AURORA, LABRADOR, MAY 6, 1970

PRICE 10 CENTS

Labrador West was the scene of a gymnastic technical and coaches clinic last weekend. Mr. Jacques Chinouard, former National Coach and now Technical Chairman for the Canadian Gymnastics Federations, was guest instructor and he certainly impressed the people who attended. The clinic was broken down into 5 sessions with technical sessions held in the classroom on Friday and Saturday nights. On Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning Mr. Chinouard and the local coaches worked with close to 50 young gymnasts in the area. Then on Sunday afternoon some of the better young gymnasts performed and were judged by the local coaches. The main purpose of the clinic was to prepare the local coaches to serve as judges in a meet that will be held May 9th and 10th. Teams will be entering from Corner Brook, Curling and Gander. A second meet will be held in Gander on May 22nd, 23rd, and 24th, and this one will be for the Provincial Championships. The clinic was jointly sponsored by the Amalgamated School Board, the Roman Catholic School Board and the Private School Board of Labrador City. The picture shows the coaches and some 50 gymnasts that took part in the clinic.

The Labrador District of the Nancy Greene Ski League completed the final races recently, with two teams from Churchill Falls and two local teams. The Garibaldi team representing Smokey Mountain were the victors. Team instructors were Al and Pele Leonfellner. Manager, Ralph Roberts and Capt. Gilbert Dufresene. Other team members: Mike Mattinson, Leahy LaRose, Vianne Timmons, Tim Mosely, Parnell Crook, Mark McKim, Perry Leonfellner, Nora Dohey, Michele Erbb, Benoit Lavigne, Chris Candow and Chantal LeFleur. The camera market and what it offers

By CONSUMERS' ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

Amateur photographers in Canada buy a lot of cameras and equipment. They also use a lot of film.

"Some of the time they pay reasonable prices for the equipment and services they buy but very often, they don't," says free-lance photographer Freeman Patterson writing in Canadian Consumer magazine, published by Consumers' Association of Canada.

Mr. Patterson is well-qualified to offer advice to the camera-consumer and here are some tips and suggestions from a professional to assist the amateur in getting what he wants without ruining his financial standing.

Most camera lines on the market are of excellent quality but the prices can vary. The 35mm single-lens reflex camera, for example, is about the most popular on the Canadian market and the prices fluctuate from less than $200 to almost $600 and this is without the lens. The question the camera-consumer should ask is: "For my use, is this huge price differential merited?"

For the "snapshotter" there are much less expensive cameras that are extremely popular and are the essence of operating ease. However, such cameras are built with limited uses in mind. The amateur who is interested in photography as a hobby would be well advised to go directly to a model in the lower price range of the better cameras. The cheaper, less versatile cameras are not intended as training or teaching instruments for the more versatile models. And remember — if you want versatility in a camera and lots of fun, buy a camera which permits you to change lenses.

There is no reason to buy the lens that is on the camera body, if you don't want it. For example, most cameras come equipped with very fast standard lenses and you will pay more for these than a f 3.5 lens. "As a working professional," says Mr. Patterson, "I find the slower lens covers nearly all the situations I am called upon to photograph."

If you have one camera and want as few extra lenses as possible, you should consider settling on just two: a standard focal length macro lens (which takes overall scenes, yet permits you to do closeup shots of flowers and the like) and a zoom lens which covers from 85mm to 210mm. The zoom lens allows you to move closer to, or further away from, the objects you are photographing without moving your body.

Wide-angle lenses are limited in use, and an amateur should not be in a big hurry to get one.

Cameras with built-in light meters are a mixed blessing. Buyers should remember that if the meter breaks down, the whole camera must go back for repairs. A built-in meter is no more an infallible guide to exposure than a separate one — the only advantage of the built-in meter is simply that it reduces by one the number of items you are carrying.

When you buy a camera make certain that you get a copy of the warranty. The warranty and the assurance of good repair service from the manufacturer (or his agent) are as important as the camera itself. Under no circumstances should you buy a new camera at any price without them.

It pays to buy film in quantity and to ask for a discount. If a store won't give you a progressive discount on five or more rolls, don't buy, because another store will. When you buy a lot of film at once, pop it into the deep freeze, where it will keep practically forever.

Film that is slightly out-of-date is usually offered at greatly reduced prices and is quite often a good buy. This is especially true of slow and medium-speed film that is less than six months past expiry date. And remember, once you buy it, keep it frozen until use.

Never accept poor prints from a processor — any processor — provided you have given him good negatives or transparencies to start with. You are paying for good quality, so make sure you get it.

If you do not develop your own black-and-white film, when you take it to a processor ask for developing and a contact sheet, but not for developing and a print of each negative. When you examine the contact sheet, you may decide to have only three or four negatives printed. Thus, you save considerable money.

Many stores offer a "free" roll of film with every roll brought to them for processing. Such offers are usually more valid when made directly by a processing firm, and less valid when made by a store which must send the film on to a processor. In other words, by eliminating the middle-man the cost of the offer can be cut. But be careful — some very out-of-date film has been used in some of the "free" offers.

Most amateurs waste money because they never take a little time to study their cameras and to learn about film. Courses in photography are usually a good investment, because they teach the proper use of equipment, develop skills and thus in the end save you a lot of money. This also holds true for memberships in camera clubs and photographic associations.

The simple fact of the matter is that the best way to beat the high cost of photography is to learn how to make good use of the equipment you own.

Editorially speaking

THE COST OF LIVING

When inflation is broken down into components, it is clear that services are contributing far more than their share to rising prices today. Prices of commodities increased by 3.4% in 1969, while prices of services (everything from shoeshines to doctors bills) increased by 5.8%.

Services excluding shelter costs increased by 6.9% in 1969. A large proportion of the rise in commodity costs can be accounted for in higher food prices. Prices of durable goods, such as appliances, cars and furniture, rose only 1.1% in 1969. Food prices increased by 4.2%. Services now account for nearly half of consumer spending in Canada. But they have contributed far more than that to inflation in the last five years. Here are several examples of the price changes:

(a) Transportation costs were up 4.6% in 1969, compared to a 5-year average of 3.5%. Local transportation, meaning bus and taxi fares, increased 13.0% in 1969. Bus fares alone have climbed 54.0% since 1964. Travel between cities went up 7.5% in the last year.

(b) Health and personal care costs increased 4.9% in 1969, compared to 4.4% in the 5 year period. Dentists' fees climbed 6.9%, doctor's fees 4.3%. Drugs increased only 1.0% but men's haircuts increased by almost 8.0%.

(c) Recreation and reading are nearly 6.0% more expensive than two years ago. Movie admissions are up 15.0% for a 70.0% increase since 1964. Magazine subscription rates were up 9.7% in 1969. Prices of sports equipment and admissions to sports events were up more than 6.0%.

(d) Housing prices, a special combination of goods and services, rose quickly. Shelter prices increased 6.8% in 1969. House prices and property taxes were up 8.0%, mortgage interest costs rose 14.0%. The high prices do not necessarily hit the people with the highest incomes. A Dominion Bureau of Statistics study on inter-city comparisons indicated that consumers in the cities of the slow growth regions often pay more than their counterparts in Ontario.

For example, St. John's, Nfld., has the most expensive food and the most expensive tobacco and alcohol in Canada; Charlottetown has the highest housing and clothing costs. Montrealers pay the most for transportation and recreation. Vancouver has the most expensive health and personal care. Toronto rates on the low end of the scale for every type of purchase.

Consumer prices increased at a faster pace in the United States last year than in 10 of 14 industrial countries studied, the U.S. labor department reports. Consumer prices rose 5.5% in the United States, a more rapid rise than in all countries studied except Japan, at 5.8%, France at 6.3%, and the Netherlands at 7.8%.

However during the Nineteen Sixties prices increased less in the U.S. than in the other 13 countries. An article in a Bureau of Labor Statistics monthly publication, Labor Developments Abroad, noted:

(a) Compared with the other 13 industrial countries studied, the United States registered the smallest price rise (27.0% between 1958 and 1969.). West Germany and Canada, the increases were below 30.0%, but in Japan and Denmark the rise was as large as 70.0%.

(b) Medical and personal care prices rose in the U.S. and most European countries at a substantially faster pace than overall prices.

(c) Food price rises were below overall increases in most countries studied. The smallest increase was 6.0% in Germany, the largest 34.0% in Denmark. In the U.S. the increase was 15.0% for the past five years.

(d) U.S. clothing prices rose more rapidly than other cost of living goods and services since 1965, but in all other countries studied except the Netherlands, apparel prices rose less rapidly than other consumer prices.

(e) Recent prices increased more rapidly than all consumer items in all countries studied except Norway. In the U.S., prices for rents rose 20.0% between 1965 and 1969. Liberalization of rent controls was a major factor in price increases in many of the European countries.

Here 'n' there

Corner Brook. — The Catholic Women's League of the West Side Division in Corner Brook is calling on all teenagers to boycott the Millbrook Cinema because of excessive sex in two of the films now playing. "The Female" and "The Secret of a Windmill Girl". The group is also calling on clubs and organizations to take a similar stand. The CWL charged in a release that these two films are of a continuation of the theatre's policy of bringing in indecent films, and it said, "we mean indecent in every sense of the word." The CWL said that apparently "Valerie" was such a hit in Corner Brook that "they are coming at us with more lust, more nudity and more passionate sexuality than ever before." The release said the Millbrook Cinema was out to make the most money in the quickest manner with no regards for the morals of the city's youth. "We sincerely trust in you boys and girls, we love you, we have your interest at heart and we want you to stay sweet and good as so many of you are right now." It continues, "Boycott the theatre for the next few days and show the management that you really do care what they are showing on the screen." Ernie Jones the manager of the theatre said that during the first showing they had to turn away hundreds of people because of lack of space. He said it just goes to show you that we are doing a pretty good job of pleasing the people of Corner Brook.

ALSDORF, West Germany: The West German makers of the drug Thalidomide and lawyers representing children deformed by it have agreed on a settlement of 100 million marks, (about $28 million). A spokesman for the company, Chemie Gruenthal, told a press conference that half the money would be put at the children's disposal by June. About 2,000 children in West Germany were born deformed, many of them with shortened arms, after their mothers took the sedative during early stages of pregnancy. The spokesman said a board of doctors and other experts would be established which would decide on the individual payments. The second installment would be paid by the end of three years.

DUBLIN, Ireland: Priests are playing cupid in a bid to get Irish eyes smiling again. Traditionally, the Irishman is a reluctant bridegroom. The country's marriage rate is a low 5.5 per 1,000 population. Girls in Ireland are twice as likely as girls in Britain to remain spinsters. The cities all have more spinsters than bachelors; Dublin's ratio is near 2 to 1. In the more isolated rural areas, men outnumber women. About 20% of the smaller farmers are unmarried. Girls who have tasted city life don't want to go down on the farm. Many of those who have crossed the Irish Sea to work in Britain, don't want to return at all. The octogenarian Archbishop Joseph Walsh, now retired, has said: "They are attracted by the bright lights of the cities in both Britain and the United States, but it's heart breaking to see them go. So many never come back." The archbishop and six West of Ireland bishops set up a marriage introduction bureau at Knock, in County Mayo two years ago. The Anonymous Bachelor Club in Limerick followed last year, a third bureau has been founded at Kerry. In its two years, the bureau at Knock has received 1,150 applications.

LONDON, England — Whatever western fashion experts decree, millions of women in the Far East will continue to wear mini or micro-mini skirts this summer. Even in England, birthplace of the mini skirt, the midi skirt which covers the knees is running into trouble. Says a widely syndicated British fashion editor: "I think the men will insist on minis simply because they are 100 per cent sexier". Designers in France, Italy, Britain and America have been trying to bury the mini skirt with a series of fashion shows featuring the midi. The calculated guess of fashion writers, according to a Reuters survey, is that in western countries the mini will dominate the scene until the autumn when the midis or maxis will take over. Even in Moscow, as the days lengthen and the weather warms up, girls have shed their coats to display skirts well above knee level. Midis have challenged the short skirts but have not made much impact.

Japan takes a practical attitude toward the skirt situation. Fashion experts there say the mini is a 4 to 1 favourite this year because it pleases the men and suits the ladies far more than the midi or maxi — which tends to make the diminutive Japanese girl look dumpy. In Sweden, where films have promoted an image of nudity in a permissive society, the mini-skirt is extremely popular. Maxi skirts may warm as well as disguise a handsome pair of Swedish legs but they became a nuisance last winter in Stockholm's slushy streets. The long-legged Swedish girl has her counterpart in Australia, where young ladies have been lifting their skirt length higher than in most other places in the world. "It is too hot out here for midi or maxi skirts," said one lovely, leggy Australian girl. Throughout the Far East, mini's appear to be the winners. Most girls in Hong Kong will stay faithful to the mini this year, mainly because of the hot tropical climate. Filipino men do not try to hide their admiration for the mini, but some fashion experts believe a compromise will be struck this year between the mini and midi, "a half way fashion", says couturier Pitoy Moreno. The Florence fashion shows in early April played up the midi-length skirt. Most Italian designers predict that high fashion showings in July will also feature the midi. In Paris and New York, the battle for the hemline indicated victory for the midi length — at least after the summer.

Manpower report: applying for a job

Many people under 30 will change jobs five or more times before they retire and those over 40 are also likely to change several times, as new jobs open up and old ones disappear.

If you are intending to change jobs it is of tremendous value to be able to put your talents down on paper. Especially so for an employee in Northern Canada who is away from the action and is unable to apply for jobs in person. The job resume may be the most important document you ever write, so you should give it proper attention.

The job resume should be prepared by yourself with your own words. There are numerous styles - a suggested one is shown below - be brief - state facts - eliminate all unnecessary words.

Example:

INTRODUCING

Surname followed by first and other names (underline the one used).

Age

Address - Number - Street - Town - Province.

Phone Number - show area code in brackets.

Marital Status - Single, married, separated, divorced, widowed. - Number and ages of children and/or other dependents.

Physical - Describe any physical conditions which may limit your employment.

Educational level - show highest grade obtained and province;

INTERESTS

Explain in one or two short sentences what kind of work you really would like to do. Be specific - do not use general terms.

EXPERIENCE

List in order starting at the present date, the positions you have held, what you actually did, how long you worked there and what salary you received. Suggest a format such as:

Since January 1967 - John Bush Co., Toronto at $1.80 an hour - Sales Clerk - measured customers, sold men's clothing, cash, charge and credit accounts forms. Cash register. Typed reports.

GENERAL

Expand on any factors which may be of interest to an employer, such as - Education - Did you attend night school, take correspondence or other types of courses.

What did you study, did you have any options in high school or major subjects in University?

- Show any academic awards and/or your best subjects. Hobbies - list any hobbies, special skills or interests you may have.

References - Give the name, address and phone number of a least two people who could be contacted by an employer for references. (Permission should be obtained first, before giving names as references).

SUGGESTED APPROACH

Letter - Write a brief letter to prospective employers. Suggest it follow this pattern:

1st para - WHY - Explain why you are writing and/or where you received your lead.

2nd para - WHAT - HAVE you to offer - suggest only a brief statement referring to an attached resume of qualifications.

3rd para - WHEN - Are you available for interview and/or employment. Remember the object is to get an interview so ask for it. If convenient, state that you will be contacting the company at a specified time to request an interview.

GENERAL - Remember you have to SELL YOURSELF and to do so must have all your facts at hand. The best method seems to be by the use of a resume, which can either be mailed with the letter, delivered by hand or merely used by yourself during an interview.

MONTREAL, Que. From now on buying provincial lottery tickets will be as easy as going around the corner for a pack of cigarettes. Loto-Quebec recently announced that starting May 1st, lottery tickets will be on sale at most drug stores, tobacco stands, restaurants, groceries, department stores and service stations. The tickets will be simpler, too. The new tickets will constitute receipts by themselves and the buyer will be identified by number only instead of by name and address. Eventually nearly 7,000 authorized agents will be selling the $2 dreams of instant riches, each will be identified by a Loto-Quebec identity card. Each month there are 200 winners of cash prizes totalling $305,000 the largest single one being $125.00 in Loto Quebec. As usual the public will be able to get a piece of the action through mail and newspaper coupons or through banks and caisses populaires. For the cautious speculator the new tickets, which are to be used for the May lottery, are divided into a receipt and a stub so that he can detach the stub and hide it in a safe place. The draw for April's lotteries is to be held May 15th.

TOKYO, Japan: The right kind of music boosted the production of mother's milk by 50 to 150 per cent in a recent test, says Dr. Ikuya Oka, deputy chief of the Red Cross Maternity Hospital here. Of 120 women for whom recorded music was played, only five failed to respond, he said. Dr. Oka said mood, instrumental, choir and semi-classical were effective in boosting lactation but some music, such as swing and electronic music, caused a decrease in milk production.

WAKEFIELD, England - She may Quit: Miriam Hargrave, 61 flunked her drivers test for the 38th time and said she might give it up for a bad job. "I was so confident this time", she said, "but it just didn't work." Mrs. Hargrave has been taking driving lessons, and the test for eight years.

Scanning the market

BY C.S.DEVINE

We have been so disappointed over the recent action of the market that our comments this week will be rather brief.

First, in answer to several inquiries we pass on the following information: (a) Mount Wright Iron Mines Co. Ltd. is listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange and the Canadian Stock Exchange. Executive offices are 112 King St. W. Toronto. Officers and Directors: President J.C.L. Allen, Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer P.A. Allen, D.M. Lorimer a Comptroller A.G. Wilson, Directors, R.C. Stanley Jr., P.K. Hanley, J.D. Bryce, all of Toronto. The company was incorporated in 1951 and holds an Ontario charter. Authorized capital is 5,000,000 and according to the latest company report 4,800,000 shares have been issued. The youth column

By SHARON BRYANS

On Monday, April 27, Dr. L. Johnson, the Moderator for the Presbyterian Church of Canada, spoke to the students of Labrador City Collegiate on the CANAIR Relief programme that Canada had in operation during the Nigeria-Biafra civil war.

The CANAIR flights to Biafra consisted of approximately 600 to 700 flights in one year.

These flights were made at the risk of the CANAIR volunteers lives, to bring food and medical supplies to the starving Biafrans. Dr. Johnson was totally involved in this relief programme and spoke to the students on all the aspects involved in such an operation and also what risks many of our fellow Canadians were taking to prevent starvation among the Biafran people. Dr. Johnson said that the CANAIR relief was most beneficial to small children who often had no one to care for them. Also working in co-operation with Canair relief were Red Cross volunteers and Christian missionaries from many countries.

These volunteers were teams of doctors and nurses and ordinary civilians like you and me. This man gave us an informative talk on what actually happened and how Canadians contributed to alleviate conditions during the Nigeria-Biafra conflict. Last Friday, May 1st, there was a teenage dance held at the Curling Club to entertain the high school curlers from Sept Iles and Schefferville who came to Labrador City for the weekend to participate in a high school bonspiel. The dance was a great success because of the large crowd and the vibrating music of the Chevelles.

On Saturday and Sunday the Bonspiel was held, interjected by coffee and donut breaks at which the visitors became acquainted with the host curlers. The visiting curlers were billeted at homes of curlers in Labrador City.

Attends course

Mr. Hardy Warren, Town Foreman at Wabush, returned April 11 after participating in a five-day Basic Water and Sewage Works Course held in Halifax. The course was designed to give those attending better knowledge and expertise in carrying out their jobs in the industry. The course was conducted by the Atlantic Branch, Canadian Section of the American Water Works Association, and financial support was provided by the Branch, the New Brunswick Water Authority, The Prince Edward Island Water Authority and the Nova Scotia Department of Public Health. The support was provided to insure that the less prosperous communities could be represented without creating financial hardships. Classes were held from 9 am to 4:30 pm daily and the timetable included a tour of the City of Dartmouth Water System and the Cole Harbour Sewage Treatment Plant. To ensure that those attending were exposed to lectures covering all aspects of the industry, services of knowledgeable people from Municipal, Provincial and Federal Government Departments, equipment suppliers and consulting engineers were utilized. The Town Manager of Wabush rated the course as being "very beneficial to the Department."

Solve-a-crime You are the detective

By A.C. GORDON

You drive through the bitterly-cold, wintry night to the headquarters of your friend, Police Chief Bill Arnold, and as you enter the warm confines of his office he greets you with a nod and exclaims, "You're just in time! Another armed robbery tonight in our town, and I'm just about to listen to the story of the two victims."

Two young men, Ben Kendall and Mike Stoneman, are ushered into his office and, after divesting themselves of their overcoats, seat themselves alongside Chief Arnold's desk, and Kendall begins the story:

"As I've already told you on the phone, I work for the Central City Loan Company .. personal loans. I was out making some collections tonight from some of our slower accounts, and Mike here was riding along with me to keep me company. I had stopped my car for a red light at the intersection of Beech and Oak Streets, when suddenly two men ran out of the darkness, came up on either side of my sedan, pushed guns through the windows and into our ribs, and ordered us to hand over our money. They must have known that I was out making the collections, because one of them told me not to forget the attache case ... that's where I had the money I had collected tonight ... more than $700.

"There was nothing either of us could do ...

we're no heroes ... not with guns jammed into us. So I handed the guy on my side of the car the attache case."

"And in the meantime I was shoving my wallet jand Ben's wallet out of the window to the guy on my side of the car," Mike Stoneman exclaims. "Guess that amounted to maybe $25 or so more."

"Can you give any description of these men," Chief Arnold asks.

"Well, it was pretty dark, both guys had their hats pulled well down over their eyes and their overcoat collars were pulled up, concealing their chins and mouths," says Mike Stoneman.

"I haven't been able to get in touch with my boss yet," says Ben Kendall. "He's going to be pretty much upset when he hears about this!"

"I imagine he'll feel pretty sad about it ... and about you," you remark, "especially when he hears that you tried to fake a robbery of his funds!"

Why do you think the robbery was faked?

SOLUTION

Ben Kendall told you that the "two robbers" had pushed their guns into his and Stoneman's ribs, and that he and Stoneman had handed the money out of the car windows to the men. But on the "bitterly cold, wintry night, with all the principles wearing overcoats, surely the two young men were driving with the windows of their car closed!"

Legion is still serving

BY PAT HOGAN

Very few people know the aims and principles of the Royal Canadian Legion. The principle aim of the Legion is "Service" not only to veterans and their families, although this is our prime concern, but to the community as well.

Many people envision the Legion as a group of veterans sitting around drinking beer and telling lies about their exploits. True, we have been known to "have a pint or two" and sometimes the truth is rather loosely handled but this is not the only thing that is done from within the Legion as the following will indicate.

The Labrador City Branch 47 has been involved in the following projects since January 1970. We supply and maintain the television sets, that we hope you never have to use, at the Jackman Memorial Hospital.

We have donated $300.00 to the children's section of the Library.

We have donated $400.00 to the ski lodge to help defray the expenses of the team that went to St. John's to compete in the Nancy Greene Ski League.

We have donated $200.00 to the Indian Children of North West River.

We financially assisted the Minor Hockey League to the tune of $300 this year.

We will supply scholarships to the value of $600, we limit the applicant in this case to our members and club members.

We have donated a trophy to the High School Curling, and of course we contribute to all the service organizations such as, March of Dimes, Heart Fund, Cancer Society, Salvation Army etc...

We of course have "a bit of fun" as well and this year I am pleased to report that our Dart team has done exceedingly well, to date we are the champions of the Northern Division and we have extremely high hopes of winning the Newfoundland Championships.

I am sure that you will agree that by our community involvement that people know that we are here.

We also provide an entertainment outlet to the area, we have a social evening on Wednesday and a dance every Saturday and Sunday. All residents of age are invited to attend these functions.

Therefore I request, that the next time you see a Legion Pin in a lapel, consider that this man has served his country and is still serving his country and community.

Good Luck and Good Darts to the boys from Branch 47!

Speaking of sports

By JACK DROVER

The Flyers won the last of the divisional championships last Sunday when they defeated the Maple Leafs 3 to 2 in overtime to win the Mosquito championship in two straight games. They had won the opening game on Saturday by the same score. The final game was one of the most exciting games played in the Arena this winter and the 150 fans that attended applauded both teams continuously for their efforts.

Meanwhile the annual general meeting is scheduled for Wednesday May 13th at the Arena meeting room at 8 p.m. Judging from the interest displayed by the parents in Minor Hockey this winter, there is certain to be a big crowd at this meeting. A reminder to all minor hockey players, to get their sweaters and socks returned as soon as possible. You will receive your $5.00 deposit and the executive will then have some idea how many sweaters to order for next season.

Finally, this past two weeks there have been letters in this paper from "Disgusted Fans". I personally feel that if these people do not have the nerve to put their name on these letters then they should not be published.

(We will publish letters to the editor, with the right to edit, under a "Nom de plume", provided that the original bears the signature and address (of the writer-editor).

MEN'S BASKETBALL

The semi-finals in the men's basketball league began last week and in the opening games the Saints edged the Braves 54 to 52 and the Teachers defeated Wabush 70 to 53, both series are the best of three affair with the winners advancing to a similar final.

In the first game the Braves had built up a 28 to 23 half time lead, but the Saints came on strong and outscored the Braves 31 to 24 in the second half to win by 2 points. Bill Dwyer led the Saints with 18 points while Jim Ward had 10 and Donnie Hong 8. The leagues leading scorer, Mike Murphy was tops for the Braves with 23 points while Bob Vlug sank 15.

The Teachers led all the way in their victory over the young Wabush team. Mike Gallivan scored more than half of this teams points as he put on an outstanding individual performance. He finished the night with 37 points while Ray O'Brien and Art Squarey chipped in with 10 apiece. Gerry Barron once again led Wabush with 22 points.

DARTS PLAYDOWNS

The Royal Canadian Legion team from Labrador City won the right to represent Labrador in the Dominion Ale Provincial Play-offs at a tournament held in Goose Bay last weekend. The Legion team defeated teams from the Hotel in Wabush, the Legion, Happy Valley and the Squirrel Club in Goose Bay.

Travelling to Corner Brook on May 13th, will be Larry Dutton, Terry Pitcher, Dell Peck, Ed Martin, Art Byrne, Gerry Dennis, John Roberts, Roy Pitcher, and manager John Cunningham. The team has strengthened itself by picking up Roy Boyle from Goose Bay.

GYMNASTIC MEET

A gymnastic meet will be held in Labrador City over the weekend with teams coming in from Grand Falls, Corner Brook and Curling. Both boys and girls will be competing on Saturday with the girls' events taking place at Notre Dame Gym and the boys at LCC.

Gymnastics is relatively new in the area but it is one of the more popular sports in the schools. To excel, one has to put in many hours of practice and hard work. I am sure people who attend this meet will be amazed at the calibre of our young gymnasts, especially the girls. Last year the girls swept top honours at the Provincial Championships held in St. John's.

HERE AND THERE

Last week I saw one of the final games in the Labrador City Industrial League. It certainly was exciting hockey and next year I hope those in charge will arrange for a playoff series between the Industrial Leagues in Labrador City and Wabush.

The school curling program ended last weekend with the annual Tin Can Bonspiel and an invitational High School Bonspiel at the Arena. 128 teams took part in the Tin Can Spiel, which meant that 500 boys and girls took part. Six teams from Sept Iles and one from Schefferville were among the sixteen teams that took part in the High School affair.

Finally, I thank all my readers over the winter. There is a lull in sports at this time of the year so I feel it is a good time to get out!

Have you ever...

Have you ever tried to change
 That outward look of fear,
 When your life is facing trouble
 And your day is full of care?

Have you ever tried to find
 That key to inner joy,
 That brings ease and optimism
 That will loss and death defy?

Have you ever longed to own
 A soul that's trouble-free,
 That's filled with peace and uncondemned
 To face eternity?

Have you ever been discouraged
 When success has passed you by,
 And the golden prize you sought is lost Have you ever wondered why?

Have you ever been a victim
 Of the lawlessness of Fate,
 Or found your plans in tangled heaps
 When you arrived too late?

Have you ever laughed at others
 But could never find a smile,
 The pain of vanished hope to seize
 Or culminate the guile?

Have you ever felt dejected
 With the passing of the day,
 When you're constantly persuaded
 To cast your plans away?

If you've never seen the moment
 When you've felt the end was near,
 Then you've never been the person
 That Fate has pictured here.

Brewers answer charge

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld — The Brewers Association, representing the Bavarian Brewery, Bennett Brewery and the Newfoundland Brewery, have answered charges by the provincial government of enticing licenced establishments to buy and sell their particular beer products. In the release from the Association it was stated, "Last year the association presented to the chairman of the Nfld Liquor Commission the total amount of marketing dollars that were being spent by the industry to promote their products in Newfoundland. The total of these dollars amounted to $589,500.00 or less than one cent per bottle, of which $340,500.00 was spent in Newfoundland on radio, television, newspapers and Hockey Night In Canada. The balance of $249,000.00 was used to promote our products to beer drinkers in licenced establishments, to home consumers and to assist athletic and many other organizations throughout the province. However, due to the high wage settlement that the industry made last year, to their union, we were forced to curtail all promotions in these areas and the savings were only a small part of our settlement with our employees. At no time has this industry spent hundreds of thousands of dollars promoting our product to licencees and their employees, in a market which is the second smallest in Canada."

Minor hockey complaint

The Editor
The Aurora

Dear Sir:

Please allow me space in your paper to express my view on Minor Hockey. I agree with "disgusted fan," and feel the same, "disgusted."

I also have boys in minor hockey, they are on different teams and have been playing for over two years in Labrador City. I have gone to the Arena to watch them play, one boy had ample ice time, the other, of all the players on his team had exactly two minutes playing time, during the whole game.

The rest of the game he sat in the box while the others were all on the ice, he went out to play the next game the following week and all the players were put on the ice again and he was not on once during this game. Now I understand it is up to the coach, well if the first coach could put all his players on, I'm wondering why the second coach could not do the same, all I accomplished from the games was a chill and my boy was broken-hearted. If the boys are not put on the ice how can they learn how to play?

Setting up a menu calls for the creative touch. The one person responsible will do well to keep in mind the old saying, "the eye is the first to feast." Also one must be very careful with sauces as they play a very important role in the art of cooking. The selected wine is another factor in dining. The following menu is layed out with the choice of wine most suitable to the meal.

MENU		WINE
Oysters		Bordeaux Graves, Dry-Very Old
Roti de Boguf Anglaise,
Broccolli Hollandaise
Pomme au four.	Nuit St. George, Red Dry Wine,
Horseradish Sauce	serve at room temperature.
Sour cream with chines
Mille Feuilles	Chateau Y Queh, White, sweet
Mints	very old,
Demi - Tasse	Maderia - Baul, red, decantered.

MELON AU PORTO	CONSOMME AU ROYAL
Roast Duckling a la Orange
Glazed Baby Carrot
French Cut Green Beans
Croquette Potato
Pear Helene
Coffee
Dinner Mints

As the column appears each week I will be giving the reader some information as to the region where wines and champagnes are carefully prepared, also cheeses of France, Fromage de France, and the names. A wine chart is available with the food it should accompany and the necessary serving temperatures. Any recipe from the above menu along with the wine chart can be obtained by sending $1.00 to, Our Chef's Specialties, The Aurora, P.O. Box 2090, Labrador City.

News from the Marinieres

BY BARBARA ROUSSEAU

Hi once again to our friendly neighbours.

We had a quiet weekend and the week passed routinely with practices for the Mother's Day Parade and show which is going very nicely. We had two practices last week, Wednesday night at 7:20 p.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday morning at 9:20 a.m. to 12 noon. The girls are working with their usual tenacity, with always the same idea. "It's going good but it could be better, much better." This week there will be three practices for the musical group, but two for the rest of the Marinieres. This is because they are learning all new songs one of which is "La premiere etoile" (the first star), which will be the first waltz that our girls have undertaken and which is going very well indeed.

It is quite probable that the Marinieres will be going to Schefferville to give the same show that was prepared for Labrador City. This will be their first trip to Schefferville. There is a possible trip in view for Port Cartier, May 16th and 17th for the gala??????

As I promised last week, here are the names of the judges for our "Mother of the Year," contest: Mayor Donald Gallienne, Quebec Provincial Court Judge, Denis Gobiell, Patrick O'Donaghy, Managing Editor of L'Avenir, Benoit Roberge, Broadcaster and Businessman, Raoul Otis, Businessman, Lino Conte, Restaurant Owner, and Claude Guimont, General Director of the Sept Iles Hospital. So, until next week, BYE-BYE....

Here's a tip

BOTTLE DEODORIZER
 If some of your glass tumblers, jars, or vases seem badly in need of deodorizing, you can accomplish this easily by the following process: After washing the container in soapy water, fill it about half- full with clean water, then add a teaspoonful of dry mustard, and stir thoroughly. Allow to remain for about an hour or so, then rinse out with clear water - (Gene Von).
