KIN CLUB EXECUTIVE - Mr. Hal Rogers, (centre) with the executive of the Wabush Lake Kinsmen Club. Mr. Rogers is the Founder and President of the Association of Kinsmen Clubs and arrived in town last Wednesday for his first official visit to the area. Mr. Rogers was met at the airport by a motorcade of Kinsmen and escorted to the Hotel. Later that evening a cocktail party in his honor was held at the Royal Canadian Legion through the co-operation of the Legion and Wabush Mines. Thursday evening Mr. Rogers was guest speaker at the regular monthly dinner meeting. The following evening another function for the visiting founder was held at O'Brien Hall under the auspices of the Iron Ore Company of Canada. During the three day visit Mr. and Mrs. Rogers were kept quite busy, touring the towns, the Iron Ore projects and Schools in the area. The couple were very pleased with the reception received, and they were amazed at the lay out of both towns and facilities available to residents. The Wabush Lake Club meets every second Thursday night at the Sir Wilfred Grenfell Hotel. - (Aurora photo).

The local badminton club of Labrador City will be sponsoring a clinic on the weekend of February 6th and 7th. Eric Donachie of St. John's winner of many provincial titles will be conducting the clinic. He will work with the senior members of the club on Sunday afternoon and evening, in the Labrador City Collegiate Gym and will work with students in the various schools on Saturday.

Meanwhile club members are working extra hard this year as the Club will be entering the Provincial Play-offs for the first time. These club championships are scheduled for St. John's in the last weekend in March.

CURLING

The British Consols will open at the Carol Curling Club this coming Sunday at 2 p.m. Nine teams from various clubs across the Island will be competing for the right to travel to the MacDonald Brier to be held later in February at Winnipeg. Teams from Bally Hally, St. John's Curling Club, Gander, Baie Verte, Goose Bay and three local entries will curl a double knockout draw that could possibly go on until Thursday.

A rink skipped by Jim Ward won the Club championship and the Real Ste Marie trophy in the club draw that was held to decide the local representatives. Other team members are Gerry Ford, Don Swan and John Caverley. The second local team is comprised of Danny Christian, Bob Winsor, Bill Mann and Jack Bartlett with the third team of Dennis Talbot, Jigger Smith, Hugh Bright and Bill Pennman.

"B" League

Only one game was played in the "B" league last week as the second game had to be called off when the ice machine broke down. In the lone game played, Wabush defeated the Royals 5-0 behind the stellar goaltending of Kevin Gillingham. Fitzgerald and Barton scored in the first period and then Ollerhead, Mercer and Howlett scored goals in the first five minutes of the third period to wrap up their victory. Included in the 10 penalties handed out by referee Chaytor were fighting majors to Todd of the Royals and Winter of Wabush. The next games in the series will be played Friday, with Wabush facing off against the Indians, and on Tuesday, February 3rd, the Indians will meet the Royals.

In the men's basketball section the next game will be played this Friday in the Wabush Recreation Centre with Wabush playing the Saints, and on Wednesday, February 4th the Teachers will play the Braves at the Labrador City Collegiate, game times are at 7:15 p.m.

Editorially speaking

In January 13th's issue of L'Avenir of Sept Iles, we noted with interest a press release from Mr. F.K. Foster, Secretary of the Canadian Radio and Television Commission, Ottawa. Mr. Foster stated that the Commission are undertaking a close study into the problems of radio and television reception in the Sept Iles, area. Mr. Foster continued by saying that he will look into the annoying television reception immediately and will release any information as soon as the required material is gathered. Sept Iles receives "live TV" brought in by Microwave, both English and French Channels and is then distributed around the city by cable.

The intended action by CRTC indicates that Mr. Gustave Blouin, the Federal MP for the District must have done some lobbying in Ottawa.

In our own local area we seem to have been forgotten by our Federal Member, at any rate, we know of no plans of the CRTC to look into the so called radio service that we have to contend with, and the outdated television programming.

Last September we pointed out the faults in the radio service that we have to contend with. We at that time asked listeners to write the President of the CBC Mr. Davidson. They received one letter and that was from a lady in Labrador City, in his reply to the lady in question. Mr. Keith Lawrence, Programme Planning Officer for CBC Northern Services in Ottawa, implied that they were not aware of any problems being experienced with the radio service, and therefore it must be our imagination.

Mr. Lawrence continued his letter by insinuating that the Editor of Aurora was prejudiced against the CBC and had personal reasons for downgrading the CBC Service, these reasons, he contended, was that we were trying to justify arguments for the establishment of a local private radio station.

We are rather surprised Mr. Lawrence that this was the only information that you could give the lady.

We are still hearing the "test tones" each Wednesday, fifteen minutes of it, also the daily program changes from Toronto, which is meant for strictly internal use.

And now with the short days and long nights, have you tried to pick up the English station at night, if you live in Labrador City, or the French Station if you live in Wabush? Have fun!

The CBC have established priority in setting up radio and TV stations in the Yukon, Northwest Territories and all across the Eastern Arctic. Inuvik, with a population of approximately two thousand has its own local radio station, believe it or not.

Again we ask the question, how much longer are we to be forgotten? As we pointed out in this column sometime earlier we get all the local news from New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, along "the coast" and Happy Valley, but the approximately 12,000 residents of Labrador City and Wabush do not exist, in the ears of the CBC that is. The powers that be in the CBC saw fit to establish stations in a lot less prosperous areas, a considerable lot smaller in population. The government of Canada receives more in taxation dollars from Northern Quebec and Western Labrador, than from all the other areas of the "North" combined, where the CBC have stations.

May we again suggest that you, the listener and TV viewer, air your complaints with the services. Write our Federal and Provincial Members, the Minister of Transport and to Mr. F.K. Foster, Secretary of the Canadian Radio and Television Commission, 48 Rideau Street, Ottawa, Ont. By making use of these other channels for complaint, we might get some long awaited for action.

Unless we all are willing to take one half hour of our time to write these people, you may content yourself that five years from now you will still be contending with the same type of service from the CBC.

Here 'n' there

QUEBEC AIR EARNINGS SOAR: Improved earnings for 1969 seem assured for Quebecair Inc., the Montreal based carrier, after a $1.4 million deficit in 1968. For the nine months ending 30 Sept. 1969, operating revenues were $6,846,550.00 up 48% from $4,630,350.00 in the previous nine month period. Net earnings after depreciation but before income tax were $481,789.00 compared with a loss of $842,193.00.

"The big factor" says Herve Desjordy, vice-president, finance, "is that we carried 168,121 passengers in the first three quarters, compared to 144,559. Unfortunately, this was due partly to at least one non-recurring item, the Air Canada strike. However, after the strike, we retained our BAC 1-11 jets on our Quebec City-Bagotville-Sept Iles run, while Air Canada still has propeller-driven planes. We have also dropped our fare on the run to within $3.00 of Air Canada's." (Isn't competition wonderful, ed.)

Desjordy also drew attention to the influence of charter traffic, which in the past period rose to 169,000 passengers, compared with 29,000 in the previous period. (So now we know why the BAC 1-11 is "missing certain days.")

COUNTER ATTACK: The Canadian Labor Congress, which has been taking it on the chain of late because of its refusal to accept wage guidelines, retaliated recently. Mr. Donald MacDonald, president of the congress, demanded a full scale inquiry into causes of price increases and accused governments and company managers of failing to disclose the full facts behind increasing living costs.

BYE-BYE BIRD: Ford Motors Co.'s Falcon was grounded last month. Once the highest flying of Detroit's compact cars, the Falcon is being dropped in favor of Ford's hot-selling Maverick. Ford watched the Falcon depart with regret. First introduced as a 1960 model, it was one of the most successful cars ever for the company and the best selling of the original Detroit compact cars. All told, more than 2.4 million Falcons were built.

DROWNINGS IN THIS PROVINCE: The Red Cross says 54 persons drowned in Newfoundland during 1969, a decrease of four from the previous year. The majority were persons between 13 and 21. According to the report 25 drowned when they fell from boats and another 10 drowned after they fell from stationary objects.

PAYING OFF: In answering criticism of the manpower and training programs in Ontario, Mr. Allan J. MacEachen (Minister of Manpower) last week gave some interesting facts and figures about the programs. Last year some $250 million was spent on training programs in the form of allowances to trainees and payments to the provinces. Studies show that "graduates" increase their earning power by an average $16.00 per week, and of those returning to the labor force, 85% secure almost immediate employments. Of all trainees, 55% were jobless before training and only 15% after.

DIAMOND INSURANCE: Richard Burton has insured the Cartier diamond he bought recently for his wife, Elizabeth Taylor. But getting the insurance was a lot tougher than buying the fabled gem. Insurance companies in the U.S. weren't interested. The coverage ($1.2 million) was placed by Stewart, Smith, and international insurance firm, with Lloyd's of London and other British insurers. ANNUAL PREMIUM IS $66,000.00

Original terms of the coverage stipulated that the diamond must be kept in an agreed-upon vault, with permission to take it out of the vault for only 30 days of the year. This provision is now being re-negotiated because Mrs. Burton objected to the fact that even a brief absence from the vault of one or two hours would be considered a full day. Another provision requires that the underwriters must be notified in advance when the diamond is to be removed from the vault to be worn by the owner. Armed guards must accompany it from and to the vault.

LABOR & MANAGEMENT: Steelworkers Local that represents staff and clerical employees at the United Steelworkers' Pittsburg headquarters cut its ties with the national union. "This will end the embarrassing situation where the local has to ask the employer for permission to strike," stated one USW spokesman.

WHY KEEP IT CLEAN: Dust collectors find a market for their efforts. Beecham Group Ltd., a British concern, pays housewives 12 cents a pound for the dust swept up in their vacuum cleaners. It purifies the dirt and processes it into vaccine for people with an allergy to dust.

MANITOBA OIL: There are 784 oil wells in production in Manitoba at the end of October and cumulative oil production to that date in 1969 was 78 million barrels, the Mines and Resources Dept reports. Oil production in October was 532,263, an average of 17,170 barrels per day.

INCREASE IN APPLIANCE SALES: Sales of major appliances in the first nine months of 1969 were up 13% from the preceding year, according to the Canadian Appliance Manufacturers Association. The association termed the growth "spectacular." It attributed it to continued consumer confidence in the economy and a 21% increase in housing completions.

The largest gains were made by room air conditioners (up 29%) and refrigerators (up 15%). The only decrease in sales were built-in ranges, which dropped 12.5%.

Omens, portents, signs and wonders

By CHARLES RENDELL

A BIRD IN THE HAND IS WORTH TWO IN THE BUSH

This saying has been bandied around for a long, long, time, mostly by people who don't give a 'twitter' about birds and their welfare and who couldn't distinguish a Tom Tie from a Penguin. I don't know if there's really anything to it. I suppose it's all right.

But then on second thought, who really wants to go around with a bird in his hand all the time? If, for instance, he went for something in the Goose line — the Canada is a good example — the poor chap wouldn't be able to see for feathers, and just why should he go deliberately blinded anyway? The only reason that comes to mind is that he might have a real savage longing for a seeing-eye dog and be figuring that here is a good way — short of blinding himself with acid — of getting one donated.

But there's a name for this kind of mind trouble, something ending with — 'mania'. I believe that this type of individual would be in need of a Psychiatrist rather than birds and dogs. In all such cases it seems that it would be wiser to unhand the goose and settle for three or four in the bushes. Once domesticated, they get fat and are easy to catch. Anyway you could clip their wings so that they couldn't fly. Now at this stage a bird handler could palm either one of his brood to his heart's content. Indeed, he could also separate a couple of them from their heads and enjoy some lovely meals of goose. You only have to prod and puncture the skin while roasting to let the fat run off and its a job to come by anything more delicious. Then there's goose soup which so handsomely wards off the 'chills' when the 'bronchity' weather rolls 'round', not to mention the grease which is such a good medium for the internals when mixed with kerosene oil and molasses. Its also good for poulticing to unhinge phelgm on the chest, as well as to 'stay the rheumatics'. Before finishing this recital I must say that bird watchers are dead against this proverb and all that it stands for. Naturally they'd rather spy on a brook, in the bushes than fondle a single one. There's a better chance of detecting other species among two or more than there is with one only.

HALF A LOAF IS BETTER THAN A WHOLE ONE

At first sight there seems to be something crossed up with this old adage although you must admit that it takes real concentration to detect it. Give up? Good! Then I'll proceed as if u ask? And why can't it, I reply. For example the whole loaf of good bread is the better bargain here although I must admit you're not getting your penicillin. Secondly, it is much better to eat moderately. It's all very well to proclaim that you have an appetite like a horse and proceed to demolish a whole loaf of bread with your tea. But this is too much starch for your pepsin to tackle. Result; fermentation in the stomach with the resultant gases striving to gain exit and a burning just above the belly button as if you had swallowed a hot flat iron. Furthermore if you continue along this wise you'll soon be more like a horse than just in appetite, for you'll have a stomach like one too.

OOPS! My young son has just told me that I got the wording of this one mixed up and that it should go, "Half a loaf is better than no bread!" That sounds better, but as I was going to say . . . —(to be continued next week).

Mind teaser

A bug is at the bottom of a 39-foot dry well, and starts at the break of day crawling toward the top covering 8/11 of the distance each day, but slipping back 3/11 of the way each night. Assuming that this bug maintains this constant rate, how many days will it take to reach the top?

ANSWER

1- $\frac{3}{4}$ days. At the end of the first day and night, the bug has netted 5/11 of the way, and in the remaining $\frac{3}{4}$ day it travels $\frac{3}{4}$ of 8/11 of the way, or 6/11 of the way.

'There is no argument . . .'

The following questions and answers were given in the House of Commons at Ottawa:

With regard to the answer to question No. 979, concerning the Labrador Boundary, what correspondence, briefs or other documents did the government receive relating to this matter, prior to 1964?

(b) What was the substance of these documents, and with whom did they originate?

(c) Will these documents be made public, and if not, for what reason?

(d) Has the government studied, or will it study the Labrador question?

ANSWERS BY THE HON. JOHN TURNER MINISTER OF JUSTICE

a and b. In 1907 the Government of Canada and the Colony of Newfoundland agreed to submit the question of the Labrador Boundary between Canada and Newfoundland to the decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

The department of justice records on this subject consist of sixteen volumes and numerous large storage packets, containing correspondence and memoranda with reference to the conduct and preparation of the case, exchanged between the department of justice and various other government departments and the governments of Nfld. and Quebec, all of which are privileged documents. The latter part of the file consists of correspondence from interested parties and libraries requesting copies of "The Labrador Boundary Case", a small number of which were available for free distribution. The case consisted of twelve volumes. Sets have been distributed to libraries throughout Canada, the United States and Europe.

(c) The documents have been made public in the form of "The Labrador Boundary Case", as mentioned above. A set of volumes was supplied to the Parliamentary Library.

(d) Newfoundland became a Province of Canada pursuant to negotiated Terms of Union that defined the boundaries of the new province in terms of the Judicial Committee's report of March 1st, 1927 in relation to the Coast of Labrador.

The Terms of Union were given the force of law by the British North America Act, 1949. In the circumstances the Government is not aware of any current question in this connection that requires study.

The youth column by Sharon Bryans

On Saturday, January 17th the Exchange Students who visited Labrador City from St. John's were taken on a tour of the Iron Ore Company Mine and Pellett Plant. The names of these students are: Norma Stokes, Ted Diamond, Elizabeth Eaton, Frank Butler, Janet Stratton, Anabelle Rogers, Karen Coombs, Gary Clarke, Dave Murphy and their principal, Mr. J. Parsons.

John's. Prince of Wales Collegiate has 800 students in grades 10 and eleven. This school is run on the rotary system, the students change classes after every subject.

Prince of Wales Collegiate also has a cafeteria which will seat one third of the school enrollment at a time. To accomodate for this, there are three separate lunch periods and the students alternate between the one they have.

On Sunday, January 18th, the exchange students were given a dinner at the Sir Wilfred Grenfell Hotel at 1 p.m., the guests at this dinner were Miss Lillian Bouzan, Mr. D. Selleck, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Drover, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell. Mr.

Parsons, Mr. Selleck, Mr. Swyers and Miss Bouzan all had a few words to say to the students after the meal. Gary Clarke, president of the Student Council at LCC, also had a short speech to give. There was twenty-two people in attendance at the dinner. The exchange students left Labrador City for St. John's at four-thirty via EPA.

The students from Labrador City Collegiate who visited St. John's on the weekend all returned on Tuesday morning with tales of the good times they had. It would be great if these exchange programs were continued throughout the year, because it is a good experience for the students, to see how people live in different environments.

On the evening of Friday, January 16th, the student council of LCC held a casual dance to entertain our guests from St. John's, in attendance were approximately 200 people, which is good for a school dance. The band which played on Friday was the IRIIN DRUM and they seemed to be enjoyed by everyone. The chaperones at the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan and Mr. and Mrs. Butal.

I've noticed that there is a growing interest in skiing among the people of the area. Some people are turned off by the thought of skiing, because as soon as you mention the sport they think of broken legs and arms.

This is not necessarily so, but a few accidents occur occasionally. The attitude the skiers themselves take to their accidents is surprisingly different. Usually the more accidents a skier has the more interested they are in the sport. There is a magnetic quality about skiing, once you have been out there on the slopes there is nothing in the world that can stop you from going back.

The feeling of the wind whistling against your body is exhilarating, that you have to experience it to believe it. So all those people who look at the sport of skiing with fear and anxiety just try it sometime and find out what it's really like.

Solve -a- crime

You are the detective

By A.C. GORDON

You and Sheriff Joe Briggs are discussing a case involving a gang of four vicious hoodlums who have been active in the country for a number of months, robberies and muggings. Now, during a recent pursuit of the gang by the police, Detective Sergeant Bert Rogers has been shot to death by one of the hoodlums.

Now Sheriff Briggs and his men have finally succeeded in gathering in the four men, and difficult though it has been to break through the sullen defiance of the tough and hardened criminals, Sheriff Briggs has managed to collect the following information which you are now studying.

The names of the four men are Charles Medford, Irwin Hayes, Harold Cordes, and George Benson. One of the four is an expert with a switchblade knife and has never been known to use any other kind of weapon. Hayes' uncle, now serving time in the penitentiary, is married to the sister of the killer. Hayes and the switchblade man are both professional wrestlers. Midford and the switchblade man insisted recently that George Benson devote himself exclusively to the maintenance and driving of the gang's getaway car, despite very strenuous objections put up by the killer. The killer and the switchblade man were about a month ago arrested by the police on suspicion of involvement in a building and loan company robbery, but were released because of insufficient evidence. Three weeks ago, George Benson and the killer, without the knowledge of the other two gang members, collaborated in a heist job of their own.

Now, after digesting the foregoing information, can you name the hoodlum who killed Detective Sergeant Bert Rogers?

SOLUTION

Charles Medford. The killer is not the switchblade man, since the victim was killed by a gun. Hayes is neither the knife man nor the killer. Medford is not the knife man. Benson is not the knife man or the killer. The knife man and the killer were arrested a month ago. Then, since Benson and Hayes are neither knife man nor killer, and since Medford is not the knife man, Medford must be the killer.

MARRIED PRIESTS: A representative assembly of the Roman Catholic Church in the Netherlands voted overwhelmingly, earlier this month, in favor of lifting the ban on married priests and of admitting women to the priesthood. Approval of the resolutions moved the Dutch church close to a serious confrontation with the Vatican although the eight Dutch bishops, who hold the power of decision, abstained on the first issue and only one voted in favor of female priests.

WINTER BARBECUE: Now, an all-year barbecue is available. A U.S. firm has produced an indoor, electric barbecue, allowing you to cook "charcoal broiled" delicacies all year round. Heated rocks vaporize drippings for authentic flavor and a built-in fan exhausts all the smoke.

FILING SYSTEM

You can make yourself a very handy and usable wall holder for letters, memos, recipes, and the like, by calling into action the long coil spring from a discarded window shade roller. Shape the eyes on the ends of the spring and attach it under slight tension to a strip of wood with small nails. Then screw the whole thing to a wall in a convenient location. — (Gene Von).

CLIMATIC CONDITIONS: Winter weather poses fewer manpower woes for cold-climate companies. U.S. employers say more management preparation, better weather forecasts, improved snow tires and quicker plowing help maintain production in all but the worst weather. In Armonk, N.Y., IBM employees can call a special telephone number to find out quickly whether offices will be open. Sanders Associates, the Nashua, many companies, such as New England Life, put up key personnel in nearby hotels.

N.H., electronics concern, keeps salt, sand and snow plows on hand to clear employee parking lots. In suburban Chicago, Universal Oil Products, PROVIDES A SPECIAL TRUCK TO CHARGE CAR BATTERIES FOR DEPARTING EMPLOYEES.

WHITE COAT CAMPAIGN: Canadians who think of mechanics as grimy greasemonkeys may think differently after exposure to a new program being launched by Allen Canada, of Mississauga, Ont., a firm specializing in selling and servicing automotive test equipment. The theme "the man from Allen wears a white coat" evolved from the new inexpensive, but durable synthetic fibre called "Tyvek." Manufacturer of the coverall is Fashion Textile Printers Ltd., of Montreal. Allen Canada plans to have its own servicemen wear the white coveralls, and also to distribute the White Coats as a promotional item to auto mechanics. "By conservative estimate," said Ron Lister, Allen Canada general manager, "our program calls for some 200,000 men in the automotive service in Canada to be wearing the Tyvek coveralls within one year."

Family expenditures are increasing

If you have thought that family expenditures were increasing, now you can confirm your speculations.

Food costs are up. So are costs for housing, transportation and health and personal care. In fact, each of the seven components of the consumer price index showed a gain in 1969 with health and personal care taking the biggest bite out of budgets. The overall rise was 4.5 per cent.

"There were numerous fluctuations in pricing on grocery and supermarket items, but the net result was that consumers paid higher costs at the end of 1969 than in 1968," said A.J. McKichan, general manager of the Retail Council of Canada.

"No single factor can be pinpointed as the reason or cause for increases. In some cases, short supply drove costs up, as happened with beef and some imported produce. Other upswings resulted from higher production and labour costs."

In December, the consumer price index charted by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics rose to 127.9. The figure is based on prices that prevailed in 1961. The highest individual gain occurred in the health and personal care component, up by 5.7 per cent, with housing following closely - up 5.5 per cent.

Transportation costs rose by 5.4 per cent and the food basket gained 4.3 per cent. Increases also were registered for recreation, tobacco and alcohol, and clothing. The food upswing occurred despite a decline of 2.2 per cent in prices during the late summer.

Mr. McKichan said that all meat products, with the exception of sirloin steak and chicken, went up in 1969. Vegetables, excepting tomatoes, also moved up. "Weather conditions and poor crops caused short supply and higher prices for imported produce. Imported vegetables from Florida, Arizona, Texas and California were sharply affected," he explained.

"The biggest decreases—yes, there were some - showed in fruits. Oranges are 5 per cent lower than a year ago and grapefruit has declined 19 per cent. Apples and apple juice also registered decreases because of good crops." While citrus prices have been down in recent weeks, Mr. McKichan warned that the situation is likely to change soon because of frost damage to Florida crops earlier this month.

An analysis of increases at the retail level pinpointed upswings in some package goods. Cleansing tissues, for example, went up 3.7 per cent and liquid bleach 4.4 per cent. "The changes in packaged goods and non-foods can be traced to higher costs for transportation, packaging and production," Mr. McKichan said.

Coffee registered gains at the end of the year and will likely continue to increase for a time because of failure of the green coffee crop in Brazil.

"Both the Retail Council of Canada and Grocery Products Manufacturers of Canada believe it is in the consumers' interests to know why prices fluctuate. This seemed a suitable time to review food movements in 1969 so that shoppers can better understand the reason for changes," he explained.

Standard sizes for kids' togs in effect

At last, a standard sizing for children's clothing!

This is most welcome news to the thousands of parents who, when buying clothing for their children, have had the frustrating experience of finding out that garment sizing labels do not always mean what they say and can vary widely, when produced by different manufacturers.

For many years, Consumers' Association of Canada has been urging a system of standard sizes for children's clothing and, at long last, it is now in effect.

The Association was instrumental in having a Canadian Government Specifications Board committee set up in 1952 and since that time, Consumers' Association of Canada representatives have taken an active part in the work of the committee in co-operation with other interested groups representing manufacturers, retailers and government. Over the years, CAC has always had people representing the consumer at these meetings -- meetings that were long, numerous and sometimes frustrating.

This plan fills a real need, but it is entirely voluntary. Its success depends on consumer demand and consumer acceptance.

Manufacturers and retailers may now apply for a license to use the Canada Standard Size label which complies with the established dimensional standards based on sizing according to body measurement rather than age.

Watch for the symbol. The label contains an easily recognized semi-circular tape-measure with the words "Canada Standard Size" included.

To make the system effective we must learn to think of children's clothes in terms of their body measurements and buy on that basis.

One of the best ways to make sure the system becomes effective is for consumers to ask to see the Canada Standard Size chart when buying children's clothing. A small leaflet has been distributed by the federal Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs to retail outlets explaining the system and listing the measurements involved. So, as a consumer, ask about it and help make the store clerks more aware that there are new standards of sizing available.

Canada Standard Size was accepted by the children's garment industry with considerable dragging of feet. It will take some time to become universal. The big catalogue people are co-operating and it is hoped that all retail outlets will "push" the idea so that shopping may be easier and more accurate, saving time and effort and money for shoppers and stores alike.

We, as consumers, must ask and keep asking for these garments in the stores. Ask your friends and neighbors to do the same. It is a simple, sensible and workable plan that needs the support of consumers everywhere.

We are interested in finding out if the Canada Standard Size information is getting out to the retailers. If you ask about it and get a negative response, write us about it at: "Sizes", Consumers' Association of Canada, 100 Gloucester St., Ottawa 4.

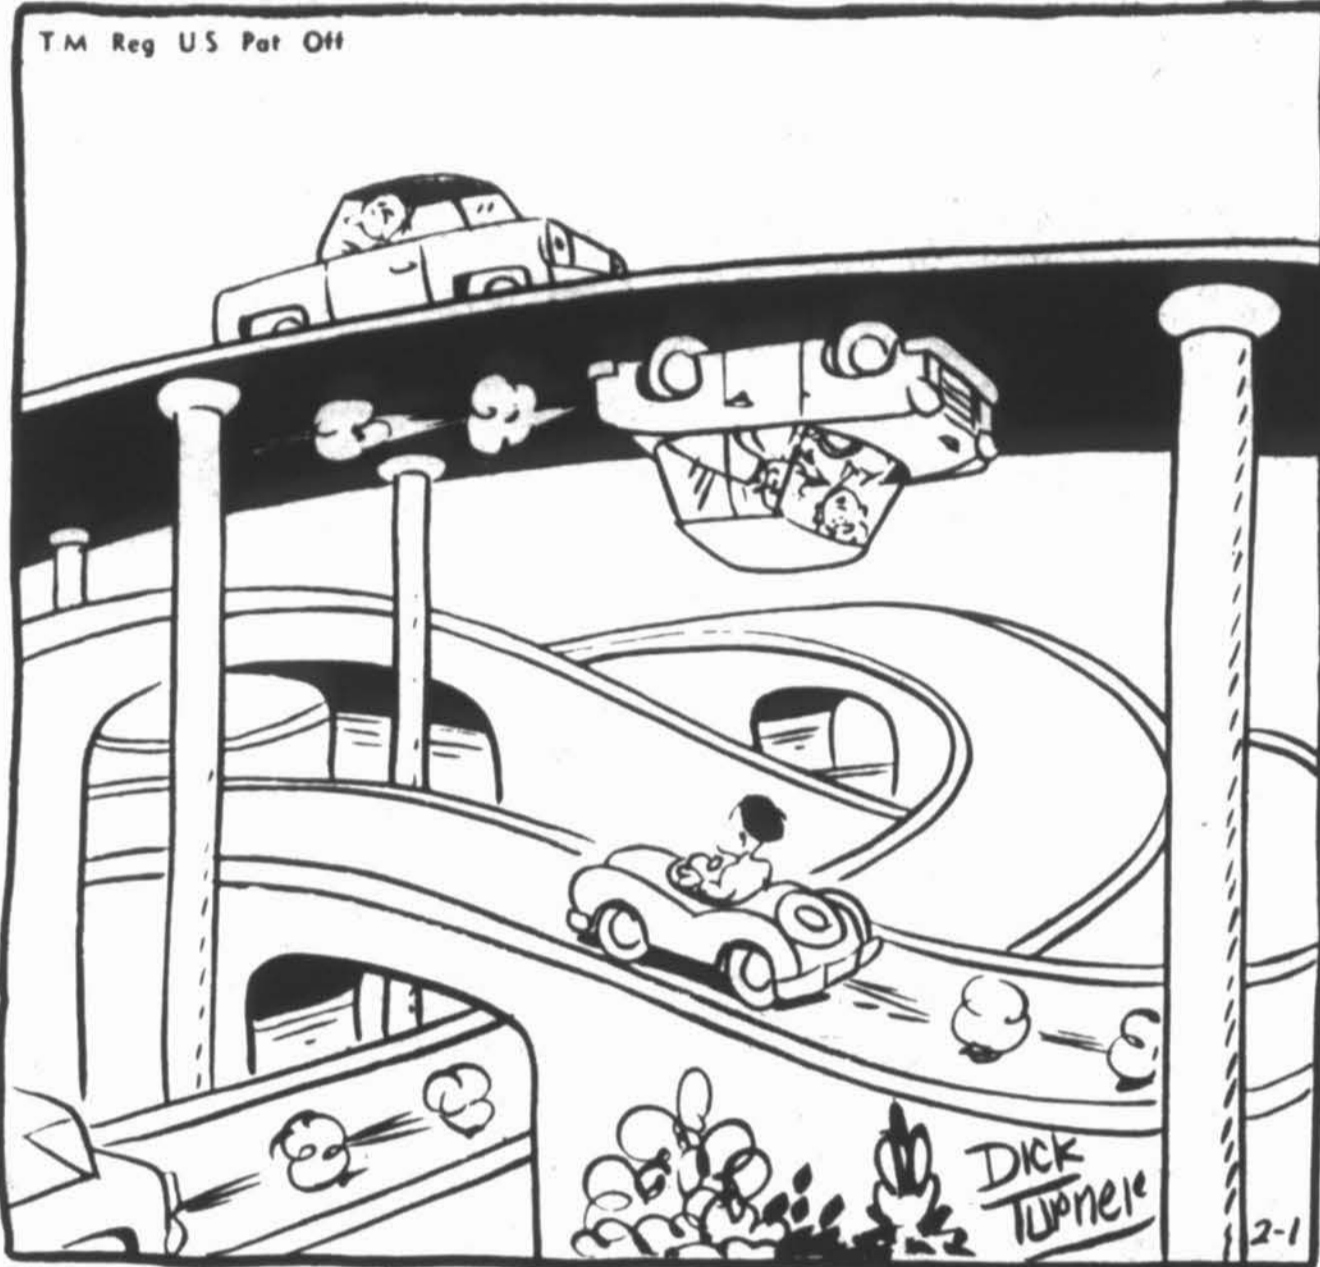

NEW HOUSE DESIGN — This 2-storey design by Architects VENCHIARUTTI & VENCHIARUTTI of Toronto, combines an efficient layout with an attractive exterior appearance.

It boasts four bedrooms and has a spacious living-dining room opening onto the rear garden. The washroom and change area for the children at the side entrance will appeal to the housewife as will the conveniently arranged kitchen with its bright dining section for less formal meals. The straight-forward lines of the house are an important cost feature. For best sitting the front door should face north.

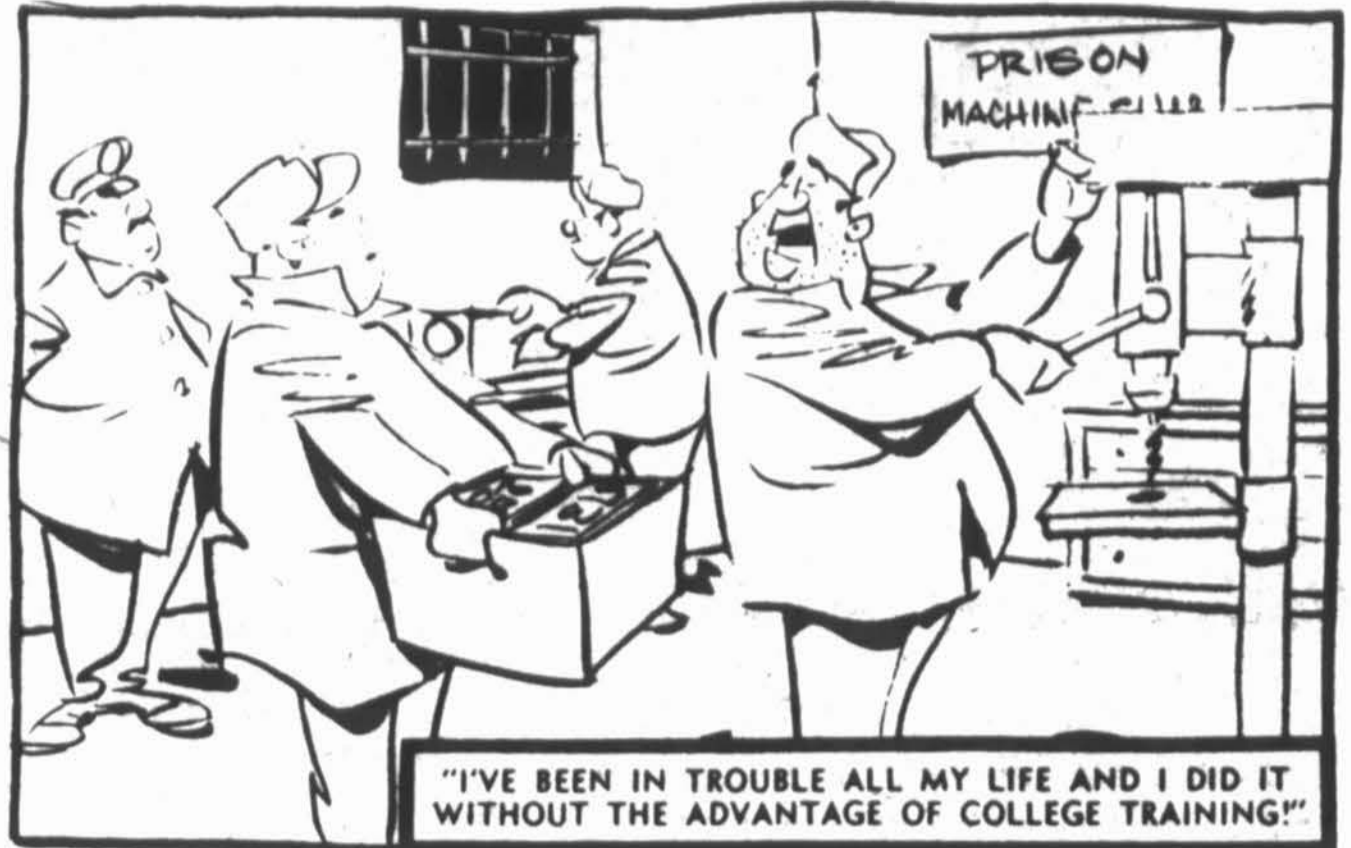

The floor area is 1,475 square feet; the external dimensions, which include the carport, are 40 feet by 30 feet four inches. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 616, are available from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

APPRENTICE EVENT - Wabush Mines hosted a dinner and social evening at the Sir Wilfred Grenfell Hotel, last Tuesday for twenty graduates of their Apprenticeship Program, and their wives. Mr. Ron Emmett, Training Supervisor introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Howard Noseworthy, of the Provincial Department of Labour Apprenticeship Branch. After extending his congratulations to the graduates, Mr. Noseworthy said that to date 65 certificates of apprenticeship have been awarded under the Wabush Mines Training Program. The first certificate being presented in June 1967. In addition to the Department of Labour Diploma, which is expected to be granted an inter-provincial status shortly, the tradesmen also received a certificate from the Training Department of Scully Mines. The Resident Manager, Mr. R.C. Baxter, (third from left, front row) presented each Journeyman with their certificates and extended the Company's best wishes. Other guests at the function included the Departmental Superintendents - (Aurora Photo).

Mining briefs

THOMPSON WORKERS OF INCO GET OFFER STEELWORKERS SAY: Negotiations, which opened Dec. 9th, 1969, for a new labor agreement between International Nickel Co., of Canada and the company's workers at Thompson, Man., represented by the United Steel Workers of America, are continuing. The existing labor contract, covering 3,300 employees at Inco's integrated nickel mining and refining complex at Thompson, expires on Feb. 28th, 1970. The talks are being conducted at the local level at Thompson. The company, according to a spokesman for the Steelworkers local unit, has offered the Thompson employees pay increases that would put them two cents an hour above the level paid Inco Sudbury workers. Increases in a three year contract offered by Inco would provide top wages for tradesmen of $5.05 an hour, the spokesman said.

NEGOTIATIONS CONTINUE: Talks between management of Brunswick Mining & Smelting Corp. and the Steelworkers got underway in December on a new labor contract and are continuing. The current agreement expires on Feb. 12th., 1970.

MOVE BY NATIONAL: Chicago gains in stature as a steel industry center. National Steel Corp., fourth largest U.S. steelmaker, has decided to move its corporate sales headquarters there from Detroit. It figured that Chicago, which has become the U.S., largest steel producing and consuming district, is the logical spot for its top sales officials.

SPANISH STEEL OUTPUT RISES: Steel production in Spain is showing rapid growth, according to official statistics issued in Madrid. In the first 11 months of 1969, that nation's steelmakers increase crude steel output to just over 5.2 million tons, a 16% gain from the year earlier period. In all of 1965, production was only 3.5 million tons.

MOUNT WRIGHT MARKS TIME: The inactive Mount Wright Iron, controlled by Little Long Lac's Belcher Mining Corp., continues to mark time, showing little change in finances in its nine month interim report to 30 Sept. 1969. Working capital of $45,522.00 on the latter date covers its modest needs while watching closely the recently announced move by U.S. Steel's wholly-owned subsidiary, Quebec Cartier Mining Co., for an eight to ten month study of the feasibility of bringing into production its adjacent iron deposit in the Mount Wright area of Quebec.

PELLETS TO FORE: As in recent years, the accent within the ore-steel trade is leaning more and more towards pelletization. World pellet capacity now exceeds 100 million tons, with additional plants planned in a number of countries including Australia. The U.S., which fathered pellets, now turns out 50,000,000 tons annually.

WORLD IRON ORE PELLET CAPACITY

Year	Canada	U.S.A.	Balance of World	Total
1968	24.83	50.30	20.65	95.78
1970	25.08	51.05	39.13	115.26

NOVA SCOTIA PLANT TO BE WORLD'S FIRST: The world's first integrated strontium mining and processing facility, being designed and built by Henry J. Kaiser Company (Canada) Ltd., will be located on Cape Breton Island, near Sydney, Nova Scotia, a report states. The project includes a mine and concentrator in a remote section of the Island and a processing plant on the coast at Point Edward. Capacity of the overall project, valued at $11 million, will be 30,000 tons of strontium compounds annually, making it one of the largest facilities of its kind in the world. Much of the strontium carbonate will be absorbed in the production of color television tube faces for reducing X-ray emissions and in ceramic magnet applications - both rapidly developing markets.

Scanning the market

BY C.S. DIVINE

The Canadian stock market is in quite respectable condition, compared to recent experience in the United States. Psychologically, neither strong optimism or pessimism prevails and the familiar, but inconclusive, "wait and see" attitude is with us again; Fundamentally speaking, business continues to decline with a wide array of statistics showing weakness over recent months.

The chief contributing factors to the better behaviour of the Canadian as against the U.S. market are the slower decline of business in Canada than in the U. S. and the relatively better outlook for the current year, real growth may decline from 5% to 3.5% vs. a decline in the U.S. from 3% to 1.5%. The keys to the business outlook and market performance for 1970 are credit (monetary policy) and the outlook for investment spending. Fiscal policy is known and is now deflationary as the government's budget goes into surplus, so that monetary policy remains as the chief government policies determinant of the business environment this year.

Interest rates will remain high for some time into the present year as the government continues to opt for monetary restraint to deflate the economy and break inflation psychology. Credit should ease sometime during the year, however, (or unemployment will reach intolerably high levels in such provinces as Newfoundland) but the easing will be less than expansionary. A RECESSION DOES NOT APPEAR LIKELY IN 1970. The outlook is for lower but still reasonable, real economic growth. The stock market should, essentially, do nothing in the short run until there is an easing in interest rates and until it is evident that an upturn is in sight for corporate profits. With continued weak demand and rising prices, profits should be lower this year in the order of 5-10%.

With respect to business investment, 1970 is expected to show a healthy increase. Overall investment demand will be restrained by weakness in the housing and government sectors. The combination of strong investment spending and a high level of personal consumption expenditures should keep business at a high level.

Investors should strongly consider three factors: firstly, the market's outlook is essentially "do-nothing" until there is an easing of credit; secondly, an easing of credit can confidently be expected and probably no later than 30th June; thirdly, do not overlook the available bargains in the market in this period of uncertainty.

Investors concentration should be on stocks of companies with the ability to raise prices and pass them on to the consumers, a strong competitive position and reasonable price-earnings ratios in relation to their intermediate and longer term earning prospects. Common stock portfolios should be maintained fairly substantial reserves and holders of such portfolios should commit reserves to bargains as they arise.

Attractive groups at this time include selective natural resources and merchandising stocks, public utilities, printing and publishing, and life insurance companies. Short term interest is always predominant to the investor but, as the short term market is essentially neutral, the prospects for the next 6-12 months are more revalent and should, therefore, govern investors' decisions at this time.
