On the local scene

U.S. STEEL: We understand initial work on our new sister town of Fermont is about to begin. Quebec Cartier Mining in announcing the project, stated the town would be designed for a population of approximately 5,000. An apartment complex will act as a "windscreen structure" providing protection from prevailing winds. Connected to the complex by a climate controlled walkway will be a shopping centre, restaurant, swimming pool, arena, library and town hall.

Aurora also gathered from one of the contractors working on the road to Quebec, that it should be possible to drive from here to Fermont by late September.

BOY SCOUTS: According to "Scouting in Arctic Canada," 45 communities from Labrador & Baffin Island in the east to Yukon Territory in the west, have boy scout groups. Latest figures available showed 2,745 boys and leaders were involved. Top Membership Centres were listed as Whitehorse 406, Labrador City 244, Inuvik 135 and Wabush 114.

Two, well-attended jamborees have been held for northern scouts including Indian and Eskimo groups in Canada's northland, the first in 1968 and the second last year. Both events were well attended by Labrador scouting contingents and the First Carol Drum and Bugle band from Labrador City played at the opening, by Her Majesty of the the Queen, 1970 camp.

SPCA

Dr. K. Lachapelle, veterinarian, will be holding an animal clinic on July 5th. and 6th., in Labrador City. For further information and appointments, telephone 944-2384 or 282-3382.

DOCTORS: Figures recently released by the Provincial Dept. of Health give us a partial answer for the medical shortage in this area. As of 31 March 1971 there were 466 doctors available to practice in Newfoundland & Labrador; of these 190 were specialists and 256 were in general practice. Even if only 400 were practicing at any given time, this means one doctor for every 1,300 people. Our Labrador City-Wabush ratio is now in excess of (1) M.D. for over 3,000 people.

Figures given showed the highest paid G.P. received $142,688, with the average being $46,786. The highest paid surgeon received $131,541 while the average general surgeon was paid $60,938. So you can see what we are faced with in attempting to increase our local staff.

POLLUTION: During the recent visit of Victor Goldbloom, minister responsible for the environment, in the government of Robert Bourassa, to Sept Iles, it was announced by Wabush Mines that a $2.5 million project to combat pollution caused by its iron ore pellet plant at nearby Pointe Noire, would soon begin. Company manager H.P. Whaley said the water clean-up should take about five years, while three years would be needed to reduce air pollution from the plant.

POLITICS: In an earlier edition we noted a Provincial Cabinet shuffle was in the making and an announcement was expected by 30 June. However several days ago the following release was made in St. John's. "Premier Smallwood said there will be a realignment of the provincial cabinet in July that will see five new men brought into the executive council of government. They will replace four ministers who will retire from public life and one of the cabinet vacancies caused by the death of Hon. W. J. Keough."

Although he declined to name them, the four ministers bowing out of public life are believed to be Justice Minister, L.R. Curtis. Provincial Affairs Minister, Dr. G.A. Frecker. Finance Minister, Eric Jones and Minister Without Portfolio, P.J. Lewis.

While reviewing the 1971 Supply Bill (much of which was passed without an opposition in attendance,) we came across two interesting figures.

Under the Loan and Guarantee Act, Javelin Paper Corporation Ltd. is guaranteed a loan of $2¼ million to enable it to improve its Lake Melville logging operations.

What happened to all those royalties? The total allocation for the Dept. of Labrador Affairs $334,100 out of an estimated expenditure of $459,424,200 or less than three cents out of every $4.00 to be expended. Quite an important Dept.!

SIR WILFRED GRENFELL HOTEL: Seems our printer missed several zero's in last week's report on renovation and planned expansion of S.W.G. The figure committed to the program is One Hundred Thousand ($100,000.00). Speaking with Manager Alphonse, on his return from Montreal, he informed us that with completion of painting, internal renovations are to begin immediately, with completion date early fall. The work planned for present lounge looks particularly attractive, with design in Spanish motif. It is expected the Caribou Room will convert to a cocktail lounge, permitting patrons to use bar facilities when main area is reserved for large parties. Samples of materials and drawings may be seen at the Hotel.

THE BOLD ONES: A good-looking young lady had just been brought into the hospital for an operation. The doctor examined her and ordered her to undress and get ready for the ordeal. Accordingly she took off her clothes and climbed onto a wheeltable. The nurse covered her up with a sheet, trundled the table into the hall, and left her while she went back to get instructions from the doctor. Presently down the hall came a man clothed in white from head to foot. He paused as he came to the young lady, lifted the sheet, and examined her closely, then dropped the sheet and proceeded on his way down the hall. Behind him came another white-clad figure who stopped to lift the sheet and examine the nude patient, only to proceed without comment. A third figure appeared. Lifting the sheet, he also stared intently at the girl on the table. "For heaven's sake," cried the young lady, "when are you going to operate on me?" The white-clad figure carefully replaced the sheet and prepared to resume his journey. "Darned if I know, lady," he replied, "we're just painters here."

Editorially Speaking

ATLANTIC UNION: Over the past few months we have been hearing and reading quite a number of news stories on Maritime Union. However it seems Newfoundland & Labrador have been ignored in this process (probably because Premier Smallwood has stated he is not interested in these discussions).

Several years ago Premier Bennett of B.C. suggested Canada be divided functionally into five regions. This idea I'd heard while working in Ottawa some twelve years ago. But until W.A.C.B. of British Columbia unveiled his map, it was kept pretty much within certain Federal Civil Service circles, of our nation's capital. And, as a matter of fact, even when Bennett did talk about it, there were still a large number of Canadians who were sceptical. However recently the concept of five economic-political regions is beginning to acquire respectability and to attract serious attention.

Since the report of Dr. Deutsch recommending Maritime Union was released, one of the questions asked was, how will this effect Nfld. In an editorial on the subject Montreal's Gazette said: "All that can be said about Newfoundland at this point is that it would have to fit in somewhere."

A Union of Atlantic Canada could have a tremendous impact on Labrador. For at least nine years we have been complaining of neglect by government in St. John's. As Aurora sees it, now at last is a chance for Labrador to find a real position, within our nation. Here is the way we would like to approach amalgamation.

In that Labrador, geographically, is separate from all other Atlantic areas and is a larger land mass than the Island of Newfoundland plus all three Maritime Provinces, we should be considered as the fifth unit within union. Today in Atlantic Canada our four legislatures have nearly two hundred members and over fifty cabinet ministers.

Our concept would be as follows; all five areas would have a base of four members (at large) and one representative for each 25,000 people. This would amount to an Atlantic Legislature of 100, broken down as: Nova Scotia, 4 plus 30 (34). New Brunswick 4 plus 25 (29). Newfoundland 4 plus 20 (24). Prince Edward Island 4 plus 4 (8). Labrador 4 plus 1 (5). A cabinet of 15 should be about the right number for our two million people. At first it would probably be necessary to have Cabinet representation on a regional basis. Here again this should not be too difficult, with ministry's apportioned as: Nova Scotia (5). New Brunswick (4). Newfoundland (3). Prince Edward Island (2). Labrador (1). Aurora would suggest, major party's in the forthcoming Provincial General Election, give serious consideration to having an Atlantic Unity plank in their platform's.

Also we would appreciate comments from this area on our proposal.

Here and There

SEVENTEEN PER CENT OF ELEMENTARY TEACHERS HAVE UNIVERSITY TRAINING:

Despite steadily increasing demands that Newfoundland's elementary school teachers have university degrees, the province continues to rank third among the Atlantic provinces in this respect.

Figures released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that Newfoundland trails Nova Scotia and New Brunswick in having university-trained elementary school teachers. For the school year ending June 1970, the DBS survey of education in the Atlantic provinces shows that only one-sixth of Newfoundland's elementary teachers had obtained a university degree, while in Nova Scotia, one-quarter had degrees and in New Brunswick, one-fifth. Prince Edward Island ranked last with one-tenth of its elementary teachers having university degrees.

In secondary schools, however, Newfoundland's teachers with university degrees were fewer than in any of the other Atlantic provinces. An estimated 57 per cent of teachers in this province had degrees compared with 59 per cent in P.E.I., 61 per cent in N.B., and 66 per cent in N.S.

RIGHT OUTFIT, WRONG SEX:

Peter Price, a 25-year-old British disc jockey, wore hot pants to the Conservative Association's cocktail party in Southport, and was promptly put out. The hall where the party was held later put up a sign: Hot pants welcome, but on ladies only. "This is liberation carried to excess," complained Price. "My evening suit cost me $130. Hordes of men will be wearing them soon."

NEW CLIP BOARD: An inexpensive plastic clip board which can be easily attached to a conventional shopping cart is one recently patented invention in Canada.

The clip board is manufactured as a continuous extrusion of a suitable plastic material which is then cut into suitable lengths. The extrusion includes a tubular clip which can be snapped onto a cross-rail of the cart so that the panel of the board then rests on the cart handle. A curved flange clamps a shipping list against the top surface of the panel as well as providing a tubular receptacle for a pen or pencil. Advertising messages can be printed on the clip board.

CHAIR-CRIB: Two molded plastic chairs which can be converted into an infant's crib are another new invention. The chairs are placed face to face and captive strap fasteners are used to fasten the outside surfaces of the chair arms together.

Rail side panels drop into recesses formed in the arms and in the side edges of the chair backs and fastening straps lock these panel in place. The chair cushions together form a mattress for the crib.

NEWS BLACKOUT ON BOMB SCARES:

Eastern Provincial Airways are enforcing a news blackout regarding bomb scares. A SPOKESMAN SAID, THE CALLS ARE COMING FROM CRANKS WHO LIKE TO HEAR ABOUT IT ON THE NEWS. The company has had five scares in recent weeks, most of them coming from Deer Lake. The most recent was when a flight was delayed for two hours at Gander while authorities searched the plane.

UNADVENTUROUS NURSES:

Every nurse offered a job on the South Atlantic island of Ascension, where bachelors outnumber single girls 200 to 1, has turned it down. A spokesman for Cable and Wireless Ltd., London, which operates a Satellite earth station on the island, said, "A couple of years ago when we advertised for a secretary there were 300 applicants. Perhaps office girls are more adventurous."

CONTROLS EASED:

Japan's Finance Ministry is to relax foreign exchange controls on 1 July. It is raising the limit on the amount of foreign currency that may be taken out of Japan for foreign travel to $3,000 from $1,000. Residents will be allowed to hold any foreign currency for one month instead of 10 days and to use it for external payments.

B.C. MILL BLOWS POLLUTION TO SKY: Kamloops Pulp & Paper Co. is just about going out of this world to solve its air-pollution problems. At a cost of about $5.4 million, it will dispose of flue gases by discharging them through a half-mile duct made of wood staves and reaching to a nearby mountain top, 800 ft. above the mill site. Decision to build the high-level stack was made to handle pollution-control problems now that the kraft mill's capacity is to be increased from 250 tons to 1,250 per day. The project is part of a $22-million environmental program to be integrated into the expanded mill facilities.

SLIP STAYS: Adele Farndon's pen slipped while she was chewing it, leaving a blue mark on her cheek. Her mother could not rub it off. So Adele, of Bournemouth, England, tried, and failed. And they're both still trying, eight years later. "It's very embarrassing," says Adele, now 14, "especially when boys come up to me and say I have a dirty mark on my face." She and her mother have tried everything from soap and water to dry cleaning spot remover.

MISS, NOT KISS:

Canadidates for public office should not be allowed to "hold and kiss babies while their mothers vote," Rep. Chris Spiros of Concord, N.H., said during a speech demanding candidates be kept out of polling places on election day.

GOLF CADDY:

A golf accessory that fits on the handle of any golf cart keeps all items needed on the course right at your fingertips. Made of heat-resistant and shock-resistant Cycloc, the same plastic used in football helmets, Golfer's Pak holds three golf balls in deep wells with holes at the bottom for easy fingertip removal; four tees in tight rubber-lined holders; a score card and pencil under steel spring clips; and a pack of cigarettes in a well. In addition, the unit has a holder for a lighted cigarette, pencil sharpener, and a unit for keeping score.

Roaming the Globe

Daily Light

BY D.R. PARSONS

NOTHING "TYPICAL" IN YUGOSLAVIA: Until the past two-three years, they only place names in Yugoslavia familiar to Canadians were Belgrade, the capital, and Dubrovnik, a walled medieval town in the south. Now there are thousands of us who can easily reel of the names of numerous Yugoslavian centres, such as Ljubjana, Mostar, Sarajevo among others, and can describe each city or town in some detail.

Canadians are discovering Yugoslavia in fast growing numbers. Some 19,000 went in 1968, while about 27,000 toured the country last year. Undoubtedly, 1971 will be another good year. The Yugoslav dinar was devalued last winter, so the Canadian Dollar is now worth almost 14 dinars, vs 11.5 previously, and of course goes much further. After visiting Yugoslavia, it is difficult to understand why Dubrovnik alone held the tourist limelight for so many years. Certainly, the ancient walled town in its seaside setting should not be missed. Hotels are good, the Placa or main street is a photogenic white and ideal for strolling. You can even walk around the town on its walls (it takes about one hour). But there is so much more to be seen in Yugoslavia that one town alone can offer.

Just an hour by bus or car from Dubrovnik, for example, is Milocer, former summer palace of the Yugoslav royal family and now a hotel. It overlooks the sea, and meals in summer are served on an open patio overhung with trees. At the other side of a small costal bay is Sveti Stefan, sitting on a rocky isle joined to the mainland by causeway. At one time, this was a medieval village; now it's a hotel, and you rent a village house.

Another favorite spot is Split, much further north on the Dalmatian coast. The big attraction here is Diocletian's Palace, built in the fourth century and more properly described as a fortification spread over 16 acres.

Walls are four feet thick. It takes a half day to get through its alleys and courtyards, appreciate its artistic merits, shop in the bazaars both inside the walls and out and have a quick snack. Only in recent years has it been presented to tourists, and now they go through in droves each summer. On the town's outskirts is one of the most deluxe campsites in Europe. Situated close to a hotel right on the sea, it has a patio restaurant which serves wine and spirits and the same food as the hotel. Prices, however, are at camper level. Split is a picturesque town on a curving bay with mountains stacked behind it. Scenically splendid.

Yugoslavia has many worthwhile spots for visitors. Another is Sarajevo the Bosnian city where an assassin killed the Austrian Archduke Ferdinand in 1914 and set Europe at war. A plaque marks the street corner from which the shots were fired. Then there's a Bled, a mountain resort near the Austrian border where hotels sit beside a small lake, 3 1/2 miles long and two miles wide. An island with an ancient church mushrooms out of its centre, while a stately castle perches on a shoreline cliff. Because of thermal springs, Bled has been a tourist centre for more than 100 years. Now people come for both winter and summer sports.

In other words, no place in Yugoslavia can be considered typical. Each of its six republics (Serbia, Croatia, Montenegro, Slovenia, Bosnia-Hercegovina and Macedonia) is as different as the lemon tree on the Adriatic is to the snow-tipped pine around Bled. Climate and terrain are in part responsible for much of the differences, but a lot springs from flamboyant history.

Here is a country only 53 years old in an area settled long before Christ. It's been invaded and ruled by Italians, Austro-Hungarians, Bulgarians and Turks. All have left their mark.

It has three religions, two alphabets (Latin and Cyrillic) and three local languages. In towns and cities, you will also hear English, German and French spoken. In the north, you see Roman Catholic cathedrals; in central region, mosques; in the south, Orthodox churches.

Provincial capitals in the north, such as Zagreb and Ljubjana, look European; central towns, such as Mostar and Sarajevo, could be Turkish; and in costal Zadar, people throw their hands around like Italians. And why not? The Venetians and other Italians have been in and out of the northern city for five centuries and their last occupation was in 1944.

To get the geographic picture in Yugoslavia, think of a porcupine lying on its side, quills to the sea. The quills are mountains which soar 6,000-7,000 feet before plunging to the Adriatic. Some are lush with greenery; others are barren, eerie formation of karst, a pulverized limestone. This explains the road situation, too. A superhighway on the eastern flank running from Austria to the Greek border is excellent. The 400-mile drive along the Dalmatian coast is as good and stunningly beautiful as Italy's famed Amalfi. But one should be wary of the mountain roads running east and west. They have countless serpentine and some unpaved sections, so one's average speed is, at best, about 30 miles an hour.

But this is only one small drawback is a relatively new vacation area that has a lot of other things going for it.

"Gentless." (Galatians 5:22.)

One day at an auction a man bought a vase of cheap earthenware for a few pennies. He put into the vase a rich perfume; the attar of roses. For a long time the vase held this perfume, and when it was empty it had been so soaked with the sweet perfume that the fragrance lingered. One day the vase fell and was broken to pieces, but every fragment still smelled of the attar of roses.

We are all common clay, plain earthenware; but if the love of Christ is kept in our hearts it will sweeten all our life, and we shall become as loving as He. That is the way the beloved disciple learned the lesson and grew into such lovingness. He leaned on Christ's breast, and Christ's gentleness filled all His life.

As John upon his dear Lord's breast,

So would I lean, so would I rest;
An empty shell in depths of sea,
So would I sink, be filled with Thee.

Like singing bird in high blue air,

So would I soar, and sing Thee there.

Nor rain, nor stormy wind can be,

When all the air is full of Thee.

And so, though daily duties crowd,

And dust of earth be like a cloud,

Through noise of words, O Lord my Rest,

Thy John would lean upon Thy breast.

MCP announces changes in newborn registration

The Newfoundland Medical Care Commission has announced a change in the registration procedure of new borns.

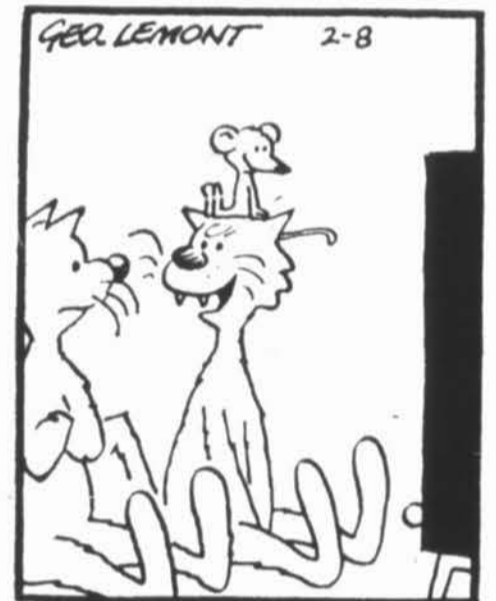

Effective July 1, 1971 the registration of newborns will be the responsibility of parents or guardians. Prior to this change registration was the responsibility of hospitals.

A spokesman for the Commission said the change is considered necessary to assist in streamlining operating procedures.

All hospitals in Newfoundland and Labrador will assist in the new program. Hospitals will have a supply of Newborn Registration Kits to present to mothers when being discharged from hospital. The mother will then complete the form and mail it to MCP in the return postage paid envelopes.

It will be the parents' or guardian's responsibility to mail the form as quickly as possible to ensure that an MCP card is mailed in the shortest possible time, and that claims on behalf of newborns can be paid promptly.

U.S.W. BOARD APPROVES MERGER: The United Steel Workers (USW) executive board recently approved a plan to merge the giant union with District 50 of the Allied and Technical Workers of the United States and Canada, a USW spokesman said. Such a merger, which will go before District 50 at its Washington convention in August, would make the USW the largest industrial union in the world, with a membership of 1.5 million.

AVERAGE WAGE INCREASES $50 OVER 10 YEARS: Ten years ago, workers in Canadian manufacturing plants drew an average wage of about $75 a week. This year, the average is topping $125 a week. But more than $30 of the $50 increase has been eaten up by inflation.

These are the conclusions to be drawn from an analysis of average weekly wages in Canadian manufacturing industry and changes in consumer prices compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The average wage figures apply to hourly rated workers in plants employing 20 or more workers. It does not include the pay of full-time salaried employees, including plant managers and front office workers. But it does include unskilled workers whose wages may be lower than skilled production workers, pulling the over-all average down.

UNEMPLOYMENT MINISTRY CONSIDERED: Consideration has been given to creation of a federal ministry concerned with unemployment, Treasury Board President C.M. Drury said recently. He did not indicate, in appearing before the Senate banking committee, just where the matter of a separate ministry now stands in the cabinet, but said that as of now government regards unemployment as a responsibility of all federal departments.

CLEANING UP: The garbage collectors, along with other municipal workers, have been doing rather well this year at the bargaining table. The Canadian Union of Public Employees negotiated 32 during the first four months, involving municipal manual workers across the country, in cities from Nanaimo on the west coast to St. John's in Newfoundland.

The average annual increase: 10 per cent. In cash, the increases have generally ranged between 20-30 cents an hour each year.

Buried in that average are all sorts of variations. The highest annual increase was 27.7 per cent, or .65 cents an hour, in one year, won in bargaining with Caradoc Township (pop. 5,100) in Ontario. This reflects a low base rate. On the other hand, another Ontario municipal agreement (with Dysart, pop. 2,900) provided .29 cents over two years, averaging 5.9 per cent a year.

The municipal workers at Flin Flon signed a three-year agreement, providing a total increase of .80 cents, resulting in a terminal labor rate of $3.31 an hour. More interesting was the vacation improvement: employees now will receive four weeks vacation after seven years service (formerly 15 years).

PAYROLLS UP 6 PER CENT FOR PROVINCES: Canada's provincial and territorial governments, apart from British Columbia, employed 353,695 persons at the end of March, a decline from the 357,309 on their payrolls at the end of 1970 but up by more than 6 per cent from the 333,152 employed a year earlier. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports gross payrolls for the three months to the end of March amounted to $646,749,000, down from $648,552,000 in the previous three months. For the year to March 31, payrolls of the nine provinces and two territories amounted to more than $2.5-billion.

British Columbia refuses to provide D.B.S. with figures on its employees and payroll.

STEELWORKERS SEEK INQUIRY ON STEEL PRICES: William Mahoney, director of the 150,000-member Canadian section of the United Steelworkers of America, recently asked Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau to conduct a full, public inquiry into profits, prices and wages in the steel industry. The request, in a letter, came in the wake of recent increases in steel prices.

The letter noted that the union in the past offered a hold the line on wages if the companies would guarantee that productivity increases would result in price reductions. "They have told us that prices were none of our business" he wrote.

Mr. Mahoney said it is not sufficient for the price increases to be given "a once-over" by the Prices and Incomes Commission. "Its life is coming to an end at best and there is a complete lack of confidence in its impartiality in the labor movement."

The Bible Today

The Bible translator is always deeply concerned that the message of the Word of God be rendered with complete faithfulness. This means reproducing in the receptor language the closest natural equivalent of the message as given in the source language.

Languages do not differ essentially in what they can and do communicate, but they may employ quite diverse ways to say the same things.

Faithfulness in Bible translation means first a rejection of literal word-for-word renderings which do violence to the meanings of the text by failing to communicate the message. At the same time such faithfulness rejects with equal insistence those translations of the text. Even though the motivations for such "updating" and text requires that one take seriously the unique historical context of the Holy Scriptures and treat them with reverent concern. Within the framework of these principles the Bible Societies have always sought to translate into the language of every man the Word for all mankind.

2000th. apprenticeship certificate is presented

Remarks of Hon. S.A. Neary, Minister of Labour (Acting) presentation of apprenticeship certificate No. 2000, Arts and Culture Centre, 12:30 p.m., Tuesday, June 22, 1971.

One of the most startling indications of post-Confederation growth in our province is one that is very little publicized and that we are inclined to take for granted.

Shortly after Newfoundland and Labrador became a Canadian province, our tradesmen were faced with a double problem:

acquiring Canadian certificates testifying to their trades skills; and training enough tradesmen to meet the needs of an economy that was suddenly becoming an industrially complex one with an increasing market for craftsmen.

This involved a sudden expansion of training, and resulted in the setting up of a provincial apprenticeship training program, with the first apprentice registered in May, 1953.

It took 15 years—right through to December, 1967—for this program to produce its first thousand graduates, most of whom passed through the old Vocational Training Institute. Then the provincial College of Trades and Technology and the twelve District Vocational Schools were set up. As a result of this accelerated program we here today, after a period of only three and a half years, are able to pay tribute to the 2000th graduate of our apprenticeship training.

And at the present time no less than 1500 apprentices indentured in 17 trades plus 10 private plans are registered for training in this province not only at the schools and the College but in a program set up with departmental approval and assistance at Wabush and Labrador City where I had the privilege a couple of weeks ago of presenting certificates to graduates from among the 300 there participating in the in-job training school. Apprentices are paid as they learn with weekly school allowances ranging from $8.00 to $107.00.

At present the Director of Apprenticeship Training tells me that five new trades and corresponding course outlines, are under consideration for implementation in the near future—more work for the fine members of our provincial Apprenticeship Board. Most of whom are here with us today: Dr. S.J. Carew, of Memorial University, Board Chairman; Mr. W.W. Cossett, Corner Brook; Mr. F.L. Rowsell, Corner Brook; Mr. A. E. Noseworthy, St.

John's; Mr. E. E. Thoms, Placentia; Mr. Jack Scott, Grand Falls; Mr. Edward Ludlow, Wabush; Mr. W. B. Earle, Board Secretary; and our two good pioneers of apprenticeship training, W. J. May and Cyril Carter.

And now, as a gesture of recognition of the efforts of the fine work of highly qualified trades instructors, of the far-sighted administrators in industry and in our provincial Department of Labour, and especially of the hard work and determined perseverance of apprentices themselves, may I present Certificate No. 2000 to a graduate who helps us set a milestone not only in apprenticeship training but also in the recognition of Women's Rights in the Province of Newfoundland and Labrador.... Certificate No. 2000 I now turn over to Apprentice No. 2000, Mrs. Rosemary MacDonald of this Capital City of St. John's.

THE BEST PART OF CANADA?

A Conservative Member of Parliament has protested distribution of a travel brochure in Europe for Air Canada which invites Europeans to visit "the best part of Canada...from French-speaking Quebec in the east to Vancouver in the West.

Ambrose Peddle, incensed that no mention is made of Atlantic Canada, brought the pamphlet into the Commons to ask of a travel agent could print and distribute such a brochure under the insignia of Air Canada without the airline knowing of its contents.

He explained that Air Canada headquarters in Montreal had said publicly it accepts no responsibility.

Transport Minister Don Jamieson promised to investigate the "legal aspects" of the question. A fellow Newfoundlander, Jamieson, told Peddle they were certainly in agreement on one thing "The further east one goes in Canada, the better it gets.

Peddle also inquired if Air Canada had been instructed to reduce its trans-Atlantic fares for travellers under 25 years of age, in line with other major airlines. Jamieson said the matter was under study.

Twenty-four hours later, the Air Canada rates were chopped government. When disaster strikes, then this plan goes into effect and all available organizations are combined as one, each doing its own job, and handles the situation as it sees fit.

The Community Health Project is aimed at giving you the information of all the people concerned and the duties and responsibilities that they have to you and you to them. In a disaster, it is the whole community which is needed not just a part of it, and E.M.O. brings us all together to work together towards one goal, the ending of the disaster situation. Early in the fall, we hope to have a simulated disaster if our disaster plan is approved and this will give us a chance to put into practise what information you have gleaned over the summer.

Also included in this part of the project is the giving of information of the various Health aspects of the Community such as: communicable diseases, water safety, boating, wood-manship, dental health, facts about alcohol and tobacco, mental and general health, etc.

It is our hope to man two booths, one in Wabush and one in Labrador City, to give you this information and give you a chance to ask any questions that you may have.

The "Drop-In center", as it is unofficially known, is the product of several fortuitous circumstances. The opportunities for Youth officials asked Major Johnson, if with an increased grant, her proposed program involving Emergency Measures and Poison Control might not be broadened to include such a Center for young people and a place where information on drug abuse might be disseminated. Anxious that this invitation be accepted, Major Johnson contacted Rev. J.R. Dickey who in turn got in touch with members of the old Coffee House Committee and with Mr. Beliveau, - recreation director for Labrador City. Mr. Beliveau had already made plans for youth activity for Labrador City and through the generous co-operation of Mr. Carl Hiscock and the Curling Club, had secured the Curling Club lounge as a center for this activity. With the promised government grant allocated in terms of two salaries for youth directors, full time, at $1,000 for thirteen weeks, and $300.00 for expenses, it became clear that the plans already made could be expanded and a comprehensive Program set up for the teen-agers of both Labrador City and Wabush.

One young person has been hired to supervise and direct the program, Miss Pat Dineen of Labrador City. We are hoping to find a young man to join her. In the afternoons, from 1:30 to 5:00 p.m., activities will be held for teen-agers thirteen and fourteen years of age. In the evenings, from 7:30 to 12:00 p.m. teen-agers from fifteen to eighteen will use the center. Dances will be held weekly with the help of interested adults as chaperones. Ping-Pong, chess, pool, listening to records and just meeting friends will fill - in much of the time but there will also be a constant stream of special indoor and outdoor activities such as hikes, wiener roasts, sports in the arena, etc. In all cases the young people will receive help in planning their activities; nothing will be imposed if there is little or no interest. There will, of course, be rules and a code of conduct. A committee consisting of three teen-agers and one adult has been established to deal with problems should they occur. It is hoped that the young people of Labrador West will use, enjoy and stimulate with their ideas this program which exists solely for them.

PC ASSOCIATION-The annual meeting and election of officers for the Progressive Conservative Association of Labrador West will be held at the O'Brien Hall, Friday, July 2. Speakers will be Ambrose Peddle, MP and John Crosbie, MHA. Tickets, $5.00 double are available from any member of the executive or from O'Brien Hall.

IMPROVISED EASEL

Amateur artists or sign painters can make very good use of a stepladder, as illustrated, for an easel to hold their canvases or signs. Two nails driven in the ladder at the desired height will support the work, and the steps of the ladder can be used as shelves for the paints and brushes.-(Gene Von).

THE LEGION AGAIN

Dear Friends,

Comrade President pointed out to us that we are remiss in the extreme, by not reporting to the people of Labrador City the things we have done and plan to do in Branch 47 especially after the kindnesses and support they have shown us in this our 1971 convention year.

Therefore the same old "Ways and Means Committee" was formed. It had to be the same bunch because "Comrade Membership" makes the tea and he cries everytime he thinks of a man or woman who should be a Legionnaire ad isn't. He cries a lot and it is rather heart rendering to take a cup of tea from a grown man who is crying. Please help us rectify this situation, if you can become a Legionnaire and aren't one.

Comrades Sports Committee reported that our Little League Ball team is hot to trot. They did very well last year in the play offs and we are all proud of him, the fellows who helped him and extremely proud of our teams. He reports that he would enjoy more spectators at the games, so "Let's all go to the ball game".

Comrade Building Committee reported that we have donated $200.00 to the girl guides for their summer camp and Comrade Poppy Fund and Horse Shoes are still showing concern about that Toad Stool we gave to the "Brownies" last year. It was explained that it was for the "Flying Up" ceremony but they claim it would be more of a throwing up ceremony if they ate that. (They are just a pair of frustrated doctors).

Comradesse Ladies Auxiliary came in to make the biscuits for our tea, and this brought a smile to COMRADE Treasurer's face. The Ladies Auxiliary have donated $2,500.00 to our funds in the past few months and he hopes they will give more (never satisfied that fellow). Now he wants to buy a cow so it can provide the milk for our tea, cheaper he claims.

Comrade sick and visiting reports that bar a few cases of flu, most of our members are in good shape, but would like our friends who know if a Legionnaire is sick to report this fact to Comrade Manager at 944-2994.

Enough for now and the next time you see a man with a Legion Pin in his lapel, remember that he thanks you for your support.

Sincerely yours,

Pat Hogan,
P.R.O. Branch 47.

The brew with more zonk!

Hey! IPA has changed into a Malt Liquor. That means that the new slow-brewed, longer aged IPA gives you more of what you're looking for in a top quality brew. But, at the same time, it's light in body, light in flavour, light in colour. And it's smooth. So treat yourself and your friends to IPA Malt Liquor soon. It's smooth. It's new. And it costs no more.

1971 BUDGET: The general consensus within the business community following Mr. E. Benson's budget of 18 June seemed to be one of relief. It could have been worse! And just about all financial papers or sections published over the weekend forecast quite a rise in the market. However this did not materialize and in fact stock prices dropped. But this could be in reaction to the heavy sell-off in New York when "Dow" dropped to the 870 level, following announcement by certain banks that they were raising their prime loan rates.

So at the moment it looks like a quite market this summer, with prices moving in a narrow range.

MINING: The following are excerpts from a recent newsletter of the large Canadian Brokerage house of Richardson & Co.

Richardson considers the outlook good in 1971 for asbestos producers. In the United States the expected revival in the construction industry should result in increased demand for asbestos cement products. Annual growth rates of 4 to 5 per cent are predicted for the next few years unless there is a prolonged downturn in industrial activity. The study suggests Cassiar Asbestos Corp. Ltd. will show steady profit growth. Long-term investors can make commitments in part at current price levels and should be prepared to add to them on any reaction to the $20.00 to $21.00 range.

On copper prospects Richardson says it is "guardedly optimistic". It agrees that prices could remain fairly volatile but is prepared to make projections assuming prices of 50 cents a pound during the medium term and 55 cents a pound for the long term. Their study selects Bethlehem Copper Corp. Ltd. as offering excellent value in the $16.00 to $17.00 range and recommends purchases for long-term growth.

Placer Development Ltd. is described as an excellent two-year growth situation for investment-minded accounts. Purchases are recommended at or below the $34.00 to $235.00 level.

Gold is subject to a two-pronged demand, according to the Richardson study. Industrial uses continue to increase and here is continuing demand as a medium of international monetary exchange, which could be accentuated as the U.S. trade deficit continues to increase. Assuming the free market price for gold rises at a rate comparable to projected industrial demand, 4.5 per cent a year, price levels of $45.00 to $50.00 an ounce are possible in 1975. "Thus, it appears prudent now to consider to purchase a gold share for potential long-term capital appreciation and safety."

Shares of two Canadian gold producers are recommended, Pamour Porcupine Mines Ltd. and Camflo Mines Ltd. But South African gold shares are suggested as offering the best exposure. Richardson recommends purchase of President Steyn Gold Mining Co. Ltd. for medium-to long-term investment.

Long-term prospects for Canadian iron ore exports appear favourable, but there could be some weakness this year. Hollinger Mines Ltd. and Labrador Mining and Exploration Co. Ltd. are suggested by Richardson for long-term growth potential.

Richardson is not enthusiastic about prospects for lead and zinc, although the latter could do better over the longer term. The long-

The Lighter Side

OFF AND RUNNING: A gent who spent most of his business hours trying to pick the winning nags at racetracks all over the country called his doctor in some alarm. "It's my wife," he quivejed. "SHE SEEMS TO THINK SHE'S A RACEHORSE. She's snorting and whinnying and chewing up all the grass on our front lawn."

"Probably her reaction to your endless talk about horse racing," guessed the doctor. "Bring her over this afternoon and I'll examine her." "O.K.," agreed the gent. "I'll gallop her over right after-lunch."

THE SPINSTERS: There were three Chinese girls that never married, they were: Tu Dum Tu, Tu Yung Tu, and No Yen Tu.

THE CAPITALIST: The earnest reformer accosted a man who had just stepped out of a bar. "My friend," he said, "I hope you will forgive me, but I notice you have been drinking. Do you never stop to consider the terrible cost of it all? Do you even know how many drinks you have a day?"

"Sure," said the drinker good-naturedly. "About ten."

"And what do they cost you?"

"Eighty cents."

"Why my friend, that's eight dollars a day. How long have you been drinking?"

"About thirty years."

"Eight dollars a day for thirty years," moaned the reformer.

"Why, that's a tremendous amount of money."

"Certainly is."

"Do you see that office building across the street? Do you realize, my friend, that if you had never touched liquor you could own that fine building today?"

"Don't you ever drink?"

"I am proud to say I have never touched a drop."

"And do you own that building?"

"Of course not."

"Well," said the drinker, offering his hand, "meet the owner."

YOUNG AT HEART: Two old codgers who hadn't seen each other for years meet and got to talking one day and one bragged about still having his sex ability. "I can still do it twice," he bragged. "Which time do you enjoy it the most?" asked the other. The older bragger grinned and said, "I believe I like the one in the fall the best!"

DEMANDING: "My wife is always asking for money," complained a friend of ours. "Last week she wanted $200. The day before yesterday she asked me for $125. This morning she wanted $150. "That's crazy," we said. "What does she do with it all?"

"I don't know," said our friend, "I never give her any."

THE BRAGGARD: A wealthy farmer decided to go to church one Sunday. After services he approached the preacher with much enthusiasm: "Reverend," he said, "That was a damned good sermon you gave, damned good!"

"I'm happy you like it," said the reverend, "but I wish you wouldn't use those terms in expressing yourself."

"I can't help it, Reverend, I still think it was a damned good sermon," said the farmer, "In fact, I was so impressed that I put a hundred-dollar bill in the collection basket."

The reverend replied, "The hell you did!"

A GOOD RISK: An insurance agent said to the prospective customer: "I want to sell you our policy. But I'm not like other insurance agents. I'm not going to scare you into buying it. Take the policy home, sleep on it tonight, and you if you wake up in the morning give me a call."

TAKING NO CHANCES: "If you could have two wishes," one girl said to another, "what would they be?"

"I'd wish for a husband," she said.

"That's only one wish," said the first.

"O know answered the other. "I'd save the other until I saw how he turned out."

THE VIRGIN: "I've been married three times and I'm still a virgin," said one woman to another in a beauty shop conversation.

"How can that be?" the other asked.

"The first man I married was 90 years old and died before the marriage was consummated. Next I married a man who turned out to be a homosexual, so I had the marriage annulled... And the last time, I married a politician, and for the past three weeks all he's done is sit on the side of the bed and tell me how good it's going to be."

THE WALTONIAN: An ardent fisherman was telling another angler about a wonderful dream he'd had: "I dreamed I was out on a lake alone in a canoe with the most beautiful movie star in Hollywood."

"What a dream," said the other. "How's you make out?"

"Jist wonderful," said the first. "I caught an eight-pound bass!"

Speaking of Sports

BOXING: A prior commitment prevented us from attending the last card at L.C. Arena (first time in over a year). From reports heard afterwards it was obvious many of the 800 fans were not too pleased with the bouts.

We were speaking with Promoter Terry Hayward late last week and he left with Aurora several pictures and an article in Boxing Illustrated on the Cokes-Perez fight of Novovember past in Dallas, Texas. Cokes is former world welter-weight champion and according to the story: "It was an exciting contest in which Perez gave Cokes plenty of trouble before being stopped in the 7th, on cuts. It drew a large gate, grossing over $14,000.00." So Perez came here highly recommended.

Here are Terry's comments on the three main bouts:

Terry Hayward scored a second round Kayo over New Yorker, Danny Perez, at the recent fight held at Labrador City Arena. Having previously fought two former world champions, Emile Griffith and Curtis Cokes, Perez was expected to give Hayward his toughest fight. (Perez lost a 10rd. decision to Griffith, and a 7rd. T.K.O. to Cokes). However he didn't live up to expectations as Hayward decked him twice in round 2, on his way to winning a second round KAYO.

In the supporting 10rd. bout Stan Hayward won his 8th professional bout by Hammering Paul Lacriox of Montreal into submission, at the 1 min. mark of the second round. Lacriox who appeared to be more of a street fighter, than a boxer, was no match for Stan who is ready for better opposition.

P.J. Alyward pulled a big upset by winning a split 5rd. decision over "Bull" Coady of Wabush. Alyward seemed to have Coady out on his feet, but was unable to apply the finisher."

Terry hopes to present another card 25 July or 1 Aug.

Daily Light

For thy name's sake, O Lord, pardon mine iniquity; for it is great.

P s a l m 25 : 11 .

The speed with which prayer travels to God is faster than the speed of light: "God be merciful to me, a sinner!" One is reminded here of the situation between the Pharisee and Publican; one clothed in all the garb of self-righteousness and observances, the other seeing only his great sin. A great sin is forgiven by a great God. It is an old, blessed story: "Where sin abounded, grace (God's unmerited favor) did much more abound.

(R o m a n s 5 : 20 .)

The repentant sinner must see his sin as great, for in true repentance he matches it against the holiness of God. In such a light he sees himself as vile and impure. In fact, Paul was so overcome as to call himself "the chief of sinners." A man who belittles his sin, or proclaims himself to be worst than the next fellow, "never reachesthe moment of the life-saving plea of the Psalmist: "For your name's sake, O Lord, pardon my iniquity; for it is great." As the faintest cry of a baby reaches the ear of the parent immediately, so the expectant ear of God is tuned to the faintest cry of man for mercy.

To be able (daily) to see our sin as great, is to be led on the path of humility. In humility we have a desire to rise above our situation. In this way, the Holy Spirit is able to work within us, constantly renewing and causing our continual growth in grace.

Perhaps the greatest comfort and the greatest proof of our opening statement are these words: "And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear."

(I s a i a h 65 : 24)

God reads the heart, He knows our intentions, we cannot deceive Him. My sins are great. My Saviour is greater.

The rents made by Time will soon mend if you will let God have His way.

term prospects also are emphasized in the study's discussion of two nickel producers, International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd. and Sherritt Gordon Ltd.

Speculative commitments in silver producers are suggested on the basis of predictions that prices of the metal could firm gradually by year end and within a year could go over $2.00 an ounce, "possibly as high as $2.25 to $2.50." United Keno Hill Mines Ltd. is suggested as a speculative trading vehicle with with good leverage based on improved silver grades and increased silver prices.

NEW PROPRIETORS: The move to transfer the Hudson's Bay Co. to Winnipeg from London, Eng. last year has had a surprising impact on the distribution of its shares. Before headquarters were switched, about 90 per cent of the proprietors (as stock-holders are known) were U.K. residents. But that proportion has dropped to about 66 per cent. Brascan Ltd. the Toronto holding company, now owns what is believed to be the largest single block of The Bay's Stock. Mr. J.H. Moore, Brascan's president, says the company bought its 6 per cent interest during 1970. The retailer's stock, now $18.25, bottomed out at $11.50 in the slump. The Bay's new Canadian charter restricts individual holdings to a maximum of 10 per cent.

SEAT SEEKERS: Always on the move in different parts of the world, Noranda Mines Ltd. is negotiating for an interest in Rudolf Wolff & Co., one of the most active members of the London Metal Exchange. If the deal goes through, Noranda will become the only North American metal producer directly represented on the L.M.E.

Do you want your children to have teeth like yours?

If your teeth and gums are in good shape, why not? On the other hand, if you're like 19 out of every 20 Newfoundlanders, you'd simply have to say no.

Our teeth are a terrible mess.

To be blunt, the state of dental health in Newfoundland is incredibly bad. 19 out of every 20 adults in the province, like other Canadians, suffer from dental problems. But the problems start long before adulthood. 60% of our children already suffer from tooth decay by the time they are 3 years old. At the age of 6, the average youngster has 5 or more serious cavities. And this is the age at which permanent teeth start to come in. So damage done in childhood is done for life.

All part of growing up, you might say. Well, you're wrong. It's all part of simple neglect. With proper brushing, sensible diet and regular dental checkups twice a year, your children can keep their teeth to themselves for life.

A plan to help save teeth.

If we want to lick dental problems in Newfoundland, the place to start is with the children.

By concentrating on prevention rather than repairs, we could turn Newfoundlanders into the healthiest dental specimens on earth in a single generation.

The Government of Newfoundland and Labrador and the Newfoundland Dental Association would like to see that happen. So together, they've worked out an expanded dental care programme that offers your children free dental care from birth to the age of 10. It's a good plan, but it won't work without your help.

What you can do at home to help

First, you can make a conscious decision that your children are going to grow up with healthy teeth. Next, you can make sure they eat a nutritionally balanced diet, with a little common sense applied to the consumption of soft drinks and sweets. Third, you can make sure every child in your family has a toothbrush, a fluoride toothpaste, and knows how to use both. And fourth, you can make sure your child goes to the dentist when it's time for a checkup.

Soon, you'll be getting a valuable booklet in the mail. In it, you'll find everything there is to know about proper dental care for your children. When it comes, read it, and save it. It can help prevent a lot of anguish and a lot of costly dental bills for years to come. Something else to remember when you're reading the booklet; everything that's good for your children's teeth is good for yours too.

The new government dental care plan is going to put an even heavier burden on your dentist. With one dentist for every 3,000 people in the rest of Canada, and one dentist for every 9,000 in Newfoundland, you can imagine the load he's already carrying.

The Government is trying to help by recruiting and training more dentists and more dental auxiliary personnel. But you can help too, by showing a little patience as the new expanded plan gets going, and by making sure your children meet the appointments made for them.

If we all pull together, we can help our children grow up without having teeth like ours. And honestly now, wouldn't that make you feel better?

Government of Newfoundland and Labrador

Edward Roberts, Minister of Health
