The youth column

by SHARON BRYANS

Because of the busy Holiday Season most of us haven't realized the significance of the New Year.

The wonderful Sixties are now in the past and it is time for us all to reminisce and to appreciate the profits of our experiences. A new decade is upon us. I hope it will be a time for progress in human relations.

The seeds of peace have been planted in the last couple of years and through continued efforts the young people of today may bring about world peace.

I really do not like to write about the social gatherings of the young people in the area, because these are only important to the host or hostess and guests.

The reason why I accepted this job of writing a Youth Column, is that I wish to communicate with all youth and sometimes it is easier to put things down on paper which mean a great deal to you, instead of speaking directly to people. It may not be as personal but the words still have the same meaning.

Every year I make good and honest New Year's resolutions, but usually never stick to them. This year besides my ordinary resolutions, to improve myself or to make a better world, and my additional resolution, which is to keep all my New Year's resolutions.

During the Christmas vacation Mike McCullogh a recent student of Labrador City Collegiate had an informed get together for last years graduating class.

Since most of them have been continuing their education out of town at various Universities, they enjoyed seeing each other again, to talk about "old times" and plans for the future.

On January 10th, the School Boy Curling Team from Labrador City, consisting of boys attending school at LCC will be going to Goose Bay for the weekend to compete against the School Boy Team there. The successful team of this event will then compete against curling teams from all over Newfoundland.

Then when success is achieved in this competition, they will be ready to compete in a National Competition, with the top School Boy Curling teams from each Province. Being what they are, young, energetic and determined, I think these boys have a fair chance of winning.

The Holiday Season now over, students are settling down to work and studies again, for in a couple of weeks they will be faced with a set of major exams. I hope everyone keeps this in mind and will take this seriously, so as not to spoil their chances in the future.

Editorially Speaking

Just the other day we were, as were many residents, the recipients of a two month old Eaton's catalogue delivered to our doors. Earlier these catalogues were received in our mail boxes at the Post Office but it seems someone was doing a follow-up and presenting us with a second copy.

Having spoken to many residents, the general consensus with regards to receiving un-solicited material both through the Post Office and at our doors has reached a frustrating stage.

It is getting so that when one checks the mail box these days, there is no room in the boxes for personal mail, because it is filled to overflowing with "junk."

Ever try to catch an extra forty winks on a Saturday morning? Never, the doorbell continues ringing until you answer, anywhere from eight-thirty in the morning, and you are presented with the usual circular or pamphlet. When these pamphleteer's begin to realize that we not interested, in having our mail boxes stuffed or answering doors to take receipt of this material, then maybe we will get that extra rest.

For all of you that feel this way, there is a solution. Just take one of the many circulars that you receive, enclose it in an envelope, addressed to the Company concerned, then drop it into the nearest mailbox, without stamps, I am sure that the Company or Firm will get the message when they have to pay double postage, the same would apply to the door to door deliveries of such items.

Canada Post Office does not see fit to protect us, we pay the rent, but they merrily stuff our boxes with "Junk" so long as the sender paid the required postage. How about it? Let's give them a taste of their own medicine!

Now that the holiday season is past, the next issue of Aurora will feature, LabWab, Speaking of Sports, a more comprehensive coverage of news event, plus, other features of interest. We would like to remind our readers and advertisers, that the deadline, for news, announcements and advertisements is Wednesday at 5 p.m., for the following week's issue. This is necessitated by the difficulties we are experiencing due to weather and flying conditions, in getting the paper to the printers and back here on time.

Mind teasers

If Jonesy's age were increased by its $\frac{1}{2}$ and its $\frac{3}{8}$, the result would equal twice his age 3 years ago. How old is Jonesy now?

ANSWER

48 years old. Letting X equal his present age, form equation: X plus $X/2$ plus $3X/8$ equals 2 times (X minus 3). Solve for X.

If one end of a 49-foot rope is tied to the top of a 14-foot pole standing upright in the ground, what is the area of the circle that can be drawn on the ground about the pole by the full-length rope?

ANSWER

6,930 square feet. Subtract the square of 14 from that of 49; multiply result by $22/7$ (pi).

If the difference between the squares of two certain numbers is 405, and if these two numbers are in the ratio of 2 to 3, what are these two numbers?

ANSWER

18 and 27. Subtract the square of 2 from that of 3; divide result into 405; extract square root of this result, and multiply by 2 and by 3, respectively, for the two numbers.

Here 'n' there

BRIGHT IDEA: How one bright U.S. idea never got off the ground:

SAIGON: Critics often contend that the American psychological warfare operation depends too much on gimmicks and gadgets. But not every gadget proposed actually gets adopted, as the kite kit incident well illustrates. A bright young private first class hit upon the idea of airdropping the kits over contested territory. The populace would happily assemble and fly the kites - and each kite would be decorated with the flag of the South Vietnamese government.

The idea was kicked up the line to a U.S. Colonel, who took a kit home one night for study. He arrived at staff conference the next day, bleary-eyed and irritable. "This damned thing is ridiculous," he fumed. "I worked on it half of last night. It would take an Einstein to put it together." None of his staff dared mention that the kit already had been tested successfully on a group of Vietnamese grade schoolers.

UNFAIR: Miss Sylvia M. Gelber, who has become a vocal crusader for fair play for women as director of the women's bureau of the Canada Department of Labor, was at it again last week. Miss Gelber presented a paper entitled "Highly qualified manpower policies and the Canadian women graduate: what price discrimination?" She cited a survey showing that many of the largest companies in Canada refused even to interview women graduates for 2,224 out of 3,268 jobs offered. Discrimination of this sort, she says, is simply a waste of qualified manpower that hurts the companies practising it.

BANK TO BUILD: The Bank of Montreal said construction will begin late this month on a new $5 million headquarters for the bank's Atlantic Provinces division in Halifax, Nova Scotia. The 16 storey, 180,000 square-foot facility will replace the present Bank of Montreal premises in Halifax and is scheduled for completion in March 1972.

DEPRECIATION: Hatari

Wild Animal Corp. of Montreal early this year sold a baby elephant to Walter M. Lowney Co., Ltd. for $4,000.00. The candy company used the elephant and other animals as prizes in a promotion contest for its peanut and raisin specialties. The winner of the elephant was an Ottawa housewife. She opted for cash in lieu of the elephant. She got $2,000.00.

OUT OF THE BLUE: A British survey of creative people reveals that most of them get their ideas "from out of the blue." Of those questioned, some 27% said they got their best ideas when half asleep in bed; 20% when out walking or riding; 20% travelling; 7% in church; 13% sitting in front of a fire; 7% at an official dinner. Says a wag: Next time you see a man half-asleep on the back of a horse in front of a fire at an official dinner you'll know what he's doing!

U.S. AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY IN THE SEVENTIES: The U.S. aircraft industry is expected to produce $114.77 billion of jet aircraft in the period from 1970 to 1979, up from $57.48 billion in the previous decade. Of the total, $45.19 billion will be commercial airliners, up from $13.36 billion in the past ten years.

A comprehensive forecast of the next decade's aircraft output by DMS Inc., Greenwich, Conn., a unit of McGraw-Hill Publications Co., says the number of jetliners to be built is expected to increase only about 42.6% from the previous decade, to reach a level of 4,069 units. The substantial increase in size and complexity of the new jets, however, will result in the much larger gain in value. DMS said U.S. jet production should account for about 85% of the Free World's total for the coming ten years.

CHEERS: Anyone who wonders why the Government is so reluctant even to think of price control should have a look at not-so-Merrie Old England. After careful study the Prices and Incomes Board had recently settled a pressing question: The price of a pint of beer.

The board ruled that the tab for a pint at the pub may be raised by two cents, only about half of the increase the brewers had sought. The board, however, more or less apologized for the size of the boost, saying it would have preferred something smaller. Beer, you see is sold in both pints and half pints, and the half pint "traditionally" sells for half the cost of a pint. And, of course, it's a lot easier to divide two by two than it is to split one and one-half into equal parts. Perhaps all of that makes some sort of mathematical sense. All the same, we find it modest reason for cheer that our Federal Government (and Provincial) have so far at any rate, steered clear of this sort of price control nonsense.

POLLUTION CONTROL: Steel Co. of Canada and Dominion Foundries & Steel Ltd. two of Canada's largest steel makers - have been asked by the Ontario Water & Resources Commission to commit themselves to spend considerable capital funds on air and water pollution control programs. The requests were in the form of a study taken by the commission, which asked that the two steel firms formally announce plans to spend funds on pollution control projects by January 1970.

THE CHURCH: Praying for pay - a group of 252 Spanish workers finally win a drawn-out battle for higher pay after staging an eight day "pray-in" at a Seville church.

STEEL EMPLOYMENT COSTS: Employment costs in the steel industry continued to climb in recent months, American Iron & Steel Institute reported. Total hourly employment costs for wage earners reached $5.59 during October, up from the previous month's $5.55. Total wages and salaries for employees in the industry was $451,222,000.00 in September while in the first nine months of this year wages and salaries totaled $3,972,306,000.00.

Scanning the market

BY C.S. DEVINE

It would be rather difficult to imagine another market year in 1970 just like 1969. Now that the numbers are added up, the results are not very pleasing. Except for the very few who successfully exploited the several swings in the market which took place during the year, those traders who missed these trends paid dearly.

Monetary authorities are going to persist in their declared intentions of curbing the inflation.

Provided this assumption is correct, investors should govern themselves accordingly. Much of the excesses and unsound credit practices have yet to be corrected, but corrected they will be. The day of decision is fast approaching. Continuing lack of liquidity in the banking system brings them to the surface with the resulting painful adjustments.

The Canadian and U.S. economies, with the exception of capital spending intentions, are in a downtrend. Capital spending is now topping out (Benson's White Paper on Taxes certainly didn't help) to soon join the other areas of declining activity. The drop in business profits may be deep in the months ahead. Although there are substantial funds presently committed for stock purchases, only waiting what will be considered the correct time to function. However many think the dangers are such that reserves should be maintained and if possible strengthened until it is clear the problems of inflation have been licked. Until some form of price stability is achieved and the market bottoms out, the swings in prices may be wide and volatile.

The present market is no place for the timid or those of insufficient means. There will be opportunities for gains, but the risks will be great.

When the Dow-Jones average broke 800 last month the few remaining stock market optimists were forced to agree that a bear market was truly here. For the investor in this depressing climate the question is probably not which stocks will go up, but which will not go down.

Surprisingly there are quite a few in this latter category and we have examined four of them in recent weeks. Though none have been able to move strongly against the market slide, all have pretty well held their ground against the declining market and could well turn around in any market upswing. The group includes Galt Malleable Iron Ltd. (iron castings), Winnipeg Supply & Fuel Co., (building supplies); Na-Churs International Ltd. (fertilizers), House of Braemore Furniture Ltd. (furniture manufacturing). Also Sobey's Stores Ltd. (Supermarket chain), and Versatile Manufacturing Ltd. (farm machinery). What all these rather unlikely bedfellows have in common is their defensive quality. All are listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange, all have between 500,000 and 2,000,000 common shares outstanding and all trade at less than 10 times latest reported earning per share. None has reported a decline in interim earning plus all trade under $10.00, so that any price gains could be large in percentage terms. There are of course other stocks which comply with these defensive qualities but at the moment these six seem the cream of the crop. They add up as sound defensive situations in a miserable market and definite short or medium term growth situations when the turn-about comes.

The love of a mother

"The door that leads to a mother's heart
Is always open wide,
And in her heart is a special place
Where peace and love abide.
There is no lock on a mother's heart,
Her children freely go
For a pat on the cheek or a comforting word,
Or something they want to know.
Through years of work and prayer she's learned
Her wise and tender art,
For the nearest thing to the Love of God
Is the love of a mother's heart."

Solve-a-crime

By A.C. GORDON

"This is George Carpenter," the man's voice over the telephone sounds urgent. "My address is 125 Orchard Avenue. Please come at once! My wife . . . I'm afraid she has taken her life!"

You speed to the Carpenter home in the fashionable suburb. Helene Carpenter's name is well-known in local society, the sizable fortune left to her by her first husband, then about a year ago her much-publicized sudden marriage to George Carpenter, a handsome young man about fifteen years younger than Helene.

Upon your arrival, young Carpenter conducts you to the bedroom of his wife where you recognize the figure of Doctor Henry Mason bent over the middle-aged woman on the bed. He straightens up as you enter the room, shakes his head, points to the pitcher and drinking glass on the small table next to the bed, and mutters, "The deadliest of poisons. Death was practically instantaneous."

You sniff the contents of the almost-filled pitcher and recognize the pungent odor of the poison, and another sniff over the empty drinking glass tells you it had contained some of the deadly concoction. Further examination of the two containers reveals just the fingerprints of the dead woman on both. Finally you turn questioningly to young George Carpenter.

"Helene was a great believer in the healthful benefits of water," he says. "She always kept a pitcher of water and a glass on her bedside table. She retired unusually early tonight . . . about ten . . . and I brought her the pitcher of fresh water and a freshly-washed

You are
detective

glass before bidding her goodnight. As I recall now, she seemed rather depressed . . . but other than that, there was no reason to suspect she was contemplating . . . this," and he shakes his head mournfully. "I sat up and read for about an hour, listened to the late news on TV, and then as I was on my way to my room I noticed that Helene's light was still on. So I looked in . . . and found her like this!"

"Are your wife's business affairs in good, sound shape?" you ask.

"Oh yes, she had no reason in that respect to take her life."

"And you are her only heir?"

"Yes, but . . ." the young man bristles. "Just what are you driving at?"

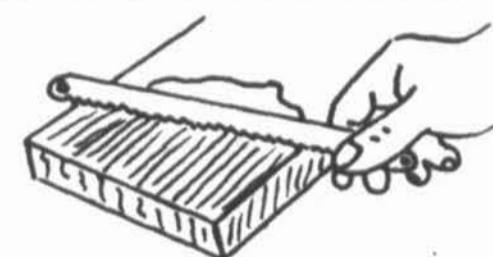

"I think you made a couple of stupid mistakes in your efforts to set this up as a suicide. I think your wife was murdered!"

What has led you to this conclusion?

SOLUTION

A person intending to take poison would hardly mix it in a big pitcher of water, and then pour some of the concoction into a drinking glass. The poison would simply be mixed in the drinking glass. Also, despite the fact that George Carpenter told you he had brought the pitcher and glass to his wife, you found only her fingerprints on the two vessels, leading you to believe he had been foolish enough to wipe off his prints after earlier dropping the poison into his wife's pitcher.

The lighter side

Do I sport,
 I'm wearing shoes,
 A shirt, a tie,
 Dark glasses do not
 Shield my eye.
 No button saying
 "I won't go,"
 "Police are pigs"
 "Hurray for Ho."
 No chains, no beads,
 No style, no flair—
 How odd I look,
 How people stare!

FRIGID FOOTNOTE: The landlord figured that when it came to complaints, he'd heard 'em all. Then a tenant approached him and said, "My apartment is so cold, everytime I open the door the light goes on!"

SAILS TALK: We like the story of the rookie salesman who sent the following report to his sales manager:

"I seen this outfit which they ain't never bought a dimes worth of nothin from us and I sole them a cuple hunred thousand dollars od guds, I am now going to Chicago."

Before the sales manager could wire "You're fired" the second report arrived: "I cum here and sole them haff a millyon."

After a quick switch in his evaluation of his "diamond in the rough," the sales manager wrote the following bulletin to the rest of the sales force:

"We ben spendin too much time trying to spel instead of trying to sel. Let's watch those sails. I want everybody should read these letters from Jones who is on the rode doing a grate job for us, and you should go out and do like he done."

VOCABULEERY:
 I'm not in the group
 That says, "one fell swoop",

You don't hear me baying
 "It goes without saying,"
 And I'm not one who sings
 "It was one of those things."
 Then as a guy I stay aloof of
 He Who
 Speaks of the 'warp and wood of."
 But may special candidate
 For crucificion Says something "without fear of Contradiction."

WORDS I'VE EATEN LATELY: "I'm going to askfor a raise today and if I don't get it. I'm going to quit on the spot."

 "Sure, I can do a cartwheel. What do you think I am, an old man?"

"Don't worry about spending too much on our vacation dear. We'll only blow a hundred or so in the Bahamas."

CENTER OF INTEREST:
 No conversation bores me if
 The topic's one of three:
 My children, or the work I do,
 Or just-let's face it—me!

HE COOKED HIS OWN: The guest at the dinner party, arriving late, found a seat reserved for him near the head of the table, where a goose was being carved. "Oh", he exclaimed, "so I'm to sit by the goose." Then, observing the lady on his left, he made haste to amend an awkward phrase. "I mean, he said, "the roasted one, of course."

FALLING OUT:
 I brush my hair back.
 I'm neat as a pin.
 I wish, though, that I
 Could brush it back
 In.

FROM A U.K. PUBLICATION: "We accept the woman's prerogative to change her mind, but when enough women do it, they change the market for a product. It is said that once Jennie Jerome, who was Winston Churchill's mother, was asked if she was faithful to her husband, Randolph, and she replied, "frequently".

SISTER ELEANOR QUIN OF THE SISTER OF ST. JOSEPH OF NEWARK, N.J.: "I was in New York the other day, and there on Madison Avenue were all the young girls in their maxi coats and rimless glasses. We threw that outfit out two years ago."

DRUGGIST TO CUSTOMER: "Well, Ron, did that mud pack I suggested improve your wife's appearance?"

Ron: "It did for a couple of days but then it wore off."

EXPOSURE: The world isn't any worse than it ever was - it's just that the news coverage is so much better.

LABRADOR CITY NOTES:
HAVE A GOOD TRIP:
 "Royal Albert Lodge, Society of United Fishermen held its weekly meeting Nov. 29th. On Dec. 6th the members attended a district meeting of the order at Winterton, Labrador City. (from St. John's Telegram).

LINE CUTTER: For the husband who is figuring out ways to get his wife off the telephone: Simply walk into the room with a baited mousetrap.

GET WITH IT, MAN!
 I have no beard,
 My hair is short,
 Not even sideburns

Sorrow and tears

"A Grecian philosopher being asked why he wept for the death of his son, since the sorrow was in vain, replied, 'I weep on that account.' And his answer was in vain, replied, 'I weep on that account.' And his answer became his wisdom. It is only for sophists to contend, that we, whose eyes contain the fountains of tears, need never give way to them. It would be unwise not to do so on some occasions. Sorrow unlocks them in their balmy moods. The first bursts may be bitter and overwhelming; but the soil on which they pour would be worse without them. They refresh the fever of the soul, the dry misery which parches the countenance into furrows, and renders us liable to our most terrible "flesh-quakes." There are sorrows, it is true, so great that to give them some of the ordinary vents is to run a hazary of being overthrown. These we must rather strengthen ourselves to resist, or bow quietly and drily down, in order to let them pass over us, as the traveller does the wind of the desert. But where we feel that tears would relieve us, it is false philosophy to deny ourselves at least the first refreshment; and it is always false consolation to tell people that because they cannot help a thing, they are not to mind it." (Leigh Hunt, 1784-1859).

BY CARL PAYNE TOBEY

PAST

MISSING THE BOAT

Down through the ages, astrology has suffered from attempted materialization. Folks attempted to make it understandable by explaining it in terms of accepted and passing fads of the day (thus, rays, vibrations, the electrical, etc.). The original astrology as a mathematical phenomenon, developed by mathematicians, stands up today as it did thousands of years ago. Materialists exclude mathematical points, saying a mathematical point can cause nothing. Yet a mathematical point in space can be vital in considering gravity. Those who attempt to materialize astrology miss the boat.

FUTURE

TOBEY'S PREDICTION:

Most of this year is not good for long-range investments unless you invest in money itself. There can be upheavals accompanied by a lack of confidence and insecurity which can lead to more unscrupulousness. Some become more materialistic, putting their only faith in matter and material things, lessening their inclination to help others. More inclined to groupism, their loyalties are toward their own kind. They can distrust others and become more pessimistic.

THE AQUARIAN PLAYGIRL

You never know what she might do next. She is not limited by the past or the present. She has a different concept of time than the rest of us. She doesn't wait for it. When she plays she often plays differently. Her curiosity is great and she may want to know things about you that you won't feel like telling her. You may find her more of a leader than you are. She may think up new ways to play. Better not be of a jealous nature because if she doesn't know a lot of men now she soon will. She floors people with her unusual ideas. On occasion, her behavior may be as unusual.

THE POLE WATCHERS

With headquarters in San Diego, and disturbed by information revealed in Brown's "Cataclysms of the Earth," the pole watchers (including many scientists) are seeking a means of preventing the south pole's enormous ice cap from causing the earth to shift on its axis, as it has supposedly done before, leaving fast-freeze tropical mammoths perfectly preserved above the Arctic Circle. The pole watchers question the geologist's history of the earth as well as the theory that the Grand Canyon was caused by erosion and the idea that the moon "lifts" the tides. Two major U.S. corporations, with a plan, want to float ice from the south pole cap to the deserts and bring fresh water. Dorothy Starr, in the pole watchers' newsletter, keeps the subject hot and humorous. This is another new breed. It doesn't accept orthodoxy.

For your information

RETIREMENT: MacMillan Bloedel Ltd., last month retired the last of its steam locomotives, after 41 years of hauling logs from the interior woods of Vancouver Island. The steam railway had been the last of its kind operating in Canada. The steam locomotive, which succeeded the oxen of pioneer days, has gradually been superseded by the more powerful diesel locomotives and the more versatile trucks.

SOFT DRINKS: Coca-Cola Experimenting with a Plastic Bottle. Coca-Cola Co., which markets Coke in glass bottles and metal cans is experimenting with a plastic bottle, Fred W. Dickson, President, recently told the company's U.S. bottlers. The container material, made from Monsanto Co., experimental Lopac material, is a clear, rigid plastic, he said. Although plastic bottles have been around for some time, a spokesman, noted the company hadn't been able to find a plastic that could withstand internal pressures caused by the strong carbonation in Coke and other soft drinks. A bottle made from Lopac can be broken, Mr. Dickson noted, but it doesn't leave sharp, jagged edges. The plastic container is highly experimental. Indeed, there aren't any manufacturing facilities to produce Lopac in large volume a spokesman said. Thus, it's too early to make any estimate of cost or the number of plastic bottles that might be produced. After laboratory testing, Mr. Dickson said, the 10-ounce, no-deposit, no-return bottles will receive inhome consumer testing.

JOB OPENINGS: U.S. Supermarkets claim help proves hard to find and harder to keep. "If it breathes, we hire it and try to train it," says an executive of Lucky 7 Supermarkets in the Huston area. Big Bear Stores in the Columbus, Ohio, area could use eight fulltime stock clerks and 20 part-time cashiers and produce clerks. The personnel manager of Ralph's Grocery Co., which has 61 outlets around Los Angeles, says "we're doing well" if "we can hold onto one out of three" $4.00 an hour warehousemen hired during a year. Service suffers as a result of the manpower woes. "Unsolicited carry-out service" to a patron's car "is practically a thing of the past" observes a spokesman for Safeway Stores in Los Angeles. One New York market halts delivery service because of unreliable help. Supermarket men blame their problems largely on rapid growth of the industry and general labor market tightness.

First arrival for the new year

The first baby for 1970 in Labrador West was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth of Wabush at the Jackman Memorial Hospital, January 2nd, at 7:36 a.m. The new arrival, a girl weighed 7 lbs.

This is the first girl for Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth who have three boys. Later that day Mrs. Ellsworth was presented with approximately $300.00 in gift certificates by Capt. W. Hammond, Administrator of the Hospital, on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce and businesses of both towns.

This is a yearly undertaking of the Chamber and the following firms donated presents: Northern News and Variety, Gaetane Mode, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Bouchards, Labrador Tool Supply, Woolworths, Handy Andy, Ungave Restaurant, Shell Service Station, Home Bakery and Dairy, The Shoe Store, Bowrings, Dominion, Labrador City and Wabush, J.L. Biron, Dunphy Aldred, Gulf Service Station, Northern Drugs, Wabush Luncheonette, Ayre's, Sir Wilfred Grenfell Hotel, Mayaleen Flower Shop, Tarrant Taxi, The Beauty Salon, Royal Theatre, Campbell's Esso Service, Ashuanipi Social Club, and City Drugs Ltd. We would also like to extend our congratulations to the proud parents.

There were $\frac{3}{4}$ as many women as there were men in an airplane when it departed from a certain airport. At the next airport, 6 men and 8 women left the plane, and 12 men and 5 women entered the plane. There were then $\frac{3}{5}$ as many women as men on the plane. How many of each were there on this plane originally?

ANSWER:

44 men and 33 women. Let X equal original number of men, and $3X/4$ the original number of women. The men gained 6 and the women lost 3 at the second airport. Form equation: $3X/4 - 3 = (X + 6) \times \frac{3}{5}$ over 5. Solve for X.

My prayer

Teach me to love - for what is wealth or fame. But foam upon the restless sea of life, A fading flower, a soon-forgotten name A sense of sore defeat ending the strife.

Help me to live - for living I shall grow; Denying self-perhaps my deepest grief Is nought when balanced with another's woe Wherein is neither respite nor relief.

Teach me humility - casting the beam. From mine own eye of prejudice and pride; So may I see, through love's revealing gleam In other lives the beauty long denied.

Lord make me pure in thought, in word and deed, My deepest motives under thy control; Upon the sea of life in joy or need By thou the gracious Pilot of my Soul.

(Flora Emily Smith)

What makes a home?

What makes a home?
I asked my little boy.
And this is what he said:
"You mother, and when father comes,
Our table set allshiny - and my bed.
And mother,
I think it's a home
Because we love each other.
