"THE RENO OF THE NORTH": So quipped Mr. Justice James D. Higgins as he presided over the Supreme Court on Circuit at Labrador City, last week. The entire stay of the court was taken up with divorce cases, (11) in all being heard. Judgement was handed down in (8) cases while three others were held over, for various reasons.

1. Mrs. M. Herbert, of Churchill Falls, was granted a divorce. Grounds (3) years separation. Mr. D. Sparkes, represented the petitioner.

2. Mr. J. Stan Robinson of Labrador City, was granted a divorce. Grounds (3) years separation. Mr. A. Miller represented the petitioner.

3. Mr. J.G. Desrosiers of Wabush, was granted a divorce. Grounds (3) years separation. Mr. A. Miller represented the petitioner.

4. Mr. P. Kannis of Wabush, was granted a divorce. Grounds (3) years separation. Mr. A. Miller represented the petitioner.

5. Mr. H. West, of Churchill Falls, was granted a divorce. Grounds (3) years separation. Mr. D. Sparkes represented the petitioner.

6. Mr. G. F. Mills of Labrador

City was granted a divorce. Grounds adultery. Mr. D. Sparkes represented the Petitioner. Costs will be borne by the 3rd party.

7. Mr. R.J. Murphy of Wabush was granted a divorce. Grounds adultery. Mr. D. Sparkes represented the petitioner. Costs will be borne by the 3rd party.

8. Mrs. M. Connell of Labrador City was granted a divorce. Grounds adultery. Mr. D. Sparkes represented the petitioner.

The cases of Mr. W. Morrow, Mrs. M. King, and Mr. J. Tobin, were adjourned for future action.

It was interesting to note that of the eight divorces granted, in only one case was the marriage contracted in this Province.

EXPANSION CONTRACT: With a bid of $9 million, approximately $2 million lower than the next tender, McNamara Corp. Ltd. was recently awarded the contract for construction of a 12,000 ft. tunnel and mine shaft at the Iron Ore Company's, Carol Mines, Labrador City. Work will start this month and is scheduled for completion by November 1971. It is estimated that up to 350 men will be employed on this job during the peak period of construction.

The tunnel will facilitate movement of ore to the concentrator. Ore will be loaded on trains through the connecting shaft which will be 300 feet deep and 3000 square ft. in area.

McNamara also built the original Loading Pockets at the Smallwood and Humphery mines. McNamara, which recently came under the control of the British Bovis Group, is currently engaged as part of a joint venture in construction of the Churchill Falls hydro development. In the early 1950s McNamara was part of a construction consortium which

Editorially Speaking

Last month we noted that Mr. Ambrose Peddle, M.P. had prepared a brief for presentation to the House of Commons, Standing Electoral Committee. The main point in his submission would be the Federal Riding of Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador be redrawn, with Labrador, by itself, having the right to elect a Member to the House of Commons. We now understand that because of an increased work-load, the Committee will be unable to discuss this brief before May or June. In the meantime we felt a brief comment on this subject would be in order.

During the autumn of 1963 in conversation with the then Member for the riding Mr. C.R. Granger, he expressed the opinion that Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador, constituted not only the largest land area of eastern Canadian ridings, but also had the highest number of voters. He felt the Redistribution Act then before Commons would improve his situation and further stated he had already discussed the matter of having Labrador declared a separate riding with Mr. J.W. Pickerskill, who was Federal House Leader, at the time, and was piloting the Bill through the House. However no action was taken (it was rumored on word from Premier Smallwood) and the only change in 1964 was the divorcing of Gander and immediate area from this riding.

When I brought the subject before the Provincial Legislature the only reply received: "Labrador doesn't have the population." "Nothing can be done before the next census in 1971."

Following Mr. A. Chatwood's election in 1966 he told me that it would take a member at least three years to visit every community in this riding. In that Mr. Chatwood was a sitting member for only 21 months, he probably didn't get much of an opportunity to visit his outlying areas. Following Mr. Peddle's election in 1968 the P.C. Party in the Provincial Legislature began a concerted effort to have the Provincial Government use their good offices in Ottawa to have change made. But to no avail: "It was unconstitutional." I recall Premier Smallwood telling the then leader of the opposition, Mr. Gerald Ottenheimer that the British North America Act would have to be changed to allow Labrador, because of its sparse population, to have a federal member. Utter nonsense. We could obtain representation under a redistribution bill. And on that "sparse population" bit, Labrador at the moment has up to 35,000 residents compared with, Yukon Territory 20,000 (1 seat), Prince Edward Island 112,000 (4 seats, 28,000 per Federal Member), North West Territories approximately 30,000 (1) seat.

"Discrimination" not "sparse population" should have been the answer. One has only to look at a map of Canada to see Labrador is as separate an entity as P.E.I. and even more so than the Yukon or N.W. Territories. Our right in Labrador to elect our own Federal Member is, I feel, the most vital political issue facing us today. And on a strictly non-partisan outlook, any help we can give Mr. Peddle, will be to our own advantage.

Social and Personal

A baby shower was held recently at the home of Mrs. M. Comerford for Mrs. Ruby Martin, who was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Cards and games were played and the evening concluded with a cold buffet.

Presently visiting his parents in Wabush is Mr. R. Croucher. Rod is serving with the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery at Camp Gagetown, N.B. On his return he will be posted to Canadian Forces, Germany. Good wishes from all his friends in the area.

Congratulations to the following parents on recent births. Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Lee, a boy. Also a boy for Mr. and Mrs. Tom Woodford. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Duffett, a girl. And likewise to Mr. and Mrs. Whit Husk.

FOOD PRICES LOWER COST INDEX: More than anything else, lower food costs have checked the rise in the cost of living index during most of last year. The over-all consumer prices index rose by only 1.5% between December 1969 and the end of 1970, compared with a 4.8% rate of increase through most of 1969. Excluding food, which accounts for one-quarter of the average family's budget, the cost of living rose 3.8% on a year-to-year basis. Price wars among Canada's major food retailing chains have contributed significantly to the improved price performance. But this could prove to be a temporary phenomenon. The index for all items settled at 129.8 in December, down 0.4% from the month before.

PESKY FROGS: Resident of the village of Varennes En Argonne, near Metz, in France, surprised at a water shortage, investigated and found thousands of frogs had clogged up a conduit supplying the town.

JOHN C. DOYLE'S TAX POSITION: Recently Revenue Minister Herb Gray disclosed the present status of Javelin's John C. Doyle and his income tax woes, in a written return tabled in the Commons. Gray said the Exchequer Court of Canada has rendered judgement in respect of Mr. Doyle's appeal for his 1950 assessment, and in respect of one of the issues under appeal from his 1954 assessment. The Exchequer Court dismissed both these appeals. Mr. Doyle has now filed appeals to the Supreme Court. The Exchequer Court has adjourned "sine die" (without setting a date) the hearing of Mr. Doyle's appeal from his 1953 assessment, and the hearing of the second issue under appeal from his 1954 assessment. Gray said the total amount of the federal government's claim, issued by writ of extent on July 8th, 1963, was for the sum of $3,410,130.90, and that the years involved in the appeals are 1950, 1953 and 1954. However, provisions of the Income Tax Act prevent the disclosures of the amount of taxes assessed or owing. The Revenue Minister said it is hoped that the remaining issue can be heard by the Exchequer Court during the spring, and that the appeals to the Supreme Court will be held during 1971.

SMART HUSTLERS: Prostitutes from Rio de Janeiro's red light district did so well in an adult literacy course that one of them got a job as a real estate agent. Police Chief Armands Pereira, handing out diplomas to 24 prostitutes, said: "This disproves the theory that only half-wits exist in this profession."

AUSSIES CUT PRICES: Two of Australia's major foodstore chains are to make nationwide price cuts on about 4,000 items which could mean a 10% drop in most family food bills.

PRESCRIPTION LIST EXPANDED: Drops, ointments, sprays and lozenges containing the antibiotic neomycin are to be placed on the list of drugs requiring prescription effective 1 March. Chiefly affected are throat lozenges, nasal drops and sprays, ear and eye drops and ointments and skin ointment. About 288 such preparations are available over the counter.

CHURCH SUPPORTS DIVORCE LAW: The Church of England recently gave qualified approval to a new British law for easy divorce after a marriage has broken down. The Anglican leaders still profess their fundamental belief in marriage as a life-long union and urged ministers to do everything in their power to reconcile husbands and wives seeking divorce.

SWEDEN SETS RECORD: Sweden's shipbuilding industry set a new record for launched and delivered tonnage in 1970, the Swedish Shipbuilders Association said last week. The figures indicated that Sweden will retain her position as the world's second biggest shipbuilding nation after Japan, and ahead of West Germany and Britain. Forty ships totalling 3.27 million deadweight tons were launched by Swedish yards and 41 ships totalling 2.98 million deadweight tons were delivered. Twenty-seven of them were exported, including 12 ships worth 700 million Swedish kronor ($140 million) to Norway. Sweden's total ship export in 1970 was worth an estimated 1.4 billion kronor ($280 million).

"Hey — Wait a Minute"

By YOUR CANDID LAYMAN

YOU'RE CUT-OFF MY SON: The P.E.T. Company "Limited", of Ottawa, in a recent bulletin to its shareholders, has intimated that shareholders earning $10,000 or more a year will not receive the National Baby Bonus, in the very near future.

What does this mean to you highly taxed "rich" shareholders? The answer is simple. Up goes your income tax by the present (baby bonus) value of your child — $72 and up. While the loss of $72 may not affect the family with one child, the loss of $288 will certainly be felt by the family with four children.

However, the Company obviously feels that they have the mandate to proceed with the project, and the pre-legislation look at the bulletin is an insult to the Canadian Public, in view of the Company's intention to push legislation as quickly as possible.

Is it not strange that the shareholders have been given such a short time in which to make their reactions known, when industry was given all the time in the world to present their briefs on the proposed taxation of industry?

But you are the small people, the people who help keep the country ticking, the people who have been denied an access road, live television, better radio, transportation by Air Canada (your airline, income tax rebate because of isolation, to name a few of the requests presented to the P.E.T. Company.

Now you are to be hit again.

You're cut off, my son. What are you going to do about it?

"HEY—WAIT A MINUTE". Will be a regular series carried weekly, exclusively in AURORA.

To enforce amended dog act

The Minister of Mines, Agriculture and Resources, the Honourable W.R. Callahan, has reminded dog owners of the new requirements in effect in Newfoundland since January 1, 1971, as amendments to the Dog Act.

The amendments are intended to make the legislation more flexible and at the same time, to provide greater protection for livestock from roaming dogs.

The amendments, approved by the House of Assembly last June, set new standards for the control of dogs and for the first time, outline both minimum and maximum fines for violations.

Before amendment, the Act established a fine not to exceed $25 in all cases, or fourteen days in jail in default.

The Act now sets out the fine for a first offense for violating the Dog Act as to be not less than $10 nor more than $100 or, in default of payment, a term of imprisonment not exceeding one month. For a subsequent offense, the fine shall be not less than $50 nor exceed $200 or, in default, a term of imprisonment not exceeding three months.

Another change provides that the Summary Jurisdiction Act, which allows Magistrates to hand out suspended sentences, cannot be applied to Dog Act violations without the written consent of the Minister.

Each day of a continued contravention will be considered a separate offense.

The new legislation also gives a Magistrate the power to act if a person does not destroy a dog when told to do so. On twenty-four notice, he can either have the dog removed to an area where it may legally be kept or have it destroyed.

The provision requiring a permit from the Minister to keep a dog in Labrador, other than a native Eskimo dog, has been repealed.

The licencing areas of the Province are the Avalon Peninsula, Burin Peninsula, and Port au Port Peninsula. In these areas all dogs must be licenced. They must also be tied or penned up at all times, except when they are in the charge of some person capable of controlling them, as when on a leash.

Licence fees are $25 for female, $5 for spayed female, and $5 for male.

In the remainder of the Province, except in communities that have their own dog regulations, a dog control area is in effect. Dogs do not have to be licenced but must be kept penned or tied at all times, unless in the charge of a person capable of controlling them.

In asking the House of Assembly to approve the changes, the Minister referred to the wholesale destruction in several areas of the Province of sheep and cattle.

He said this meant not only heavy losses to present owners, but also discouragement to others to get into the raising of livestock.

WOMAN'S PLACE, HOME OR OFFICE? Comments on a worksheet published by the Institute of Life Insurance, Women's Division, 277 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Does it pay a wife to work? Not much. Not if you're talking about today and willing to let tomorrow take care of itself.

The New York study takes a woman's weekly gross salary of $95.00 subtracts deductions and increases in household and personal expenses due to work, and comes up with a net weekly income of $46.29. (Seven expenses categories are listed, including $10.00 for child care and $6.25 for lunches. I am always taken aback by the assumption that women don't eat lunch at home, or, if they do, somehow manage to get it free.) To add the death blow to any lingering ambition you might have in this direction, the study's final word on the subject is that, if the lady with the $95.00 weekly income is married to a man who makes $10,000.00 annually, her income will increase their taxes by $1,352.00. Besides the $806.00 that has already been deducted from her checks, an additional $546.00 is subtracted from what was left. You get the picture. She's down to $35.78 a week net income.

The main value of this study, as I see it, is the sobering effect it should have on the working wife who has been justifying orgies of spending because of her job, "almost $100.00 a week! think of that!" No, think instead of the real income. Then save and spend accordingly. If this is the case, then why bother to work at all?

Well, in the first place, $35.78 isn't to be sneezed at. When, for example, was the last time your family managed to save that amount each week? Save $35.78 a week for one year and you'll have $1,860.56. In the second place, how can the Life Insurance Institute people be so sure that a woman will make $95.00 a week? Or that, if she starts there, her salary won't rise? After all, her husband makes $10,000.00 a year and, if we're to believe what we hear, "like married like." We hope that she's as bright as he is. No matter what you may believe, the more a couple makes the more they will have for saving and spending. The income tax structure is such that there is always incentive for an individual, or a married couple, to increase income.

But the point that many people seem to miss, and that concerns many, is the fact that a woman may have to support herself some day. She may have to support herself and her children and perhaps an aging parent. She may be widowed or divorced.

One in four marriages in the United States ends in divorce.

When there is money to be gotten, a woman with good legal counsel and patience can usually get a fair amount. When there is little or no money, or a woman is imprudent in her planning, she may well be stranded financially. I firmly believe that a mother should be at home with young children if possible and if that is her choice. But then I go a step further. I believe that a mother should think about the possibility that she might have to help with or take over the support of these children. I do not believe the role of permanent support can be or should be left completely to the husband's life insurance.

I do strongly advise that there be enough insurance on the husband's life to pay off a mortgage, if one is involved, and to carry the family for the period it takes the wife to prepare herself to assume the family's support, possibly two years or a bit more. (When asked, I recommend term insurance).

WORKERS IN SASKATCHEWAN WANT 36-HOUR WEEK: Delegates representing 28,000 workers in Saskatchewan have agreed to ask the Saskatchewan to reduce their work week to 36 hours. And the Government had its say at the annual convention of the Saskatchewan Federation of Labor, asking the delegates to stop going on strike.

The resolution asking for a reduction in the work week was passed unanimously. The federation's executive council said "significant numbers of Saskatchewan workers performed duties in excess of 36 hours weekly in a time when unemployment is widespread and the need for new jobs eminent." The resolution said consideration should be given to legislating a 30-hour week for employees particularly affected by automation. Henry Rhodes, director of federations and labor councils of the Canadian Labor Congress, says Saskatchewan could have been cited as an example of enlightened labor legislation.

"And now? Thousands of Saskatchewan citizens have given up and left for other provinces. These people left their homes, their friends, the places where they have lived all through their lives because they saw no future in a province whose Government deliberately keeps wages down, often below the poverty line, and takes away the freedoms the citizens had fought so hard to obtain."

Earlier Labor Minister Donald G. MacLennan said the Government must "assess possible alternative methods of bringing about prompt and effective settlements in collective bargaining disputes."

Teacher awarded Hilroy Fellowship

A Mount Pearl teacher, Mr. Winston Ruby, has been awarded a Hilroy Fellowship in the amount of $800. Mr. Ruby teaches a Special Education class of 11 children at Morris Academy in Mount Pearl.

The Hilroy Fellowship Program established by Roy C. Hill, Chairman of the Hill Stationery and Envelope Company and administered by the Canadian Teachers' Federation, provides grants to teachers across Canada who wish to develop new and exploratory approaches to teaching. Mr. Hill donated one million dollars to establish an endowment fund which will offer at least to one teacher in every province each year grants of from $800 to $1500 to encourage the development of innovation in teaching practices. Applications for the Hilroy Fellowship are considered by the provincial committees across Canada. This year five applications were received and studied by a provincial committee organized by the NTA. Final selections are made for a National Advisory Council and approved by the Roy C. Hill Charitable Foundation.

Mr. Ruby's proposal included a plan "to institute a work study program to bridge the gap for children in the academic atmosphere of the school to the world of work." This includes "the opportunity to go beyond the classroom exploratory stage of experience (industrial arts, home economics, etc.) to begin job exploratory visits and part-time work."

This work experience consists of a student leaving the classroom for certain periods of time first to observe a certain work situation; and then to become involved in the work itself. The work experience program could lead to full-time work with pay as an apprentice receiving on the job training. On the other hand, it could give the student the knowledge and experience needed to receive further institutional education, to learn a particular trade. Either way, it is hoped the student will effect a smooth transition from the school to the world of work."

On completion of the project Mr. Ruby will prepare a final report which will be included in a Journal published on a national basis containing outlines of all the projects approved for Hilroy Fellowships this year.

In a statement for the observance of 1970 as International Education Year UNESCO Director-General Rene Maheu states: "To stamp out illiteracy in our age is a moral duty. It is an essential condition of human progress. It is one of the foundations of true peace, that is a peace based on the freedom and dignity of man."

By translating God's Word the Bible Societies through the years have often provided the first printed material in many languages. Awareness of the Gospel has in itself motivated people to want to become literate. Thus the regular editions of Scripture, along with some in large print, have become the textbooks used to teach reading.

In 1963 the United Bible Societies launched a massive Scripture distribution campaign, "God's Word for a New Age," which included among its goals providing a Gospel Portion for every literate.

Three years later the campaign was renewed by focusing particularly on "The Book for New Reader." This effort showed the need for Scripture materials specially designated for adults who become literate.

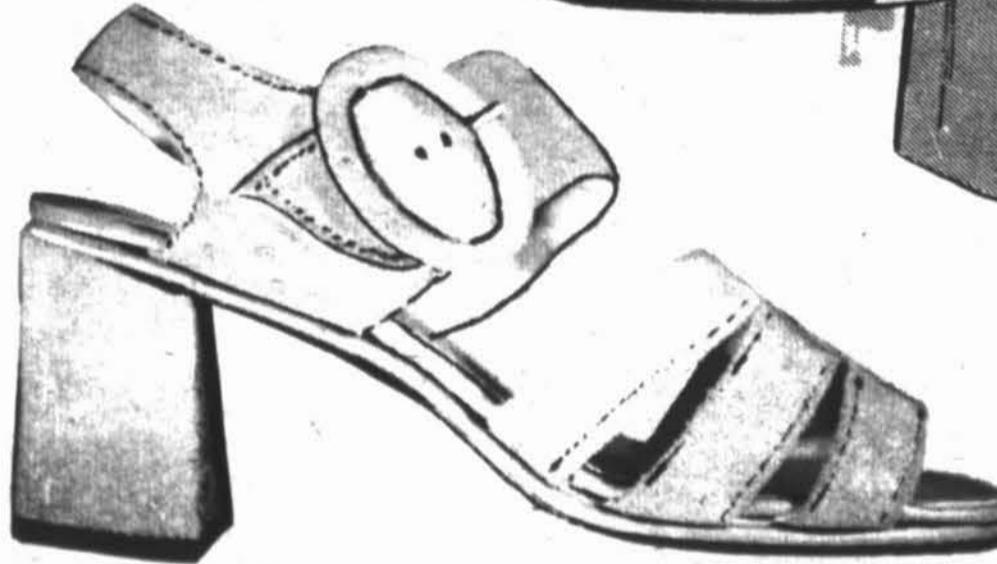

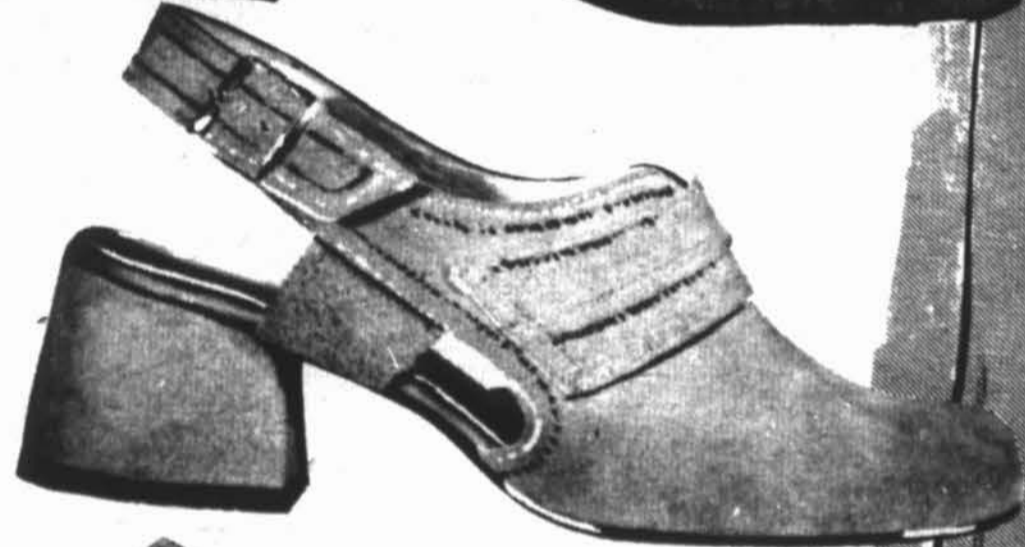

Governmental agencies are happy about these Bible Society Scripture materials, such as in Guatemala where the Ministry of National Education has secured 300,000 copies for an intensive adult literacy campaign. Two years ago 3,429 teaching centers were established and 56,765 pupils registered. In Mozambique all those who join the Army are taught to read, and these Scripture materials are made available to them.

MINOR HOCKEY: The regular schedule was suspended last week, it being MINOR HOCKEY WEEK IN CANADA.

Some of the scores from the various Tournaments were: Mosquito; Penguins 4-Blues 1, Huskies 4-North Stars 3, Hawks 3-Maple Leafs 2, Penguins 2-Huskies 1; Pee Wee, Canadians 5-Kings 3, Wings 8-Canucks 1; Bantam, Seals 4-Flyers 2, Royals 6-Flyers 0; Midget-Juvenile, Carol Cleaners 4-Saints 3; The regular schedule has now been resumed and we will have the latest standings, next week.

SENIOR HOCKEY: In the "A" league the Saints continue their winning ways and it seems almost certain the league will finish, Saints (1), Huskies (2), and Braves (3). L. LeTourneau had quite a night recently, collecting 6 goals in the Saints 9 to 2 romp over the Braves. "B" League. Although the Indians squeezed by the Huskies 3 to 2 in a late January encounter, the Huskies seem a shoo-in for first place. As in the "A" league the final standings, for the regular league season have pretty well been decided and should see Huskies (1), Indians (2) and Juniors (3).

FORWARD SLIPPING

Before you will be able to ski parallel, you must master forward side slipping. Moving forward in a traverse, rise up with a slight extension of the legs which will release your edges.

Allow the skis to slide forward and sideways down the hill. Push the knees into the hill to control the edges and consequently the speed of your side slip.

As soon as you have the right feeling, try to drill your side slip by an exercise of traversing, side slipping, traversing, and side slipping etc. From a good forward side slip we can begin the first parallel turns.

SKI NEWS: Last weekend saw the Smokey Mt. Ski Team and their coach, Rene Beauchamp, travel to Corner Brook for the Newfoundland zone championships. Results of the races were not available at press time, but the Club expected the team to place very well. Team members are: Kathy Plue, Helene Gregoire, Ann McGrath, Robin Hardie, Carol Sheppard, Debbie Pike (from Bean Lake), Dave Mattison, Mike Mattison, David Jardine, Robin Jardine, Claus Burchert, Ronald Archer, Richard Timmons, Gary Timmons, and Robbie Vatcher. The hill conditions are described as "hard packed" and all runs are open with the exception of Nancy's Run which is still short of snow. Membership checks are being carried out, so better get your 1971 crest sewed on. Nancy Greene badges, and club crests should be sewn on the right sleeve so the tow operator can see them. Nancy Green Team of the week: Red Team-Squaw Valley. Manager, John Caverly. Coach, Bill Caverly. Instructor, Tim McGuire. Captain, Gilbert Dufrense. Members. P. Hickey, P. Leonfellner, C. Jardine, P. Crook, J. Shanks, M. Cayouette, S. Jardine, M. Foster, J. Crook, M. Hickey, M. O'Neill and P. Dawson. Next week we will begin a series of tips on "Your Part in Safer Skiing." These will include skiing courtesy, skiing conduct, and skiing safety.

The executive and members of the Smokey Mt. Ski Club would appreciate it very much if local snowmobile enthusiasts would avoid the ski hill area. Beginner skiers can be extremely unpredictable and the snowmobile represents an additional hazard.

The Canadian Ski Patrol: It has been said that the greatest risk of injury in skiing occur when driving to the hill. One of the main reasons for the small number of injuries on the slopes is the effort for all skiers given by the Ski Patrol. The members of the Ski Patrol donate their time and energies to ensure maximum safety on the slopes. They are the people who mark the hazardous areas, assist at the two on occasions, try to keep rocks on the life line covered and when necessary close the lift for the skiers safety when it is just too cold to ski. When all their precautions fail, and an accident does occur, these are the people who take an injured skier down the hill on a toboggan. In general they make life a lot safer on the hill and receive very little for their trouble, besides the satisfaction of doing a worthwhile job for others.

At present the Ski Patrol at Smokey Mountain requires additional members to fill it compliment so that it can patrol the hill effectively without overburdening the current members. If you are interested contact Kurt Spitznagel who is in charge of the local patrol.

If you have the following qualifications why don't you enquire about joining the Ski Patrol and helping your fellow skiers.

1. 18 years of age or older.
2. Already have completed a First Aid course.
3. Competent skier.

UNANICHE SNOWMOBILE CLUB: Enjoy Your Snowmobile: Your snowmobile can bring you hours of enjoyment, if used properly. A few things to remember, when preparing to venture out on your machine.

1. Dress warmly.
2. Keep off all Government roads.
3. Always carry spare parts for your machine.
4. Never venture into new territory alone.
5. Never tailgate the machine ahead of you.
6. Check the throttle to see it's not frozen in place.
7. Never leave your machine parked with the key in the ignition.
8. Caution your children if they use your ski-doo, as to safety rules.
9. Stay away from school yard during school hours.
10. Always leave word at home, as to what vicinity you intend to drive in. Keep in mind there have been an awful lot of accidents across Canada involving snowmobiles. "Let's keep our area free of accidents."

BASKETBALL: The three team local league has just begun their schedule. Results to date. Bowings Bullets 6 points, Lions (Labrador City) 2, Perry Maintenance (Wabush) 0. In scoring Dubey of the Bullets leads with a 19.7 average per game, Burke of the same team is second with 19.3, and Randell of the Lions is third with 17.3.

BOXING: According to a Canadian Press report from St. John, N.B. the C.P.B.F. has decided to establish a Junior 'Middle' Boxing Division. The story. "The Executive of the Canadian Professional Boxing Federation has voted to establish a junior middleweight division with a weight limit of 154 pounds."

"The federation's rating-committee chairman, R.B. Pearson, said the vote was four-to-two, with one member not voting.

Suggested as contenders are Gary Broughton, Brantfort, Ont; Joey Durelle, Sorel, Que; Terry Hayward, Labrador City, Nfld; and Gerry Burns, Halifax, N.S."

Results and pictures from last Sunday's card will be published in our next issue.

Newfoundland map index published

The growing need for a fingertip reference source of geological, geophysical, and other related maps of Newfoundland has prompted the Mineral Research Division of the Department of Mines, Agriculture and Resources to publish a Map Index for the Province, the release of which today was announced by the Honourable W.R. Callahan, Minister of the Department.

The Index, compiled by W.J. Mullins, W.D. Fogwill, and B.A. Greene of the Mineral Resources Division, lists 941 maps, both published and unpublished.

Primarily, the Index will be a very valuable document for exploration agencies, including both those established in Newfoundland and those interested in establishing here, said John H. McKillop, Director of the Mineral Resources Division. However, it will also prove useful to various government agencies, universities, and the general public.

The object of the Index, published in booklet form, is "to satisfy the existing need by presenting, with graphic supplement, a complete index of geological, geophysical, and geochemical map coverage of both Newfoundland and Labrador," Mr. McKillop said.

It is the intention of the Mineral Resources Division to publish periodic supplements to keep the Index up to date and it will also be revised regularly.

We have received several interesting reports in recent days and pass them on for your information:

LOOKING INTO HOLLINGER MINES: One of the few mining stocks trading at record levels, Hollinger Mines Ltd. ($38.00) appears to be recovering from a sluggish decade. The difficulty is to decide when to buy: earnings almost certainly will move up sharply within three years, and it looks as though possible cyclical weakness some time in 1971 could provide a good chance to invest. The company, whose earnings derive mainly from iron ore interests in northern Quebec and Labrador, will be taking on a new momentum from the huge expansion by Iron Ore Co. of Canada. Hollinger's subsidiary, Labrador Mining and Exploration Ltd., also will benefit directly, though there are only about 660,000 shares floating in public hands. At $36.00, Labrador is well below its record at $41.00 in 1965.

The upturn in both cases occurred last year after IOCC announced a $290 million, two-year expansion program to fill a long-term Japanese contract. This project was under a shadow for several months until Ottawa modified proposals in the tax white paper which would have cut depletion allowances available to iron ore mines. Both stocks were trading well under $30.00 before the tax hazard was removed.

Hollinger's links with IOCC date from 1954 when the first shipments were made from the iron deposits near Schefferville, Que. Hollinger and Labrador hold a 17 per cent interest in IOCC, and U.S. steel and mining companies hold the rest. Hollinger also has a 59 per cent interest in Labrador and each receives dividends and royalties from IOCC. They also hold an 11 per cent interest in Noranda Mines Ltd.

On 1969, Hollinger earnings were hit by the long iron ore strike. But analysts think 1970 earnings will amount to $2.40 a share versus $2.01 in 1969. Profits last year were $9.9 million. A big jump may be due in 1973 when IOCC's new capacity comes on stream. Earnings that year could reach $3.50 or $4.00, although there probably will not be substantial gains beforehand.

Some analysts estimate Labrador's 1970 earnings at $2.20 to $2.40 a share, versus $2.08 on profits of $6.9 million in 1969. Earnings could rise to $3.50-$4.50 in 1973.

One of the original gold producers at Timmins, Ont., Hollinger made a successful transition into iron ore before the old mine was worked out. With the IOCC expansion, Hollinger has a new source of growth which has been lacking for more than five years.

QUARTERLY DIVIDENDS INCREASED: A. L. Fairley Jr., president of Hollinger Mines Ltd. and Labrador Mining & Exploration Ltd. announced earlier this year, an increase in the regular quarterly dividends of the two companies.

Hollinger dividend has been raised from 35 cents to 40 cents per share on a quarterly basis and from $1.40 to $1.60 per share on an annual basis. The increase in dividend rate of Labrador Mining & Exploration Co. Ltd., is from 40 cents per share quarterly to 45 cents quarterly effectively raising the rate in 1971 to $1.80 a share from $1.60.

KIPPENS & CO. ON IOCC EXPANSION: Kippen & Co. Inc. projects 1973 earnings of $4.75 per share for Labrador Mining and $3.90 for Hollinger. Fully-taxed earnings would be approximately $3.60 and $3.20 respectively. IOCC's expansion involves doubling the capacity of its concentrator at Carol Lake, Labrador, and construction of beneficiating and pelletizing plants at Sept. Iles P.Q. Work should be finished by the end of 1972. The per share projection of earnings suggest higher share price ultimately, Kippen says. However, on the basis of estimated 1970 results of $2.20-$2.25 for Labrador and $2.40-$2.45 for Hollinger, the investment firm is inclined to defer new commitments in the stocks pending better buying opportunities.

DIOCESE FACES SERVICE CUTBACK: The 111,000 member Roman Catholic Diocese of Calgary has experienced a decline in the income of its parishes, which is affecting service offered by the diocese. Rev. John Palardy, chancellor of the diocese, said recently that the decline in parish income, which is the normal source of revenue for the diocese as well, "has necessitated in 1971 a cutback in certain budgets for services and a curtailment in any thoughts of increasing services where there is evident need." About a year earlier, the diocese reported to its members that the 1969 central income of the diocese was $225,155. Operating expenses of $204,633 left a $20,522 excess of receipts. At that time, the diocese said that trends for 1970 indicated an operating deficit in the neighbourhood of $30,000. Father Palardy says information not available earlier shows that all receipts at the parish level in 1969 totalled $2,410,389 and total expenditures at that level $2,407,973. The Calgary diocese is one of the few that regularly publish financial statements for its members.

DOHERTY ROADHOUSE

MCCUAIG ON LABRADOR MINING: At $36.00 Labrador Mining share are priced at 16.0 times estimated 1970 earnings and yield 5.0 per cent on the $1.80 annual dividend. Hollinger's $38.00 share price puts it at 15.8 times '70 earnings, with a 4.2 per cent yield on the $1.60 dividend.

D.R. & M. forecasts per share earnings for Labrador Mining of $3.54 by 1973. Realization of this figure, and using the mean price-earnings ratio of the past five years of 14.5, would produce a price by 1973 significantly above current levels, the investment firm says.

Doherty Roadhouse & McCuaig rates Labrador Mining as "a good three-year investment vehicle for both growth and dividends."

LAST RESORT: BUS: Confidence in Ottawa's planning was not increased by the story, widely publicized last month, that an inter-departmental committee was seriously considering $50 million plan to relieve student unemployment this summer by laying on free bus service across Canada. It was no surprise that Mr. Otto Lang, the manpower minister, quickly denied that the plan was on. But the distributing picture remains of an official committee searching desperately for programs, any programs, to ease the lot of unemployed students. The theory is that there must be a government program for everything. Presumably the advocates of a bussing believed that by putting a jobless youngster on a bus they could make him think he was getting somewhere.

As we go to press the Baly Haly ladies from St. John's, were in front, with our team right up there.

DEAR ALICE: A top executive had hired a new secretary. Upon being called out of town suddenly, he told her to write Allis-Chalmers in Milwaukee and informed them that he wouldn't be able to keep their appointment. When he returned to his office four days later he found this carbon copy: "Alice Chalmers, Milwaukee, Wis. Dear Alice: I'm off for Texas and can't keep our date."

Horrified, he immediately phoned Allis-Chalmers. "I hope you haven't received a certain letter."

"Received it?" was the answer. "It's been on the bulletin board for three days."

O CANADA: A conscientious mother, keenly alert to current drug problems among our youth, was horrified by a note she found in her son's pocket. "Can you explain this?" she confronted him. "Puff, puff-drag-puff stuff?" "Sure," the boy airily replied. "I'm learning O Canada on my harmonica."

THE THRIFTY SCOTS: The two dour old Scots had been friends for seventy years and now Jock was dying.

"Hamish," he gasped, "I want you to take the bottle of Scotch I've saved for fifty years and pour it over my grave after I'm gone."

Choked with grief, Hamish sobbed, "Would you mind very much, Jock, if I strained it through my kidneys first?"

FROM A RECENT ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT GEORGES POMPIDOU: "I think of the 845,000 little French boys and girls born in 1970. Each of these births represents an act of faith in the future."

THE CITY SLICKERS: An old man was sitting on the porch of a little village store when a big shiny car drove up with two strangers in it. "Hey, grandpa," one of them called out, "how long has this burg been dead?" The old man looked over his spectacles before he replied: "Not long, I reckon, You're the first buzzards, I've seen."

COMMUNICATIONS: "Well, what's new at your house?" a 5-year-old asked his little friend at kindergarten.

"Who knows!" replied the little boy with a sigh. "They spell everything."

KEEPING UP WITH THE LATEST STYLES: A seasoned criminal was instructing a novice on the fine art of stealing. "Make sure you read all the men's fashion columns. If you want to be good at picking pockets, you've got to know where they're being worn this year."

THE SPANKING: A little boy did errands and odd jobs for the town doctor and occasionally rode with the MD as he made his rounds. One day the doctor had an emergency delivery and didn't notice that the boy had followed him into the mother's room. As the doctor held the infant by the heels and spanked it to get its motor going, he noticed his little helper watching intently.

"Well, Oscar," asked the MD, "what do you think of it?" The youngster replied, "Boy, he sure had that spanking coming for hiding where he did!"

GUIDES & BROWNIES: The local association will be holding a Valentine Dance at the O'Brien Hall on Sunday, February 14. Music by "The Second Time Around." Tickets, at $5.00 double, available from Patrol Leaders or at the door. "HELP SEND OUR GIRLS TO CAMP."

RETARDED CHILDREN: The committee for the help of Retarded Children will be holding a meeting at the O'Brien Hall on Wednesday, February 3 at 8.00 p.m. Purpose of the meeting is to form a Labrador West Branch of the Provincial Association and elect a Board of Directors. A number of persons have signified their willingness to serve as officers but more are welcomed. Anyone wishing to assist should contact Mr. A. Bradshaw at 944-2224 or Mrs. J. Moore at 944-2241.

GREENLAND'S RESOURCES ATTRACTING CANADIAN COMPANIES: While Canadian concern over economic nationalism increases, Canadian oil and mining companies are looking to foreign fields.

Greenland is a favored spot. It is close to the Canadian Arctic and presents similar conditions. Denmark, of which Greenland is a part, is more than willing to have the investment and is prepared to make many incentives available. The combination of outside capital and experience would give Denmark a significant mineral development. Optimists predict that copper, cobalt, zinc and silver deposits could be mined to the tune of $100 million in 1975. There is also an oil play which may lead to production and ease Denmark's current balance of payments problems. Denmark has no reservations about foreign ownership of its mineral resources. It wants to get a fair return while still attracting foreign developers to the polar island.

Cominco Ltd. of Vancouver probably is the Canadian firm closest to receiving an exploration permit through its subsidiary company Greenex A-S, which has been working in Greenland since 1965. An agreement is expected in time for Cominco to launch a major exploration and development program this summer. Legislation passed in 1965 and amended in 1969 provides mining and oil companies with the right to receive their investment back before paying any taxes or royalties.

Denmark has said it wants between 35 per cent and 55 per cent of the profits after investment has been paid back. The Cominco agreement could set the stage for later agreements. To date, 44 major concessions, including general prospecting licences and exclusive mineral explorations permits, have been issued on Greenland. More than half of these have been granted to Danish firms with Canadian parent companies.

Ponderray Polar A-S, owned 60 per cent by Ponderray Exploration Co. Ltd. of Edmonton, has a prospecting concession on the northern half of the island and exclusive mineral rights on three areas at Thule, Peary Land, and Kronprins Christians Land. Ponderray plans to spend more than $4 million on exploration.

Mr. Niels Anderson, a Danish-born Canadian, did the ground work for Green in 1956 and is now involved in Ponderray, and in concessions held by New Quebec Mining & Exploration Ltd., Carbomino A-S, Dominion Explorers Ltd., and Elisapanguaq.

No company has yet received exclusive rights to oil and gas exploration on the continental shelf area. Offshore exploration along the coast is also being carried out. Five groups have just completed seismic programs along the west coast near Disko Island. Oil companies with concessions for offshore work include; Tenneco Oil and Minerals Ltd., Compagnie Francaise des Petroles, California Oil Company of Denmark and Shell Denmark Ltd., Occidental of Greenland Inc., Superior Oil Co., and Phillips Petroleum Co. C. Warren Hunt Exploration Ltd. and C. D. Lester and Associates, both of Calgary, have oil and gas prospecting permits in northern Greenland.

Walsh concerning the need for more doctors in the Labrador City-Wabush area.

Dear Mr. Walsh:

May I acknowledge your letter of December 1st. in which you give me details of the statements authorized by you for release on December 2nd.

I am delighted to learn of your concern for the recruitment of additional medical personnel for the Wabush and Labrador City area. I have no doubt that the people in the area could make use of the services of additional doctors.

Anything which can be done to encourage additional doctors to establish in these communities would be most desirable. I would welcome your suggestions I should add, on my own knowledge, that the Iron Ore Company of Canada have for some time been trying to recruit additional medical staff, particularly surgeons. They have had little success. The difficulty, I think, lies with the continued shortage of doctors in Newfoundland indeed throughout Canada.

Sincerely yours,
-E. Roberts.
