by C.S. DEVINE

We are pleased to report another very successful month for our hypothetical Labrador First Fund. Our profit for November was $761.55 which was more than enough to erase our $630.00 loss in October and bring the L.F.F. profit, year to date figure, to a new high of $4,260.00 (42.6%—

We made one trade during the month selling 100 shares of Ranger Oil at $13.25 to purchase 200 shares of Winnipeg Supply and Fuel at $6.63. Winnipeg S.F. is an old, well established, prairie company operating in construction, real estate, fuel distribution, etc. Although it will not reach the $1.43 a share profit, reported last year, the picture is still very good, in a slow construction year. One of the outstanding features of this stock is its "break up value" (value of Assets over Liabilities divided by number of shares outstanding) is over $12.00 a share and W.S.F. pays a .40 cents dividend. In selling another 100 Ranger we reduced our investment in this Western Oil, to approximately 50% of our overall holdings; this we feel is a more desirable figure.

As of 30 November our position was as follows:

Editorially speaking

Several weeks ago in his column we suggested that in order to get Canada moving gain, especially in the employment field, the Federal Government should consider reducing taxes. Shortly after the Federal Finance Minister Edgar Benson, announced a special budget would be brought down on December 3. Many of the political and financial analysts felt Mr. Benson would announce a reduction in taxes, to spur the economy. But such was not the case. His speech sounded like something from the "Dirty Thirties." Make work schemes: increasing unemployment assistance; low cost loans to the Provinces (principally Quebec), etc.

In recent years every nation that has attempted this method of fighting unemployment with these tools, has met with failure. The old saying that "gainful employment produces more employment," has proven correct on practically all occasions. Increasing unemployment benefits to $100.00 a week is certainly not encouraging people to work for $90.00. Last week workers at a southern Newfoundland fish plant walked off the job because they maintained employees would be much better off, living on welfare. And the Federal Budget several days later only reinforced their claims.

In the Federal Liberal election sweep of 1968 it was shown Mr. Trudeau won largely with the help of the middle class (10,000-$15,000) voter especially in Ontario and Quebec. Yet since his election victory this government has done everything possible to alienate the middle class people of this country. Since the autumn of 1969, three things come to mind. (1) The White Paper on Tax "Reform." Taxes to be reduced for those in the low and high income groups and increased for those in the middle bracket. (2) The Federal Labor Departments' proposals on Unemployment Insurance which will result in all, other than self-employed persons, being forced to pay unemployment insurance premiums. (3) The latest nail in the coffin came last week. Baby bonus cheques stop at $10,000. Effective 1 Sept. 1971, Family Allowance for people earning in excess of $10,000 per annum will be eliminated. That in itself is not a bad thing especially when payments to those in income groups up to $4,500 will be doubled. But how about the INCREASED TAX DEDUCTION PER CHILD for those earning over $10,000 that was indicated recently. Now, no mention of it in Health Minister Munro's report or Finance Minister Benson's budget. Just another blow to the middle class. A loss of probably $500,000 in spending power, to the residents of our Twin Towns. It may be all very well for Munro to say the poorest first and report changes will shift $470 million annually from wealthier Canadians, meaning those making over $10,000 per year. But where is the greatest amount of income tax collected? The $10,000-$15,000 area. The average wage earner in Labrador City-Wabush.

The present Federal administration's Finance Dept. seems to be following the path of United Kingdom governments' since World War II. They are dead set on destroying the middle class of Canada. And by the way things are going they will achieve this objective by 1973-74. We are to be a nation of have's and have not's.

Aurora cannot support the financial policy of the current Federal Liberal Government.

FISH WORKERS: John Penney & Sons Ltd., one of Newfoundland's largest fishing firms, has granted employees a 10% wage increase and will pay higher prices to fishermen for all species. The company says the wage increases for plant workers, who are not represented by a union, were scheduled for 1971 but were brought forward because of steadily improving market conditions in the United States. It is the third wage increase this year.

BULLSHOTS & POLAR BEARS: Toronto's happy hour set has added reason these days to keep abreast of the Dow Jones industrial average. The price of drinks at a downtown bar is being based on where the index stands at the end of each trading session. The formula works out to a drink price equal to 10% of the Dow level, to the nearest 50 points. Thus, at close of 800, the Dow dictates an 80c charge. Mr. H. Bobkin, proprietor of Lovers' Lounge on Adelaide St. W., says the idea was introduced as a caper that would appeal to his brokerage clientele. So far, it's still just a gimmick — prices have changed only once in the last four months, and business has not been seriously affected by the stunt. But Mr. Bobkin is not one to let an idea die. He is preparing to spread the word around town with 100,000 circulars.

J O B S F O R E X - S E R V I C E M E N : President Nixon last week launched a drive by the government to find jobs for more than a million Americans who will be discharged from the armed services during the next year. 1971 is the big year for retirements (20 years Korean War 1951), 30 years World War Two 1941). Nixon said a major effort is to be made to mobilize business and labor unions to provide work for the returning servicemen.

DOMINION STORES: Dominion Stores Ltd. of Toronto expects its discount price policy to produce strong sales increases that will more than make up for narrowed margins. T.G. McCormack, president, says in an interim report. As previously reported, sales in the six months ended 19 Sept. rose to $337.1 million from $310.0 million a year earlier, but profit declined to $3.7 million or 46 cents a share from $4.0 million or 49 cents a share in the 1969 first half. Mr. McCormack says the recent $20-million 9.74% debenture issue will be used to replace bank financing for Dominion's recent capital expansion program.

ATHEIST SCOUT: This story comes from Providence, Rhode Island, U.S.A. A 16-year-old boy has been denied rank as an Eagle scout, scouting's highest honor, on the ground he is an atheist. Robert Parkinson, chief executive for Narragansett Council, Boy Scouts of America, said last month, James Clarke was rejected "because he didn't believe in God."

HOUSING IN CORNER BROOK: Corner Brook Developments Ltd. will receive $1,512,000, for construction of a 112-unit low-rental housing project in Corner Brook, Nfld., Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. announced recently. Rents in the two three-storey apartment buildings will range between $150 and $177 a month.

Letters to the editor

The Editor,
Aurora,
Dear Sir:

We deserve better T.V. Well once again winter is here and wouldn't it be nice if we could sit by our T.V.'s to view some fine movies on our long cold nights. I'm sure we all would. But I notice we aren't hearing any complaints lately, and I know we have lots of them; so lets get our letter to the Aurora.

I can't see why they have to put so many French shows on when every French-Canadian understands English as well as we do.

We could have some feature length movies, say one a night, starting at 8:00 p.m. We have a few good shows like, Storefront Lawyers, The Bold Ones, The Interns, which don't start till 10:30 p.m. Why not have these at 8:00 or 8:30 p.m. so we can all see them: When those silly Canadian shows come on, I bet there is more than one T.V. turned off. Our Friday night late show is always too short. Most of the time you can't find out what's on. What we want now is to have a 50 percent cut in junk and some good shows put on. After all don't we deserve it; we sure do; with our millions going to Joey each year and he don't even know we are here.

Well let's everyone write our complaints and I'm sure Aurora would proudly print them for us. Let them know we are not satisfied. (Lehart 1870) 9:30 tonight. See it! I bet not one who did enjoyed it; not at our age.

Disgusted T.V. Viewer.

Dear Sir:

I refer to your editorial of Thursday, November 26, and your comments on the operation of snowmobiles.

For your information a municipality can only pass by-laws to control and regulate if authority is given by the Provincial Government. In the case of snowmobiles we do not have the authority to pass any by-law regulating the use of them.

Representatives of Labrador City made a visit to St. John's last December to discuss the snowmobile problem with the Department of Municipal Affairs. We met with the Minister and requested that the Provincial Government either pass regulations to control snowmobiles, or give authority to municipalities so that they could make regulations. We were assured by the Provincial authorities that amendment to the Local Government Act would be made to give authority to municipalities to control snowmobiles.

Nearly a year has gone by, and nothing has been done.

Yours truly,
A.J. RENDELL
Town Manager.

Dr. Barrett addresses Collegiate assembly

Excerpts from the address of Dr. C.R. Barrett, President of the Fisheries College, St. John's, delivered at Labrador City Collegiate award's night 23 Nov.

SOME CHALLENGES FOR EDUCATION IN THE SEVENTIES

This is an age of change and challenge. It is an exciting time to be alive. Change, of course, is not new; it has always been our lot. Indeed it is one of the characteristics of a dynamic society. What is different today is the unprecedented rate of change. Things are happening at such a rapid rate in the world around us that we are sometimes confused and somewhat bewildered. Men are travelling to the moon and even landing on its surface. Medical doctors are performing operations on humans that one time would be referred to as miracles. At long last we have come to realize that there is a high correlation between the development of human and natural resources and in every country there is a great thrust to develop natural and human resources. Indeed the highly developed industrial nations of the world are those that have a highly trained and developed manpower. It is against this background then that I would like to take advantage of this occasion to share with you some thoughts on some challenges for education in the seventies and to tell you briefly what we are doing at the College of Fisheries, Navigation, Marine Engineering and Electronics to prepare young people to meet the challenges of the seventies. Let me raise two or three questions for your consideration. First, what, in brief, will be the nature of the society of the seventies in which you young graduates will work? Secondly, what will be the challenges and implications of that society for all of us? And more specifically, what will be the challenges facing educators particularly those involved in the elementary, secondary, vocational and technical aspects of it?

The Society of the Seventies

You are just as well aware as I am of the fact that we are living in a world that is dominated by technology. We have merely to look around us to see how modern technology has entered almost every field of activity. In the business world, machines of the computer type are replacing manpower and doing work much faster and more efficiently. Indeed it has caused us to change many of our living habits and has promoted greater specialization of skills and jobs. It is quite obvious that this trend towards automation will increase during the seventies and all of us will have to make many more adjustments to accommodate the changes it will bring to our society

We also note the great thrust by underdeveloped countries to develop their resources. Indeed as the natural resources of the more developed countries of the world become more and more depleted, there will be an even greater effort to develop the natural resources of the so called underdeveloped regions of the world. I sense a growing demand on the part of leaders in these under developed regions, when power, skilled labour and other ingredients are available, to have at least part of their raw resources manufactured in their own country. If this trend continues, and I believe it will, we shall see in Canada an even greater rate of industrialization with the consequent centralization and urbanization of the population. While new jobs will be created other complex problems will arise, such as: Housing, transportation and communication, labour relations, loss of identity, pollution, and the like. Other things that will greatly affect us in the seventies are: The growing availability of plastics and synthetic fibres for manufacturing, the increased amount of leisure time and what to do with it, the rising expectations of our people will demand better education, better recreational facilities, better health services, better means of communication and transportation. Indeed the improvements in air transportation will bring all of us into what one writer calls "a global village". This will shake us out of our isolationism and narrow nationalism and change our whole outlook on life.

The seventies will indeed be exciting, but getting the most out of them will depend on how each one of us use our talents and our surroundings, including modern technology.

Challenges for Education

In an age when job opportunities are changing almost daily as new inventions and new industries are brought in to meet our apparent insatiable demands, and with the rapid expansion of knowledge and the demands for highly specialized and technical skills, educators and educational institutions are faced with many challenges. I shall mention two of those that appear to me to be very important at this stage in our educational development.

The first challenge is to provide a good basic education for all those children capable of obtaining it. Special provision, however, should be made for those who may, because of physical or mental defects, need special attention. There are many factors that have and are still causing pupils to drop out of our schools at or before the compulsory age limit. Many of these causes start early in the elementary school. With co-operation and careful planning on the part of the Department of Education, the school, the home, and the pupils, the drop out problem can be solved. Moderns technology has forced us to realize the direct connection there is between a trained or skilled manpower and available work. It is useless to talk about retraining programmes to meet the technological changes unless our work force has a good solid foundation in the communication skills and in number work. Other parts of the curriculum should not be neglected but those I have listed must be stressed and taught in a variety of ways to meet the individual needs of all our children. Tomorrow the seventies are here, we cannot use yesterday's methods and facilities and hope to properly train people for the seventies.

The second challenge is that of providing a varied programme of studies for our junior high and high school pupils. Since in the seventies there will be, in addition to the need for professionals, a big demand for skilled tradesmen, technicians and technologists, opportunities should be provided for each student to explore and discover whatever talents he or she has, and a suitable programme of studies and educational experiences should be provided to help him or her develop these talents. Some will have the talent and aptitude for the professions and will need pre-university education. Many others will have an aptitude for the trades and technologies and will need pre-vocational or pre-technical programmes of study, some will be undecided but with proper guidance and counselling, and with flexible programmes of study we can give each high school pupil the start he needs for the future. Indeed it is high time that we as teachers and parents realized the fact that most our children will not be going to university. Many should and will be taking vocational or technical programmes and will acquire saleable skills that will equip them to take their place in a developing province and nation and lead worthwhile, useful lives. You superintendents of education, principals, guidance counsellors, teachers and parents must realize that every time our pupils, our human test resources, are partially developed, a grave loss has been inflicted on our province and nation. You must realize that the relationship that exists between man, education and work in the professional world also now exists for all men and all work. This fact will be driven home to you even more forcibly in the seventies as a result of the even greater technological changes that will become more and more apparent to you. You as educators will have to work closer with the Department of Manpower officials, with Boards of Trade, and others at all levels of industry, as well as with the universities and the various vocational and technical training institutions to ensure that the kinds of educational programmes you offer are suited to meet the universities and the various vocational and technical training institutions to ensure that the kinds of educational programmes you offer are suited to meet the individual needs of pupils as well as to meet the job requirements, or the further training requirements, of the students when they enter other institutions of learning. All of us in the secondaries and post secondary education field must strive to ensure that the products of our educational systems meet the qualitative and quantitative needs of the labour market and the requirements for the fullest day to day living in the latter part of this twentieth century"

Jackie's coat lent by GAETANE MODES of Labrador City. The Carol Players wish to thank Mr. Lineger, Principal of Notre Dame Academy for his cooperation, and Mr. Swyer, Principal of Labrador City Collegiate, and Rev. J. Dickey of Christchurch, Wabush for making rehearsal space available. Many thanks also to all the people who furniture and properties for the production. PATRICIA CARROLL BROWN-DIRECTOR: Patty has been sent to us for a second workshop by the Dominion Drama Festival with the financial aid of the Canada Council, the Province of Ontario Council for the Arts, and the Quebec Ministry of Cultural Affairs. This Fall we have been working on two projects with her in addition to producing HAY FEVER. First, there have been workshops in acting and directing, and second, and possibly most important of all, we have been busy writing a play about Labrador! We intend to enter this production-an adaptation of Hammond Innes' novel THE LAND GOD GAVE TO CAIN-in the Newfoundland Drama Festival. We are very excited about this scheme, and we are sure it will be of interest to everyone in Labrador City, for it deals with the early days of the building of the Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railway, and the development of modern Labrador. Come out and join us after Christmas when Patty returns to direct our festival show. We need lots of help to keep up the standard we achieved in last year's festival.

THE BARE FACTS: Nude males splashing in the San Francisco Press Club's swimmingpool were started but undismayed as 15 Women's Liberation pickets strolled past the pool. The women from the National Organization for Women (NOW) were picketing recently, against restricted privileges for female members of the club when vice-president Dick Alexander invited them on a guided tour of the facilities -- including the men-only pool where no bathing suits are allowed. The NOW protestors didn't indicate whether they'd return for more picketing.

The lighter side

VACCINATION: Two men sat on a park bench, gazing at all the beautiful girls passing by. One remarked, thoughtfully: "It occurs to me that the only way to vaccinate a girl so it won't show these days is to have her inhale it."

CONSTRUCTION: A guy fell into a manhole and began yelping for help. A woman heard him stopped and looked down. "Did you fall into that manhole?" she asked. After a few moments of muffled sounds, the voice replied from the hole: "Of course not, lady. I was standing here and they built the street over me."

AFTER GRADUATION: Two men were discussing the fact that both their sons were away at college. "What does your boy plan to be when he graduates?" asked one. "I'm not really sure," replied the other, "but judging from his letters it appears that he aims to be a professional fund-raiser."

SUPER-SNOOPER: An old man bought one of those hearing aids that are virtually invisible. A few days after having the aid fitted and adjusted, the old fellow called to thank the specialist who supplied the gadget. "I sure do like it," he declared enthusiastically. "And I bet your family likes it, too," said the specialist. "Oh," chuckled the old man, "They still don't know I've got it, and I'm having a great time. Already, I've changed my will three times."

A SIN: Satan: "What are you laughing at?"

Associate: "I just locked a woman in a room with a thousand hats and no mirror."

SILENCE: Joe told his friend that he was feeling very miserable because he had a fight with his wife and she swore that she wouldn't speak to him for 30 days. "You're miserable?" his friend asked. "I'd be delighted." "You don't seem to understand," explained Joe. "Tomorrow's the last day!"

MICE: The Missus, at 3:00 in the morning: "Wake up, I hear a mouse squeaking."

Her spouse: "So what do you want me to do, get out of bed and oil it?"

NO LAUGHING MATTER: Mother: "What are you crying about, Bobbie?"

Son: "Daddy stepped off the ladder and put his foot in a bucket of paint."

Mother: "That nothing to cry about. It sounds funny. You should laugh."

Bobbie: "I did."

THE MINI: The miniskirt has divided girls into two groups: those with pretty legs and those who wear their skirts too short.

ANCIENT BOARD: "I have unearthed an incredibly well-preserved piece of early Roman carpentry," an archeologist wrote to a museum curator. "What are its dimensions?" the curator asked. The reply: "11 by 1V"

PLEASINGLY PLUMP: An overweight man explained it this way: "I'm really not terribly heavy— — — but if you get into an elevator with me, you'd better be going down."

FRIENDS: Magician to small boy called up on the stage to assist: "Now, my boy, you've never seen me before, have you?"

Small Boy: "No, Daddy."

Planning assignment of marks

The Honorable F.W. Rowe, Minister of Education has announced that the Department of Education is making plans to permit schools to share in the assignment of marks to students for the purpose of obtaining the provincial grade eleven certificate. This plan will allow schools to give credit for individual projects, laboratory work, oral work and other things which cannot be evaluated by a provincial examination. The General Advisory Committee has approved this plan in principle, to begin September 1971 and a Committee has been appointed under the Chairmanship of Dr. C.K. Brown, Director of Instruction to work out guidelines for its implementation, suggestions and recommendations from the field will be welcomed by the Committee. More information on the plan will be circulated early in the new year, to allow schools to develop internal evaluation procedures.

Press conference statement by NTA President Walter Cull

After talking with the minister of education and the minister of finance as late as this morning, I have to state that the negotiations with government for the 26% salary increase for teachers have been broken off.

The NTA negotiating team did not break negotiations - the Government did. Let there be no mistake about that.

We made the last proposal and it was not taken up by the government negotiating team.

Every teacher in this province is seriously concerned by this turn of events.

Here is background information on our negotiations to date:

Last year all other government-paid persons received salary increases. The teachers' request was turned down. We went along with this because we considered that the time was not ripe for a substantial increase. But teachers undoubtedly sacrificed for not having pushed more strenuously.

However, in the 1970 budget (presented by the Premier to the house), teachers were told that their request would be dealt with favourably and generously. We were delighted with this budget statement and immediately prepared to present our case to government.

We have been meeting since May with a cabinet committee and subsequently with a sub-committee of the treasury board. Since October 28th we have met for six days with the treasury board sub-committee. The last offer from the government negotiating team was as low as 3.8% and averaged out to 7.9% - this after waiting four years for a raise! This is tantamount to a decrease not an increase when one considers the cost of living factor.

Another point: This negotiating team set up by Treasury Board and our own negotiating team had agreed that there would be no publicity after October 28th and that further meetings of the two negotiating teams would be held 'in Camera'. Government rather surprisingly broke this publicity blackout (Ref. Government Bulletin - November issue). Teachers are concerned by this apparent "breaking of faith" on the Government's part.

Teachers know that the case for the 26% salary increase is a sound and reasonable one. This soundness and reasonableness has been tested in negotiations and we have been given no justification by the Government negotiating team for their teachers will not be played with. Our business is to negotiate a salary increase. We want the opportunity to do that. The government has ceased to meet us.

Certification investigations carried out

Investigations into the Compulsory Certification Regulations for the Motor Vehicle Repairer and Auto Body Repairer trades were carried out in the area on the West Coast covered by the Regulations and 6 employers and 7 employees were found to be in violation of the Regulations of Inspectors from his Department, the Honourable W.J. Keough, Minister of Labour, said recently. In all cases, violators were found guilty in the Magistrate's Court.

The Minister pointed out that the Compulsory Certification Regulations are being enforced in order to protect the motoring public from those who are unauthorized to work at the repair and maintenance of Motor Vehicles and also to upgrade the standard of workmanship in the Trade.

The Minister indicated that it was the intention of his Department to see that those who violate the Regulations will find themselves being prosecuted. He also stated that those who are employed in the trade under the Regulations should make it a point of calling to the attention of his Department known violators since the Regulations were for the protection of those working under them.

SENIOR HOCKEY: In the "A., League, Saints still lead with the Huskies in second place and the Braves in the cellar. Rumor has it that the Braves will be strengthened considerably, in the new year, with the return of several veterans.

Hope to have more information on the "B., League next week. However, we understand that at this writing the Huskies are well out in front.

In the "A., League the next game will be on Thursday, December 10, when Braves meet the Huskies. Sunday, December 13 Huskies vs Saints. Tuesday, December 15, Braves vs Saints.

In the "B., League action resumes on Friday night when the Indians meet the Juniors.

In the "B., League action resumes on Friday night when the Indians meet the Juniors. Sunday, December 13, Indians vs Huskies. Tuesday, December 15, Juniors vs Indians.

Wabush industrial league; This league, under Gordon Martin, President, swung into action recently. The four teams, with 83 players registered, will play a 65-game schedule. With the finals a best 4 of 7. Games will be played at the Labrador City Arena at 10:15 p.m. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights.

TANYA SNO-KART CLUB: With the Sno-Karts on the move again, the Tanya Sno-Kart Club would like to remind all riders of some basic facts:

1. It is NOT SAFE to travel on your own when an accident or breakdown could leave you stranded.
2. At the present time the ice on most lakes is NOT SAFE for sno-kart operation. (Last year there were several cases of sno-karts breaking through ice and riders requiring assistance.)
3. DO NOT ride your machines along or across highways — against the law as well as dangerous.
4. While you may be having fun riding your machine, remember that in our Twin Towns, there are many people working on shift and many houses with young children sleeping. PLEASE help improve the reputation of Sno-Kart-Operators by having more consideration for other people.

CURLING: The next major event will be the Turkey Bonspiel, December 11 - 13. A dance will be held on December 12 with the "Chevelles., providing music. Members come along and bring a friend. Social memberships are now available at the Club, $10. fee. Tickets on sale for the Annual New Year's Eve Dance + $20. per couple. Music will be provided by "Good Life".

FORMER SKATING CHAMPION HERE

MONDAY, DECEMBER 14

Petra Burka, the 1965 World Figure Skating Champion will be in Labrador City, Monday, December 14, according to a spokesman from the Polaris Figure Skating Club. Miss Burka, a former world champion and professional ice show star, is presently on a tour of the Newfoundland Section, her purpose being to promote and encourage young figure skaters. During her brief 24-hour visit, Miss Burka will meet with the professional, executive, and members of the skating club and will partake of various activities which the club has organized in her honor. Miss Burka will visit the Labrador City Arena Monday, December 14, where she will witness a typical skating session and talk with the skaters and other members present. In early January of this year, the Honorable John Munro, Minister of National Health and Welfare, and the Canadian Figure Skating Association announced, that they had acquired the services of Miss Petra Burka. Miss Burka was 1965 World Figure Skating Champion and had just retired from a starring role in the professional show "Holiday on Ice., which toured Europe. Miss Burka's involvement with the Dierctorate and the CFSA came as a result of one of the recommendations of the Task Force Report on Sports, tabled in the House in May, 1969. The Minister said: "They recommended that we involve athletes who had given Canada recognition in World and Olympic events in organizational and promotional work once they 'retired'. The Minister added that although her contract is with the CFSA, she was made available to assist in the promotion of the first Arctic Games (Yellowknife, March, 1970) and will be in attendance at the second Canadian Winter Games (Saskatoon, February 11-22, 1971). Her main job with the CFSA will be to promote figure skating as well as organizing skating clubs in the various regions of Canada. Petra has been through the club level and has been made acquainted with the problems that face the Association. Her knowledge and experience will aid greatly in making figure skating an even bigger sport in Canada. Miss Burka, who is 24, moved to Toronto from her native Holland in 1951. She was coached during her entire career by her mother, Ellen, former Dutch Champion. Miss Burka was Canadian Champion in 1964, 1965, 1966; North American Champion in 1965; Bronze medallist 1964 Olympics in Innsbruck; 1965 World's Champion, Colorado Springs. In 1965 she attained this country highest sports honor by being named Athlete of the Year and received the Lou Marsh Trophy. After retiring in 1966, she joined the European ice show "Holiday on Ice" as the star attraction before returning to Canada this year. Miss Burka took up residence in Ottawa on February 1.

BROOMBALL: Monday night's schedule will pit Aces and Bears, Lambs playing Raiders, Hawks against Apollos, and K. of C. taking on Rangers. Would appreciate receiving the current league statistics from the league secretary.

SKI NEWS: With another day like last Wednesday, there should be no limit to the skiing. The tows are now running on the weekends and all programs are getting underway.

The Ski Club has arranged bus service to the mountain on Saturdays and Sundays. The first bus on Saturday will leave Wabush school at 9:00 a.m. and will stop at the Wabush Shopping Plaza (9:15 a.m.) and the Labrador City Shopping Centre (9:30 a.m.) before heading up the hill. A second bus will leave the Labrador City Shopping Centre at 9:15 a.m. Buses will leave the ski lodge at 4:00 and 4:30 p.m. Each of these buses will stop both in Labrador City and Wabush on their return route. On Sunday, the first bus will leave the Wabush school at 10:00 a.m., Wabush Shopping Plaza at 10:15 a.m. and Labrador City Shopping Centre at 9:30 a.m. The Krystals will play for the dance on Friday, December 11. Please note that the facilities of the Smokey Mountain Ski Club are for the use of members only.

For all us less-than-super skiers, there is a move underfoot to organize a Granny Greene Racing League for adult fun and games racing. More about that later.

Ski lesson tickets are now on sale at the Ski Lodge — and Nancy Greene registration is still being held on Saturday mornings. A great season is just beginning.

ARENA SKATE SHARPENING

CANADA'S SHARE OF WORLD EXPORTS RISES RAPIDLY: Canadian merchants have captured an increased share of total world trade in the past five years, international statistics show. Canadian exporters are selling $6.30 of every $100.00 worth of exports by all countries outside the Communist bloc this year. Five years ago, the Canadian figure was about $5.00 of every $100.00

Figures published in last month's bulletin of the International Monetary Fund estimate the value of Canadian exports this year at about $17.7 billion (U.S.) out of total non-Communist exports of $279.0 billion. Five years ago, Canada's export total was $8.5 billion out of $165.4 billion for the non-Communist world. The value of Canadian exports thus has more than doubled in five years while the world total advanced by slightly more than two-thirds.

In the same period, the U.S. share of world exports dropped slightly to about 16.7% from 16.9% while Canada's grew to 6.3% from 5.0%. The value of imports into Canada has grown to an estimated $15.8 billion this year from $8.7 billion five years ago, while total imports into non-Communist countries grew at a slower pace to $293.0 billion from $175.2 billion. Canada thus is buying $5.40 of every $100.00 worth of imports in the non-Communist world, compared with about $4.90 of every $100.00 worth five years ago.

With the value of Canada's exports expanding by 108% while its imports grew by 81%, the country's balance in merchandise trade has turned into an estimated annual surplus of $1.8 billion now from a deficit of about $220 million five years ago. In the same stretch, the U.S. surplus on merchandise trade has narrowed to about $2.4 billion from $4.3 billion in 1965.

T.V. & READING: Apparently disproving the theory that television makes people read less, the UN Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization has reported that the world is facing a boom in both TV sets and book publishings. UNESCO's latest statistical yearbook says latest available figures show that 487,000 book titles were published in 1968, an increase of 70% in 13 years, and in the same year 22,000,000 more TV sets brought the world total to 236,000,000, nearly eight times as many as in 1953.

However, depending on where one lives, the book and television boom may have cut down on his attendance of the movies, UNESCO said. The average Englishman went to movies only four times a year in 1968 as against five times the year before. The US, with 9,800 movie theatres and 3,600 drive-ins to choose from, went to see a show only seven times that year. On the other hand a Bulgarian went to see the movies 14 times, a Russian 20 times and the record is held by the Nationalist Chinese on Twiwan, an average of 66 times a year. In the production of books, Europe, with only 13% of the world's population, published more than 44% of the titles. Africa publishing only 1.6% of the total book output, and Asia, with 55.9% of the world's population, only 20.5%. North America produced 14.4% of the book titles published in 1968, below 1967, and the Soviet Union 15.6%.

Daily newspaper reading is similarly concentrated. The Swedes read the most and even though the number of papers is dropping, circulation is up at 518 copies per thousand of population. The Japanese have 492 copies per thousand, the British (who were world champions in 1954 with 573 copies per thousand) have 463, East Germany 445, while West Germany only 328, Norway, Netherlands, New Zealand and the Soviet Union just over 300.

SORT OF VICTORIAN? Count on the 1971 census provoking the usual squawks about invasion of privacy. In addition, don't be surprised if the more militant women's organization sound forth in umbrage or even outrage. Two out of three households will receive the short form of questionnaire containing only nine questions. The remaining third will receive the long form containing many more questions, both personal and about the housing unit. The longer form will contain new questions, particularly about educational status, which should help to give a more accurate picture of the population. For instance, the census will now provide the answer to such questions as "how many years of schooling have you since secondary school?"

Some economic innocents may wonder why they are now to be asked "where do you usually work?" However, as the census planners point out, data on the relationship between where people work and where they live are of great importance to urban and regional planners and transportation agencies. They add a new dimension to analyses of labor markets.

Four questions are specifically addressed to heads of households, even in the short form. This is where the rumble could start. The census clings to the old idea that husbands and fathers, rather than wives and mothers, are automatically assumed to be head of the household where both are alive. And by law, it's the head of the household who has to answer the special questions.

Jean-Luc Pepin, minister responsible for the Dominion Bureau of Statistics which conducts the census, has been at great pains to insist that the utmost privacy and anonymity will be maintained. But people will still ask why the census is interested not only in the ethnic group of a person's immigrating ancestor but why the ancestor is singled out on the male side, but not on the female. One answer is that the information is related to previous census questions. DBS is caught in a rut which even Women's Lib. may have difficulty in driving it out.

scene

We have been informed by the Town Manager, Labrador City, that the Board of Trustees has decided to attempt the onerous task of seeking to obtain the services of a third Doctor for Labrador City. It seems there is little possibility of acquiring a medical practitioner through Provincial Government sources. A vigorous advertising campaign will commence shortly. Reports on any progress made will be carried by Aurora.

Due to soil conditions the Carol Inn will be constructed as a hotel rather than a motel. The land near the creek will be used exclusively for parking. Construction of the 4 storey building, (at the corner of Avalon & Drake, Labrador City) is expected to begin in May.

While inquiring as to the progress of the timber operation being carried out by Canadian Javelin in the Goose Bay area, we came up with some interesting information. This was not given Aurora by the Hon. Capt. Earl Winsor, your Minister of Labrador Affairs, whom we were referred to in his position as a director of Canadian Javelin, but by local residents. The promise of 3,000 jobs last summer amounted to 300, at peak. The great housing program planned for 1969-70 has only just begun to materialize, with construction of 6 homes. Instead of a minimum of 100,000 cords of woods shipped, the latest figure, with the season just about completed was 20,000. Power distribution has gone from bad to worse. The new Happy Valley Vocational School has not as yet been assembled (on the drawing board). And unfortunately it looks like another year of this type of planning for Newfoundland and Labrador.

H.J. O'Connell Ltd. of Montreal, have been awarded the contract to construct 16 miles of highway from the Quebec-Labrador border to the new Quebec Cartier mill complex at Mount Wright. However, we understand there is some disagreement between O'Connell and Lundrigan,s (who have the contract covering the 12 miles from the local rail-head to the border) over the use of a tote road. The net result may be that O'Connell Ltd. will build their own tote road to the border.

Aurora has received several complaints from Wabush and Labrador City residents regarding what they consider very dangerous driving of snowmobiles by very young people, in both school areas. While the local Councils have little power to regulate these activities, it is understood that charges may be placed under the Canadian Criminal Code for dangerous or careless driving.

EVERYBODY'S STORE
LABRADOR CITY

Residents of the new North West sections of Labrador City are still hoping for telephones by Christmas. It seems that materials, which must be ordered months in advance, were delayed by a strike. Householders in the area, some of whom have been residing on Churchill for a period of 3 months, are really irritated over the lack of this vital service.

At press time, the R.C.M.P. were still investigating the break and entry on early Thursday morning past, at City Drugs Ltd. in the Labrador City Shopping centre. We understand a safe carrying a considerable amount of cash was stolen. This is the fourth such break-in we have heard of in recent weeks. Business establishments are advised not to leave large sums of money on their premises overnight.

According to informed sources reports on the imminent closing of the local T.V. outlet are not correct. Evidently the operator has agreed to maintain the present service until 1972, after which it will revert to Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. We heard that a recent meeting to discuss T.V. programming brought out 5 people. It could be it was not properly advertised or the viewing audience was not interested.

We continue with some more Investment Terms and Definitions:

Q. It has been said that the common shareholder is part owner of a company and has a voice in its management. How does he do it?

A. Obviously, it would be impractical for all shareholders to engage actively in managerial duties, so they elect a Board of Directors to manage the company for them.

The directors are responsible to and occupy their position at the pleasure of the shareholders. If the directors are unsatisfactory and the company does not prosper, the shareholders have the power to replace them with more capable persons.

The shareholders exercise their control of a company through the device of voting powers granted to them as a right to which they are entitled when they subscribe for the common stock. Each year a shareholders' meeting is held at which the directors give an account of their stewardship and a report on the company's. If the shareholders are satisfied, they vote to retain the directors. Otherwise, they can vote them out of office. As in any democratic voting situation, the decision of the majority is binding. At any time the shareholders, if a sufficient number agree to do so, can get together and hold a shareholders' meeting to discuss the company's affairs and take whatever action is necessary.

The voting rights and procedure for calling and holding meetings are jealously protected by company law. The jurisdiction under which a company is chartered to engage in business is very specific in this matter. In practice, many shareholders do not place much importance in their voting privileges and are quite indifferent to their responsibilities as part owners of a company. As a result, this has led to many abuses by minority interests. In the last analysis, however, the shareholders have the authority and power to control their company and many cases can be cited where shareholders energetically protected their interests at annual meetings and replaced the Board of Directors with new men when things were not going too well.

Q. Do all common shares carry voting rights?

A. No, there are exceptions. Sometimes the capital stock of a company may be divided into two classes designated as Class A and Class B, or Class A common and simply common stock. In such cases, the Class B Stock, or the common stock, is usually the voting stock. The Class A stock, in lieu of voting rights may be granted some other privilege, such as a fixed preferential dividend, or a participating feature, or both. Many so-called Class A stocks are really like a preferred stock because of such special privileges granted in lieu of voting rights.
