AURORA, LABRADOR, JANUARY 13, 1971

PRICE 10 CENTS

The first baby of 1971, in our Twin Towns, was born to Mrs. E. MacDonald of Wabush at 1.20 a.m. on January 1 just eighty minutes into the new year. The girl weighed 6 lbs. 3 oz. and was the parents first child. Mrs. MacDonald and her daughter were presented with several gifts and certificates donated by the Chamber of Commerce and various business concerns in the area. As can be seen in the picture, taken the following day, mother and daughter are doing well.

On the local scene

An announcement last week stated the Provincial Government would be proclaiming regulations covering the operation of "motorized toboggans" (I presume snowmobiles) before the end of January 1971. On this subject we read recently, the following, in a Montreal paper.

"No legislation, of course, will do much to control those who insist on skylarking across the countryside after dark. Twenty-eight died that way nationally last winter — 11 of them by drowning in Quebec; five against wire fences invisible in the dark. And no law can save little children who are allowed to take off alone with machines they cannot be expected to control.

"But where operators will not regulate themselves, the legislature should do its best to produce an enforceable code." We heard a complaint last week that machines operating in the area of L.C. Collegiate were disrupting adult night classes.

According to a member of the Labrador West P.C. Party executive, plans are about complete to welcome the Hon. Robert L. Stanfield, leader of the Federal Party to our area February 26-27.

The tentative schedule calls for the arrival of Mr. Stanfield at Wabush Airport, afternoon of the 26th. A lobster dinner followed by dancing at the O'Brien Hall that night. Saturday morning a visit to Churchill Falls and back to Ottawa afternoon.

It is understood a large number of party officials, Federal and Provincial, will be accompanying the P.C. Leader to Western Labrador.

We understand a recent release from the Minister of Mines, Agriculture and Resources, W.R. Callahan to the effect that the Government had backed a $200,000 loan for the Carol-Wabush Co-op was premature.

A Co-op spokesman told Aurora that at the request of their bank permission was sought and obtained to make a small change in the Provincial Co-Operative Act which would allow the local society to borrow in excess of 50% of the total capital required for the operation.

Construction work is progressing satisfactorily with the opening slated for February.

The remains of the late, great Italian composer G. Verdi, must have been rattling in his grave recently when the "star" announcer of our "local" radio station C.F.G.B. Happy Valley referred, on a number of occasions, to his famous opera Aida as Ida. Probably his C.B.C. training in opera was not as extensive as some of the Toronto announcers but really Mr. Brown, Ida; and for two days yet.

Station Manager T. Grace must have been too busy counting his advertising revenue to correct his "star."

THE KRYSTALS: Up to press time the new Krystal's L.P. had not arrived here, although members of the band advised Aurora it had been shipped from Montreal several weeks ago. So copies should be available right now to residents of Twin-Towns from any member of the group. According to the boys they had a wonderful experience in Montreal and learned that making a record is a pretty complicated business. They arrived at the R.C.A. recording studio 9:30 a.m. on Friday and departed the same studio at 5:30 the following morning.

Twenty hours was a tiring day and following this marathon they slept for more than 12 hours.

The return trip to Wabush took 48 hours via Scheferville and Sept Iles. A copy of the tape was forwarded to C.B.C.

Happy Valley and several excerpts have been played recently. The Krystals, who did all their own recording and packaging, found their first experience in the big time very informative. Should the present record prove successful the boys would like to do another session as soon as possible.

Editorially Speaking

SO IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE: Early in 1969, while attending a social gathering, this writer had a fairly long conversation with a local mining executive. The main discussion centered on my stand regarding a road connection to the North American highway network. This gentleman surprised me with several of his statements. The remark that a road hookup to "the outside" would only bring criminals, gamblers, prostitutes, pushers, thugs, etc. to the area and tarnish our young was, to say the least, hard to take. His main theme: our isolation protected us from the big bad "other" world of nasty people.

"School teacher, resident of large apartment building, beaten by unknown assailant."

"Teen-ager hospitalized. In serious condition, following bad L.S.D. 'trip'."

"Several cabins destroyed by fire. Local vandals held responsible."

"Rash of robberies continues; three convictions reported."

"Several women report to police, a number of obscene phone calls."

"Drug raid on house, in quite residential area, by full detachment of R.C.M.P."

"Woman in state of shock, following break attempt by shoeless intruder."

"Churches ransacked over Christmas season, some damage and loss of funds reported."

"Janitor jolted by suspected robber."

"Wife shot 'accidentally' by husband, during argument over teen-aged son."

No these incidents didn't happen in the Montreal area, or Ontario, or even old St. John's but in LABRADOR CITY-WABUSH, ALL WITHIN THE PAST FIVE MONTHS, as a matter of fact the majority of the above happened within the last five weeks.

So it couldn't happen here! Well it has happened here.

What do we do? Now let's not hold meetings to form vigilancy committees but let's not bury ourselves in the snow and say these things will go away.

The one point I would like to see, most of all, is more interest by a larger number of families in their communities. An incident where a local resident, is bowled over by a snowmobile on his way home from afternoon shift work (at approx. 12.30 a.m.) The driver, a 12-year-old operator, should not be allowed to happen.

There have been too many people thinking, 'why report it to the police, it will only get me in trouble.' The 'I'm all right Jack,' philosophy is widespread here.

We certainly have enough clubs and organization in our communities, however, they all seem to be working on separate paths. Aurora feels a step in the right direction would be a joint meeting attended by one or two members of each group, where common goals might be discussed, tentatively formulated and then presented to the general public for their opinions.

How about it Civic leaders! Don't you think the time has come for action?

Mind Teasers

If the square of twice a certain number is 2,738 more than twice the square of that same number, what is that certain number?

ANSWER

37. The square of twice a number is 4 times the square of that number. Therefore, 2,738 is twice the square of a number. Divide 2,738 by 2, and extract square root of result.

If one side of a square garden plot were increased by 4 feet and the other side decreased by 4 feet, the resultant rectangular garden plot's area would be 273 square feet. What does one side of the original square garden plot measure?

ANSWER

17 feet. Add the product of 4 and 4 to 273 and extract square root of result.

Here 'n' There

JESUIT FINED: A recent story from Maastricht, Holland reports Rev. E. Krekelberg, a Jesuit priest was fined about $20.00 for throwing a stone through the window of a "sex boutique" in this Dutch town last summer. He told a local court he acted on an impulse and wanted the government to confiscate the articles on sale.

MACHINES DISPENSE GROOMING PRODUCTS: Miss Stewardess Ltd. of Toronto has developed a line of personal products for sale through vending machines. Four of the machines, which are imported from the United States, now are operating at Canadian airports; two at Toronto International Airport and one each at Ottawa and Calgary airports.

Donald Ross of Toronto, founder and president of the firm, claims the machines are the first of their type in Canada and are equipped to take paper money as well as coins; his products cost $1.25 and $1.50 each. The Miss Stewardess product line ranges from women's perfume to a first-aid spray and includes such disparate items as mens after-shave lotion and a spot remover. There is also a foot spray.

After he has installed his machines in major airports, he hopes to have them in shopping plazas "and everywhere there is a movement of people." For the type of personal product most likely to meet with marketing success through a vending machine, Mr. Ross sought advice from airline stewardess, who he describes as being "among the most travelled people in the world."

The machines, which cost about $1,600.00 each, can be equipped to give out perfume at the touch of a button and they may also be adapted to transmit an audio-visual presentation of a product's production process and how it should be used.

FIVE NEW TRADES SCHOOLS FOR NEWFOUNDLAND: The provincial government has announced plans for the construction of five additional trade schools, with work scheduled to start in the spring.

The schools will be built in the St. Anthony, Baie Verte, Springdale, Bonavista and Placentia areas.

PAY PHONE SERVICE GETS WORSE IN NEW YORK CITY: Despite an order from the New York State Public Service Commission telling the New York Telephone Co. to improve pay-telephone service in the NYC metropolitan area, the number of out-of-order pay phones is on the increase. According to the commission, 13 per cent of outdoor pay phones and nearly 6 per cent of the indoor pay phones in that area were recently found to have been out of order. In its order early last year, the commission instructed the telephone company to provide substantially improved coin-telephone service in the New York City area and to explore the idea of installing manned pay-telephone centers in various locations, including low-income areas. New York Telephone was also instructed to expand its maintenance and repair staff so that service at a damaged pay phone could be restored within four hours.

A report by a commission examiner said vandalism most frequently puts public phones out of order. It further noted that coin-telephone service is a vital public service in that often it is the only telephone service to the traveller, the commuter, the salesman, and the person who cannot afford a telephone in his home. "In emergencies, the coin telephone frequently serves as the instrument through which a call for help is heard at the police station, the fire department, or the ambulance service. The reliable functioning and the ready availability of coin telephones in certain of the communities are matters of life and death."

NOT BAD AT ALL: From London, Eng. the agency group handling Tom Jones and Engelbert Humperdinck has reported a profit of $6.4 million for the year ending last July and said dividends for the year had reached 110 per cent.

YOUR FATHERS MOUSTACHE: Andre Perrein, who runs a bar-caffe in Nimes, France, doesn't care for Women's Liberation. His wife Françoise, who runs the adjacent beauty parlor, does. After a recent argument on the subject Perrein put a sign on the bar door, "Nobody allowed inside without a moustache." Next door, Mme. Perrein began selling false moustaches for women.

OWL DEFEATS DC-8: Earlier this month an Air Canada DC-8 jet bound for Barbados, from Toronto, had to return to the International Airport shortly after taking off because an Arctic owl flew into the intake of one of its engines.

An Air Canada spokesman said the 182 passengers waited three hours for another flight.

HE WASN'T FOOLING: Shirley Melling, 18, of Wigan, England, had been married only three months when her 31-year-old groom walked into the bedroom one night with a cup in his hand. "You can't have any, it's cyanide," he said. Shirley thought he was fooling. He wasn't. Verdict: suicide.

D-DAY NEAR: If you're doing business or planning a trip to Britain soon, mark 15 Feb. 1971 as "D-Day" - the day the country switches over to decimal currency. The most urgent aspect of the changeover concerns banking practices: from D-Day (decimal day) on, all banking documents drawn up in Britain (including cheques) must be written in decimal currency. All banks and government departments in Britain are to make the switch on D-Day; other business are allowed to pick their own dates any time within the changeover period, tentatively set at 18 months. In case you've forgotten the basic rules, the Pound Sterling is unchanged under the new system but, instead of the traditional pounds, shillings, and pence division, the pound will be divided into 100 new pence. There are six new denomination for coins, three of which (50 pence, 10 pence and 5 pence) are already in circulation. The other (2 pence, 1 pence and ½ pence) will be issued on Decimal Day.

CURLER CULPRIT: A Brussels coed Brigitte Heine first complained to school authorities because somebody had stolen a comb and hairbrush from her locker. The next week she reported her hair curlers missing too.

The culprit turned out to be a long-haired boy. He has been put on probation at Miss Heine's request. "One false move, and we reveal his name," she said.

The lighter side

HOW'S BUSINESS? Three call girls were under arrest. As usual they were pleading innocence. The judge knew better. He finally got down to business and began interrogating.

"What's your occupation?" he queried the first girl, who kept rolling her eyes and assuming cheesecake poses.

"I'm a dressmaker," he cooed.

"Thirty days," said his honor. The second girl on the stand tried shedding tears. "Your honor," she pleaded, "I'm an excellent dressmaker with a large family to support, a crippled father and a young baby....."

"Thirty days," snapped his honor. The third girl almost floored him when she was asked as to her business.

"I'm a call girl," she answered. The judge looked relieved. "How's business?" he asked.

"Positively lousy," she replied, "what with so many dressmakers around."

SERVICE: Sign on a gas station: "Buzz twice for night service. Then kept your shirt on while I get my pants on."

THE KNITTERS: Two old maids were in an insane asylum for years, always knitting and knitting. "Gee," sighed Mayme one day, "I wish some tall, handsome man would wind his arms around me and squeeze me until I gasp." "Now you're talking sense," said Hattie. "You'll be out of here in a few days."

EXTRA WEIGHT: A youth brought a girl to a doctor's office for a thorough examination.

"Yes," said the physician as he checked her over. "She's a little bloated, but that doesn't worry me any."

"Yeah," cracked the young man. "If you were the one who was out with her last month, it wouldn't worry me either."

TWO FACED: No trait is more useful in life than the ability to laugh at oneself, just as Abraham Lincoln was able to make fun of his homeliness. Once during a debate, Douglas accused him of being two-faced. Replied Lincoln calm, "I leave it to my audience—if I had two faces, would I be wearing this one?"

TRAFFIC SIGN: The dean of the girls' school was troubled because the girls insisted on crossing the street in front of the school without going to the corner. Warnings, penalties, and lectures did no good. Then the dean had a sign painted and set it up in the middle of the block. From that time on, the girls always walked to the corner to cross the street.

What did the sign say? Cattle crossing!"

FATHER IMAGE: A Canadian Army company had gathered to listen to their new commanding officer. "I want you to respect me as your leader," he said, "but if you've got any problems, feel free to talk with me as if I were your father."

A voice boomed from the rear: "Hey, pop, can I use the jeep tonight?"

NO VIRGINS: They had a big volcanic eruption on the South Sea Island, and the medicine man went running to the chief, demanding that he appoint a virgin to be sacrificed to stop the eruption. The chief said, "I've used up all the virgins myself, so I guess we'll just have to get used to the noise."

THE VISITOR: Mother to neighbour: "I think my son is home from college."

"What makes you think so?" asked the neighbour.

"Well, I haven't had a letter from him in three weeks, and the car is gone."

THE HEREAFTER: Slowly the car came to a halt off the highway and Gerry turned off the lights.

"Out of gas, I suppose," Myrna challenged.

"No," he assured her. "There's plenty of gas."

"Well, what are we parked here for?"

"I thought we'd talk about the hereafter," Gerry said.

"At least that's a new one," Myrna admitted. "Most of them just run out of gas or get ignition trouble or something. But the hereafter seems like a serious subject. Why the hereafter?"

Gerry was silent for a moment, then he said. "It's serious, all right, because if you're not here after what I'm here after, you'll be here after I'm gone!"

THE QUICKIES: Some people carve careers...others chisel.

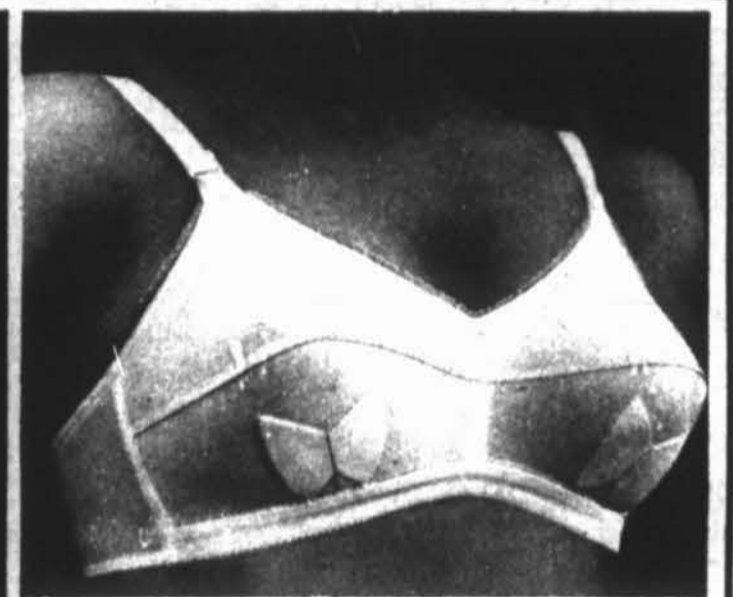

A woman said to her husband, "Be an angel and let me drive." He did and he is.

The trouble with being best man at a wedding is that you don't have a chance to prove it.

Wife complaining to marriage counsellor: "It all started with him wanting to be in the wedding photographs."

Mining News

NO SWEAT: The rising cost of labor and materials is the usual reason for steel price increases, but higher iron ore prices actually benefit steel companies which have their own mines. Effective 1 January 1971, Hanna Mining Co. of Cleveland announced what amounts to a 3.5 per cent increase for ore, and most Canadian mills probably will follow. Under the current tax system, Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. and other mills may be able to claim increased depletion allowances for tax purposes once the ore in their mines becomes more valuable. Until Ottawa changes the depletion rules in 1975, Stelco's Griffith and WABUSH MINES can claim one-third of their profits as depletion. Stelco officials pointed out that Hanna's price increase was small but helpful. It could lift profits and ease borrowing needs.

HUGE IRON EXPANSION PLANNED BY AUSTRALIA: Australia hopes to be exporting 200 million tons of iron ore a year by 1985, according to C. W. Court, the Western Australian Minister for Industrial Development. Mr. Court said recently it is Australia's ambition to be one of a number of major iron ore, oxide pellet, iron and crude steel warehouses for the world. He pointed out that until the mid-Nineteen Sixties

Australia had exported virtually no iron ore at all. Now it was pouring 40 million tons a year into world trade and looked forward to multiplying this figure by five in the next 15 years. He saw no valid reason why the major iron ore producing countries, which did not at present have a large scale crude steel producing and export industry, could not supply at least 10 per cent of the world's total crude steel requirements in one form or another by the middle of the Nineteen-Eighties. But to make this possible, countries with iron ore resources must understand there was no room for the luxury of so-called nationalism, which tried to block the vigorous development of a resource simply for the satisfaction of protest or for pseudo-national pride. If the country lost the capacity to fully develop its resources then it should welcome help from outsiders and reward them not only with the chance to make profits but with a genuine desire to make them feel at home and secure in the community.

This has been the policy in Western Australia. The vast Pilbara iron fields had come under the guideline of a policy of total development. "This policy is based on negotiating zones of influence around the major developers, to give them right of access to further deposits under conditions which are to be negotiated and which are appropriate at the time. By this means, we expect to prolong the life of the iron fields and of the towns established for their development. We are planning for 200 years and not only for today," said Mr. Court.

"We also plan to develop regional grids of power, co-ordinate water supplies, and (where possible) integrate transport so that these essential services can be developed on a sound basis to permit the region to grow to its maximum potential. We anticipate power demands so big that atomic power will be needed before 1980 to supplement power generated from oil and possibly natural gas.

Company railroads will continue to be laid along routes approved with the ultimate aim of an integrated system. Ports will continue to be sited with a similar aim, so that alternative costal access may be available in the event of need from any source," he said.

"The total development concept envisages a progressive development, in phases, of a high level of processing on the iron fields themselves. Costs at this stage may make it necessary for initial crude steel production to take place nearer the main centres of population, but the possibility of making steel in the iron fields will remain an integral part of the total development concept."

Already nearly $1-billion had been invested in the iron fields, a substantial part of it creating community facilities normally provided by government.

"As Australia's mineral exports grow, her economic strength will rise rapidly by the mid-Seventies, she will have not only the capacity to handle still bigger demands for internal investment, but also to make investments abroad on a larger scale. In brief, the discovery, development, marketing and processing of minerals will diversify and transform the economic future of Australia, and give us the capacity to carry greater responsibility, while increasing the living standards of our people," Mr. Court declared.

Scanning the Market

By C. S. Devine

Our first annual report of the Labrador First Investment Fund shows a profit over the 12 months of $4,300.00 (this after brokerage charges of $724.45). While we do not wish to "pat ourselves on the back" it was a pretty impressive showing, up 43%, especially when we look at the Dow up 5% and Toronto down approximately 2%.

There is an old Adage with the market that it only takes one big one to make it. The "big kill" can wipe out numerous small-medium losses. And in our case that is precisely what happened in 1970. We made it big with Ranger Oils, buying in at $4.50 with sales and present holdings averaging out at about $12.00 per share. We have watched this stock since early 1968, seeing it rise from $3.75 to $22.50 and then last spring drop back to $4.00. Our main purchase of the year was 10,000 Ranger at $4.50 which not only provided our profit margin but wiped out our losses of last winter. Lets hope we can make just one such move in 1971.

During the final month of 1970 we sold another 200 Ranger at $13.50 and purchased 4000 shares of Amalgamated Properties, Calgary at .63 cents. The main reason for purchasing Amal. Prop. was its excellent dividend return of 6 cents a share (almost 10%) plus the fact it was just about at its two year low, having sold up to $1.50 and as low as .58 cents since January 1969.

Here was our position at year end:

BONDS:

Q. Are there many different types of bonds?

A. Yes, there are. The term bond is used loosely to describe any security which is issued as an evidence of debt. Generally speaking, though, bonds may be classified by two methods:

1. One way is to group bonds by means of the method used to secure the bond. Here we have such bond types as: (a) Mortgage Bonds, (b) Collateral Trust Bonds and (c) Debentures and Notes. Additional types of bonds are found which are really combination of these, such as First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Bonds.

2. Bonds may be further divided into types by the rights and privileges which are attached to them, such as those of redemption, conversion, participation and sinking fund. Thus, we have (a) Income Bonds, (b) Convertible Debentures, (c) Sinking Fund Bonds, (d) Redeemable Notes, (e) Serial Debentures, and so on.

The Bible Today

David Kruecheberg is a young American with a most unconventional ministry. Fascinated with horses since his childhood, this 27-year-old Chicagoan came to realize that there is a human side to horse-racing - in the stables and related services there is approximately one man to every horse, which means, in the USA, some 8,000,000 people. As a group in society they tend to be isolated and often forgotten.

David Kruecheberg's mission is to reach these men for Christ, and the basic tool of his work is the Bible Society's Today's English Version New Testament. 'I wouldn't place any other translation', he says 'this has meant so much to me. I never used to read the New Testament until I got "Good News". Since then I have read it all the time. It's the greatest. The guys think so, too, and really read it. I think it is especially beautiful when they come and ask me for a copy, which they do.' Certain New Testament passages are favourites with the race-track people and David has found many ways of getting through to them with the Word of God.

His childhood ambition was to be a veterinary surgeon, but during his final year at High School he was led to Christ through the ministry of Dr. Billy Graham, watching his television programme, and decided right then and there that the ministry was his vocation. Trained in the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church, he graduated in 1969 and then committed himself to his race-track ministry.

The Cadet scene by P. O. 2 JOHN HART

On Dec. 17, the Sea Cadets held their second annual father and son banquet at the Royal Canadian Legion in Wabush.

Attending this banquet were: Speal Guests, fathers and Cadets. The special guests: were Mr. D. W. Rough, Chairman Sea Cadet Sponsoring Committee; Cpl. E. Rouleau, R.C.M.P.; Mr. M. Rowe, Magistrate; Mr. O. Larson, President Branch 57 Royal Canadian Legion; Dr. J. J. Hearn, vice-chairman Roman Catholic School Board; Rev. W. Bellamy, District Commissioner, Boy Scouts; Mr. Wm. G. Taylor, chairman Labrador West Integrated School Board; Mr. R. Hollett, Boy Scout Bandmaster; Rev. J. Dickey and Fr. J. Blouin, O.M.I., represented the churches in the area; Mr. Nelson Sherren, President of the Labrador West Chamber of Commerce represented Wabush Mines and was the Guest Speaker for the occasion.

The night started with the Petty Officers of the Corps accompanied their fathers to their places at the tables.

After this the order was given to "March on Colors". The color party fell into their positions and were to either side of the main table where colors were placed.

Then Rev. Dickey said grace after which the food was served.

After everyone had finished their dinner Sub. Lt. M. Timmins proposed a toast to the queen.

Following this the executive Officer Sub. Lt. B. Butler introduced our commanding office Capt. D. MacIntyre. Capt. MacIntyre then proceeded to present to the fathers his annual report.

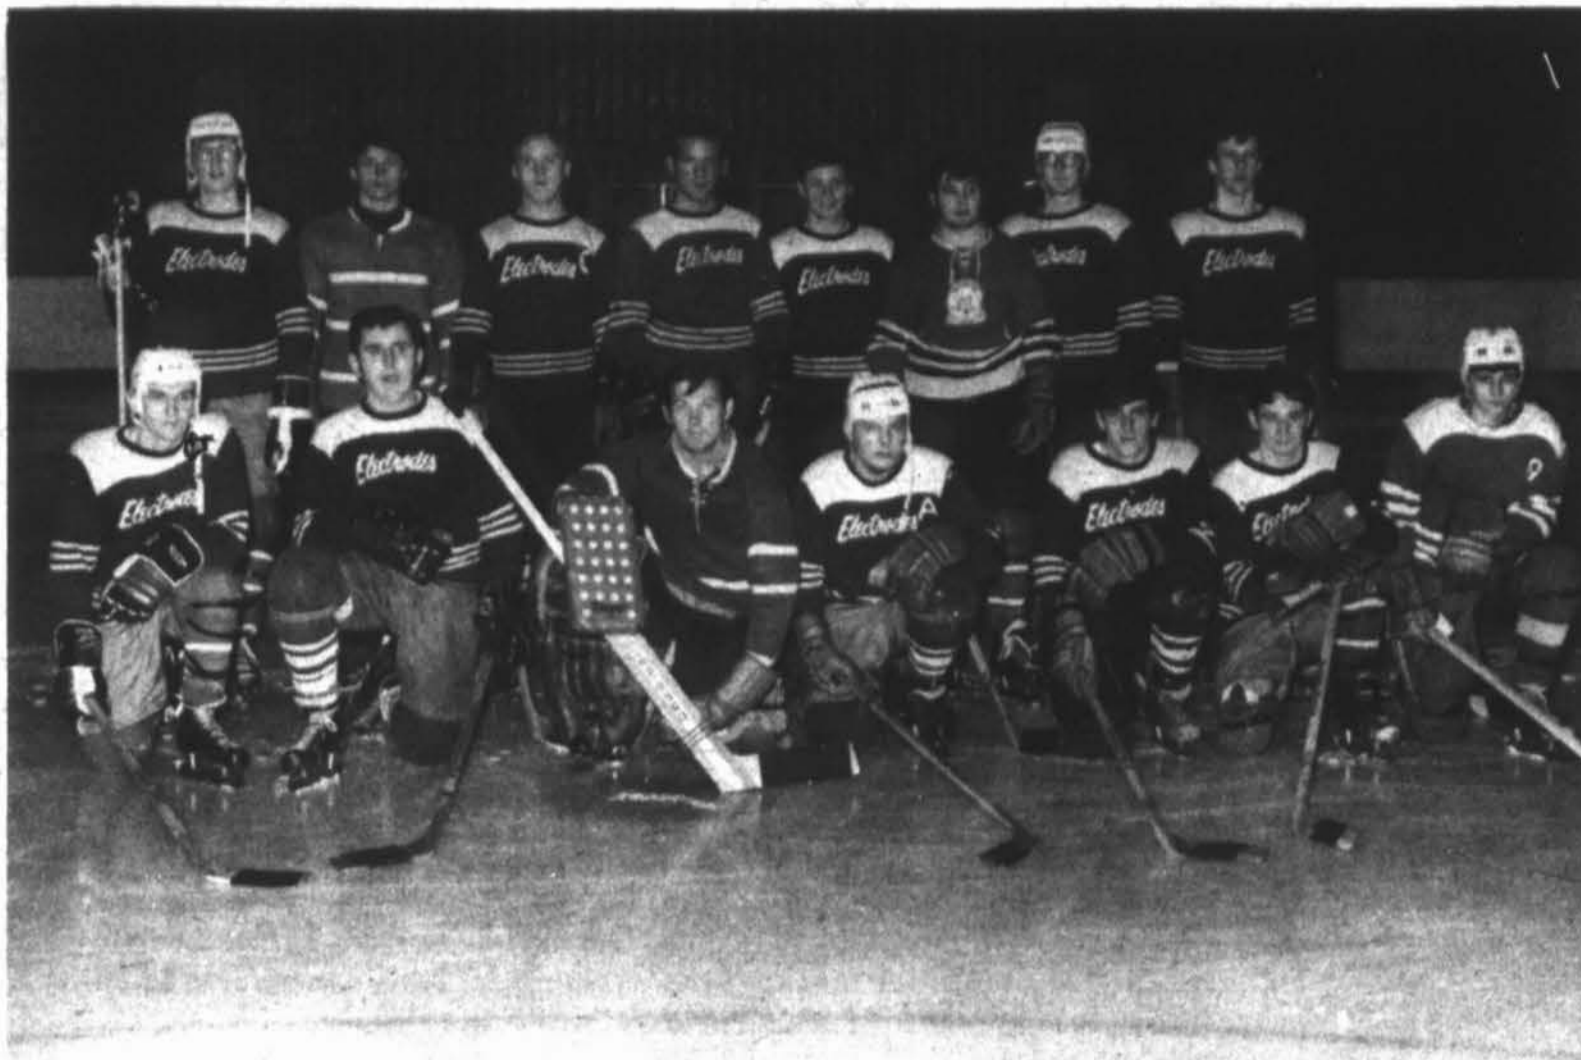

The report started with the introduction of officers. Next came the summarization of the corps activities in the past year. Then came the plans which were made for the future of the corps.

These plans included, obtaining swords for our officers, obtaining a cutlass for the N.C.O. in charge of the color party, transportation for cadets from Labrador City, getting the bayonets crome plated for our guard, sponsoring a regular teen-age dance, getting corps crest and flag, and last but most important of all, becoming 1st. in Newfoundland in our annual inspection in May.

Next on the agenda came the introduction of invited guests.

Mr. Nelson Sherren then proceeded to deliver a well prepared speech on "Newfoundland's Military and Naval History and Citizenship" to the cadets and fathers.

Capt. D. MacIntyre then thanked Mr. Sherren and brought the night to a close by asking Father Blouin to say closing grace.

Ottawa pulls a fast one

Constable Jerome Giroux of Windsor is a man who is rich enough - according to Welfare Minister John Munro's white paper on income security - to surrender his family allowances in order that low-income families may have larger family allowances. Constable Giroux earns $10,034 a year, and that puts him $34 beyond the absolute cut-off point for family allowances under the new proposals.

The trouble is that Constable Giroux doesn't feel all that rich. He has 14 children for whom, at present rates, he receives $1,032 annually in family allowances. "If that was taken away," he told the Canadian Press, "we would lose our house for sure."

Constable Giroux is not, of course a typical case; but he does present a sort of exclamation mark for that whole group of middle-income Canadians who are being expected - and not just by Mr. Munro - to pick up the tab for providing low-income Canadians with a more decent standard of living.

Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey is planning to hit this group too. He proposes to make the unemployment insurance plan universal for all workers except those who are self-employed. That would mean that some 1,200,000 more Canadians, mostly in the middle-income groups will be paying premiums of up to $62 a year, in order that insurance benefits may be increased and extended to groups not now covered.

Finance Minister Edgar

Benson also has designs on the pockets of middle-income groups. His white paper on taxation would eliminate or reduce taxes for 3,750,000 people, leave them constant for 800,000 and boost them dramatically for 3,000,000. And at what point does the black magic change take place? At around $10,000. The middle group is intended to carry the load.

By and large there is justice in what Mr. Benson proposes. The dire poverty that afflicts so many Canadians demands a better redistribution of income. Most middle-income Canadians, we think, are prepared to grimace and bear it.

But not if the Government plays tricks.

There is evidence, in this matter of family allowance changes, that the Government is indeed being sneaky, in a very premeditated sort of way.

Go back to your 1969 income tax return. There you will note, under Exemption for Wholly Dependent Children, that it reads, "claim $300 for each child qualified for Family Allowance (generally any child under 16; see Guide-item 20) and $550 for each child not so qualified."

Now that meant that in the unlikely event that you were not receiving family allowance for your children, you could deduct $550 for everyone of them. (Constable Giroux could have deducted $6,600 for his 12 children who are dependent).

In the future it will not be at all unlikely, if Mr. Munro has his way, that all sorts of Canadians will not be collecting family allowance (all those earning $10,000 and up). But, they will say, at least we'll be able to deduct $550 per child for income tax purposes, instead of the $300 we've been allowed to date.

Not necessarily so.

Speaking of Sports

HOCKEY: Both Senior "A" & "B" are back in action following the holiday break. In the opening game of the 1971 "A" League the Huskies clobbered the Braves 14-4. The two following contests however, were real thrillers with the Saints edging the Huskies 5-4 and the Braves pulling the upset of the season with a 3-2 win over the Saints. In the "B", Wabush, with a strong 3rd period effort, continued their winning ways with a 4-2 win over the Indians. In the following game the Juniors and Indians played to a 2-2 tie.

Minor Hockey resumed on Friday past. The following is the schedule for next week:

Mosquito: Friday 15 Jan. 4:45-5:45 p.m. Hawks vs Maple Leafs, Penguins Practice. 5:45-6:45 p.m. Blues vs Huskies, North Stars Practice. All Stars Practice at 7:00 a.m. Monday 18 Jan. 5:45 p.m. Saints vs Carol Cleaners. The local PeeWee all-stars are scheduled to play the West German team in their opening game of the 1971 Quebec International pee-wee tournament being held in Quebec City next month.

SKIING NEWS: The untimely death of Christopher Mattinson, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mattinson cast a pall of gloom over the Club. Deepest sympathy from all.

Over the holiday season skiers from Smokey Mountain won six of eight slots on the Provincial Alpine team that will travel to Saskatoon, Sask. next month for the Canadian Winter Games. The local members are Bob Archer, Perry Spitznagel, Dave Mattison and Karl Sweirkot together with Carol Sheppard and Cathy Plue.

The race committee would like to thank all members who acted as race officials for a job well done.

Hope to see you all next weekend 16-17 Jan.

for the January invitational G.S. and Slalom races.

CURLING: The Carol Curling Club will be represented in the Eastern Provincial Bonspeil by teams skipped by Jim Ward and Dennis Talbot. This year the event will be held at Charlottetown, P.E.I., from 14 thru 17 January. A full slate of 48 teams from all the Atlantic Provinces will be taking part. This year's Bonspeil will have over $2,000.00 in prizes and trophies with transportation being provided by E.P.A. Playdowns for the men's British Consuls (Provincial Championship) entrants are presently underway.

SNOWMOBILING: Safety Rules: It is important to abide by the laws governing snowmobiling. Therefore, never drive when under the influence of liquor. The property of others should be respected. This includes fences and shrubbery. It is advisable before driving across private property to request the owner's permission. When you are carrying your snowmobile on a trailer, it is better to cover it with canvas. Check out Highway trailer rules.

You should always wear a helmet and face shield. In case of accident, you'll avoid head and eye injuries. It is important never to go alone on a long drive. Make sure there's always another snowmobile coming along and let your destination be known. Crossing railroads should never be undertaken unless really necessary. If that is the case, stop your engine before crossing to make sure no train is coming.

Before driving on a lake, it is very important to check the ice condition. Before going over a snowbank you must make sure there are no obstacles on the other side. Never drive on ski slopes. You could seriously injure skiers.

When two persons are riding on a snowmobile, the passenger must put his feet on the footboard to keep his balance. He must never sit on the seat's backrest. Bringing snowshoes along is a good idea. You can buy small ones that will easily fit on your snowmobile. Install a rear view mirror on your snowmobile.

When pulling a toboggan or trailer behind a snowmobile, be sure to abide by water skiing rules. Be sure there is a passenger on the snowmobile always watching the passenger on the trailer.

BASKETBALL: Thursday, January 14, 7:30, Tryouts all-star team; Tuesday, January 19, 7:00, Saints vs. Bowring's Bullets; Thursday, January 21, Perry's Maintenance vs. Saints; Tuesday, January 26, All-star team.

The above schedule includes four (4) rounds until the end of February. It is hoped to continue the schedule until the end of April which will give us another three (3) to four (4) rounds plus play-offs.

FITTING YOUR BOOTS

Boots are the most important part of your ski equipment. Through your boots, your legs are attached to the skis. Besides giving the proper support and being comfortable, your boots must perform other functions. They must hold the ski in a position from which your legs can evenly control the edging.

First, you should be able to stand normally in your boots (feet 2 to 6 inches apart) with the soles resting as flat as possible on the floor. Some people's legs are shaped in a manner that does not allow the soles to be perfectly flat. You may be standing comfortably but the weight is distributed along the outside edge of the soles.

This may mean that you are not properly fitted or else that you require a personal adjustment. By canting (or wedging) the inner edges of the soles of your boots, you can re-adjust the degree of flatness you have in your normal stance. After canting the soles in this manner, the skis should now be perfectly flat on the snow. This is especially true for "bow legged" skiers. Skiers that are "Knock kneed" would have the weight too much on the inside edges already. Their problem is usually one of a poor stance causing them to ski on their edges.

Mr. Eric Hart will be doing the majority of our games and it is requested that the team who is not playing on a given night will provide a referee to assist him plus a timer and score keeper. The schedule for this will be drawn up and will come into effect this week.

We are hoping to send a team to the Maritimes January 22 to an invitational tournament and we will discuss the possibility of bringing 2 or 3 teams in for our own invitational tournament. There is also the All Newfoundland Basketball championships which will be held in Corner Brook - weekend of February 26-28.

OUANANICHE SNOWMOBILE CLUB: For the interest of members, races will be held at Jean Lake on Sunday 24 Jan. at 2:00 p.m. The Club has planned a day outing for Sunday the 31st which involves bringing along your own food for a cook-out. The first planned activity for February will be a trip to Mount Wright.

Ottawa pulls a fast one

On June 27, 1969, amidst a great rash of other Income Tax Act amendments, the Government slipped in a little one which took effect in the 1969 taxation year and which looks very much as though it were designed for Mr. Munro's changes in family allowances. Nobody noticed it at the time, because it didn't change the 1969 bite on most incomes; but with Mr. Munro's changes - it really could bite!

This amendment deleted any mention of family allowances and substituted wording permitting deductions of "$300 if the child...has not attained the age of 16 years...and $550 if the child...has attained such age...."

It allowed Mr. Benson to remark blandly in his white paper on taxation: "The Government has reviewed the deductions allowed from taxable income for children and other dependents - currently $300 per year for children under 16 and $550 per year for others. We believe any action on these should be related to the further evolution of Canada's social security and social development programs." As it had been there always.

And where does this amendment leave Constable Giroux? He could not only lose his $1,032 in family allowances; he could be stuck with the reduced deductions which were justified by his getting the family allowances that have been taken away. Instead of being able to deduct $6,600 from his taxable income for his 12 dependent children, he would be able to deduct only $3,850.

For Constable Giroux read, in differing amounts, all families making $10,000 or more a year.

It would not be fair. The Government would be hitting families with young children twice.

Certainly there must be a redistribution of income, but all middle and upper-income Canadians should help carry the load - the childless families and the single individuals as well as the families with children.

If Mr. Benson sticks his finger too deep in this family pie, Parliament should make him pull it out.

SEALING WAX

If you wish to apply a seal to very important letters -- or simply for a very attractive effect -- dab a bit of thick nail polish over the flap of your envelope. It doesn't need warming in a flame (as does genuine sealing wax), it is quite flexible when it dries, and it sticks just as well as wax - (Gene Von).

BISHOPS AGAINST ABORTIONS: During their recent meeting in Washington, Roman Catholic bishops in the United States reaffirmed their unyielding stand against abortions, declaring for the first time that morally they are murder. The vote of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops was 224-8.

The bishop's statement, directed at the medical field said: "Abortion is unjust destruction of a human life and morally that is murder."

DOUBLE HOUSEBREAKER: Newlyweds Willy and Eva Gruenmann of Stuttgart, West Germany, argued so much that their neighbours suggest separation and offered to take Mrs. Gruenmann in. The bride agreed but returned to Willy two months later. "With me around, the neighbours got to fighting and have broken up their marriage and apartment, Eva explained. "But I think I've learned to keep my mouth shut."

Solve-a-Crime

You are the detective

BY A.C. GORDON

Your good friend, Jim Nelson, has phoned you, very much distressed over the fact that one of his neighbours, Allen Brooker, has threatened to bring suit against him and his wife. He tells you that his young 12-year-old daughter, Peggy, had been walking their Scottish terrier on a long leash. They had met Brooker on the front walk and the dog had growled and lunged at him. Peggy told her father that she had succeeded in pulling the dog away and that she is certain no harm had been done to Brooker. But now, Jim Nelson has told you, he has just received a phone call from Brooker informing him that he went straight from the scene of the "incident" to the emergency ward of the Community Hospital, that he has received first aid for an ugly wound above his knee where the Nelson dog bit him, and that he is determined to sue the Nelsons "for plenty."

You tell Nelson that you will look into the matter immediately and then you hurry to the hospital where you find Allen Brooker seated on a chair in the emergency ward. He is just about to leave, but you receive permission of the attending doctor to examine the wound. You watch as the doctor carefully draws up the sharply-creased, immaculate light blue trouser leg over the left knee, and gently peels back the fresh bandage. After looking at the cauterized marks on the skin above the knee, you ask Brooker, "Did you drive yourself to the hospital?"

"Why, yes. I drove very slowly, of course, because of the pain."

Turning back to the doctor, you inquire, "Are you certain these are teeth marks on his leg?"

"They were fairly deep indentations," he replies. "I'd say they could have been caused by a dog's teeth."

You nod reflectively, then you look back at Brooker who is now frowning intently at you. "I think this has all the appearance of a senseless attempt on your part to frame a charge against the Nelsons. I think you inflicted that wound on your leg yourself, maybe with a fork, to simulate teeth marks. In any event, I am sure the Nelson dog did not bite you!"

What has led to these conclusions?

SOLUTION

Since it has been established that Brooker came directly to the hospital from the scene of the "incident" the possibility of his having changed clothes is eliminated. Yet, you saw no teeth marks in his trouser legs.

Mr. Ambrose Peddle, M.P. has announced he will be submitting a brief to the House of Commons electoral committee, early in the present session, requesting boundaries of the Federal riding Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador be altered to give Labrador a separate seat in Ottawa. We have always felt this would be a most helpful move in developing our great land mass and support Mr. Peddle, in this move, 100%. Hope to receive a copy of his brief in the near future and will then "editorialize" fully on this most important subject.
