they required washing, clipping and dry cleaning. It's nice to be back in Labwab where the grime is a result of toil.

Another example is the Rapido. The Rapido is a fast modern train which shunts today's up and coming, fast and moving, young mods back and forth from Montreal to Toronto. One of the attractions of the Rapido is a car called the Bistro which is nothing more or less than a bar on wheels with a piano tossed in as an added attraction. The piano player is an agreeable fellow who leads everyone in song, hollers into a mike, and generally makes like a ball of five swinging hours while the train rockets along. Now this type of thing is a big deal on the outside between the mighty cities and those of us up here in the bush are supposed to take notice.

However, do not despair we are not all that far behind the times. The next time someone tells a Newfie joke about modern transportation, and you feel put upon, remember the Ross Bay flyer, and your last trip out in June to a vacation. Our local train is a swinging affair so far ahead of the Rapido that our trans citizens should hang their heads in shame.

Leave us get off the collective Toronto back and chuckle over something else. Take our old pet peeve, the communicating state of affairs, and what a doubtful boon it is in getting the news to us in a hurry.

Just now we listened to G-Bay radio and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's "Comprehensive review of the week's news of Newfoundland and Labrador." This is one dilly of a title for a radio program, and maybe even a word or so out according to our recollection. But get this, this radio show is designed to put across to the local yokels a review of everything of importance which has been going on in the past week. Maybe we have been dreaming, but something has been going on which is of considerable importance to everyone in Newfoundland and especially to everyone in Labrador.

Maybe T Dor has a warped sense of humour but it strikes us funny that we must read about a labor situation as serious as the one we know in the newspapers of another province, and the Labrador network of the CBC doesn't mention one word about it either.

Heard a good one this week: A fella we know has been having his problems with John Q. Law about the manner in which he handled his automobile one carefree evening. His case went by some time ago, and he has been awaiting sentence. The big day came up this week, and our friend was nervously putting on his best appearance and getting ready to hear his fate, when what happened? You guessed it EPA didn't get in, and neither did the judge. In fact he isn't here yet and may not be for some time. It's nice to know what the Labwab rapid transit system (how's that for a new name for EPA) has beneficial meaning for some if not for others.

Nuff for now

Carol Players to give three plays next week

Most of our readers, I am sure, enjoy watching a good play, which here in Labrador City and Wabush is usually by means of television. However, for many people, to watch "live" theatre is at times even more enjoyable. To bring such pleasure, the Carol Players are presenting three one act plays next week at the Labrador City Collegiate, and again this group will perform in Wabush the following week.

I am sure that anyone who has seen this group perform will make a special note to go and see them again, for those who have not seen any of their previous performances, I hope that they will go and see them for a very enjoyable evening.

Two of the plays are comedies and the third is a social drama. The plots, briefly are as follows.

The Brute by Anton Chekhov

Mrs. Popoff, widow of a Russian landowner in the last century, has vowed never to re-marry, but rather to renounce forever the company of man. However, one of her late husband's creditors, eager to collect, forces himself into her presence. This Mr. Smirnov, having had some unhappy experiences with women, has also sworn off love. The pair seem groomed for quarrelling, and when they do, sparks fly.

The Invisible Line by Vivienne Charlton Chadwick

Mona Law, recuperating from illness and a broken romance, in which her fiance has abruptly disappeared, is spending the summer alone in a cottage on the east coast of Vancouver Island, B.C. Her only neighbour is a solitary young woman with a tiny baby. The child becomes suddenly ill, and mona takes it in while the mother hastens away to locate a doctor. It is near midnight. A stranger, wet and exhausted, comes up from the sea seeking refuge and, through him, Mona eventually solves the mystery of the disappearance of her fiance months ago.

Splint for A Broken Heart. by John Kirkpatrick

Judy couldn't take another broken heart around the house. Her Aunt Esther had been nursing one for 12 years. Now Judy's sister was likely to develop one too, since she and her fiance had said farewell forever. Judy decided to do something radical about it, but who would have guessed what the result would be.

The dates for the presentations are Tuesday and Wednesday, May 20 and 21 at the Labrador City Collegiate auditorium and Monday, May 26 at the Wabush recreation centre. Performances begin at 8:30 p.m. and admission is one dollar for adults and 50 cents for students.

Tickets are available from members of the Carol Players, the drug store, Tarrants variety store, Bowrings, the drug store, Wabush and at the door.

Building programs to ease overcrowding

BY CLARIS RUDKOWSKI.

All the schools are becoming overcrowded but there are building programs planned for this summer which should ease the situation. When asked about the building design all agree that they are generally functional from the traditional point of view but they were certainly not designed with the people working in them uppermost in mind. Consultation in the future with the principals of each school would be highly desirable.

The Catholic and Amalgamated sections of J.R. Smallwood Collegiate, Wabush, must share the same building and share common facilities such as the gym, library and industrial arts classroom. The Amalgamated school of Labrador City must divide its classes between the C.E. McManus building and the Labrador City Collegiate building. All schools are kept immaculately clean; floors are washed daily.

Ideally the school of tomorrow will have mobile walls so as to provide more classroom versatility and greater use. As a note of interest, Sir Winston Churchill once said, "We shape our buildings but thereafter they shape us."

Domino Howse, principal of the Amalgamated section of the J.R. Smallwood Collegiate, Wabush, would like to see a central high school for the whole area and feels that we are behind in that integration is not moving ahead. Because his school and the Catholic section, in Wabush, have only 45 high schools students each, it would be much more beneficial to them to have a central high school. Then they could offer more programs and more variety. When questioned on the subject, Joseph G. Rousseau, Jr., of the Sacred Heart section of the J.R. Smallwood Collegiate, had this to say: "Our religion seeks to provide an atmosphere wherein our students will develop their greatest potentiality in terms of intellectual, social, esthetic, physical and spiritual. Accordingly I would have no objections to a complete integration at the high school level, which would be accompanied by a guarantee that our students would have every opportunity to realize their fullest spiritual potentiality."

This, in fact, is a bone of contention between the Notre Dame Academy and the Labrador City

Collegiate. Patrick G. Congdon, principal of the N.D.A. states that religion stops, for his students, at the grade eight level and there is little co-ordination between the program offered in his elementary school and the high school. He would like to see a separate Roman Catholic high school.

Our schools are constantly looking forward and have superseded other provincial systems on nearly everything, i.e. N.D.A. has been using the Ginn 'Light and Life' series for the past four years but only this year has the Department of Education designated certain other schools on the island to use them as a pilot project. In spite of the fact that the Department of Education is aware of this and other experiments in our area, our schools are never consulted on their findings.

The schools have a unique French program. They teach aural-oral French from grade one, adding written French from grade seven. One French teacher told me that most students, at the grade seven level, can speak French without a trace of an accent. The Department of Education does not require aural-oral French and sets exams only on the written.

The students receive French lessons three to four times a week with the aid of books, film strips, tapes and records. The teachers are fluently bilingual and most are hired from Quebec.

For the French children of our Twin Towns they may receive instruction, in French, for all subjects under the Quebec curriculum and they write Quebec provincial exams. Notre Dame Academy is responsible for the elementary program and Labrador City Collegiate instructs the high school students.

The arts programs are considered very good. The Labrador City Collegiate course includes drawing, painting and graphic art. It is taught as a non-elective subject to grades 9, 10, and 11.

An industrial arts program is offered to the boys of the J.R. Smallwood Collegiate, Wabush. For the grade six student this would be woodworking and related drafting; in grade seven, metal work and related drafting; in grade eight, mechanics and related drafting. At the grade nine level the student has an option on either one of the previous three and it is considered a credit course for grades 9 and 10.

This subject is in preparation for a trades or vocational school and both the Catholic and Amalgamated sections participate. Presently, the school is contemplating negotiations to co-ordinate their program with requirements acceptable to the College of Trades and Technology and the District Vocational Schools. To this end the program is being studied by a curriculum committee.

Here are a few interesting miscellaneous facts. a). The cost of education in Labrador West has been figured at approximately $1,000 per student as opposed to the national average of $450 and the provincial average of between $250 and $300. Much of the extra cost may be attributed to more and better facilities, more and better qualified teachers, resulting in a more varied program for the student. b). There are few dropouts because there is limited opportunity for the dropout and parents can better afford to keep their children in school. c). A large proportion of our graduates continue their studies at the university or vocational school level. d). The combined student population this year is 2,245 with 153 teachers. Next year (1969-70) there will be approximately 2,600 students and 174 teachers.

Probably the factor that puts our schools in a more advantageous position is the financial contribution made by the mining companies. They subsidize teacher salaries, libraries, building maintenance, etc. which accounts for about 80 per cent of the total operation. Without their aid we would have fewer teachers (Department of Education quota is 10 teachers per 300 students) and schools not nearly as well equipped.

Next week a closer look at the individual schools.

Tin can bonspiel this weekend

Students of the Labrador City and Wabush in grades four, five, six and seven will compete in the Carol Curling Club annual Tin Can Bonspiel, scheduled to get underway on Saturday, May 17, and to conclude Sunday, May 18. About 300 kids will compete for the top award and competition should be stiff as teams will be evenly matched.

This is an excellent opportunity for parents to get a first hand look at their kids compete as they are not only invited but also requested to come to the event. Teachers will also attend and help out with the kids. With full co-operation from students, teachers and parents the bonspiel should be a great success and provide lots of fun and experience for these youngsters of today, professional curlers of tomorrow.

Bus transportation will be provided during the bonspiel.

Minor hockey concludes with banquet

The Labrador west minor hockey league held its father and son banquet and presentation of trophies last week. About 250 kids, dads and dignitaries attended the affair. This years minor hockey movement was very successful and next season should see even greater success. Guest speaker at the dinner was Al Michelin, star defenceman of the St. Mary's Huskies.

A successful minor hockey season came to a close last week with a father and son banquet at the Sir Wilfred Hotel. Pictured are the team coaches and captains. I.O.C. Mill emerge champs Playoffs in the Labrador City broomball league concluded last week with IOC Mill emerging as the playoff champs. Mill had earlier captured the league championship by edging out the North Stars.

Mill played Bowrings in the semi final and took two games straight in a best of three series. North Stars and Admin went the three game limit with the final game taking three overtime periods to decide a winner in the 1-0 contest, sending the North Stars into the finals against IOC Mill.

The finals went to the limit as expected with the two strong teams, who were rivals all through the regular schedule clashing. Mill took the first game by a 2-1 decision. In the second game the North Stars took a 3-0 lead and held on to shut out the league champs and force a third game. Mill went on with a vengeance in the final game and never let down as they defeated the stars 4-0 and wrap up the championship and the broomball league for 1969.

Unexpected visitor drops in

Very few people saw him, but Bruce Gamble of the NHL Toronto Maple Leafs was at the Wabush Airport on Friday. Gamble flew in on Quebec Air and made connections with EPA for a flight to the island to attend a sportsman's dinner in Grande Falls. It is too bad that the people of this area did not know of Gamble's plans. A warmer reception could have been organized for the NHL star..

Wabush indoor tennis tournament

Finals of the tennis tournament were held in Wabush recreation centre on Tuesday evening, May 6.

The competition was enthusiastically supported by 22 contestants playing 48 games in the week of competition. For the record, K. Spitsnegle made eight duces in the Mens' doubles semi-final. The finalists were:

Mens' singles "A" event, Bruce Brown. Mens' singles "B" event, G. Pheiffer. Ladies' singles "A" event, T. Whitfield and Ladies' singles "B" event, M. Miller. In the Mens' double "A" event B. Brown and P. Beresford were winners and G. Pheiffer and T. Whitfield took the "B" event. Mixed doubles "A" event went to A and P Leonfellner and due to an injury the mixed doubles "B" event has yet to be played.

We are sorry to hear that Mary Miller was injured in her finals match warm-up, however, there is still time for the mixed doubles final before the outdoor season begins.

The president of the club wishes to thank all competitors for their sportsmanship and promptness in turning up for games at odd hours. Also those who helped to arrange and help make the tournament a success, and the Wabush recreation centre for the use of their facilities.

A presentation dinner is being arranged in the near future. The date is to be announced.

Queen in Labrador West

Labrador City (Staff)—Charna Turriff, 14, and a grade 9 student at Labrador City Collegiate won the title of the Labrador West Forest Queen here last week. She outspoke four other contestants to claim the title.

Each contestant spoke on some aspect of forest conservation. Other contestants were, representing Labrador City Collegiate, Doreen Roussy and Judy Messervey, Krystina Feretycki and Dorothy Smeaton representing the J.R. Smallwood Collegiate of Wabush.

The forest queen competition is held annually by the Newfoundland and Labrador Forest Protection Association and was sponsored locally by the Lion's Club of Labrador City.

On hand for the occasion was the public relations officer for the association, Dick O'Neill.

Miss Turriff received the award winning trophy and a 10-day tour of the province along with other regional winners which will wind up in Labrador West.

All contestants received silver cups and silver dollars donated by the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce and the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Mr. O'Neill and Eldon Swyer, Lions club president, said the competition was a tremendous success and will become an annual event. Some 15 civic minded firms threw their support behind the project by donating prizes.

Judges for the competition were Patrick Congdon, Principal of Notre Dame Academy, the resident director for the Department of Labrador Affairs, Miss Lillian Bouzanne, and Mrs Nita Wood of Wabush.

Special guests included F.R. Hayward, chairman of the Newfoundland and Labrador Forest Protection Association.

New found talent

Congrats to Master Timothy Cole, a grade V student, who won an award of $100, through his beautiful singing. The finals of this contest sponsored by the Kinsmen Club, were held Friday, May 2.

U.F.B. (Unidentified Floating Book)

A cry of alarm marked the sighting of the first U.F.B. reported in Labrador. Mrs. Lacasse was the victim of slight shock when she witnessed the marvel of a hovering book outside her classroom window. It was believed to be caused by the levitational powers of visiting aliens, but further investigation showed that a few harmless pranksters had invested in an elastic band.

Sports

Teen Bowling is now over for the year. The "Averagers" became champs on the basis of high average over the whole year. Members of the team include: Linda Hiscock (capt.), Bev. Porter, Gus Barron, Jackie Barrow, Gerrie LeBlanc and Ken March.

Wishes of "better luck next time" go to the members of the JRSC senior basketball team, as they were once more defeated by the LCC team 36-33. This was a very frustrating game since at the beginning it seemed to be very promising.

Seven of our students partook in the gymnastics competition held in St. John's last week. The talented seven were Harry Boone, Mike Hearn, Bernie Lorde, Gerry Doyle, Mike Gallant, Diane Mills, Bev. Pirs and Donna Peddle, two of whom took places. Diane Mills received second place in the Vaulting Division and Harry Boone, third place on the Rings. As fate would have it, Mike Hearn was left behind in the scramble to catch the plane, however, Mike showed no signs of regret.

The senior girls played another game against the female teachers. The score was 30-20 in the girls' favor. The students accredit the teachers' loss to two very old teachers Miss Tomasena Farrell and Miss Joan Rowe.

The senior boys intramural basketball championship was won by the "Unforseeables", by the difference of one point. The boys who comprise this team are: Tim Baxter, Dave Barron, Wallace Williams, Walter Snow, Serge Tibault, Paul Penney and Ken March.

Trophies will be given to the "Sprinters" the senior girls Intra-Mural basketball team and to the "Cardinals" the junior girls Intra-Mural basketball team on their winning the championships.

Last but not least

We would like to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Lacasse on the birth of their baby girl, Friday, May 2. (both teachers of our school).

We would like to welcome back Debbie Gallant from Montreal, where she had an operation on her arm.

We would also like to send "Get Well Soon" wishes to Loraine Boone, who is in hospital in St. John's. She has recently had a serious back operation.

PAST

THOSE BODILY AREAS

The old almanacs always carried a picture of the body with various parts associated with the signs of the Zodiac. The ancient doctor was always an astrologer. Both Hippocrates, "the father of medicine," born around 460 B.C., and Paracelsus, "father of modern medicine" born near 1493, were astrologers. A group of modern physicians investigating these ancient concepts report to us that the concepts were relatively true, but that new research is required to bring them up to date in the light of what modern medicine knows today.

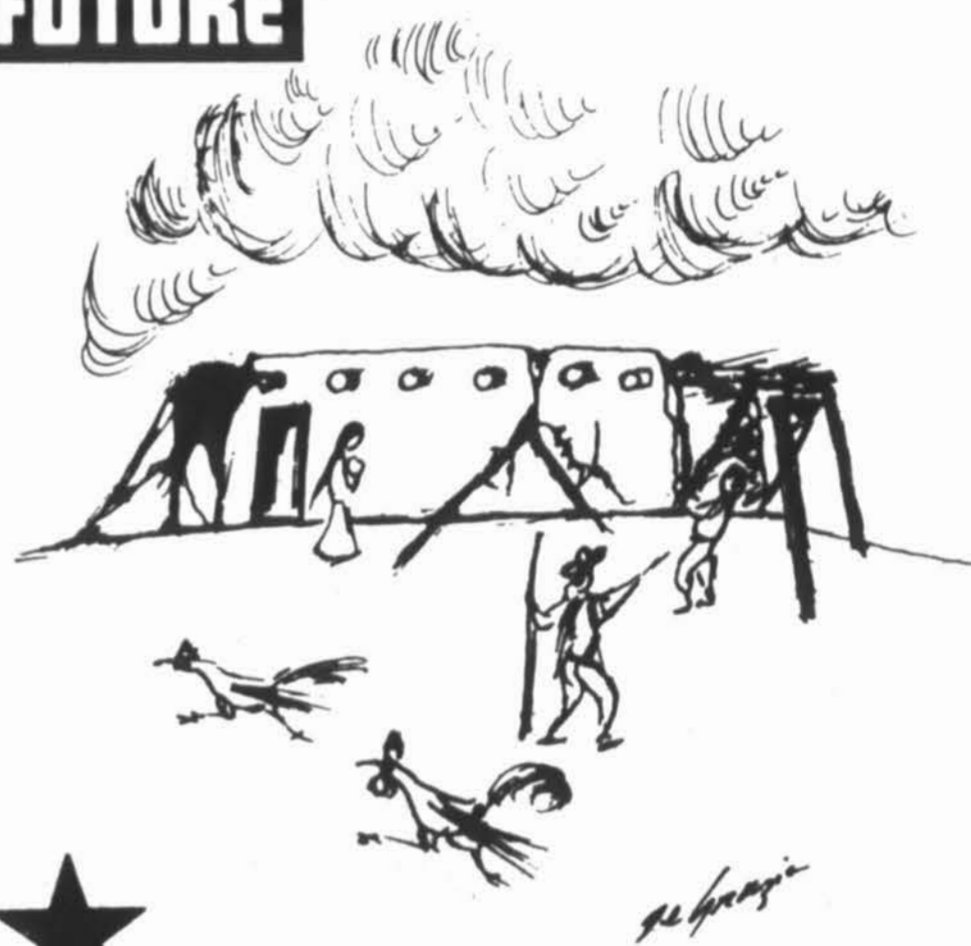

THE GEMINI MAN

The Gemini man can assume double roles, will take either side of a debate, changes his mind often, is overly restless, likes to travel from place to place, and can adjust from one frame of reference to another quickly. He often shines in the literary field but writes short stuff. He is handy and can work out ways of doing things he has not done before. He tires of anything rather quickly and must have variety. He doesn't always sleep so well because he thinks too much. He can make a clever trial lawyer. He likes to communicate with people. A maximum of twins are born under Gemini each year.

TOBEY'S PREDICTION:

Saturn enters Taurus. A new reactionary tendency creeps in to last 2 1/2 years. It will be in the background. Less carelessness in spending money. Financial powers become more powerful. Those in power want "soundness," less waste, and can be colder in their consideration of the problems of the less fortunate. There develops more of an attitude to let repairs go, and save the money.

DID THE EARTH SPLIT OPEN?

Inspecting the Grand Canyon from a helicopter, an aerospace engineer told us, "I don't believe this was caused by erosion; I think the earth split open." If the accepted erosion theory is true, the original river had to flow along the very top of a plateau. The Little Colorado River joined it coming from the east. From Cameron, down on the desert, it would have had to flow up hill for 40 miles. The rim of the Grand Canyon is a high point in that area. How did the water make the climb?

LABRADOR CITY COLLEGIATE NEWS
BY MACAL PENNEY
Graduates receive awards

On Tuesday, May 6, at the Labrador City Collegiate gym, the annual prize giving took place. Guest speaker for the occasion was Dr. John Meagher of the University of New Brunswick.

The evening consisted of the presentation of prizes, certificates and diplomas to last years students. Scholarships won by last years graduates were also distributed.

The prize giving was followed by a gymnastics show by the students. The presentation consisted of modern dances, vaulting, floor routine, trampoline acts and performances on the parallel bars and rings. Outstanding performances were given by Ed. Lannon and Frans Paradis. Both students had attended the recent gym competition in St. John's where Lannon placed second in the event. The local show was attended by a large crowd of interested parents, teachers and students.

Student cops make appearance

On Saturday, April 25, a new system of keeping control of dances was introduced at the Labrador City Collegiate. A student police corps sponsored by the collegiate senior cheerleaders made its first appearance. The policing system was the brainchild of the LCC student council and its main purpose is to make sure that the rules of the dance were being followed.

The force for this particular night was made up of four boys and one girl. They were selected because they were big enough to give orders and to make sure they were carried out. The force prowled the floor with bright red and white armbands that had a black "S.F. (student fuzz) affixed. They checked the all purpose room, washrooms and dark corners, making sure that no one was doing what he shouldn't and seemed to be really earning their dollar an hour.

Members of the force that night were Pat Costigan, Bob Bruce, Bob Caverly, David Gavin and Betty Sheppard all from the senior class at the collegiate.

Cop awards in talent contest.

In the finals of the talent contest held recently two groups from Labrador City took second and third place. Vladimir Freudrick took third place money of $25 for his drawing. Vladimir is a grade 10 student at Labrador City Collegiate. Second place went to a sextet made up of Coleen Hickey, Leslie Monaghan, Lyn Bright, Paul Flemming and Robert March, all students of Notre Dame Academy. They were accompanied by Roy O'Brien, a teacher at NDA. They won $50 for their performance of Simon and Garfunkel's song "The Sound of Silence."

Sports

The Labrador City Collegiate senior boys basketball team won the inter-collegiate basketball championship by defeating J.R. Smallwood Collegiate in three straight games. The second contest was the most exciting when it went into two overtime periods before LCC eked out a close 51-48 decision.

Ed Lannon a grade 11 student at LCC travelled to St. John's with coach Jack Drover and took part in a gymnastics competition. He was entered in the 16-19 age division and performed on the parallel bars the rings as well as the floor routing.

Future Events

Two big upcoming events will be the graduation dance to be held May 31 and the "penny drive" (no pun intended).

The penny drive is held to help cover the cost of the yearbook and will be of one week duration pitting the girls against the boys. Once again the big formal graduation dance will be held at the LCC gym.

See Ya in Two Weeks.

External affairs

WABUSH (Staff) - A group of some 20 officers of the Department of External Affairs visited Labrador West during the past week.

Their two day visit was part of an eight week cross-Canada tour and was designed to acquaint the officers with Canada before taking up posts overseas.

They left here for Quebec City on a similar mission.

On their arrival here they were met by representatives of the Memorial University Alumni Association, Wabush Mines and the Iron Ore Company of Canada.

On Saturday, the visitors were split into two groups and taken on tours of the operations of Wabush Mines and IOC.

LABRADOR CITY (Staff) - The winners of the mothers day essay contest sponsored by Bowring Brothers have been announced. Winners were: David White, Louisa Tobin, Richard Timmins, Carol Ann Roberts, Terry Leonard, Linda Reilly, Pearl McDonald, Jim Kennedy, Linda McGrath and Wally Kerr.

The winners were judged on the best essay on "Why Mom's the Best."

Each of the winners was presented with a potted plant for Mother.

Viewpoint Using the mass media

From its inception a century ago the Salvation Army believed in "shock tactics"-any novelty, even extravagant ideas-to attract people to their message. The idea of using brass bands in religious services - outdoors and in - was so new it disgusted many stodgy church members. And as to uniforms and military titles and the adoption of the catchy title, "The Salvation Army," that really helped to spread the movement throughout the world - that was "right on the beam" in those days, for wars were glamorous then. Soldiers marched into battle clad in gaudy scarlet, and the cavalry, with their slender lances, were the epitome of romance, reminiscent of the Knights of old. So that the adoption of the military syndrome fairly swept the infant mission on its way.

So today, the Army ever watchful that its ways do not bore the public, is quick to grasp new ideas to put its message - the selfsame message of salvation by divine means - across to those who need it most. It was swift to see the utility of radio, and early in the thirties many individual Corps (evangelistic centres) broadcast certain services - and still do. But the national feature "This is my Story" - by which amazing accounts of life-changing were broadcast to millions of listeners - was launched in the forties, and was quickly taken up by scores of stations across Canada. It is still going strong, and is augmented by the TV feature "The Living Word," again demonstrating - this time pictorially - that the day of miracles is by no means past.

"THOUGHTS FOR THE INNER MAN" is a new series which has spread with equal swiftness. It is doubly welcome in these days of hectic living, for in two minutes it speaks to the man driving his car or seated in his office, or at home, of the things that count - the intangible qualities of heart and mind and soul. In these days of bilingualism, it has been produced in French, and is popular in Quebec, as well as in France and Switzerland, whose radio stations have accepted some discs or tapes.

The education department of the Salvation Army is a live concern, and looks after a number of academic subjects - not all of them religious. But, of course, most of them deal with the Bible and allied topics. The lessons are marked by experienced persons, and show a keen desire to learn more of the good life here below. Not the least eager among these aspiring students are the inmates of our prisons and penitentiaries, for these courses are available to the prisoners, and many of them are making the exciting discovery that the Word of God can be most revealing and informative, apart from spiritually stimulating.

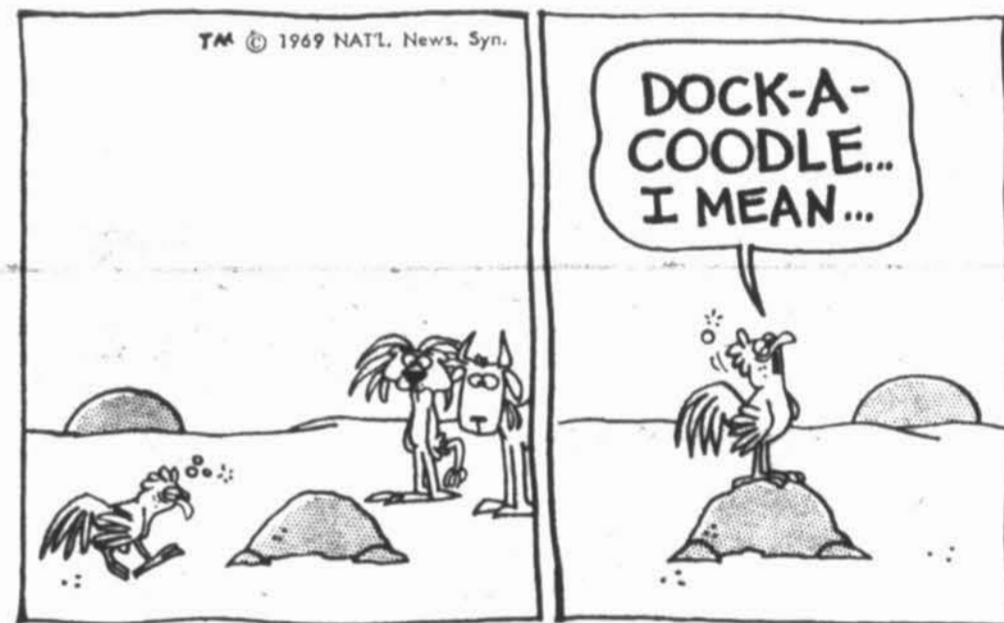

The Army has resident chaplains in some of Her Majesty's prisons, and where there is none, the officer of the local centre regularly visits both the police courts and the jails and prisons, distributing the War Cry and other Christian literature, and counselling those who desire advice and help. Bible classes are actually held in some of these places of confinement.

So the Army cannot be accused of lagging behind the times. But while it may use new methods, its intrinsic message is the same. It believes that it is dangerous to water down the old-fashioned Gospel. In fact its eleven main doctrinal truths are enshrined in a Deed Poll registered in the Chancery Court London, England, and CANNOT BE CHANGED EXCEPT BY AN ACT OF THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

Salvationists do not wish to see them changed, for they have been the means of changing the lives of literally scores of thousands of souls - some from the most desperate circumstances. Change the methods by all means, but not the message! Sophisticated religious philosophy may please the intellectuals but it couldn't mean less to the man or woman who is struggling against addiction to drink or drugs, or wrestling with tragedy and sorrow.

ANIMAL CRACKERS

Scanning the market

By C.S. Devine

In answer to an inquiry on the timing of "penny stock" purchases, I would suggest the best period for such investments is usually April - June. During this time the majority of the smaller companies announce their plans for the summer season. Drilling and development programs, depending on location, are under way by June and in August results of their activities start to appear in the press. In summation, buy in the spring and unless a definite commercial find is made, sell in the late summer or early autumn.

As stated in our last column, this week we will take a brief look at "penny stocks" trading on the Vancouver and Canadian (Montreal) Exchanges.

First, Vancouver. Recently many veteran mine finance people have remarked that Toronto's mining hey-day is but a memory. Vancouver is where the action is, they say, pointing out the tens of millions of dollars in risk money being raised for exploration work in Western Canada. (As an aside, the Vancouver quotes that follow are the first to be published by any paper in this province. I would suggest to the newspaper owners of Newfoundland they print such information, which is readily available from the wire services.)

The Highland Valley copper discovery of last year put a fresh surge of vitality into the Vancouver Stock Exchange, and made a pleasant slice of ranchland in the interior of B.C. the hottest mining area in Canada for 1968.

Here are some of the winners, with claims in this area:

Adera Mining, 1968 Low .45 cents. Present Price $1.51.

Arlington Silver Mines, 1968 Low .28 cents. Present Price .69 cents.

Buttle Lake, 1968 Low .55 cents. Present Price $7.10.

Northlode Explorations, 1968 Low .81 cents. Present Price $5.00.

Northwest Ventures 1968 Low .06 cents. Present Price $2.21.

South Seas Mining 1968 Low .68 cents. Present Price $1.31.

Trojan Consolidated 1968 Low .19 cents. Present Price $1.27.

So you see it is still possible to make a bundle of $ on a small investment.

Within the past couple of weeks Consolidated Van-Tor which reported an impressive drill hole on its uranium property in Northern Sask., advanced from .42 cents to .75 cents. Moly mine Explorations which was .25 cents on April 8 is presently trading in the .55 cent range. Capri Mining rose from .76 cents to $1.25 in one day's trading last week.

Another area of B.C. which is showing possibilities is the Port Hardy area of Vancouver Island. Last year the U.S. giant Utah Mining came up with several copper deposits on its claims. Two of the newer West Coast companies have adjoining territory, Continental Cinch .82 cents and Brettland Mines about .90 cents, both stand to gain if Utah decides to proceed with production.

Canadian (Montreal) Stock Exchange. Although here activity has been subdued, several stocks have recently made impressive gains. (a) Laduboro which was .53 cents early this year is presently trading at $2.25. (b) Baker Talc has advanced from its 1968 low of .20 cents to .97 cents. (c) Chib. Copper dropped to .05 cents last year. Present Price .48 cents. (d) Mount Pleasant which was in decline for several years dropping to .11 cents last year is actively trading at .59 cents.

While there have not been any large mineral discoveries in Eastern Canada during the past year or two, it's still possible to make substantial gains on the right investment. Two that may have possibilities for appreciation are Consolidated Pershcourt which peaked at $1.40 last year (Present Price .31 cents) and North American Rare (High 1968 $1.03, Present Price .39 cents).

Three Investment Terms:

(1) Balance Sheet: A report showing an enterprise's financial position on one specific date. Assets owned are shown on the left-hand side, and liabilities owed plus ownership interest of the shareholders are shown on the right — the two sides "balancing" at an equal dollar amount.

(2) Blue Sky Laws: A popular name for laws various states and provinces have enacted to protect the public against securities fraud. Today the term "blue sky" is used to indicate that a new issue has been cleared by the Securities Commission and may be distributed to the public.

(3) Board Room: A room for customers in a broker's office where opening, high, low and last prices of leading stocks are posted on a board through the day.

Next Week: Mining stocks in the two to twenty dollar range.
