TWO OWNERS, THREE CHAMPS — A pet show was held in Labrador West during the past week and it was a well - attended event. All sorts of pets were entered . . . everything from cats to ducks and not only the competition but the wildlife display also helped make this an entertaining show. Shown above are three young people with their prize-winning entries in the cat section. Left is Suzanne Turriff with the first place winner in this section, a beautiful Red Persian. Suzanne is also owner of the second place winner, a white Chinchilla cat, shown at the centre in the arms of a young friend. Right is Christine Kewin, holding the third place winner, a Russian Blue. For more details on the pet show and more pictures, see inside, "Marshmallow roast and pet show". (Biron photo).

PAST

PRINTERS AS ASTROLOGERS

In the early part of the century most astrology publications came from England. But when things were slow, a Los Angeles printer, Llewellyn George, printed little books on astrology, mostly copied from Allen Leo in England. He prospered and was the first to offer a correspondence course on astrology in the United States.

CANCER PLAYBOY

On his guard, he wants to play without unpleasant consequences. Not a sucker, he knows amount of the check before it arrives. Mother him and you'll make progress. Invite him home for enchilada and tacos and he'll think he's found security. He likes sympathy. Make him think you need him. Be that poor gal trying to get along. Never mention the other guys you go out with. Let him think you're lonesome when he is not around.

PRESENT

FUTURE

TOBEY'S PREDICTION:

Look for Libra people to be coming more to the front in the next seven years. Uranus is stirring them up. They will go through many changes, but Uranus can pull them more into public and community life. Libra women will have new stirrings within themselves which will make them think about new romance. These seven years will bring out the talent of these people in a new way.

ASTROLOGY AND HEREDITY

In a national newspaper, Huntington Hartford criticized astrology for not considering heredity first. He is right. If your parents had been elephants or kangaroos, your destiny would have been quite different. You would encounter additional prejudice. Many fancy eating places would not permit you to enter. You couldn't go to the same schools. You would have to live in your own ghetto.

Marshmallow roast and pet show highlight the week

The week's activities included roller skating, swimming, gymnastics, arts & crafts and tennis; all age groups participated in these events.

The movie for the week was "Ma & Pa Kettle", which was shown in Notre Dame Academy on Wednesday afternoon.

A marshmallow roast was held at Tanya Lake on Tuesday afternoon. This was enjoyed by all. The weather was excellent so many of the children went swimming in the lake. The special event of the week was a pet show. The turnout for this was extremely good, with many spectators as well as contestants. Much thanks are extended to Mrs. F. Hart, Mr. Williamson and Mr. Kean who acted as the judges. Congratulations go to the

Round & About

Comment in this column last week on Quebecair and E P A Service has brought some unofficial reaction.

We have been informed that difficulty with arrival of flights is not entirely the fault of the airlines. Apparently the difficulties being experienced this past couple of months have been due in part to the lack of an adequate supply of jet fuel stored here and also that a number of navigational aids required during inclement weather are not available.

We understand that the responsibility for the installation of navigational equipment rests with the Department of Transport.

A check with an official of D.O.T. has revealed that, they are now in the process of installing a V O R navigational aid, but apparently this will not rectify the situation, the spokesman said, what is required would be an I.L.F., or Instrument Landing System. There are no immediate plans by the Transport Department for installation of such equipment.

A year or more ago the Chamber of Commerce undertook to have traffic warning lights installed by the appropriate government department, at the level railway crossing, between Labrador City and Wabush. Since then we have heard very little on the project. It would seem appropriate if the Chamber would inform the public what progress has been made.

One of the more beautiful beaches in the area, at Tanya Lake is rapidly becoming a garbage dump. It seems that certain people insist on scattering rubbish after picnics or throwing pop and beer bottles into the lake, where children and adults alike enjoy a splash in the water. Broken bottles in the lake can be downright dangerous. Could we not help the town and try ourselves to keep the recreation areas clean.

While the majority of citizens are co-operating with the local officials of both towns in a beautification program, it is not the case with all. Just take a drive around the towns, count the number of wrecks, cars and trucks placed helter skelter on some property. The same applies to the care given to a number of lawns. Surely we should have enough civic pride to keep our lawns cut and property clean. As a suggestion, the Town Officials should insist on lawns being cut and wrecks towed away, otherwise the Town would undertake to do this themselves and charge the occupants for costs involved.

Reports indicate that considerable vandalism is being experienced in the Carol Shopping Center Mall, among other things, empty pop, beer and liquor bottles are being deposited in the Canada Post Office mail boxes.

Softball well underway

The Labrador City Softball League is now well under way. Although the "A" league had to be dissolved because of the strike and lay-off, the "B" league has pushed off to a good start.

The four teams have been in very close competition all the way. Recently each team has been reinforced with players from the "A" league who because of the disintegration of that league, previously had not been able to play ball this year. Present league standings are as follows:

	GP	W	L	Pts	%	G.B.L.
Juniors	7	4	3	8	.571
Wabush	10	5	5	10	.500	½
Dominion	10	5	5	10	.500	½
Administration	11	5	6	10	.455	2

Open letter to Marchand

Not granted same privileges

TO:
Hon. Jean Marchand
Minister of Regional Economic Expansion
Ottawa, Ont.

Hon. Sir,

Your announcement of 7 August 1969 on area development grants to six designated parts of Canada is, I believe, the culmination of months of the most discriminatory treatment ever meted out to an area in Canada.

I realize sir, that you are in no way responsible for the Provincial Government's action in depriving Western Labrador of road connections or the current denial of legal transportation. However in that you are the Minister responsible for Regional Expansion, your statement of Thursday past can certainly be considered in the same category.

The population of the Atlantic Provinces is approximately 2 million and the population of Eastern Quebec covered by the Federal business incentive plan, is in excess of one million; but in the midst of these 3 million Canadians, 12 13,000 Labradorians are exempt. Now I think, I know how the U.S. Negroes and Canadian Indians must feel. Why, but why, is not Western Labrador granted the same privilege as the rest of Eastern Canada.

The Federal Government is spending millions of dollars throughout Northern Canada (with practically no returns at present) to encourage development and settlement. Western Labrador is the only district of the North where Government revenues exceed expenditures. Are we being penalized because of this?

I feel the government of Canada does not have the right to hold part of this country in an economic straight-jacket, and that is precisely what you are doing by your actions. You and your colleagues have decreed that people who live in Western Labrador, in one industry towns, will not be given an opportunity to find alternate employment in this area. It would be difficult enough under the best of circumstances to entice business to locate or current operations to expand here but under your new regulations it is impossible.

As a former Provincial legislator, I participated several years ago in a debate on the U.N. Proclamation of Human Rights and in my opinion we are being denied our rights as citizens of Canada.

I would therefore request the plan again be reviewed and Western Labrador be given an opportunity to rejoin Eastern Canada.

Charles S. Devine

Scanning the market

By C. S. Devine

A lousy market but excellent profits seems to be the order of the day. So we will wait until next week to review individual stocks, hoping in the meantime that a definite pattern is established. At the moment its floundering about and if anything is going sideways.

THE EARNINGS CONTROVERSY:

The debate about earnings per share continues to engage the financial community; what should they include and what should be excluded. How should non-recurring profits be treated?

In the U.S., where these questions were first raised by the advent of the conglomerates and their complex financing techniques, the debate has resulted in a head on collision between the Accounting Principles Board and the Investment Bankers Association of America.

The APB, an arm of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, has just produced a long and complex set of formulas for dealing with potential dilution, which could become general U.S. practice unless turned down by the Securities & Exchange Commission (SEC).

The Investment Bankers hope the Security Commission will do just that. They want all corporate reports to show two earnings per share, figures with equal prominence (one undiluted, the other allowing for maximum possible dilution). This would show, to the company's least knowledgeable shareholder, the scale on which future dilution could affect earnings.

The accountants have not as yet made their defence. But the investment bankers' choice of the least sophisticated shareholder as a crux of their argument is laudable.

CAPITAL GAINS:

Britain brought in its new and broadly-based capital gains tax in 1965. Revenue from it is still far below the estimates (once the tax has become well established). The Canadian Chartered Accountant says that the most common estimate of eventual revenue from the tax is $390,000,000. So far it has produced $20,000,000 in 1966-67, $41,000,000 in 1967-68 and $48,000,000 in the first seven months of the current fiscal year.

The Carter Commission on Taxation acknowledged that in the short run Canada's revenues from the capital gains tax would be minimal, because only gains accruing subsequent to the changes in legislation would be affected. Also, other transitional provisions recommended would temporarily reduce the potential revenue.

Eventually, based on the average rate of tax in Canada in 1964, Carter's capital gains tax proposals would produce tax revenues of about $380,000,000.

In view of the damage the tax could do to much needed risk ventures in Canada, one should consider why, even in the name of equity, Ottawa could consider that the $380,000,000 (corporate and personal income taxes bring in about $6,500,000,000 now) was worth the grave risk.

MUTUAL FUNDS STUDY:

Internal regulation advocated. The Canadian Mutual Funds Association recently pressed its case for self-policing of the industry, anticipating recommendations for strong legislation from the federal-provincial Canadian Committee on Mutual Funds and Investment Contracts, which will report later this year.

The CMFA supports its position with proposals contained in an inch-thick report on the mutual fund industry prepared by two professors of the University of Toronto's School of Business. The study was commissioned by the CMFA.

Professors Quirin and Waters suggest that the CMFA be formally recognized by provincial securities commission to regulate its members under the "general supervision" of the government. They also propose that CMFA be responsible for training and qualifying those in the mutual fund business.

Professors Quirin and Waters also recommend that government legislation of the industry include funds managed by trust or insurance companies, banks, or other financial groups. They also approve of uniform legislation for dual licensing of mutual fund and insurance salesmen.

Biography for Messer

A documented biography of Canada's minstrel king is being published by the Kentville Publishing Company, Kentville, Nova Scotia and will be on sale in October.

The book will be a glossy paperback of about 200 pages with some 70 illustrations. It will retail for about $2.95 with a limited number of copies in hard cover for about $3.95.

The main purpose of the book is to give Canadians an inside look into the private life and career of a man who for forty years has provided millions of radio listeners and television viewers with their favorite brand of entertainment.

The book is based on newspaper clippings and other records dating back to 1929 and on personal interviews with Don Messer, his family, his neighbors and his associates.

This is an unusual biography in that the central figure has not finished his course but through private enterprise has launched himself upon a new and larger phase of his life. Programs now being taped in Hamilton will be seen on many TV stations in Canada and possibly throughout the world.

Convention concluded

The Newfoundland and Labrador Association of Fire chiefs convention ended in Corner Brook last Wednesday with the election of the executive for the Year 1969-70.

Elected were, Chief W. M. Caddigan of St. John's, President, John Cardoulis, St. John's, immediate Past president, Jim Andrews, Stephenville, First Vice President, Charles Garland, Harbour Grace, Second Vice President, Paul Burchert, Labrador City, third vice president.

Allan Goulding, Grand Falls, Secretary treasurer, Reginald Normore, Springdale Director, and Peter Cashin Director.

Provincial Fire Commissioner Ryan stated that, 15 years ago there were only 15 fire departments and today we have over 50 highly organized departments. Commissioner Ryan speaking on behalf of Justice Minister Alex Hickman, praised the Labrador City, Wabush, Happy Valley and Goose-Bay airport fire departments as being excellent.

The lighter side

AS THE TWIG IS BENT:

Five year old Vic went out to Sunday brunch with Daddy while Mother was away. "Please let me order my own like you do," he begged and turned to the waitress. "I'll have orange juice, cornflakes, an egg, toast and milk, please."

"And how will you have your egg, young man?" asked the waitress.

This stopped the lad, but only briefly. "Oh, on the rocks, I think."

END OF MYSTERY:

The head accountant for a large corporation had worked for thirty years for the company and every morning when he came to work, he unlocked his desk, peered into the center drawer for a long moment, then locked up everything again. What was in that center drawer? Assistants, visiting salesmen, even the president of the company himself, never came close to solving the mystery.

One day the man left for another job and after a decent interval everybody rushed to pry open that center drawer. It was found to contain one little slip of paper. Printed in capital letters thereon were the words: "The side towards the window is the debit side".

NO GAIN

More holidays on Mondays? That sounds like happy news. But won't the net result be, To shift the blues to Tues?

THE EXECUTIVE

Directives and guidelines, My boss never uses. I'm totally free, to do just as he chooses.

CHANGES

It's a safe bet that the peak years of mental activity are between the ages of four and eighteen. At four, we know all the questions. At eighteen, all the answers.

BRIDAL PATH

We couldn't enjoy any bundling And dowries were long out of style

And matchmaking as a profession

Had already died out for a while.

We didn't have singles' apartments,

We had no computer-matched dates.

Oh, how in the world did we ever

Succeed in acquiring our mates?

THE PAY'S THE THING

Hearing through the grapevine that his employees had been grumbling about his strict discipline, the boss called all of them together and said, "I have heard that there is some dissatisfaction here. If any of you have complaints or grievances, don't be afraid to speak up, even if it costs you your job".

HERO

At dinner, six year old Jimmy told his mother that Bobby, his eleven year old brother, had been smoking.

"Is that true, Bobby?" questioned the horrified mother.

"Yes, mom" said Bobby, "But I'm trying to quit".

THE AGES OF MAN

Tradition seems taboo encrusted

When you're under thirty and can't be trusted.

A cult of youth's a bitter pill When you're more than thirty and over the hill

Then comes the age when your pate glistens:

You know all the answers, but no one listens.

CANDID COMMENT

An automotive invention that's greatly needed - brakes that automatically get tight when the driver does.

Solve-a-crime

BY A.C. GORDON

You arrive at the lonely spot on the little traveled country road where standing in the dark of the night puffing nervously on a cigarette alongside a shiny, new convertible car is the well-dressed, middle-aged Henry Begley. Apparently speechless, he points farther down the road in front of his parked car.

You walk slowly in that direction and finally among the weeds at the side of the road you see the bruised and battered body of a young man of about 30. He is coatless, and his white-shirted chest is covered with blood and the marks of tire treads. There are a number of ugly contusions on his face, too.

"My first accident in more than 25 years of driving," exclaims Begley as he comes up behind you. "And to think that the car I was driving killed my good friend and partner!" He points sadly at the body. "That's Marty Hayes. We're law partners in the firm of Hayes and Begley."

"Suppose you give me the whole story," you prompt him.

"Well, Marty phoned me tonight from his country home just a mile or so down the road from here . . . said he couldn't get his car started, and asked me to send someone for him because he had an important appointment with a client in town. I decided to come after him myself . . . and Marty must have decided to walk along the road to meet whoever was coming for him. There were no cars at all on this road tonight, and I was driving at a pretty good clip, when suddenly as I came around that sharp bend in the road back there I ran full tilt into Marty who was walking in the center of the road.

"It was horrible! That sickening thud!" Begley pauses to wipe his brow with the handkerchief that has been in his breast pocket. "Marty's body must have been thrown at least 25 feet to the side of the road here. I stopped immediately and ran to him . . . it was too late . . . he was dead! Then I ran to his house and phoned you. Luckily his wife wasn't home. I just don't know how I could have managed to tell her what happened!"

"If Hayes' home is a mile from here, why did you run all that distance instead of driving there in your car?"

"Oh . . . I guess I didn't think. I was too shaken up over what had happened."

"Well," you say, "it will undoubtedly shake you up even more when I tell you this has not the appearance of an accident to me — but murder!"

Why do you suspect this?

SOLUTION

Begley told you that the victim's body was thrown at least 25 feet in front of his car to the side of the road. Yet you found tire marks on Hayes' shirt front, which indicates that the car was driven over his body, and probably on purpose.

MIND TEASER — Tom and Jerry leave Points A and B, respectively, at the same time in their cars and pass each other enroute. Tom reaches Point B one hour after the meeting, while Jerry reaches Point A just 4 hours after the meeting. If they are both traveling at uniform rates, how much faster is one traveling than the other?

ANSWER — Tom is traveling twice as fast as Jerry. When the two meet, Tom has traveled twice as far as Jerry and, therefore, it will take Jerry, who travels on half as fast, 4 times as long to complete the trip.
