On the local scene

Last week we attended the Labrador West Chamber of Commerce dinner at which Mr. Wm. Taciuk, the local Asst.-Manager, Iron Ore Company of Canada was guest speaker.

He reviewed the I.O.C.C. operation at Schefferville from 1954 to date also the starting of the Carol Project in 1958, which commenced production of concentrate in 1962. The various phases of expansions since that date and the $160 million expenditure currently underway. When completed in Sept. '72 this operation will be able to produce 22.5 Million tons of Concentrate and 10.5 million tons of Iron Ore Pellets, making it the largest operation of its kind, in the world.

The new Crusher at the Carol Concentrator will be capable of grinding 2,500 L.T. of raw ore, per hour. According to Mr. Taciuk the expanded concentrating facilities will actually be two independent plants permitting one to close while the other operates.

Millions of dollars worth of new equipment, including (7) new Shovels and a number of Trucks with capacity of 145 tons will be purchased for the larger operation.

Quite an expenditure is also planned for Sept. The I.O.C. Asst.-Manager pointed out the two new Allis-Chalmers "lines" which will be installed in the Seven Islands plant will have a capacity to each produce 3.0 M. Long Tons of Pellets per annum, making these the world's largest. It is expected production there will start early in 1973. Mr. Taciuk further stated the contract with Japanese interests was for a long-term, fixed price basis. He noted the expansion should result in approximately 550 new jobs at I.O.C. Labrador City. It is also expected a number of suppliers will be establishing offices, maintenance repair shops and warehouses in the area.

The new Chamber President Mr. J. Morency, on behalf of those present, thanked Mr. Taciuk for a most interesting and informative address.

According to a recent report from Ottawa D.O.T. has no plans to expand or build a new terminal at Wabush Airport. This information was given in reply to a written question from Ambrose

1971 LABRADOR WEST WINTER CARNIVAL

To: Judges Of The Carnival Queen Contest.

Chairman: Mr. Wm. Campbell,
Members: Mr. J. Lemke,
Magistrate M. Rowe, Mme. Jeanne Hebert, Miss Betty Tobin.

From: C. G. Tulk, Carnival Committee Member.

On behalf of The Labrador West Winter Carnival Committee, I would like to thank you for offering your services in judging the contestants for our 1971 Winter Carnival.

Entrants will be judged by, character, poise, personality, intelligence, charm and beauty of face and figure.

Peddle (P.C. Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador).

Mr. Peddle commenting on the statement said: "The present terminal building is absolutely inadequate for the rapidly-increasing passenger traffic and the department (with a Newfoundland Minister) should recognize this need and not have to be cajoled into action."

The M.P. added: "Labrador City-Wabush is a modern, rapidly-growing area with nearly every amenity of central urbanization, but not an adequate airport facility. How long must we wait for this government to recognize this?"

Seems C.B.C. radio have again given up doing their homework on this part of Labrador. Several recent statements: "Thirty-three per cent of the permanent residents of Labrador City are French speaking Canadians." And again: "There are three snowmobile clubs in the Province, at Corner Brook, Gander and St. John's."

On point one (which was made during a report on bilingual districts for the province); the latest survey, made about a year ago put the figure at 17 per cent. On the second point, I presume the Ouananiche Snow-Mobile Club of Wabush and Tanya Snow-Cart Club of Labrador City are not in the Province.

While on the subject of Newfoundland, we were amazed, while watching the closing ceremonies of the Canada Winter Games, to see this Province's representative carrying the Union Jack as the official flag of Newfoundland. This Province has had its own banner for many years and reverting to Britain's flag seems to us "very colonialistic."

While discussing the recent marriage of Prime Minister Trudeau with a couple of local humorist's we were given two versions of the event.

1. After listening last week, to the chants of Toronto's unemployed

I am glad I am a Canadian
Glad that I am free,
Wish I was a little dog,
and Trudeau was a tree.

Mr. Trudeau wanted to hear something more soothing.

2. With the possibility that Family Allowance cheque's may be cut from those making in excess of $10,000 per year our Prime Minister wanted to supplement his income with a Baby Bonus cheque before the new law become's effective.

In a statement issued today, the Chairman of the Royal Commission on Labor Legislation and Labour Relations in Newfoundland and Labrador, Dr. Maxwell Cohen, expressed his very deep regrets in the passing of the Minister of Labour, the Hon. W. J. Keough. "The Royal Commission had received from Mr. Keough the fullest co-operation and benefitted greatly from his experience and advice", said Dr. Cohen.

Aurora would like also to add our sincere sympathy especially to Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Penney of Labrador City, the late Mr. Keough was Irene's brother.

The Bible Today

Across the road from the Bible Society offices in Auckland, New Zealand, is a shop labelled 'Resistance' (it is the centre for anarchist, revolutionary, and communist literature in the metropolis of Auckland). Recently the Deputy General Secretary of the Bible Society went into the shop incognito, and noticing photographs of Ho Chi Minh and Chairman Mao, among others, together with the printed works of all the great Communist and Socialist writers of the century, he asked the young man behind the counter what the moving force of the organization was. The man answered, "We preach love, peace, and brotherhood amongst all men, and this will come once the present oppression is overthrown by revolution!"

To this the Bible Secretary replied "Why, I belong to an organization that preaches the same doctrine of love, peace and brotherhood. Would you like to hear some writing? Close your eyes, sit back and listen."

Enjoying the challenge, the young revolutionary sat back and did just this. Passages were read from 'Love Selection' — Corinthians 13 and the Epistle of James in Today's English Version. The Listener's yes gradually opened in amazement and he asked "what's this you are reading? It sounds just like our manifesto!" On being told that in fact they were Selections of Scripture he retorted, "You must be joking. That couldn't be from the Bible because I understand it!" On being assured that in fact they were passages from the Bible he was then easily persuaded to take a supply to have on sale in the bookshop together with the Communist literature. So today, along with Marx, Lenin, Engels, Chairman Mao, and others, copies of The Word are going out — the Word which will not return void but will accomplish and prosper.

APPEARING NIGHTLY AT THE ASHUANIPI CLUB, 15 thru 21 MARCH.

Editorially Speaking

LIVE T.V. FOR LABRADOR CITY-WABUSH: Some five years ago while pressing for an improvement of our "canned" T.V., we asked also for a definite date, we would expect live reception.

The late Director of C.B.C. services in this Province stated very little improvement could be expected at that time. However satellite reception was under consideration for Northern Canada. Several years later it was announced that Telesat Canada (a corporation based on investment from the Federal Government, the telecommunications companies and the general public) had been formed to provide satellite service to northern viewers. Shortly after it was stated the "Anik" satellite and earth stations would probably be operational by late 1971. Unfortunately financing and technical difficulties plagued the project almost from the start. The operational date became early '72 and then late '72. In January of this year the Federal Minister of Communications, Hon. Eric Kierans announced "Anik" would go into operation early in 1973.

Last autumn several engineers from Telesat Canada visited our area and selected a spot near the water tower in Labrador City, as a site for construction of one of the more than 30 satellite earth stations. We now have it on good authority that local officials were recently advised Telesat Canada will not build a satellite earth station here. However we have been unable to ascertain if this means live television is out for the foreseeable future.

Earlier this year Aurora reported it might be possible to receive "canned" color T.V. later this year. According to latest information this will not prove possible because of changes in equipment. And so while our transmission has improved of late, we still have a long way to go for satisfactory service.

As we see it, the pronouncement from Mr. Kierans earlier this year was strictly propaganda. Here are excerpts from his remarks:

"HIGH STANDARDS: The result has been that in the past Canadians have had a high standard of service in telephony, telegraphy and more recently data-transmission in most parts of the country. One of the aims of a national communications policy must of course be to assure that these high standards are more readily available to the peripheral regions of the country, especially those remote areas that promise to become our new frontier.

But another preoccupation of the policy-maker must be to assure the country that we do not lose the control of our communications systems in the future. One way in which this could happen is by our failure to grasp and utilize the benefits of new technologies.

The first Canadian satellite system, "Anik," will probably be followed a few months later by one or more domestic American systems. The fact that the Canadian system will be there first avoids the problems that might have occurred if American facilities had become available to Canadian users first."

We cannot help but agree with the statement of Mr. Ambrose Peddle, M.P. that he could not vote for the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars to provide live coverage of House of Commons sittings, when people in Labrador have delayed, or no T.V. at all.

Here 'n' There

16 GALLONS OF BEER EACH? According to figures recently released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics breweries shipped 31.5 million gallons in December, 1970, bringing the year's total shipments to 335.7 million gallons for domestic use in Canada.

That was the equivalent of 16 gallons for every man, woman and child. It was also the equivalent of 42 gallons per person in the labor force.

LEGALIZED PROSTITUTION NOT FOR LAS VEGAS:

Public protests and this gambling centre's concern for its tourist image have scuttled a proposal that prostitution be legalized in a single brothel paying $100,000.00-a-year-license. "It's dead now," said a member of the Clark County commission.

RECESSION COMING: Former prime minister Harold Wilson said last week that Britain is heading toward a serious economic recession. "All signs are that we are spiralling into a serious recession and that unemployment will get a good deal worse," Wilson said in a BBC radio interview in London.

N.B. LOOKS FOR INCREASED CONSTRUCTION:

The lagging pace of home-building in New Brunswick is expected to pick up with removal of the 8 per cent provincial sales tax on building materials. It will save builders an estimated $600-$800 on houses costing $16,000-$20,000.

Premier Richard B. Hatfield lifted the tax shortly after his Progressive Government was sworn into office. It was a shot in the arm at the right time, said the president of the N.B. Construction Association. "I expect contractors to pass on the sales tax savings to the purchaser", the premier said. New Brunswick housing starts were down 37 per cent last year.

TROUBLES FOR CALIFORNIA NUDIST CAMPS: "The sexual revolution is killing us," complains Mel Hocker. He is one of many nudist camp operators in Southern California, long regarded as the bare skin capital of the United States. Many operators report membership is plummeting. "Nudist camp operators have held a number of meetings exchanging ideas on what to do about it," says Ernie Miller, 61, who has owned a camp since 1935. The operators agreed that the pinch was due at least in part to the new mood of sexual permissiveness.

Says Hooker, who for 15 years has run a 1,200-acre mountain retreat 80 miles east of Los Angeles, "I've never been known to be a prude," (he was interviewed in the nude) "and I'm one of the last persons on earth that would consider censorship. But the pornographic movies now being shown in many neighbourhood theatres, well, they are just too much. That's what's making nudism in

LETTER TO THE EDITOR "C.F.G.B. RADIO"

The Editor
The Aurora
Labrador City, Nfld.

Dear Sir:

To Mr. P. Walsh, it's nice to know you are taking an interest in our T.V. and Radio Service. However you must remember there is a guy, his name is Mr. Burgess who started this action. I don't vote for the Party but for the man. Understand your Big Leader is coming to Labrador this week probably to see what he can get from Labrador. He's going to see you people at $25.00; nice but that's more than I make in one day. Anyway that's enough of that.

Mr. Walsh can't you do something about Mrs. Mary Simms the lady announcer at C.F.G.B. Goose Bay (or should I say C.B.D.Q.). That voice is so repulsive and I am sure most local residents agree with me. I wonder if you or your big leader have time to listen to her voice. I am sure no other Radio Station would allow her on the air. However this is Labrador City and they don't care for the overworked man. When he comes in from the fifty below weather and has to listen to this he may as well have stayed outside or maybe better still, go back to work and fight with his boss. So Mr. Walsh you should do something about getting her off the air before you have a hospital full of people, ill because of her voice.

MRS. SMALL.

ED. NOTE. Must be a new resident, I and Aurora, have referred to C.F.G.B. service (mainly the lack of) many times over the past years.

America passe, the new libertine movies, the topless-bottomless bars, the whole sexual syndrome. Nudism in America is commonplace today."

Hocker says his membership has dropped to 200 couples and families from 600. Annual dues at most camps are about $100.00

SWEDEN TO LOCK OUT OFFICERS: The Swedish government has declared what is believed to be the world's first lockout, of military officers. The announcement followed stoppages in rail services, education, welfare and the legal apparatus. The officers are members of the Professional Workers' Union, which is involved in various stoppages over pay demands.

CELIBACY NOT "INHUMAN DECLARES POPE": Pope Paul denied last month that celibacy is an "inhuman and impossible" demand on Roman Catholic priests. The pontiff, addressing priests and seminarians, said priests should not feel repressed, but rather "exalted, transfigured and made powerful by sacred celibacy."

JAIL RATHER THAN A HAIR CUT: Stephen Fuller of Boston was told marijuana possession charges could be dropped against him if he got a haircut. Fuller chose to keep his hair.

Municipal court judge E.J. Adlow told Fuller he would file and eventually dismiss the charges if Fuller went to a barber school and got his bushy hair trimmed. The alternative was a suspended one-month sentence and three months probation.

Fuller, a 23-year-old ex-Marine sergeant, said he and "other people" liked his hair the way it is. "Well, then, sentence will stand as it is and I feel sorry for you," Adlow said.

P.C. Leader Stanfield will officially open 1971 Labrador West Carnival

WINTER CARNIVAL '71: The word is "go" for our 1971 Winter Carnival. All events and normal details have finally been agreed upon. The only foreseeable problem at the moment (other than weather) concerns carnival regalia. Residents are advised that ONLY TOQUE'S AND BON HOMME'S sold through or by the LIONS CLUB, WILL ADMIT PEOPLE, FREE, to various Carnival events. This is the official dress for Carnival '71.

Six young ladies, (4) from L.C. and (2) from Wabush have entered in the High School Queen contest. We have had some difficulty in obtaining pictures but trust, at least a group photo will be available at Friday's crowning by Mr. Stanfield.

Twenty-two Floats have been officially entered in the Carnival Parade. The Marshall, G. McIntyre, requests all participants gather at the Labrador City Shopping Centre between 12:00-12:30 p.m. on Sunday. Following the judging, it is essential the parade move out not later than 1:15 p.m. The following is the tentative route:-

As seen by the above sketch the Parade will leave the Labrador City Shopping Centre moving along Humber, Cartier, Bartlett, Hudson, Amherst, and finally Avalon on the way to Wabush. In Wabush the route will cover Grenfell, Bowater, Whiteway and Bond. It will be dismissed at the Wabush Rec. Centre.-Shopping Plaza.

Education Week in The Twin Towns

Towards new education horizons . . .

This article was prepared by Mr. Edgar Hunt, Mr. D.J.P. Evans and Mrs. Brenda Hare. And edited by J. Cole.

Labrador City Collegiate is looking toward new horizons and seeking new worlds in the educational field.

This can quite easily be shown by the new and adventuresome prevocational Training Program. This program under the auspices of the Iron Ore Company of Canada, and in direct co-operation with the Training Department of the Company, has developed into one, second-to-none of any secondary school in the province of Nfld. and Labrador.

With the basic educational philosophy of "Educational opportunity for all" rather than "Educational opportunity for the able," the teaching staff of Labrador City Collegiate fought for and obtained permission to offer an Industrial Arts Program of Studies. This program of study is designed to cater to and develop the skills of the student who isn't university oriented. These students who aren't academically oriented are now given the opportunity to further their vocational and technical interests rather than being forced to pore through a diluted academic course of studies. Labrador City Collegiate hopes to open educational doors by its Vocational Branch within the academic setting.

At present the program consists of two courses namely: Technical Woodworking, for both Grade IX and X French and English students, and Automechanics for Grade XI English students only. Both Courses have been approved by the Department of Education as pilot projects, and full accreditation will be given upon completion of such courses. Instructors for these courses are Mr. Edgar Hunt who teaches the Technical Woodworking course and the automechanics course is taught by instructors from the Iron Ore Company of Canada's training department. It seems that all students involved in these courses show a keen interest and participate exceptionally well.

Naturally the initial cost of such a vocational program is great. However, the Iron Ore Company of Canada has been more than generous in providing the Collegiate Building with the necessary equipment and materials to commence the program. As a result of such generosity the two shops will be furnished with most of the necessary hand tools. The Technical Woodworking Shop contains bench saws, band saws, jig saw and drill press, to mention a few such power tools.

For the year 1971-72 a course in Basic Electricity will be offered to Grade X students. While it isn't the intention of Labrador City Collegiate to offer a full fledged Trades Program, such training at the pre-Trades level serves as an introduction and gives the Technecologically oriented students a foundation for studies beyond the secondary school level. Labrador City Collegiate in this respect may be aptly classified as a Lighthouse School for the remainder of the Province.

Again in keeping with the tradition of Education Week, the first week in March, Labrador

City Collegiate will hold a Career Day on Friday March 5.

Due to the efforts of Mr. D. J. P. Evans, the Guidance Counsellor, students will have the opportunity to listen to and talk with a number of representatives from Education, Government, and Industry. Each of these people, by virtue of his own training and experience, will be able to describe and explain one or several related careers to a group of interested students. More than forty-eight visitors, from both local and out of town sources are expected to be on hand to share their knowledge with students of Grades 9-11.

Both the morning and afternoon sessions will open with a general assembly of students to hear speakers talk on the importance of and preparation for post-secondary education in relation to the selection of a career. During the balance of the day, the students will be able to choose to hear one of about ten speakers during each class period. Each speaker will be appearing in separate classrooms.

The scope of topics to be covered is vast. Some of the topics to be presented in relation to careers are: Meteorology, Hotel

Management, Theology, Dramatics, Health Professions, Merchandising, Teaching, Accounting, Geology, Data Processing, Mechanical and Electrical Trades and Technology, Social work, Photography, Private Business, Education, Anthropology, Chemistry and Aviation.

While one day such as this will not enable students to immediately finalize their career plans, the day is designed to provide the basis for development of plans and hopefully, personal plans for further education.

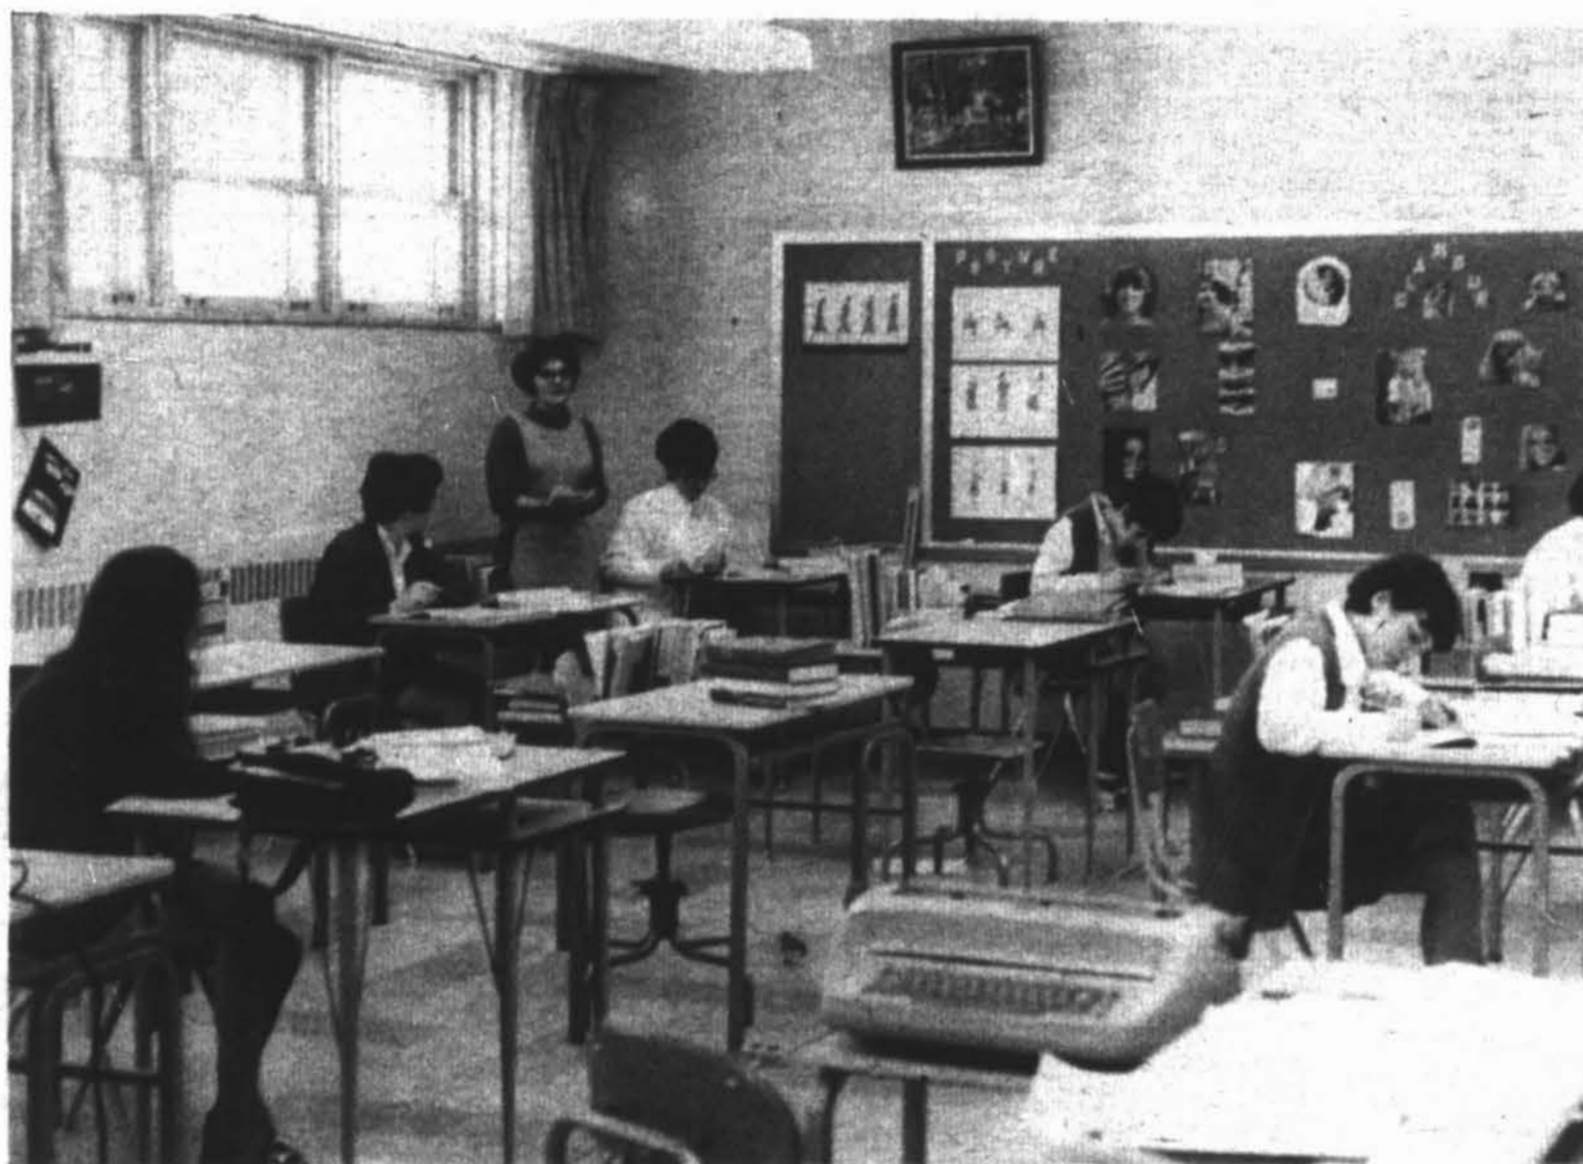

Although Career Day of March 5 may be considered the highlight of Education Week, The Business Education Department headed by Mrs. B. Hare held a Career Conference Day on Friday, February 26. The objective of which was to expose business students to various phases of the business world with emphasis on the medical, legal, and executive secretary. Wabush students, past graduates, and interested high school students were invited to attend.

The morning session consisted of films, and a panel discussion entitled "Your Career in Prospective." Panel members consisted of a variety of Labrador City business men representing personnel, data processing, legal, banking, and other financial areas. Each member spoke on his respective field from the point of view of skill levels, duties, and personal qualities expected of their employees. Following he talks there was open questions from the audience, and informal discussions.

Mr. R. G. McArthur, Principal of the Cape Breton Business College, was guest speaker of the afternoon session. His talk was centered around the training of legal, medical, and executive secretaries.

This Conference Day provided an opportunity for present and past business graduates of Labrador City Collegiate to learn about more specialized areas of secretarial training. A purpose, which ought not to be overlooked was the provision of an expert's services so that students could have private interviews to discuss future career plans.

To conclude, Labrador City Collegiate through its Career Day, The Business Education Career Conference Day, the Pre-Vocational Program, and other aspects of its curricula provides an educational opportunity to every one of its students enrolled in the school. With the very generous cooperation of Iron Ore Company of Canada and persons of other private business and professional concerns, Labrador City Collegiate is paving the way for a bright future for the students of today who are men and women of tomorrow.

A typical scene in the life of the Business Education Department.

Speaking of Sports

WABUSH STADIUM: Last week Messrs J. Dicks, J. Lemke and N. Sherren returned from St. John's following a meeting with Premier Smallwood on the proposed Stadium for the City of Wabush. The Provincial Government has agreed to GRANT $150,000 towards construction of the $350,000 building.

At present through deduction and other fund raising activities $65,000 has been raised locally. However only 36% of Wabush Mines Hourly Paid employees and 26% of the Staff employees have signed for the 1% deduction plan. The Stadium Committee has set 75% of all employees as its near-term target. So how about it residents this is a community endeavour, why not ALL the people of Wabush behind this most important venture. The building will be built-operated-maintained by the Local Improvement District of Wabush for all the people of our town. A building committee consisting of J. Dicks, F. Coish and N. Sherren has been formed to work on design, engineering, etc. for the new Stadium. Current plans call for the start of construction, late in May or early June.

The Committee has arranged a meeting for next week with Mr. Whaley, General Manager of Wabush Mines, to discuss the mining company's participation in the Project.

HOCKEY: "A" League: Most unfortunate that last week's attack on an official had to mar what is probably the most exciting senior semi-final series seen here in years.

We say many hockey games in the 40's when sectarian feeling were running as high as Northern Ireland today but can't ever recall any serious incidents. So let's "cool it" spectators for the rest of the season. At this writing the Braves lead 2-1 and fans can expect at least two more good hockey games before the finals.

"B" League: Almost forgotten in the close battle between the Huskies & Braves is the "B" semi-finals between the Junior and Indians. At last report the Juniors were one up.

Industrial League: A best two of three game series, between the Labrador City All Stars & Wabush All Stars, will be played during Winter Carnival '71.

MINOR HOCKEY: Understand inclement weather conditions over the past weekend, forced cancellation of the (3) team visit to Sept Iles.

SKI NEWS

Smokey Mt. Ski Lodge would like to send you on a ski trip to Switzerland. In order to support the Junior Development Program the Ski Club is sponsoring a raffle with three big prizes-the first ticket drawn will receive a trip for two to the Canadian Rockies, the 500th ticket wins a trip to the U.S. Rockies for two; and the thousandth ticket will receive the grand prize of a trip for two to Switzerland or $2,000. There are only 1000 tickets printed and every tenth one drawn will get back the price of his ticket. The tickets which cost $10 are going fast, and the draw will be April 4th.

This weekend will see top competition on the slopes as Smokey Mt. plays host to the Iron Mug Invitational Meet. This is your chance to see our Winter Games Skiers in action. Nancy Greene Ski Team of the Week-Grenoble: Manager-Bill Taylor, Coach-Doug Argue, Instructor-Nona Argue, Captain-Robert Watson, M. McKim, J. Burchert, C. Dawson, M. Christie, S. Taylor, M. ## THE EGG

Crouching is basically a racing technique, but it is used by most skiers when crossing long flats.

Often we see beginner and intermediate skiers crouching with their shoulders very high, hands tucked in close to the chest and the ski poles sticking up like two antennae. They look more like insects crossing the hill than skiers looking for an aerodynamic position on their skis.

To be aerodynamic, your back must be parallel with the ground. Your shoulders must be low, your arms in front of the body so that the elbows can rest inside, and in front of the knees. The thighs and lower back become oval or egg shaped. Your skis should always be flat on the snow. In bumpy terrain, the legs must extend to absorb the bumps while your back remains parallel to the ground.

THE SINGLE FEMALE ON AN OCEAN CRUISE: Here's how a stenographer from Calgary describes her initial boat cruise which she took on her own.

"Before embarking on my first ocean cruise, I had stage fright. I was signed on for a 10-day cruise through the Panama Canal, San Francisco to Nassau in the Bahamas, and I was suffering every fear in the book. Would my travelling companions be snobbish bores? Would they be old enough to have fought in the Boer War? Had I packed the right clothes? I was sure I'd get seasick and have to spend most of my time in my cabin.

The first question was answered a few minutes after I'd been shown to my compact, attractive cabin on P & O Lines Oriana (ED. NOTE. We visited the Oriana in Acapulco harbor several years ago and by no stretch of the imagination, could this be considered a luxury ship), when an invitation arrived for a presailing cocktail party. It wasn't for everyone on board ship, just our travelling group.

The natives were at least friendly, I decided, and set out to find the party. After making several wrong turns trying to find "aft" of the ship (you never call it a boat, so I was informed by the chief officer. I just followed the noise down a long corridor to the party. There, my panic as to dinner companions was quickly dispelled, I met the other four and they looked interesting, particularly a charming movie producer. To my relief, dinner dress was a real mixed bag. There were several women with mink stoles and dinner-jacketed husbands, but they were far outnumbered by those with colorful summer gear that obviously had been worn at home last summer.

Food? Admittedly, the dinner menu never did live up to the gigantic size described by my friends.

Mornings were my favorite time of day. It was great to lean back in bed well after the conventional breakfast hour and munch hot rolls covered in Scottish marmalade and drink coffee. All the while, I knew that, just outside my door, the stewards were placing bets on how late I would get up that morning. The tempo, unlike previous holidays at a southern beach, continued at the same delightfully slow pace for the rest of the day:

Dress in a bathing suit (the outfit most of my fellow passengers favored until the sun went down); soak up sun; have a swim and drink before the buffet lunch was served on the deck next to the pool. While some of the more energetic types took advantage of deck tennis, a golf driving range, table tennis and a lot of other activities that involved "exercise", I usually spend the rest of the afternoon avoiding sunburn in a shaded corner with a book.

The important thing, however, was that the activities were there if I wanted to participate. One of the essential differences I found between cruising and staying in a vacation hotel is that built-in entertainment that comes for the same price, such as no taxis or cover charge to get into the floor show. Cabarets are a matter of luck, depending on who's headlining the show and on the cruise itself. But most large ships, such as the Oriana, provide everything from swinging discotheques to horse races; from silly, but entertaining games such as What's My Line? to the latest movies. And there are enough different lounges, bars and nooks for intimate drinks and big parties to avoid those you don't want to see. Cruising is definitely not just a holiday for older people. While the dancing in tourist class was certainly noisier and livelier than it was on the upper decks, nevertheless there seemed to be plenty of swingers travelling first class. Of course, on one-class ships (most cruises are these days) everyone gets mixed together and fares depend on the type of cabin.

Shore excursions vary with the trip. Our highlight was the day's sail (it takes about eight hours) through the Panama Canal. Balboa and Cristobal, two stopover ports in the American-controlled Canal Zone, could be covered in a few hours and we didn't have enough time to see anything of the country beyond. Indeed, it was a relief to get back to the air conditioned ship after sweltering through tropical heat.

Finally, after 10 days of eating, swimming, sunning, and in general having fun, I came back to wet, cold weather feeling I'd been away for months."

Education Week in The Twin Towns

New school, new programs for Elementary students

By A. D. WRIGHT

The new A.P. Low Elementary school, which admitted its first students in mid-September and will hold its official opening shortly, is a definite step forward for education in Labrador City. The new building is the culmination of two years of cooperative planning by the Labrador West Integrated School Board, the Iron Ore Company, and local education authorities. All those involved were anxious to provide a modern school building which would facilitate the latest teaching methods and offer the best possible education to the students of the Labrador City area.

The new school contains thirty classrooms, a spacious library and reference room, well equipped rooms for art and science, an audio-visual room, music room and Conversational French room. Other notable features are the regulation gymnasium with a spectator area, carpeted Kindergarten area, and adequate office space for the school principal, secretary, school nurse and guidance councillor.

On first inspection the school may appear to be the traditional egg crate design, however, the school is unique in the Labrador West area, in that all classrooms contain flexible walls. These walls can be moved back to transform two or three separate classrooms into one large teaching area. This feature of the A. P. Low school will provide teachers with an excellent opportunity to introduce new programs such as large and small group instruction and team teaching.

Large and small group instruction would eliminate the necessity of a teacher giving three groups of students essentially the same material on three different occasions. Instead the teacher could present the material once to a large group and time saved could be spent with smaller groups. These smaller groups could then receive the additional individual help which is so necessary to the education process.

Team teaching has many variations and consequently many definitions, however, the most valuable type takes advantage of the individual skills of each team member to provide students with the most effective presentation of subject matter. This method also provides more individual student - teacher contact.

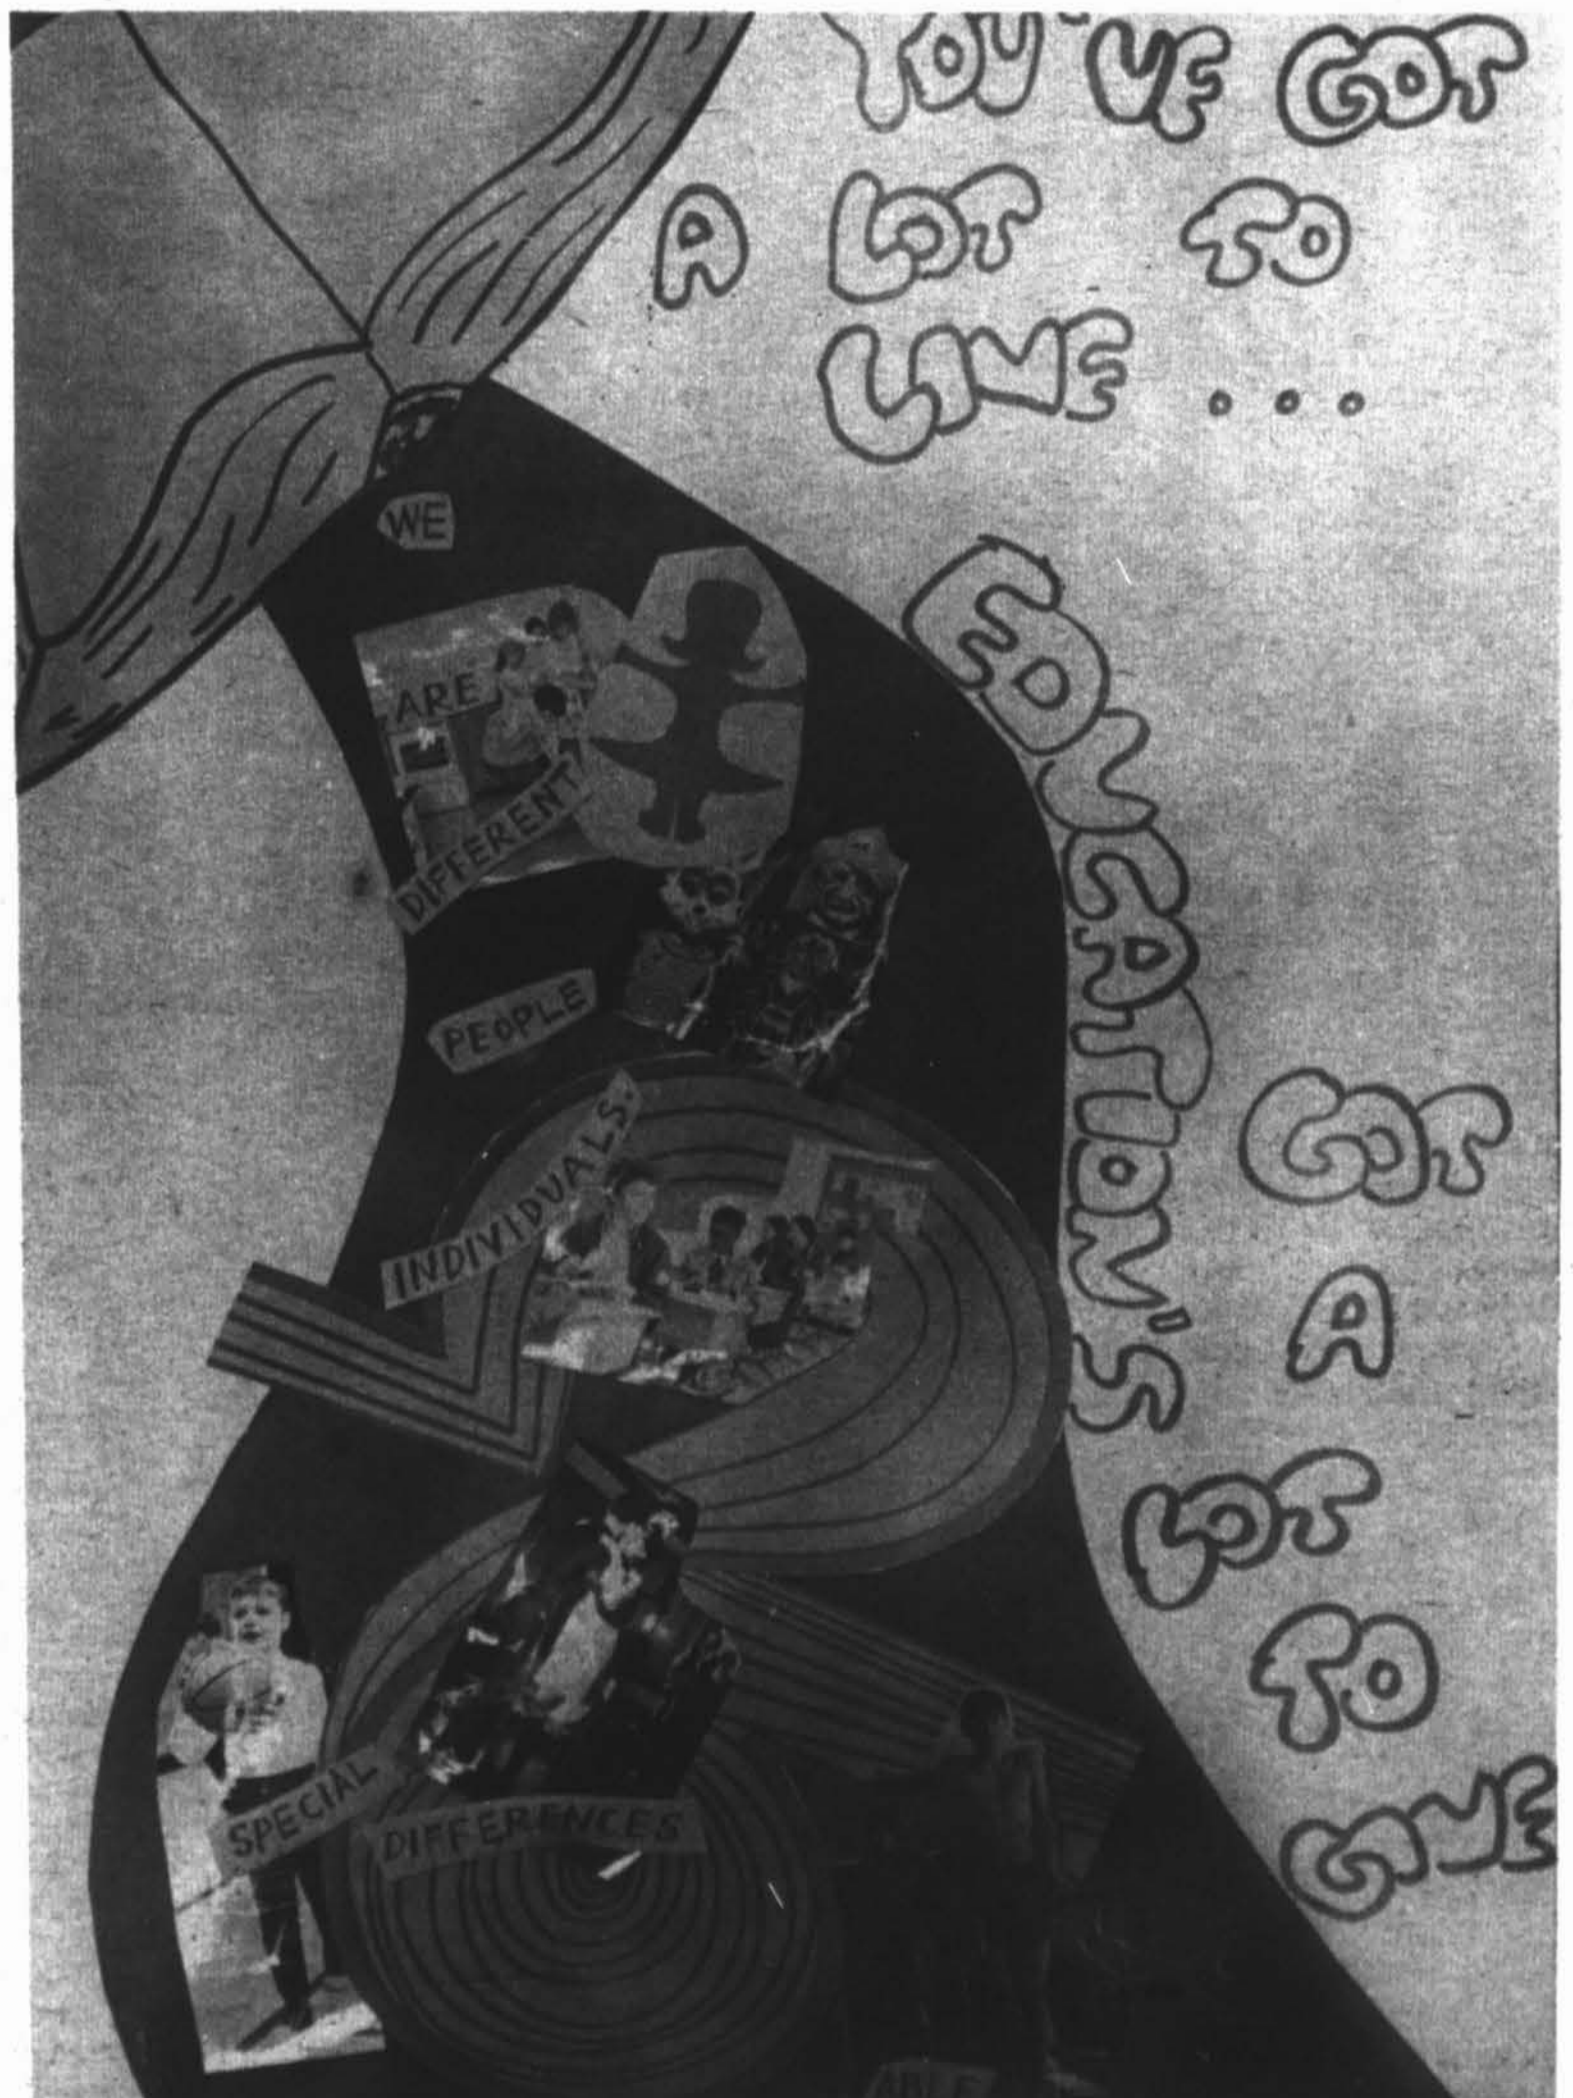

Mr. Royden Mills and Mrs. Theresa Boote, of the A. P. Low staff are presently planning a team teaching project in the Grade VII and VIII Mathematics area. This program should be introduced in the coming school year. Both participants feel that the new program will place greater demands on students while at the same time make learning more interesting and effective.

In the meantime, other teachers on the staff are conducting their own experiments and team teaching is being used periodically in other subject areas. Teachers in the school are enthusiastic about the possibilities which their new building affords them.

Mr. Douglas Spracklin, School Principal and Mr. R. F. Martin, District Superintendent, are enthusiastic about these projects and it is hoped that experience gained from these initial projects will lead to further developments in the near future.

Grouping: a better way to handle pupils' needs

Miss Judith O'Brien,
Grade II Teacher,
C.E. McManus Primary School,
Labrador City, Labrador.

Grouping is a system whereby each individual class is divided into groups according to pupils' needs. For example; in one class there may be three different reading groups, each grouped according to reading ability. Each of the three groups would work at different levels and at different rates. In this same classroom there may also be different groups, grouped according to mathematical ability. The possibilities here are endless and it is hoped that the pupils' individual needs are being catered to and that this in turn will enable him or her to progress at his or her own rate.

There are many advantages to this system, some of which are obvious. Because the teacher is working with smaller groups, made up of children working together at a particular level, she comes into closer contact with each child. This not only establishes a better relationship between the child and teacher, but also enables the teacher to better analyze each individual's difficulty and affords her more time to help him or her with it.

Another point in favour of grouping is that there should be no pressure on the average and slower child to compete with the top students. This of course is defeated if all the children are made to write a common exam. In this you are teaching a child at one level and testing him or her at another, a practice which cannot make much sense.

In this system the pupil learns to work independently. Because the teacher is busy elsewhere he or she will try to work things out on his or her own rather than heading for the teacher's desk at the first little difficulty.

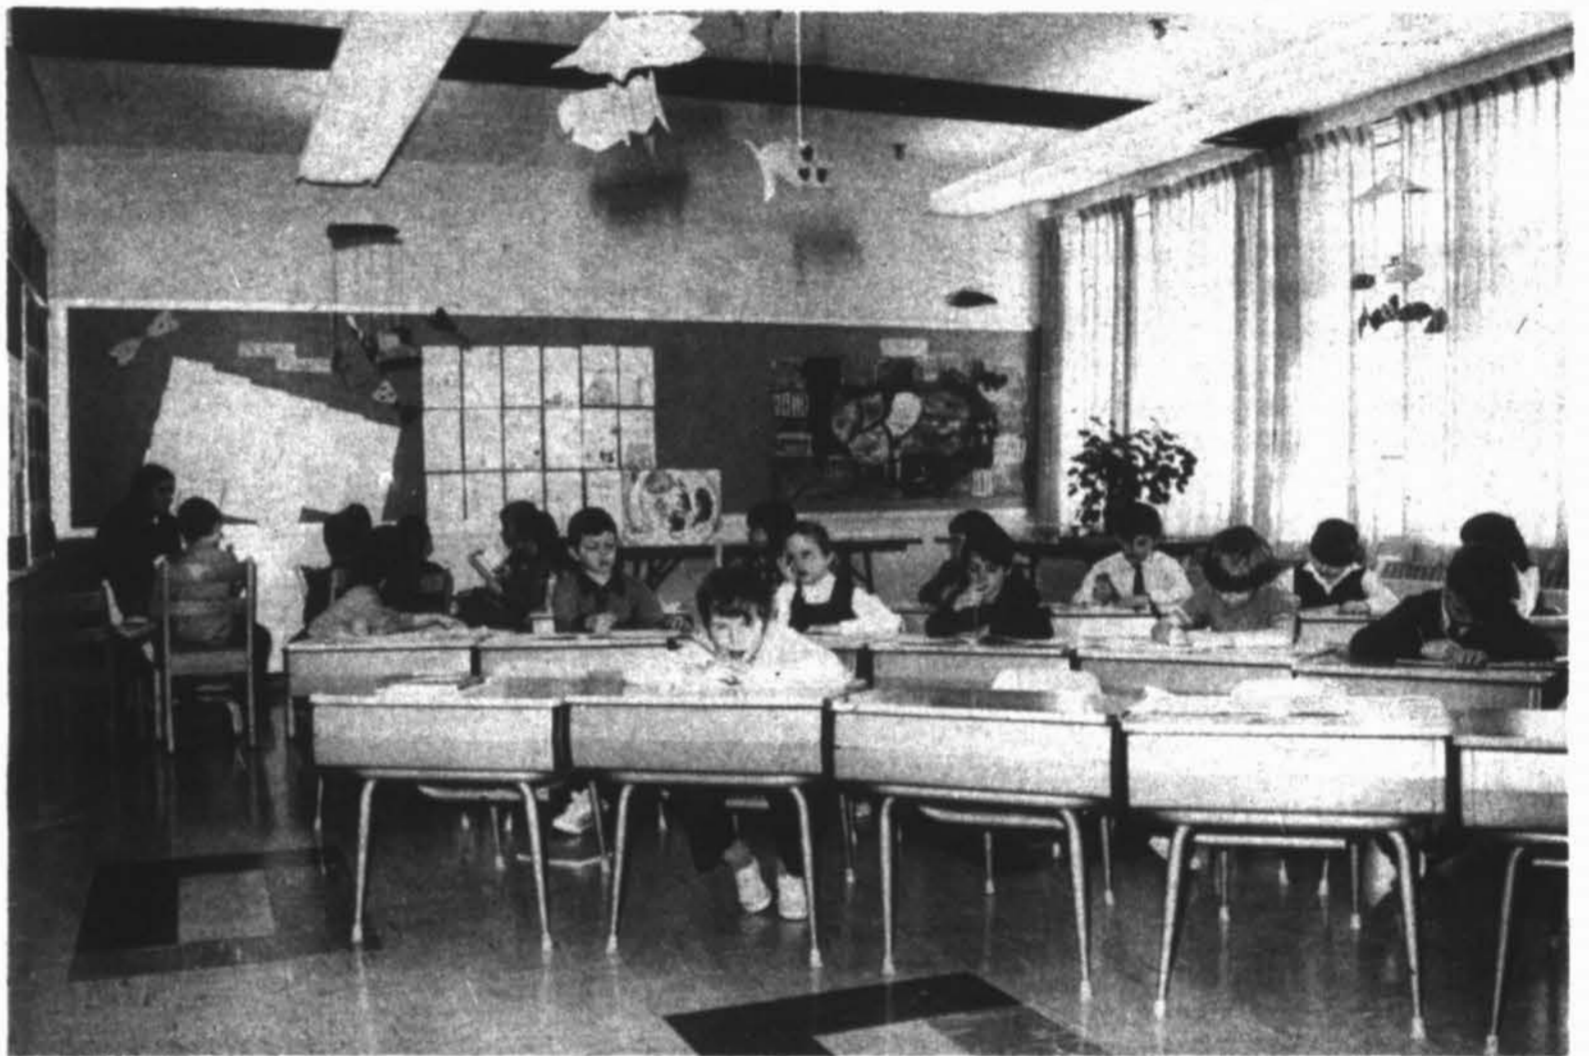

Like any other system it also has its disadvantages. The teacher's work load is increased considerably and now, instead of preparing one lesson for each 20-30 minute period, she is preparing three or four lessons, depending upon the number of groups. During each period she spends her time with one group while the others work independently at seatwork prepared previously by the teacher. For example - while one group is doing reading with the teacher, another may be working on math problems and another may be doing workbook. This takes a great deal of thought and organization on the teacher's part, as she must know what each group will be doing and how long it will take them to do it.

After this 20-minute period, one of the groups that previously worked independently will work with the teacher, and so on until the teacher has worked with all groups. Then all this work must be gone over and checked by the teacher and each individual helped if there is difficulty.

Grouping, as can be seen is not an end in itself. It is merely one way of achieving success for the students.

GRADE TWO Class—Miss J. O'Brien class teacher is conducting a reading lesson with one group of students while other students work independently.

PREPARE FOR HIGHER POST OFFICE RATES: A softening-up campaign is now underway to prepare the general public for postal rate increases next January. Strong statements by Mr. J.P. Cote, the minister responsible for the post office, and the parading of deficits by postal officials are intended to create the right climate for the hikes.

First class mail will go up by a third, to 8c for an ordinary letter. Rates for second class mail, chiefly magazines and newspapers, probably will go up by 1c per copy of an ordinary paper. The rotating post office strikes last summer and sharply rising costs have piled up a $120 million deficit on the post office in the present fiscal year. According to the management consultants retained by the department, this could double by 1976 if the present rates remain unchanged. However Mr. Cote may have to wait until next year because rate changes on the first two classes of mail must be approved by Parliament.

The consultants recommended that the post office be turned into a self-supporting crown corporation.

New managers in M. Cote's department are now trying to improve the battered image of the post office. The Guaranteed one-day service, started in several large centres last month, is intended to bring back lost business and develop new customers.

Mining news

CANADIAN JAVELIN GRANTED ACCESS ROUTE: Canadian Javelin Ltd. of St. John's, Nfld., has been granted rights-of-way extending 300 miles by the Quebec government for the company's proposed iron ore slurry pipeline. The pipeline is part of a $466 million project to mine, pelletize and transport iron ore from deposits in Northern Quebec and Labrador to the port of Sept Iles. Shipments of iron ore would be made to Japanese and European steelmakers, and the Sydney Steel Corp. of Nova Scotia. Quebec Cartier Railway, a subsidiary of Quebec Cartier Mining Co., Ltd., will provide access to a proposed mining complex at Canadian Javelin's mineral property in Quebec. It also has let a contract for work on its iron ore rail line. Quebec Cartier Mining, a wholly-owned subsidiary of U.S. Steel Corp., is involved in a $300 million development program at its Mount Wright iron ore mine, scheduled to be operating in 1974.

AUSTRALIA'S MINERAL EXPORTS: Australia's mineral exports will reach $3.4 billion by the end of the decade if the present trend continues, the Department of National Development reports:

In 1969-70, mineral exports reached $1.1 billion, a 46 per cent increase over the previous year. The department has estimated increases for the following minerals over the next 10 years:

1. Iron Ore, $925 million vs $368 million.
2. Aluminum, $920 million vs $141 million.
3. Coal, $748 million vs $188 million.
4. Copper, $190 million vs $98 million.

The department also expects Australia to become a major exporter of nickel during the 1970s. Although it doesn't export oil and gas, the discovery of a major field in the Bass Strait supplies 60 per cent of the country's needs.

INCREASED PROFITS REPORTED BY HOLLINGER: Consolidated net profit of Hollinger Mines Ltd. reached a record $12,413,946 in 1970, an increase of 27 per cent over the 1969 figure of $9,871,362. Profit per share amounted to $2.52 against $2.01 a year earlier and $2.50 in the previous record year of 1968.

Hollinger President A.L. Fairley says the record earnings in 1970 were achieved despite the revaluation of the Canadian dollar and would have amounted to an additional 21c per share had the dollar not been revalued upwards. Earnings of the Timmins, Ontario mining company are reported on a consolidated basis with those of its two main subsidiaries, Labrador Mining & Exploration Co. Ltd. and Hollinger North Shore Exploration Co. Ltd., both of which achieved higher earnings in 1970.

Labrador Mining had record earnings of $9,168,491 or $2.78 per share for 1970. In 1969 the company earned $2.08 per share and in the earlier record year of 1968, earnings amounted to $2.38 per share. Mr. Fairley said "after-tax earnings of Labrador Mining would have been 22c higher had it not been for this exchange loss."

ALCAN OPENING NEW MINE IN NEWFOUNDLAND: A new vein containing fluorspar will be opened at the Aluminum Co. of Canada's mining operations at St. Lawrence, on the Burin Peninsula. The new open-pit operation is scheduled to go into operation this summer to supplement production of the company's two mines.

The company has known about the vein for several years, a company spokesman explained, but has not found it necessary to mine it until this year. The 1971 quota from the St. Lawrence mines is 165,000 tons. Last year, 158,000 tons were shipped.

B.C. MINERAL SALES TO JAPAN EXPECTED TO REACH $500 MILLION: Impact of Japanese companies on British Columbia's economy is reflected in the fact that 19 Japanese import-export-mining firms have established offices in Vancouver. Included are seven Japanese mining companies becoming involved in joint ventures with Canadian interests and in conducting mineral exploration programs.

The British Columbia and Yukon Chamber of Mines reports British Columbia now is marketing more than $200 million worth of minerals in Japan each year and expects the total will rise to $500 million during the next five years. Japanese smelters are continuing to buy copper concentrates, while current contracts for coking coal from British Columbia and Alberta, valued at several billion dollars, call for delivery over the next 15 years.

Japanese demand for metals from British Columbia started before World War II, when iron ore was exported in considerable volume. In subsequent years, copper, nickel, lead, zinc, molybdenum and uranium have been shipped to Japan. Chamber of Mines estimates total investment by Japanese interests in British Columbia and Yukon is about $60 million.

The lighter side

THE COFFEE BOSS: An executive handed his secretary a stack of letters to type just a few minutes away from quitting time. Annoyed, the girl exclaimed: "I'd like to be the boss for one day and you be my secretary." "It wouldn't work," the executive replied, "I could never drink that much coffee."

THE POKER POT: Two hospital patients, bored and unable to secure playing cards, sneaked the diagnosis cards from a nurse's pocket as she went by. They started a game of draw poker with them. On the very first hand, after the draw, they bet high and outbid each other until all their money was on the table.

"Well, I guess I win," said one reaching for the money, "I've got three appendicitis and two gallstones."

"Just a minute," spoke up the other. "Not so fast. I've got four enemas."

"Okay," said the first. "You win the pot."

VERSATILE: A theatrical gent received a telephone call. "Hello. I want you to get me an engagement. I've got a great act. I can dance; I can sing; I can tell funny stories in 18 languages."

"Not interested," said the agent. "I've got dozens of clients who can do all those things."

"But I can recite Milton and Shakespeare backwards."

"Nope. I know plenty of people who can do that."

"Well, all right," said the voice "but I'm a dog."

AN INTERESTING HOBBY: We saw the following recently in the usually Prim and Proper Ottawa Journal: 'Beginner's Guide to Bras Rubbing open the door to an absorbing hobby. It gives background in the origins...materials required, various methods of rubbing and where to locate likely subjects..'

NOT CAFFINE FREE: A tramp put the finger on a banker as he was coming out of his office. "How about a dime for coffee?" he asked.

"Here," the banker said. "Here's 50 cents. Go buy yourself five cups of coffee."

The next day, as the banker was coming out of his office again, the same tramp came up and punched him in the nose.

"Hey," yelled the banker, "is that any way to treat me after I gave you a half-dollar?"

"You and your lousy five cups of coffee," the tramp snarled, punching him in the nose again. "They kept me awake all night."

LOTS OF LUCK: Two old college classmates met for the first time in years. "How goes it with you, Pete?" asked one.

"Not good at all," mourned Pete. "My wife ran away with the letter carrier, my son is a juvenile delinquent, my bank failed, and all my teeth will have to come out."

"Gosh, I'm sorry to hear that," sympathized the classmate. "What business are you in now?"

"Same old line," answered Pete. "Selling good-luck charms."

MONKEY BUSINESS: Two monks set up a fish'n'chip stand in front of a monastery during the tourist season.

A woman asked one: "Are you the fish fryer?"

"No, ma'am," he replied, "I'm the chip monk."

THE EXPERIENCED BOOKKEEPER: The boss was questioning a prospective bookkeeper: "Of course, you understand double entry?"

"Certainly," replied the applicant. "Nothing to it. Fact is that on my last job I used a treble entry system—one set for the boss to show what the real profits were, another set for the stockholders, showing that there were no profits, and a third set for the income tax people, showing a net loss."

The Cadet Scene

BY

P.O. 2 JOHN HART

On Tuesday night 16 Feb., two Officers, Capt. D. MacIntyre and 2/Lt. M. Timmins, accompanied by two Cadets, Chief Petty Officer J. Boulet and Petty Officer 2nd Class J. Hart, proceeded to the Labrador City Collegiate gymnasium to instruct the three companies of the Carol Girl Guides in general parade procedure.

Statements made by one of the Guiders were to the effect: "We (the Guiders) appreciate very much what you (the Sea Cadets) are doing for us to help us improve our guides. The girls are picking up quite well in their parade procedures even after only one hour of training. We have approached the Sea Cadets because we feel that due to your intense instruction and courses (C.F.B. Summer Camps) you are better equipped to help our girls in their drill."

This special instruction to the Labrador City Girl Guides should continue for about four or five weeks. R.C.S.C.C. Labrador is both happy and proud that we can be of assistance to another youth group in our area.

I would like to add that of my knowledge, in the History of Sea Cadets in Newfoundland, this is the first time that any venture of this kind has been undertaken.

Also of importance to Sea Cadets, W.O. G. McKee, Training N.C.O., from District Hq. in St. John's was in town from 19-24 Feb. to help with training procedures for our forth-coming annual inspection. Any boy between the ages of 13-18 interested in becoming a Sea Cadet; Parades are held each Tuesday night from 7:00-9:30 p.m. at the Wabush Recreation Centre.

Capt. Wm. Jackman Hospital Auxiliary

At the meeting of the Jackman Memorial Hospital Ladies Auxiliary held Monday evening, February 22, in the cafeteria, the president, Mrs. Arthur Henderson, welcomed thirty-four members and introduced five new members to the auxiliary: Mrs. Charles Burden, Mrs. John Power, Mrs. Budd Perry, Mrs. A. John Andrews and Mrs. Gary Kinney.

Membership fee for the year is $2.00.

Reports were given by two convenors, Mrs. Blake McCulloch, Tuck Cart Convenor, and Captain Ruth Halsey, Special Events Convenor. Mrs. McCulloch stated that she is still in need of volunteers to operate the tuck cart.

The cart is operated on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons. It carries an assortment of chocolate bars, gum, chips, cold drinks, baby announcement cards and other sundries which patients can buy. Two volunteers are required to operate the cart and keep track of the cash. Mrs. McCulloch reported that the patients really look forward to these visits from the ladies on the tuck cart. The hospital staff also enjoys a cool, refreshing drink, for an afternoon break, from the cart. Any lady in Wabush or Labrador City who would like to give two and a half hours of her time on one of the afternoons mentioned to the tuck cart, should contact Mrs. McCulloch at 944-5855. One need not be a member of the auxiliary to help.

Captain Halsey reported that Valentine's Day was observed by placing a valentine card on each patient's tray and using serviettes decorated with a valentine motif. Plans were being made to use the same idea for St. Patrick's Day.

The birthday cake on display, an iced fruit-cake decorated with two candles, had been made by Mrs. Charles Burden. At the end of the meeting Captain Halsey led the group in singing Happy Birthday to celebrate the Auxiliary's second anniversary.

Two convenors for Wabush were appointed: Home Auxiliary

Mr. Wm. Taciuk, Asst.-Manager Iron Ore Co., of Canada, Labrador City, addressing the Labrador West Chamber of Commerce.

Convenor, Mrs. James Lemke; Membership Convenor, Mrs. Nelson Sherren.

Mrs. Henderson reported that she had been contacted by Jim Barron, Chairman of the Red Cross campaign being conducted locally March 15 to 20th for funds. The ladies agreed to meet his request for assistance in supplying team captains for the campaign. Fourteen ladies volunteered to act as team captains.

The date for the Christmas Bazaar was set for Saturday, November 13.

The Auxiliary also decided to hold a spring tea on Saturday, April 17, in the cafeteria. The theme of the tea would center on the use of spring flowers such as daffodils or tulips. The convenors for this tea are Mrs. M. Rowe and Mrs. T.D. Evans.

Mrs. Henderson called on Captain R. Halsey and Major E. Johnson to explain the operation of the two devices of hospital equipment presented to the Pediatric Ward by the Auxiliary. Both were on display and could be examined by the members.

Captain Halsey explained the Apneg monitor presented by the group in June, 1970. She described it as an aid to nurses for use with children having respiratory difficulty. In the case of a premature baby, an electrode is taped to the baby's chest over the heart. A nurse can be alerted in seconds if the baby is in difficulty. The device can also be used for an older child having breathing difficulties.

Major Johnson showed the latest equipment presented by the Auxiliary, a 'Pegg-O-Stat'. This is a device used in taking chest X-rays of small children. She stated that the X-ray technician uses it four or five times a week. It is valued at five hundred dollars and was purchased with the proceeds of the Christmas Bazaar. Major Johnson stated that it is almost impossible to get a small child to sit still long enough to take a chest X-ray. With this machine, a type of infant immobilizer and positioner, it is possible to do this and still keep the child happy.

The equipment resembles a child's kindergarten table, with a lower shelf, on wheels. An adjustable seat is located in the center of the table. The child is placed on this seat, his legs extending through the opening and resting on the lower shelf.

Extending upwards from the seat are two separate transparent plastic supports which hold the child's arms in an upright position over his head. Two friction type locks and a leather strap secure the supports in the desired position.

A spring balanced cassette holder is located in front of the child's chest and will accommodate any size cassette up to 14" x 17". An adjustable lead shield protects the patient's organs from radiation. With less time required and fewer repeats, there is less radiation exposure to the patient.

A nurse can stand in front of the child and keep him amused while the exposure is being made.

Mrs. Irene Tilburn, Program Convenor, introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Mr. Al. Buchel, formerly Barnes S' Security Chief. Mr. Buchel showed a film, "Know Your Car", supplied by City Motors, courtesy of Cecil Chater. The film ran for half an hour and was divided into five sections. At the end of each section Mr. Buchel stopped the film and explained points of the film as well as answering questions put by the ladies.

Typical of these questions were the following:

What is meant by octane rating of gasoline?

What do you do when the accelerator sticks?

What do you do when the brakes fail?

Mr. Buchel closed his talk with various suggestions about winter driving and winter care of cars.

One point stressed by Mr. Buchel was that accidents are caused by neglect. A driver always has some warning that his car needs maintenance. The car should be taken to a reliable garage and the car owner should specify exactly what is to be done to the car.

COLOR TV: The current issue of Broadcaster magazine reports that there are now more than 1,000,000 color television receivers in use in Canadian homes. According to the magazine there are 126,000 color sets installed in Montreal, which represents 16 per cent penetration of the market. This compares with 21 per cent in Toronto and 30 per cent in Vancouver. The figures are according to the BBM's national survey of last autumn.

Elevators are inspected

During the past quarter a total of 60 elevators were inspected and safety tested within the Province. Inspections were carried out at Labrador City, Corner Brook and St. John's, the Department of Labour, said recently.

Five elevators were closed down by the Elevator Inspection Branch due to failure of the elevator safety devices to function properly. The department said that these elevators were removed from service because their operation could create a very serious hazard to employees and the general public. Any persons involved in an accident in or near an elevator, or persons knowing of an unsafe condition that exists in the operation of any elevator should report it immediately to the Elevator Inspection Branch of the Department of Labour.

In giving instruction to the owner of elevating devices, the department said that before an elevator can be operated the owner must have a valid certificate of inspection. The owner can obtain a certificate by giving notice in writing to the Chief Elevator Inspector, requesting an inspection on the elevator.

Social, Personal

Belated birthday greetings to Cathy Wortelboer who was three on 11 Feb. and Darren Wortelboer who was two on Feb. 12th.

Glad to see John Loughlin up and about again after his recent defeat "by The Col. Sanders secret formula."

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. J. Tobin on the birth of a daughter. A sister for Glenn and Barry.

Understand the staff of Sir Wilfred Grenfell Hotel were more than surprised when Mr. Jim Newman (a new employee of Can. Bechtel) and family, ELEVEN in all registered at the Hotel.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henley on the birth of a son.

Hey - Wait A Minute!

BY YOUR CANDID LAYMAN

OUR VERY OWN: The "Language Curtain" that our sick sister Quebec is now weaving may create serious inter-provincial and inter-racial strife within our Canadian family.

The rest of the family are aware that Quebec is the spoiled member of the family, and have passively witnessed Papa in Ottawa bend over backwards to help our poor sister. He has regularly poured huge doses of the family's money medicine down Quebec's throat in his effort to save his daughter. But the poor thing shows no signs of recovery and the rest of the family are beginning to wonder what Quebec has been doing with the huge doses of beautiful tonic. The passage of time only sees her craving for the family tonic grown by leaps and bounds, while the rest of the family have to wait in line and try to catch some of the drips from Papa's spoon.

However this latest venture by Quebec may be the death-blow that Papa has stayed off these many years. Quebec is crawling down under the bedclothes into the abyss of isolation from the family. Her head will no doubt appear at regular intervals in search of the tonic handout, but here curtain might just be the thing to make the other family members say, "No more, dear sister, no more."

Quebec's curtain, when it is finished, will prevent an English speaking Canadian or immigrant from securing employment in her house. But Quebec intends to reserve the right to go onto the homes of the other family members when and as she pleases, with or without English. The family is getting tired of Quebec's perpetual ailments and grouching. They themselves are sick in body and surgently need a helping hand of the family tonic, a big helping hand indeed in some of the homes, especially those located in the East. When the medicine is given, it can, and must be used intelligently to create jobs.

Naturally, since the other family members all occupy homes which use English as the working language, it is reasonable for them to apply Quebec's formula, except that it would be English (first language) speaking people's only.

However my sons, remember, "Two wrongs don't make a right."

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

P.S. Papa's latest dispensation of the family tonic is shown in the table below. Percentages and value per unemployed person, are given in round figures; since there is widespread dissatisfaction with figures quoted by Ottawa. The table will serve to point up regional disparities.

Provinces	Per Cent	$ Tonic Issued
Quebec	10	$730
Prairies	6	520
Maritimes (Inc. Nfld.)	10	475
British Columbia	10	450
Ontario	6	430
Newfoundland (Alone)	15	235

Those who live down by the sea,
Are out in the cold for all to see,
But they can catch some fish and live,
For sure as fate, papa just won't give.

Mind teaser

A women's club found that in purchasing theater tickets, if they bought $3.25 tickets they would have $16.25 remaining in their treasury, but that they were $4.75 short of being able to buy $4.75 tickets. How many women were there in this club?

ANSWER

14 women. Letting X equal number of women, form equation: 3.25X plus 16.25 equals 4.75X minus 4.75. Solve for X.

U.S. LAW MAY LOWER MUTUAL FUND CHARGES: After four years of bitter controversy, the U.S. congress has passed compromise legislation for mutual funds. The new measures are aimed at reducing sales charges on such securities.

The new legislation will permit shareholders to sue to have the amounts charged by funds for the management services reduced. A second key provision will enable investors to obtain refunds of sales charges on long-term contract mutual funds, the so-called "front-end-load" plans. The bill requires that such a fund might have to refund up to 85 per cent of such charges if an investor quits the plan within 18 months of signing up. The bill stipulates that contractual plans could not impose more than 64 per cent of their sales charges during the first four years of a contract plan, nor more than 20 per cent in a single year.

Another major section of the bill authorizes the National Association of Securities Dealers to regulate the general level of sales commissions on funds. This authority is focused at the prevailing mutual funds sales charge of more than 9 per cent.

Scanning the Market

Again our monthly review of the Labrador First Investment Fund. After our big profit of Jan. '71, February turned out to be pretty much of an "even-Stephen" month. Final figures for the month showed a loss of $44.00 for the period. Our activities were almost alike the overall Canadian stock market of late. More and more investors are looking to New York "where the action is" and we are considering doing like wise. However at this point it is probably advisable to wait for Benson's Budget before making a move.

During February we disposed of another 100 shares of Ranger Oils and purchased 200 shares of B.P. Oil & Gas. Ranger was sold at $15.00 and B.P. purchased at $6.00. Our present position is as follows:

COMPANY	NUMBER OF SHARES 28 FEBRUARY

INVESTMENT TERMS AND DEFINITIONS.

Q. What is the nature and function of an investment company or investment trust?

A. An investment company is an incorporated organization chartered by law to engage in the business of investing in bonds and stocks for the benefit of its owners. Capital is raised through the sale of shares or debentures, in the same manner as any other industrial or commercial undertaking. Instead of using the proceeds to purchase fixed assets and for working capital purposes, they are invested in a diversified list of stocks and bonds for income and appreciation.

Thus, its earnings are the dividends and interest it receives, or the profits which result for advantageous changes in the securities owned. From such earnings, administration expenses and interest charges on borrowed money are paid and dividends distributed to the shareholder. This type of company is the outgrowth of a group of individual investors voluntarily pooling their funds and employing experts to manage the details of investing.

Q. What is a mutual fund?

A. A mutual fund is the term commonly applied to open-end investment companies. An open-end investment company continuously sells its treasury shares and is committed to redeem its shares upon demand at, or close to, their liquidating value (that is the market value of the securities owned, less any liabilities). The shares of an open-end company are bought from and sold to the company itself, frequently through investment dealers, with the result that its capital is constantly changing. The redemption feature of mutual funds is their most distinguishing characteristic compared with closed-end companies.

A closed-end investment company is similar to an industrial company inasmuch as after its authorized capital is outstanding no further shares may be issued, unless the shareholders decide to increase its capital; nor has the company authority to redeem its shares. For practical purposes, a closed-end investment company is similar to a holding company except that it does not attempt to manage or control subsidiaries.

Q. What is a holding company?

A. A holding company is one which is principally organized to manage and control the operation of subsidiary companies. This right of control is derived through ownership of all or a majority of the voting stock, or such sufficient amount as to have a working control of each of the subsidiaries. The true holding company is not usually an operating company and its sources of revenue are dividends and interest received from the securities of the subsidiary companies which it holds. Its holdings are frequently confined to one industry or related industries such as public utilities, railroads, steel and so on. Examples of Canadian holding companies are Alcan Aluminum Limited, Moore Corporation Limited, Massey-Ferguson Limited and George Weston Limited. The advantage of the holding company formation is the unity of management which it affords to a number of separate organizations. In this way, operating economics may be effected and wasteful competition eliminated. In Canada shares of closed-end investment companies and holding companies usually trade at prices below their liquidating value (market value of securities owned less liabilities). In contrast, shares of open-end or mutual fund companies always have a market price related and close to liquidating value.

Carnival 71 . . . fun for young and old!

All Labrador West is ready for the big carnival '71. Plans call for entertainment which covers everything from Gourmets' delights to a variety of dances with different themes — hard times, costume, proper dress, teen and queen dances. Everyone is urged to get out and have a good time! The pages in Aurora carry the full agenda of events as lined up by the committee, but it has been pointed out that some of the events may have to be changed at short notices, this is particularly true where the weather must be depended upon.

There's nothing like it! The Labrador West Winter Carnival features all sorts of events from dances, movies, outdoor sports to suppers, banquets and even a beer drinking contest. Join in the Carnival, have fun! There are events for young and old alike.

Let's look back on some Carnival sporting events from last year. . . .

Last year's Winter Carnival was a big success and sporting events played a big part in all the excitement. We thought you'd be interested in looking back on some of those events. . . just to refresh your memory on your favorite athletic activities. Here's the report which Jack Drover wrote for the Carnival 70 section of The Aurora:

INTERMEDIATE "A" PLAYOFFS

The Carol Lakers won the Newfoundland Intermediate "A" Championships by defeating a disappointing St. John's team 18 to 10 in the two game total goal series. The home team won a well played game 9 to 7 in a wide open game that saw very little checking.

In the first game, the home team took a 3 to 0 first period lead but St. John's battled back to make it 3 to 2 at the end of the second. Then the Lakers exploded for 3 goals in the first two minutes of the third period to sew up the game. Scoring for the Lakers were, Bob Smythe with 2, Billy Kelley, Jack Drover, John Letourneau, Ed Kelly, Stu Traverse, Sledge Seward and Nev Hackett with singles. Harry Hamlyn, Dick Barrett and Brian Donovan were the only St. John's players to get the puck past Michel Rene in the Lakers net. The Lakers outshot St. John's 46 to 32 over the route including a 19 to 5 margin in the first period. In the second game the score was 4 to 4 at the end of the 1st, 7 to 4 in favour of the Lakers at the end of the second and St. John's outscored the locals 3 to 2 in the third, Barry Clouter and Ed Kelly scored two goals each for the Lakers with Stu Traverse, Bob Smythe, Sledge Seaward, Jean Letourneau and Jack Drover adding singles. Brian Brocklehurst scored two for St. John's with Wally McDonald, Dick Barrett, Harry Hamlyn, Wils Wiseman and Jack Hill scoring the others. St. John's outshot the Lakers 45 to 40 over the route and eleven penalties were called with the host team receiving seven. Following the game Mr. Cec Soper presented the Intermediate "A" Championship Trophy to Laker Capt. Jack Drover. Miss Lillian Bouzanne, representing the Department of Labrador Affairs presented an MVP Award to Jack Drover.

SIDE-LITES

Joe Byrne, referee in chief in the NAHA did both games and once again had everything under control. It was especially interesting to watch his quick whistle when the puck was caught up along the boards. This is very important in controlling a game as the majority of fights start in the corners.

Crowds of close to 1200

viewed both games and once again hockey proved to be the top draw during Carnival. A full house viewed the ladies game and another 800 were on hand to witness the exciting "old timers" game. Capt. Earl Winsor, Minister of Labrador Affairs dropped the puck on Saturday night to officially open the series. Other centre ice guests were Mr. Cec Soper and Paul Penny.

There is a slight possibility that Labrador City will be hosting the Atlantic Hockey Championship. The C.A.H.A. demanded a $5,000.00 guarantee from the host centre, but I feel they will be satisfied to break even on such a championship. Expenses to bring in the Maritime Champ would certainly be below $5,000.00.

Experience was certainly the deciding factor in the series. St. John's were very weak on defence and their inability to move the puck up cost them the series.

CARNIVAL SIDELIGHTS

The Wabush ladies defeated the Labrador City ladies 7 to 4 in the annual carnival game. Close to 1000 fans were on hand for this exciting spectacle.

Brother Rice boys basketball team of St. John's defeated Labrador City Collegiate twice in exhibition games at LCC, 48 to 46 and 61 to 39. The senior girls team of LCC, were in St. John's competing in the All Nfld. High School Girls' Championships.

The Mosquito All Stars travelled to Schefferville for two games against Schefferville.

The host Labrador City Club won the overall championship over Sept Iles in the annual invitational curling tournament.

The winner of the intermediate "A" championships should host the Maritime winner in the next series. Last year St. John's travelled to New Brunswick.

MINOR HOCKEY

The Flyers defeated the Blues 5 to 4 to win the Mosquito Division in the annual winter carnival tournament. The Canadians won their third tournament of the year in the Pee Pee division when they defeated the Wings 2 to 0. The Wings had earlier defeated the Maple Leafs 4 to 3 while the Canadians defeated the Kings 2 to 1 in overtime. In the Bantam division the Royals defeated Wabush 5 to 2 and the Braves 5 to 3 to win their second tournament of the season. The Huskies won two games in the closely contested Midget tournament.

The Huskies defeated the Carol Claners 3 to 2 and the Saints 5 to 4 while in the other game the Saints edged the Carol Cleaners 3 to 1. Meanwhile the All Star teams are getting in their final practices as they prepare to go to the All Nfld. Championships. The Pee Wees and Midgets leave for Gander and Grand Falls respectively while the Bantams leave for Gander.

"B" LEAGUE HOCKEY

First place Wabush closed out the regular schedule with a 4 to 3 victory over the Indians. The Royals finished in second place and the Indians third. Johnny Mercer's second goal of the game at the 19:41 mark of the third period gave Wabush their victory. Max Ollerhead and Paddy Dawe scored the others for Wabush, while Cyril Butler with two and Eric Blondell scored for the Indians.

The best of five semi-finals opened at the Arena.

ATLANTIC SKI CHAMPIONSHIPS

Jo Anne Blaxland of Halifax and Dave Mattinson of Smokey Mountain were the combined winners in the Atlantic Championship held on March 14th and 15th. Miss Blaxland had a first in both the Slalom and Giant Slalom, while Mattinson placed 5th in the Slalom and 2nd in the Giant Slalom. Donna Thistle of Corner Brook was 2nd in the combined ladies, while Kathy Plue of Smokey Mountain finished 3rd. Mike Blaxland of Nova Scotia was 2nd and Manfred Munzel of St. John's 3rd in the mens combined standings.

In the Men's slalom, Eric Meakle of Nova Scotia was first with times of 43:51 and 47:20. Dick Boily of Sept Iles 2nd and Manfred Muenzel 3rd. In the Men's Giant Slalom, local skier John Krats was first over the finish line three seconds ahead of Dave Mattinson Fifteen year old Bob Archer of Smokey Mountain finished third giving Smokey Mountain a clean sweep in this race.

CANADIAN SKI CHAMPIONSHIPS

U.S.A. skiers Rosi Fortna and Scott Pyles were the top winners in the Canadian Alpine Ski Championships held at Smokey Mountain. Miss Fortna, 23, won the Ladies slalom and came 3rd in the giant slalom for her combined win. Pyles placed first in the giant slalom and second in another slalom for his combined victory.

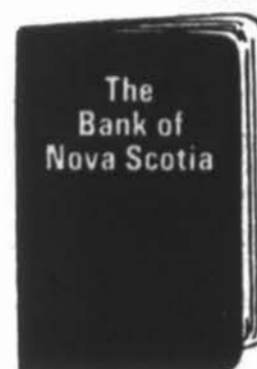

Diana Gibson of Canada won the ladies giant slalom and had the top time following her first run in another slalom. But in her second run she missed a gate and was disqualified which certainly was a major disappointment to her and all Canadians.

In the mens giant slalom Bill McKay of Canada and Scott Pyles finished in a tie for 1st, with identical times of 148.38. McKays second run of 72.57 was the top time of the day and certainly was a great effort.

In the Mens Slalom Ken Corrock of the USA finished almost a full second ahead of Pyles for his victory. David Dunkin placed 40th in the field of 103 starters in the mens giant slalom to lead the local club's entries. Robert Archer finished 26th in the Slalom and this is certainly an excellent finish considering the number and quality of the entries.

At the presentation of awards held at the club, Nancy Green (Raine), presented the combined medal to Scott Pyles. Capt. Earl Winsor presented the gold medal to Rosi Fortna. Over 1000 people viewed the presentation which was video taped by a CBC TV crew. The whole meet was excellently organized and run. A great deal of credit goes to all those people who in any way helped to make it such an outstanding success. The meet has put Smokey Mountain on the map and also I think made local people aware of the excellent facilities that we have at Smokey.
